LINDBERGH PAYS $50,000 RANSOM BUT KIDNAPERS FAIL TO RETURN BABY

PRESIDENT AND HOUSE BODY AGREE ON ECONOMY

Tentative Understanding Arrived at Which It Is Estimated Will Save Between $160,000,000 and $210,000,000 in Year.

HOOVER WANTS OWN SALARY CUT

Favors 5-Day Week Instead of 11 Pct. Wage Reduction Committee Urges—Mills and Roop to Aid in Framing Bill.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—A national economy program estimated to save from $160,000,000 to $210,000,000 in 1933 was tentatively agreed upon today by President Hoover and the House Economy Committee.

Other retrenchment proposals under consideration, if enacted, are expected by the chief executive and Chairman McDuffie to bring the total to about $300,000,000.

Besides Chairman McDuffie (Dem.), Alabama, the members of the committee present were Representatives Byrns (Dem.), Tennessee, Douglas (Dem.), Arizona, Cochran (Dem.), Missouri, Wood (Rep.), Indiana, and Ramseyer (Rep.), Iowa. Williamson (Rep.), South Dakota, was out of the city.

Secretary of the Treasury Mills, Secretary of the Interior Wilbur, Postmaster-General Brown and J. C. Roop, Budget Director, also attended the conference.

Two Points of Difference.

The program finally agreed upon after a conference at the White House lasting six hours, followed to a great extent that submitted by the committee, which was along the general lines of President Hoover's recommendations. The methods of approach, however, were different, and two major points of controversy arose.

President Hoover proposed a five-day week for per diem employes and the staggering of work for other employes by means of furloughs without pay, estimated to save $45,000,000. McDuffie, however, held out for an 11 per cent salary cut, with a $1000 exemption, estimated to produce $67,000,000.

In a formal statement issued at the White House, without the signatures of the President or the members of the committee, it was explained the savings tentatively agreed upon did not include those to be made through consolidations or reductions in appropriations as suggested by the committee.

Hoover Wins a Point.

Mr. Hoover held out successfully that the savings program should be accomplished through alteration or repeal of existing laws. One of the chief executive's secretaries estimated, however, if the committee proceeded with its consolidation and appropriation reducing proposals, an additional $100,000,000 or more might be cut from expenditures.

Commenting on the consolidation of bureaus, the President merely stated that the George-Williamson consolidation bill should be enacted. This bill would authorize the President to recommend to Congress desired consolidations and contains the proviso that if Congress does not reject a recommendation within 60 days the President may put it into effect by an executive order. The bill has not had a favorable reception in either branch of Congress.

The committee's suggestion for the consolidation of the War and Navy Departments was omitted from the national program, at President Hoover's suggestion.

Hopeful of Omnibus Bill.

Both President Hoover and Speaker Garner feel strongly that the economy proposals are shaped in an omnibus bill, public sentiment for retrenchment will overwhelm the storm of individual protests it is expected to create.

Chairman McDuffie said after the conference the committee of seven and Mr. Hoover "worked together in an earnest effort to reduce the expenditures of this Government and representatives of the executive department will work with us on the program."

Secretary Mills and J. C. Roop, budget director, will meet with the committee from time to time in

STIMSON STAYS IN STATEROOM RECUPERATING FROM INFLUENZA

Denies Self Visitors and Postpones Dinner Planned in His Honor by Liner's Captain.

By the Associated Press.

ABOARD S. S. ILE DE FRANCE, April 9.—Secretary of State Stimson, bound for Europe and the disarmament conference at Geneva, denied himself to visitors today and rested in his stateroom, recuperating from an attack of influenza.

Capt. Blancart, master of the liner, was to have been host at dinner tonight to Stimson, Norman Davis, his assistant, and other members of the American delegation, but the Secretary asked that it be postponed.

Frank B. Kellogg, former Secretary of State and now a member of the World Court, also is a passenger.

ROOSEVELT WINS IN KENTUCKY

Assured State's 26 Delegates by Action of County Conventions.

By the Associated Press.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 9.—Kentucky's 26 votes at the Democratic National Convention were assured for Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt by the action of the county conventions today.

Out of the first 87 counties reporting of the 120, 72 instructed their delegates to vote for a Roosevelt delegation at the State Democratic Convention in Louisville next Tuesday. Five other counties, while not instructed for President, showed favor to Roosevelt by indorsing United States Senator Barkley for permanent chairman of the State Convention and Gov. Laffoon as temporary chairman. Both are Roosevelt supporters. Ten counties voted to send uninstructed delegations to the State Convention.

NEW YORK, April 9.—Mayor Frank Murphy of Detroit and the Rev. Father John E. Coughlin, Detroit radio speaker, visited Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt today at the latter's town house. Their call, which was described as social, was a brief one.

SENATE TAX BILL FIGHT TO RIVAL THAT IN HOUSE

Norris to Press for Increased Levy on Wealthy—Tariff Log Rolling Deal Under Way.

THOMAS THREATENS OIL FILIBUSTER

Nebraskan Calls Inheritance Assessment 'Fairest Ever Devised, Easiest to Collect.'

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON, A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—In the Senate a storm is gathering over the tax bill, comparable to that which raged for three weeks in the House. Senator Norris disclosed tonight that the Senate Progressives are preparing to fight for additional increases in the taxes on wealth, and will oppose any effort to eliminate the tax on stock and bond sales provided by the House.

At the same time it was learned that Senators from states producing oil, coal, copper and lumber are planning a log-rolling deal through which they hope to save the gasoline, oil and coal tariffs provided by the House, and to impose similar duties on copper and lumber. A threat to filibuster against any attempt to defeat these duties were made openly today by Senator Thomas, Oklahoma Democrat.

Although the Senate Finance Committee will resume hearings on the measure Monday and expects them to continue for two weeks, the battle will break out on the Senate floor long before the bill reaches it. Indeed, some preliminary skirmishing occurred this week.

Tydings' Resolution.

Senator Tydings, Maryland Democrat, has introduced a resolution under which the Senate would instruct the Finance Committee to strike all "import taxes," or tariff duties, from the bill, and to bar any further amendments of that character. He said today he would ask for its consideration early next week.

"This is a threat," Thomas replied. "If the Senate refuses to tax untaxed commodities, it will be here all summer trying to write a revenue bill. If they want to call these import taxes tariffs and exclude them on that ground, the fight is on.

"The Democrats have always favored a tariff for revenue. The proposed tax on oil and gasoline would be a tariff to raise revenue. If we wanted a protective duty we would ask for $1 a barrel, instead of 1 cent a gallon."

It will be recalled that the last Congress adjourned with Thomas conducting a lone-handed filibuster in the Senate because it had rejected a tariff on oil.

Hayden Wants Copper Duty.

Senator Hayden, Arizona Democrat, has entered the picture with a demand for a duty on copper, and it is obvious that the oil and copper Senators are seeking to reach an agreement with those from the lumber-producing states in the Pacific Northwest. A majority of Republican Senators seem to favor these tariffs, but Senator Robinson, Democratic leader, said today that "sentiment appears to be growing against any proposal to include tariffs in an internal revenue bill."

The situation is causing deep anxiety among Democratic leaders, who had expected to make the Republican Hawley-Smoot tariff a leading issue in the coming presidential campaign. That would be difficult if the Democrats in this Congress not only failed to make an effort to reduce the Hawley-Smoot rates, but actually added new ones.

In announcing that the Progressives will present a plan contemplating higher taxes on wealth, Senator Norris said tonight that he was not satisfied with the increases in the estate taxes, provided under the Ramseyer amendment

GERMANY ELECTS PRESIDENT TODAY; THREE CANDIDATES

Hindenburg, Incumbent, Against Hitler, National Socialist, and Thaelmann, Communist.

BARE PLURALITY ENOUGH TO DECIDE

Chancellor Bruening, Administration Spokesman, Is Confident, and So Are the Fascists.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, April 9.—As the bitter presidential campaign came to an end tonight, supporters of President Paul von Hindenburg were confident he would win in tomorrow's voting. The optimism of the Government forces, however, was duplicated among the National Socialist followers of Adolf Hitler, who said Hitler would poll at least 15,000,000 votes—probably enough to sweep him into power.

Political commentators generally agreed that the one chance of a Hitler victory rested in the possible failure of Hindenburg supporters to go to the polls the way they did in the indecisive election March 13, when the 84-year-old President piled up 18,654,690 votes—less than 175,000 short of the required majority. In tomorrow's run-off a bare plurality is enough to elect.

Bruening Speaks for Hindenburg.

Aware of the danger of overconfidence, Chancellor Bruening, chief of the Hindenburg leaders, has covered more ground during the campaign than any Chancellor before him. Everywhere he urged an overwhelming expression of confidence in Hindenburg.

President Von Hindenburg has made no speeches during the run-off campaign.

Tonight Bruening was his spokesman at Koenigsberg, in a final appeal which was broadcast.

Bruening's address was preceded a few days ago by a campaign visit of Hitler. Bruening told his audience that the world had been astonished that Hindenburg, who was a son and liberator of Germany's eastern regions, where Koenigsberg lies, should have no opponent there at all. A strained situation in the neighboring free states of Memel and Danzig, on the Lithuanian and Polish frontiers, made the East Prussian mind particularly susceptible to rumors of panic, Bruening said.

"Never shall the German President or Government yield an inch of East Prussian soil," he declared with emphasis.

With Hindenburg as a "sure shield," he concluded, the country could face the future with confidence.

Hitler ended his campaign in Munich, his home town.

Hitler on the Defensive.

In the run-off campaign Hindenburg supporters seized the offensive, forcing Hitler into the defensive—exactly reversing the situation of the preliminary campaign.

An incident in the Hindenburg offensive was the series of sensational raids on National Socialist headquarters in Prussia, followed by the publication by the Bavarian and Hessian Government of seized documents in proof of alleged subversive tendencies of the Hitlerites.

In the preliminary campaign Hitler appealed to the voters with promises of what he would do if elected to power. This time he was kept busy making denials of charges that his movement is illegal. He established an "anti-lie bureau" which has issued daily answers to opposition accusations.

Three candidates are before the nation—the non-partisan Von Hindenburg, who would develop the Republic along the lines laid down by the conciliatory Dr. Gustav Stresemann and the present Chancellor; Hitler, who stands for a personal dictatorship and a nebulous "third reich;" and Ernst Thaelmann, Communist, whose program would duplicate the proletarian dictatorship of Soviet Russia.

DRY COMPROMISE LIKELY AT STATE G. O. P. MEETING

Plank Urging Resubmission of 18th Amendment Is Wets' Only Hope at Convention Tuesday.

ST. LOUIS GROUP TO DEMAND REPEAL

Leaders Are Trying, However, to Avoid Declaration Which May Be Seen as Definite Stand.

By CURTIS A. BETTS.

Republicans, clashing on the issue of repeal of the eighteenth amendment and modification of the Volstead act, are preparing for the sort of melee in their State convention at Hotel Jefferson Tuesday that usually characterizes only Democratic gatherings in Missouri.

The Koeln-Kiel-Schmoll-Foristel leadership in St. Louis will demand a platform plank indorsing repeal, and, pending repeal, modification of the enforcement act. Rural influences, supported by those in control of the party's machinery in the State, will oppose mention of prohibition in the platform, and will insist that the Democrats' policy of considering that a question for the national convention be followed.

Dr. E. B. Clements, National Committeeman, and Arthur M. Curtis, chairman of the State Committee, will be found counseling caution and avoidance of any declaration which could be construed as committing the party on prohibition.

The Possible Action.

It is possible the St. Louis group will be able to obtain adoption of a plank urging resubmission of the eighteenth amendment to the states, but it is not likely to get anything stronger than that.

If the question went no further than a registration of the personal views of the delegates on prohibition, it might be that the St. Louis wets could carry out their plan, but as it involves a question of party expediency they will find many known wets opposing them.

Regardless of what the party leaders may believe as to whether a majority of Missouri voters are wet or dry, they realize there has been no test in an election to give them an actual knowledge. Fearing the unknown, they prefer to dodge the issue, a policy they have found quite successful in other campaigns.

While there is no doubt of the sincerity of those proposing the repeal plank in their expressed desire for party action and their belief that a wet policy is the best policy, the real reason underlying their demand is one of local self-interest.

Fearing Democratic Sweep.

They are in a panicky fear that because of the business depression the Democrats are going to sweep the country in the November election, and that the local Republican candidates from Circuit Judges to Constables will go down in the landslide. They indulge the hope that a dripping wet State platform, with a State ticket headed by a wet, may hold in line Republican voters who would be disposed to vote the Democratic ticket.

The main interest of the St. Louis Republican organization is to remain in power, and to do that it must hold onto the patronage which goes with the local jobs. A President of the United States, a United States Senator or a Governor distributes little in the way of jobs in St. Louis, and to the local job holder and organization leader does not rate in importance with a Republican Circuit Attorney, Collector, Circuit Judge, Justice of the Peace or even Constable.

Republicans of party influence outside of the city realize the importance of the huge Republican majority almost invariably returned in St. Louis. It has had a big part in making Missouri a Republican State. They are disposed to go a long way to comply with desires of the St. Louis organization, but they, too, have their local problems. They believe that with few exceptions the counties of rural Missouri are dry and that a

DR. LUTHER SHOT AT IN RAILWAY STATION

Bullet Grazes Arm of Reichsbank President—Assailant and Companion Arrested.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, April 9.—Dr. Hans Luther, president of the Reichsbank, narrowly escaped assassination by a bullet fired at him tonight while he was on the platform of the Potsdamer Station in Berlin, waiting for a train to take him to Basel, Switzerland.

The bullet, fired at close range by one of two men who had been walking up and down the platform, passed through one sleeve of Dr. Luther's coat and inflicted a slight scratch about an inch and a half below his elbow. The bullet then entered the heel of a railway porter's boot.

The man who fired the shot told police his name was Dr. Max Roosen and that he was 58 years old. He said he was born in Buenos Aires, went to London in 1920 and had been only a short time in Berlin.

He smilingly surrendered his pistol. Both he and his companion, who gave the name of Werner Kertscher, admitted cheerfully, police said, that they planned to shoot Dr. Luther because they disapproved of the Reichsbank's deflation policy and wanted a "controlled inflation." They denied any political motive.

Dr. Luther, who was about to entrain for Basel with a delegation of German officials to attend a meeting of the Bank for International Settlements, did not lose his composure. Seeing both men safely in the hands of the police, he entered the train, which left on time.

The police said they found that Roosen and Kertscher some months ago lodged a complaint against Dr. Luther and the directors of the Reichsbank, whom they accused of "currency swindling," faking balance sheets and other financial malpractices. A court refused to give their case a hearing and the police said they believed the pair attacked the Reichsbank president out of spite and to attract public attention.

Both men enjoyed some reputation as economists and financial writers, the police said. They told the authorities that they had been members of the National Socialist (Fascist) party for some time, but had resigned owing to differences of opinion.

Dr. Luther ordinarily prefers the airplane to other modes of travel, and usually drops in on the monthly meetings of the Bank for International Settlements at Basel in this manner.

Dr. Luther, interviewed at Magdeburg, said: "I can say very little. The person who attacked me stepped toward me, saying in English, 'I suppose——,' then fired."

TEXT OF "JAFSIE" RANSOM NOTICES

Series of Messages Linked With Search for Lindbergh Baby.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 9.—Following is the text of the unexplained "Jafsie" notices, now generally believed to have a connection with the Lindbergh kidnaping search, that have appeared in a morning newspaper from time to time:

March 9-10: "Letter received at new address. Will follow your instructions. I also received a letter mailed to me March 4, and was ready since then. Please hurry on account of mother. Address me to the address you mention in your letter. Father."

March 11-15: "Money is ready. Jafsie."

March 17-19: "I accept. Money is ready. You know they won't let me deliver without getting the package. Let's make it some sort of C. O. D. transaction. Come. You know you can trust Jafsie."

March 22-26: "Thanks. That little package you sent was immediately delivered and accepted as real article. See my position. Over 50 years in business and can I pay without seeing goods? Common sense makes me trust you. Please understand my position. Jafsie."

March 27-30: "Money is ready Furnish simple code for us to use in paper. Jafsie."

March 31-April 2: "I accept. Money is ready. Jafsie."

April 3-5: "Yes. Everything O K. Jafsie."

April 6-8: "What is wrong? Have you crossed me? Please better directions. Jafsie."

NEW ENGLAND METHODISTS WANT MILITARY EXEMPTION

By the Associated Press.

LEOMINSTER, Mass., April 9.—The New England Methodist conference today unanimously adopted a report of its peace commission which requested that the Government exempt members of its faith from military service when they object on religious grounds.

It also opposed compulsory military training in schools and colleges and the exportation of arms and munitions for war purposes.

Raid on Newspaper Office.

CHICAGO, April 9.—Eight men raided the offices of the Chicago Globe, a community newspaper, today, broke up the forms and carried away all of the 24,000 copies of an edition discussing next Tuesday's primary. Among articles in the papers seized was one attacking the candidacy of State Representative Michael A. Ruddy, running for re-election in the Fourth Senatorial District and for Fifteenth Ward Republican committeeman.

TRANSACTION DISCLOSED IN ATTEMPT TO TRACE MONEY

Numbers on Bills Kept Secret Several Days Afterward, but Now Search Must Be Taken Up Anew, Statement Says

TREASURY ISSUES DATA TO ALL BANKS

Sixty-Page Circular Gives Serials, Kind of Currency and Denominations of Five, Ten and Twenty Dollar Notes.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 9.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh has paid a ransom of $50,000 for his kidnaped son, but the baby has not been returned.

This was disclosed tonight in a statement issued through the New Jersey State Police.

The ransom was paid, the statement said, "to the kidnapers, properly identified as such, upon their agreement to notify him as to the exact whereabouts of the baby, but the baby was not found at the point designated."

"Several days were permitted to elapse to give the kidnapers every opportunity to keep their agreement," the statement added. "It was not intended to use the number on the specie (currency) in which the ransom was paid, but inasmuch as the kidnapers have failed to keep their agreement and have not communicated since the ransom was paid it is felt that every remaining possible means must be utilized to accomplish the return of the baby and to this end the co-operation of the Federal Government was requested in tracing the bills used."

Treasury Tracing Money.

It had become known earlier in the day that a circular of nearly 60 pages giving details of the currency had been distributed to banks through the country by the U. S. Treasury at Washington with a request for telegraphic notification if any of the bills were seen.

The date of the circular, Wednesday, April 6, coincides with reliable information that the payment of the ransom was effected in connection with an airplane flight which Col. Lindbergh and Col. Henry Breckinridge, his attorney, made last Monday in the neighborhood of the island of Martha's Vineyard, Mass.

Tonight's statement lent itself to two theories: One, that the ransom had been paid to the real kidnapers and they "double-crossed" the Colonel, became fearful of completing negotiations or for some unknown reason decided not to complete the transaction.

The other was that clever criminals had succeeded in forging a satisfactory identification of themselves as the kidnapers and seized upon the opportunity to extort $50,000.

In consideration of these theories it was recalled, however, that Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh have publicly pledged themselves not to try to injure those returning the

PRESIDENT BACKS INQUIRY IN STOCKS BY SENATE GROUP

Banking Committee to Open Investigation Tomorrow With Richard Whitney as First Witness

REPORT THAT BEARS CAUSED PRICE SLUMP

Saturday Passes Without Rumored Heavy Raid—Upturn in New York Market Instead.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—The surprise investigation of the stock market ordered by the Senate Banking Committee gained momentum today with the formal indorsement of President Hoover. Richard Whitney, president of the New York Stock Exchange, is to testify at the opening on Monday.

A rumor, scoffed at by Wall street, but persistently circulated at the Capitol, was that a gigantic bear raid culminating the eight-day fall in prices on the exchange had been planned for today. Substantiation of the contention that bears had been active in the price collapse was indicated by upturn of the market today, sponsors of the investigation said. The Senators were not concerned by later losses.

Senator Walcott (Rep.), Connecticut, leader of the sudden investigation, made known the formal approval of President Hoover after talking with him today. "The President is in full accord with what we have done," said Walcott, "and is absolutely back of us."

Causes for the surprise subpenaing of Whitney remained a mystery. Committee members pointed to Walcott, who went before the emergency meeting yesterday with a sheaf of telegrams. These were purported to have told of the threatened raid today. Such terms as "Black Saturday" were mentioned. Foreign influences were mentioned.

Says Traders Threatened Panic.

Representative La Guardia, New York Republican independent, told the House today that the New York speculators had threatened a panic if the short selling investigation was carried out.

"They come before us with a threat of a panic on the eve of every vote," said La Guardia. "They threatened the Senate that if it proceeded with its short selling investigation there would be another panic. I want to change now that this information being sent throughout the country that this decline is due to the tax bill is absolutely false. I was in New York a week ago and it was generally stated that there would be a decline in security prices during the coming week. There was."

Walcott said he had received numerous telegrams of indorsement of the investigation from bankers and prominent persons. He said the reaction on the stock market was exactly the reverse of what Stock Exchange officials had predicted.

The program for proceeding with the investigation after hearing Whitney Monday was unsettled. Senator Brookhart (Rep.), Iowa, who acted as chairman of the committee meeting yesterday, said he would insist that the investigation be carried to the limit.

"I am not going to let this proposition merely be used as a club, a political club," said Brookhart. "We have got to go all the way."

To Seek Action on Banking Bill.

Chairman Norbeck of the committee said he would insist that the Glass banking bill get the attention of the committee after Monday's meeting. Senator Glass (Dem.), Virginia, author of the banking reform measure, said he would ask that course, too.

Some doubt was cast on the legality of yesterday's special meeting of the committee on the ground that a quorum was not present. Senator Glass, whose proxy was needed to make the quorum, said he had not authorized the proxy but he added he would not raise the point.

Whitney accepted by telegraph the subpena issued by the committee. He was directed to bring all records of short selling operations as of the close of business yesterday.

It is expected that several days will be required to digest and analyze the mass of data expected to be received from Whitney. "We expect to follow up this matter," said Walcott.

Congressional investigation of the Farm Board and the commodity exchanges was urged today by Representative Norton (Dem.), Nebraska, in a radio address sponsored by the American Farm Bureau Federation. Norton, a member of the House Agriculture Committee, also asked legislation to incorporate the equalization fee and export debenture farm relief principles in the agricultural marketing act under which the Farm Board operates.

Flurry to Cover Short Contracts on New York Exchange.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 9. — Bears who were beginning to believe that threat of a senatorial investigation of the stock market was a bluff, received a jolt today. There was a brief but feverish flurry to cover short contracts when the exchange opened, as bears had learned overnight that the investigation was actually to begin Monday.

Nothing in the nature of a bear stampede occurred. After stocks had been bid up $1 to $5 a share in the first few minutes, it became apparent that the stubborn liquidation of the past several days was still in progress, and advances were more than half lost. Many prominent shares, however, closed with gains of $1 to $2 or more.

In the meantime, the stock exchange was busily preparing information which Richard Whitney, president of the exchange, was requested to provide when he appears as the first witness before the Senate Committee on Banking and Currency Monday. The exchange ordered all members to submit detailed reports of short accounts, including names of owners, daily until further notice, starting with yesterday's transactions. Since January, brokers had been reporting only the net changes in short accounts from day to day.

Other information requested included copies of all messages sent over brokerage wires yesterday. While officials of the exchange declined to comment on this order, considerable significance was seen in it, in connection with Washington rumors that a powerful bear raid had been planned for today.

The announcement of the Washington investigation coincided with publication of a bullish winter wheat crop report bringing a brisk rise in the Chicago pit, and came at a time when Wall street was anxiously waiting for some unexpected break in the news to bring a turn in the week's slump. The market had registered new lows for eight days.

White House Statement Which Details Program of Economies

WASHINGTON, April 9.

THE statement issued by the White House after today's conference on economy follows in full:

As a result of mutual exchange of views by the administration and the Economy Committee the following was tentatively agreed upon as a national economy program:

The total of saving so far arrived at would amount to somewhere from $160,000,000 to $210,000,000. This does not include the savings to be made from consolidations (Group 2) or from reductions in appropriations (Group 3). The conferences will continue.

Reductions in expenses require action in three directions:

Class 1. The amendment or repeal of existing laws which would prevent the realization of savings.

Class 2. Legislation for the reorganization and consolidation of Government functions so as to eliminate overlap, unnecessary bureaus and commissions, and waste.

Class 3. Reduction of appropriations which are within the authority of the existing laws creating and specifying various activities of the Government. This class being under consideration by the Appropriations Committee of Congress, was not dealt with in the conference.

Group 1. The savings which can be effected only by the amendment or repeal of existing laws or by the granting of additonal authority in certain cases.

1. Authorize for one year the head of any department or independent establishment, with the approval of the Director of the Budget, to transfer some percentage, to be determined, of any specific appropriation to any other specific appropriation within the department or the independent establishment. Such a procedure will add economy and avoid so far as may be possible the necessity for supplemental or deficiency estimates in the next session of Congress. This will not entirely eliminate supplemental and deficiency estimates, but unless such provision is made the inflexibility of reduced appropriations and the emergencies which are certain to arise might result in great public damage and would certainly necessitate more supplemental and deficiency estimates than will be needed if this provision is adopted.

Reduction of expenditure is indirect.

2. Retire superannuated employes. Estimated saving, $3,000,000.

3. Suspend for one year the operation of all provisions providing for extra pay for overtime and night service and all automatic promotions provided by law to civilian employes. Estimated saving, $10,750,000.

4. The Congress to take appropriate steps to reduce the congressional, Cabinet, and the President's salary. Inestimated.

5. Instructed the Secretary of the Navy to appoint a board of naval officers to report upon the closing of all land naval stations which in their view are not essential to the national defense, the decision of this board to be final and the stations to be closed upon their recommendation. Savings indeterminate but probably $2,000,000.

6. Require the transfer of the cost of supporting the Philippine scouts to the Philippine Government. Estimated saving, $5,000,000.

7. Suspend for one year all payments to the states under the Federal board for vocational education except those for industrial rehabilitation. Estimated saving, $8,500,000.

8. Suspend for one year the operation of all shipping lines operated by the Shipping Board. Estimated saving, $7,500,000.

9. Amendments to veterans' legislation as pointed out by Gen. Hines. The various projects were undetermined but range in savings from $39,000,000 to $80,000,000 per annum.

10. Limitation of pay of emergency officers and of retired army and navy officers employed by the Government. Saving.

11. Prohibition against filling civilian vacancies except key positions.

12. Reduction of printing and paper.

13. Establish fees for service in certain bureaus with view of making them more self-supporting.

14. Discontinue appropriation for N. W. triangle heating plant, $750,000.

15. Authorize transfer of fish hatcheries to such states as will accept and operate them.

16. Abolish army and navy and Panama transports.

17. Other subjects were referred to later consideration.

18. In considering the savings to be made in the Federal establishment, the administration group proposed:

A. For one year the introduction of a five-day week be authorized for per diem employes and authority for staggering the employment of annual employes by means of furloughs without pay. The reduction of appropriations by the Congress will result in the discharge of many employes unless some provision is made to prevent this contingency. This would permit the retention of trained and qualified employes and provide a somewhat reduced income to some of the Federal staff in lieu of discharging those who cannot be retained on full time. The application of this principle into other services will produce effective economies. Estimated saving, $45,000,000.

B. Amendments to the law pointed out by the Postmaster-General to suspend for one year allowances to mail carriers for maintenance of vehicles and other possible items. Estimated saving, $17,500,000.

C. Authorize the suspension for one year of all rights to annual leave with pay and to sick leave with pay to any civilian employe of the Federal Government in excess of two calendar weeks each for annual leave and sick leave, but providing that unused sick leave may accumulate to the credit of the employe in the succeeding year. Estimated saving, $35,000,000.

The Economy Committee's proposal in lieu of the above was:

A. Instead of paragraph 2 was a pay cut for one year arrived at by the formula of exempting $1000 before a cut of 11 per cent. Estimated saving, $67,000,000.

B. Do away with Saturday half holiday. Estimated saving, $10,000,000.

COTTON BELT GETS I. C. C. APPROVAL OF $18,000,000 LOAN

Policy of Allowing Payment of Only Half of Bank Obligations Is Again Adopted.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—The Interstate Commerce Commission today continued its recent policy of approving Reconstruction Finance Corporation loans to pay only half of bank loans made to railroads by consenting to an $18,000,000 loan to the St. Louis Southwestern Railway.

The Transportation Board stipulated that not more than $4,500,000 should be used toward meeting a $7,000,000 note held by the Chase National Bank of New York and $2,000,000 by the Mississippi Valley Trust Co. of St. Louis. It further required that the banks must agree to carry half the loans for three years.

The loan also relieves the situation that faced the Cotton Belt with a bond issue of $20,727,750 coming due June 1 and no money to pay it. The commission authorized the use of $12,550,540 to apply to this bond issue, the railroad having asked approval of a new issue to be exchanged par for par for such of the old bonds as can be paid off in that manner.

$400,000 Due Immediately.

The most pressing need of the railroad is $400,000 to pay interest due May 1, and the commission made this loan available immediately. Additional interest payments of $549,540 are due June 1. The bulk of this $949,540 amount is to be repaid by a $750,000 loan from the Railroad Credit Corporation, the Reconsruction Corporation taking an irrevocable order for that amount.

The carrier, which is to be taken over April 14 by the Southern Pacific Co., originally applied for loans totaling $31,727,750. Since this application was filed Jan. 26, negotiations have resulted in agreements on refinancing reducing the needs to $18,000,000.

Besides the order on the Railroad Credit Corporation, and the stipulation that banks agree to carry half their loans three years, the commission required that $22,818,000 of general and refunding mortgage bonds of the Cotton Belt due in 1990 and $468,000 of bonds of the Southern Illinois and Missouri Bridge Co. be posted as collateral.

The Southern Pacific Co. also is required to file its unconditional guaranty of the loan.

Clears Up Situation.

Today's action clears up what has been for several months one of the most distressed railroad situations in the country. The Cotton Belt operates 3559 miles of line in the Southwest. It has been an independent class one carrier but its earnings have fallen off heavily and fixed charges could not be met.

The Illinois Central system, to which the road was allocated under the commission's consolidation plan of 1929, did not want it. The Southern Pacific, seeking direct entry into St. Louis and Memphis, bought a large stock interest and applied for permission to control the road. After lengthy hearings the commission gave its consent, stating that the action was necessary to prevent serious financial embarrassment for the line.

Cotton Belt $20,727,750 Bond Issue Matures June 1.

The Cotton Belt bond issue maturing June 1 is for $20,727,750. These bonds were quoted today at $682.50 for $1000 bond.

Recent New York dispatches said plans were being worked out to meet the maturity partly in cash and partly in new bonds. It was said that probably $400 or $500 would be paid in cash. The Reconstruction Corporation loan would provide sufficient funds for payment of $500 or more.

HOOVER AND HOUSE BODY TENTATIVELY AGREE ON ECONOMIES

continuation of the conference.

Although there was a difference over the general salary cut, President Hoover, the cabinet members sitting with him, and the members of the committee agreed their own rate of pay should be cut.

Under the program, the heavy load of the savings would fall upon Federal employes. In arguing for the five-day week and staggered employment system, the White House statement said:

"The reduction of appropriations by the Congress will result in the discharge of many employes unless some provision is made to prevent this contingency. This would permit the retention of trained and qualified employes and provide a somewhat reduced income to some of the Federal staff in lieu of discharging those who cannot be retained on full time. The application of this principle into other services will produce effective economies."

The five-day work week and the stagger employment system, as well as other savings from Federal workers, would be effective for only one year.

Federal Employes Hit.

Other economies agreed upon both by the committee and the President in their original programs, which would also fall upon Federal employes follow:

Suspension for one year of allowances to mail carrjers for maintenance of vehicles and other possible items, expected to save $17,500,000.

Suspension for one year of all rights to annual leave with pay and to sick leave with pay to any civilian employe, in excess of two calendar weeks, expected to save $35,000,000. They now receive 30 days of each.

Abolition of Saturday half holiday with a saving of $10,000,000.

Suspend retirement of superannuated employes with a saving of $3,000,000.

Suspend for one year the operation of all provisions for extra pay for overtime and night service for civilian employes, expected to save $10,750,000.

In addition amendments to the veterans' compensation act, including a proposal not to pay allowances to veterans undergoing hospitalization, estimated to save from $39,000,000 to $80,000,000, were tentativcly agreed upon.

However, the committee's proposals regarding veterans were estimated to save but $26,000,000. McDuffie expressed the opinion that Congress would not cut the veterans' compensation any more than was proposed by his group.

Both programs proposed limitation of the pay of emergency officers and of retired army and navy officers employed by the Government. The saving was not estimated.

Another far-reaching proposal would suspend for one year the operation of all shipping lines under the Shipping Board. The possible saving was placed at $7,500,000. McDuffie said, however, the committee agreed to study this proposal along with its proposal to merge the Shipping Board with the Commerce Department.

A proposition to authorize, for one year, heads of departments, with the approval of the budget director, to transfer funds from one activity to another to care for emergencies also was approved.

The House leaders have ordered the legislative supply bill brought up for action next week so that efforts can be made to effect Government salary cuts.

The $985,931,431 independent offices appropriation bill, providing funds for 30 Government agencies next year, was passed today by the House.

baby. Also from the start of the world wide official and private search certain intimate characteristics of the baby have been withheld for the purpose of clinching identification of the child at the proper time.

The dispatch of the money circular by the office of Walter O. Wood, Treasurer of the United States, became known this morning, but the news was withheld by press associations on the ground that if published it might be injurious to the search for the child.

The serial numbers given in the Woods' money circular were for bills totaling $50,000; half in twenties, $15,000 in tens and $10,000 in fives.

The best available sources said these were the same quanties and bill sizes demanded in the original ransom note left pinned to the window sill of the baby's nursery by the kidnapers.

In some quarters, Col. Lindbergh's flight Monday to Martha's Vineyard and the absence at the same time of John Hughes Curtis, one of the Norfolk intermediaries, had been connected. Curtis said that he had seen Col. Lindbergh at an undisclosed place last weekend, and asserted the baby was safe.

Col. Lindbergh's Activities.

A pilot believed to be the Colonel and three associates were seen in an amphibian plane off the Massachusetts coast on Sunday. The Colonel was absent from his home at that time, his first trip since the kidnaping.

The disclosure of the failure of the ransom payment and the fixing of the approximate time of its delivery seemed to explain the air of optimism which prevailed at the Colonel's New Jersey estate last Monday.

Tonight there was every indication that this feeling had been replaced by one of decided pessimism.

Investigation Proceeds.

In response to a series of midnight questions to State Police regarding the time and place of the ransom payment and the identification offered by the kidnapers this statement was made:

"We can give no further information at this time, feeling it might interfere with the proceedings of the investigation."

"In what channel will the investigation proceed now?" police were asked.

"The police authority has been working during the past week in continuation of this investigation and no change is anticipated."

"So far as we know (Morris) Rosner is in New York," police said in response to a question about the whereabouts of Rosner, who at one time figured in the case as an undercover man for Col. Lindbergh.

Abraham Kessleman, attorney for Salvy Spitale and Irving Bitz, originally designated as the Lindbergh "go-betweens," said he knew beyond question that his clients had no part in the failure of the ransom payment.

Meanwhile the police search appeared at a standstill, with Maj. Sharles Schoeffel pursuing his mysterious mission abroad and the domestic authorities seeking to locate Harry Fleischer, Detroit gangster, for questioning.

The circular, directed chiefly to banks and firms where large amounts of money pass over the counter, was sent from the office of Walter O. Wood, Treasurer of the United States.

Treasury's Circular.

The circular sent out by the Treasurer said:

April 6, 1932.

To the president
(Of the bank addressed):

There is enclosed a list of the serial numbers of certain United States notes of the $5 denomination, United States gold certificates of the $10 denomination, and United States gold certificates and Federal Reserve notes of the $20 denomination.

If any of the currency so listed is received by your bank it will be appreciated if you will take note of the source from which you received it and immediately notify the Treasurer of the United States, Washington, D. C., by telegraph.

Very truly yours,

W. O. WOODS,
Treasurer of the United States.

No Connection With Their Deal, Say Norfolk Negotiators.

By the Associated Press.

NORFOLK, Va., April 9.—Two of three Norfolk negotiators for the return of the kidnaped Lindbergh baby tonight issued a statement reasserting faith in the parties with whom they have been dealing and said their efforts had no relation to a ransom already paid by Col. Lindbergh.

John Hughes Curtis and the Very Rev. Dean H. Dobson-Peacock described Col. Lindbergh's announcement that he had paid $50,000, but that a promise to return his son had not been carried out, as "regrettable as it was amazing to us."

The two negotiators said that Curtis would leave tomorrow morning for a conference with Col. Lindbergh with whom Curtis talked over the long distance telephone tonight. The two intermediaries in the absence of their associate, Rear Admiral Guy H. Burrage, U. S. N., retired, issued a written statement.

The statement said in part:

"This development is as regrettable as amazing to us. The transaction had no relation whatever to our negotiations. We still have faith in the parties with whom we have been dealing and probably will continue our efforts with them, although it is quite obvious how much this development will add to the difficulty of bringing the negotiations to a successful consummation. We had intended to resume our work immediately and press it as rapidly as possible toward a conclusion.

"Our method of procedure now will require the most careful consideration."

Police Activities Range From Montreal to Europe; no Results.

By the Associated Press.

HOPEWELL, N. J., April 9. — Police activities in the Lindbergh baby kidnaping ranged today from Montreal to England. In Montreal Michigan officers made a fruitless search for a suspect. In London an officer of the New Jersey State Police was known to be at work but his movements were cloaked in secrecy.

Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, Superintendent of the New Jersey State Police, made no announcement of any developments. Similarly there was nothing new from the three Norfolk (Va.) men—Rear Admiral Guy H. Burrage, U. S. N., retired; John Hughes Curtis, boat builder; and the Very Rev. Harold Dobson-Peacock, dean of the Episcopal Cathedral in Norfolk—who have been negotiating with a person they believe to represent the kidnapers.

The Michigan officers in Montreal were looking for Harry Fleischer, member of the Detroit "Purple" Gang, who has been described by Col. Schwarzkopf as a "known kidnaper" and as a suspect in the Lindbergh case. L. Hutson and William Watkins of the Michigan State Police, were said to have trailed him from a Toronto hotel to Montreal, but they left Montreal without him. Montreal police said they believed Fleischer had been there, but had left.

"We are positive the baby is not in Montreal," Hutson said before leaving. "The reason we are here is to find Fleischer because we believe we have some valuable information which we are almost sure will lead to the discovery of the kidnaped Lindbergh child. Two women seen with Fleischer in Toronto, we believe, are go-betweens for Fleischer."

From London came word that Maj. Charles A. Schoeffel of the New Jersey State police, had left for "somewhere on the Continent" during the day. Scotland Yard authorities said they did not know where he had gone.

Col. Schwarzkopf, in commenting on one of many rumors, said:

"No seafaring man from the vicinity of Martha's Vineyard, Mass., reported to Hopewell yesterday, nor was any report made to these headquarters of baby's clothing having been seen drying on the deck of a liquor runner off Martha's Vineyard."

He denied his department had authorized the insertion of a code message in the personal column of a Seattle (Wash.) newspaper, reading:

"To May: King street end at 9½. Wire correction. Signed, June."

The order for its publication came from the Seattle police headquarters and it was paid for by the Chief of Detectives.

SUIT OVER WILL OF MRS. BORDLEY NEARING CLOSE

Rebuttal Testimony Will Be Taken Tomorrow and Case Will Reach Jury Tuesday or Wednesday.

'CATHOLIC AT HEART' LAST WITNESS SAYS

Companion Declares Tobacco Man's Widow Said She Was Not Such a Good One, However.

The defense in the suit contesting Mrs. Blanche Bordley's will, in which she left the greater part of $1,000,000 to chronic invalids, closed its case yesterday after offering testimony that Mrs. Bordley classed herself as "not such a good Catholic" but nevertheless "a Catholic at heart."

Several hours' rebuttal testimony, to be heard tomorrow in Circuit Judge Rutledge's court, is expected to conclude the trial, which has been under way since March 16.

Mrs. Bordley's religious notions were one of the points of attack by attorneys for her 86-year-old sister, Mrs. Adele L. Tatum of Los Angeles, who charge Mrs. Bordley had many occult beliefs, including a leaning toward the Rosicrucian faith and the idea of reincarnation, in the system of which she imagined herself a spiritual successor of Mary, Queen of Scots.

Frequently Attended Mass.

The witness, Mrs. Anne H. Effinger of New York, whose second deposition was read to the Court, was a traveling companion of Mrs. Bordley for several years before her death in 1930. Mrs. Effinger told how, in their travels in France, Italy, Austria and other countries, they frequently attended mass.

"We were at a midnight mass in Rome," Mrs. Effinger said, "when she turned to me and said, 'Anne, neither one of us are such good Catholics, but I suppose at heart we are Catholics.'"

The witness admitted Mrs. Bordley delved into any religion which interested her, however, making a close study of Buddhist and Jewish beliefs as well as many others. She explained that such a thing might be considered natural for a woman as "world-traveled" as Mrs. Bordley. In a later part of the deposition in which she was asked about Mrs. Bordley's discussions of her investments, Mrs. Effinger said her friend had high praise for securities of Catholic institutions which she held.

The trust fund for incurables established by Mrs. Bordley was to be administered by the Sisters of St. Mary, a Catholic order, and St. Louis University, conducted by Jesuits.

Contradicts Maid's Testimony.

Mrs. Effinger's testimony contradicted that of Mrs. Leonora Penn, 4045 Cook avenue, Mrs. Bordley's Negro maid who had testified Mrs. Bordley neglected to get medical care for her when she became ill of influenza in Paris in 1928. Mrs. Effinger recalled the incident, saying she was informed at the time that "Lena (Mrs. Penn) had just been drinking too much at a party of maids and chauffeurs at the Hotel Continental." She said she had seen the maid at the time and confirmed that impression of the illness.

Following the reading of Mrs. Effinger's deposition, one of two she made, a stack of depositions taken in Los Angeles, New York and Paris was presented in evidence by Frank A. Thompson of defense counsel, who did not read them to the court.

Defendants in the case are various individuals and charities to whom Mrs. Bordley bequeathed $317,000 and the Mercantile-Commerce Bank and Trust Co., executor and trustee under the will.

To Jury Tuesday or Wednesday.

The bank is charged with exercising undue influence on Mrs. Bordley by attorneys for Mrs. Tatum, who received only $20,000. The two firms representing Mrs. Tatum, Foristel, Mudd, Blair & Habenicht of St. Louis and a Kansas City firm, have a contract to get 50 per cent of anything she may realize by the contest.

Following rebuttal testimony tomorrow, an adjournment will be taken to Tuesday morning, because of the funeral of a relative of one of the jurors tomorrow afternoon. Indications are that the case will go to the jury Tuesday or Wednesday.

Mrs. Bordley, who was 73 years old, was the widow of Daniel C. Bordley, a director of the Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co. She formerly lived at the Forest Park Hotel.

SENATE TAX BILL FIGHT TO RIVAL HOUSE

adopted by the House. He considers them too low. He indicated that the Progressives would seek to reinstate the Swing increase in the surtax rates on income above $100,000 a year, which the House first accepted and then rejected.

As will be recalled, the tax on estates under the Ramseyer amendment begins with a small tax on inherited wealth above the initial $50,000 and progresses upward on a graduated scale culminating in a rate of 45 per cent on that portion of estate above $10,000,000.

"These rates should be raised," Norris said. "I am in favor of making an exemption which enables a man to leave enough to his wife and children to keep them for the rest of their lives—even in luxury. After that I believe we should take most of the remainder. The rates should increase until they reach a figure of 75 or 80 per cent in the highest brackets.

"The estate or inheritance tax is the fairest ever devised and the easiest to collect. It has two outstanding virtues: first, it would produce a very large amount of yearly revenue when it became fully productive, and, second, it would tend to break up the huge fortunes which have become a menace both to our form of government and our economic structure."

"We know there are men in the United States today who are worth over a billion dollars. To let them pass on the bulk of these fortunes which they have taken out of the toil and natural resources of the rest of the country is an abomination. With the exception of Secretary of the Treasury Mills, I don't know of a responsible individual who doesn't concur in that view."

As it came from the House, the bill provided for a surtax on income culminating in a rate of 40 per cent on all incomes above $100,000 a year. The Swing scale took up where the bill leaves off and continued to graduate the scale upward, concluding with a tax of 65 per cent on any income above $5,000,000 a year.

"The Swing proposal was moderate enough," Norris commented. "The House rates are indefensible. There is no excuse whatever for taxing a man who makes $101,000 a year at the same rate we tax a man with an income of $10,000,000 a year.

"It is gross discrimination. If we believe in the principle of a graduated scale, then the highest rate should be made sufficiently high to apply to the largest known incomes. No matter how high the top rate was, under the graduated scale the man would always have far more than he would ever need for the comfort and pleasure of himself and his family.

Two Stock Arguments.

"There appears to be two stock arguments against high surtaxes on large incomes—that they will not yield as much revenue as some people expect; and that they will drive capital into tax-exempt securities. The first argument is irrelevant and the second is silly. We should adopt high surtaxes as a matter of justice and permanent policy regardless of what they produce. Anyone who believes that the people who own the national wealth would sell it and go into tax-exempt securities in order to avoid taxation is capable of believing any nonsense."

Only 1.7 Pct. Tax Exempt.

In connection with the latter argument, the writer ascertained today from an official source that during the year 1929 the total reported in incomes of more than $100,000 a year was $5,087,000,000, of which only 1.7 per cent consisted of income from tax-exempt securities. It is true, however, that not all tax-exempt income is reported.

A much more accurate estimate of the proportion of income which wealthy taxpayers derive from the tax-exempt securities may be deduced from the following fact: In 1930 the gross estates making returns under the estate tax law totaled $4,105,500,000, of which only $179,700,000—or about four per cent—consisted of tax-exempt securities.

KREUGER MATCH FIRM INSOLVENCY ALLEGED

Stockholder Asking Receivership Says Mismanagement Caused $250,000,000 Loss.

By the Associated Press.

WILMINGTON, Del., April 9.—Mismanagement of the affairs of the International Match Corporation and associated companies by Ivar Kreuger, Swedish capitalist, who recently committed suicide, is alleged in a bill of complaint filed in Chancery Court today, asking for the appointment of receivers for the corporation.

The bill of complaint alleges the mismanagement resulted in a loss to the defendant corporation and associated companies in excess of $250,000,000.

The complainant is Benjamin Potoker of Newark, N. J., owner of 85 shares of the company's preference stock and a $1000 5 per cent sinking fund gold bond.

All the common stock of the company is owned by the Swedish Match Co., which is controlled by Kreuger & Toll Co.

The defendant corporation controls through stock ownership 13 subsidiaries engaged in the match business and carries on a large amount of the world's match business.

The bill alleges Kreuger was dominant in the management of the corporation's affairs and until his death was president of the defendant corporation, of the Swedish Match Co. and was in control of Kreuger & Toll Co.

The bill sets forth that an investigation of the accounts of the corporation and associated companies showed for some years prior to his death Kreuger mismanaged the affairs of the company and associated companies and converted very large sums of money to his own use.

It was alleged the cash reserves of the International Match Corporation have been depleted and the company is insolvent and has no funds to pay an interest installment of $1,500,000 on May 1 on its funded debt.

The corporation's funded debt consists of gold debenture bonds amounting to $50,000,000.

GOLDEN JUBILEE CELEBRATION OF SALVATION ARMY TODAY

Meeting at Third Baptist Church to Begin Observances Which Will Continue Through Week.

The Salvation Army in St. Louis will celebrate its golden jubilee at a meeting this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Third Baptist Church, Grand and Washington boulevards, marking the first of a series of observances which will extend through the week.

Commissioner William A. McIntyre of Chicago, commander of the Central Territory of the Salvation Army, will deliver the principal address at the meeting. Former Mayor Kiel will preside. Other speakers will include Mayor Miller, the Rev. Dr. John W. MacIvor; the Rev. Dr. C. Oscar Johnson, Rabbi Isserman, Sidney Maestre, Jacob M. Lashly, L. C. Haworth, Lieutenant-Colonel F. A. Bottger, representing veterans organizations; Col. Stephen Marshall of New York, former commandant of the Salvation Army in St. Louis and Major Victor Lundgren, present divisional commander.

SURVEY REPORTS HIGH COST LIMITS USE OF GAS HERE

Charges Much Higher Than in Cities Using Natural or Mixed Fuel, Aldermen Are Told.

A report made for the Natural Gas Committee of the Board of Aldermen declares gas rates in St. Louis are much higher than in cities using natural or mixed gas, resulting in much less use of gas on the basis of number of consumers.

Obviously, the high rates have kept the consumers from making use of gas, not only to the extent of restricting the quantity consumed, but even to the extent that their yearly expenditure for gas is far less than in the other cities," the report states.

The report was prepared, after investigation, by City Counselor Julius T. Muench, Associate City Counselor Forrest G. Ferris Jr. and Max H. Doyne and Robert M. Boyles of C. E. Smith & Co., consulting engineers for the city. In the inquiry, made at the request of the aldermanic committee, Ferris, Doyne and Boyles visited Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati and Indianapolis, and Muench also participated in the inquiry in Cleveland. The report was made public yesterday.

"It is our conclusion," the investigators reported, "that the gas situation in St. Louis is a matter of primary concern. It warrants the most serious consideration by the committee, because it vitally affects the people. We assure you that we will willingly co-operate in your earnest efforts to bring straight natural gas to St. Louis."

Comparative Cost.

The average cost of gas in St. Louis is given as 17.73 cents a therm (100,000 British thermal units), compared with 6.25 cents in Cleveland, 5 cents in Columbus, 7.71 cents in Cincinnati, 4.47 cents in Kansas City and 16.44 cents in St. Louis County. Cleveland, Columbus and Kansas City have straight natural gas and Cincinnati has mixed gas.

Not much reduction in cost for general domestic use is to be expected from the rates proposed by the Laclede Gas Light Co. for mixed natural and manufactured gas, the report states, continuing:

"The rates proposed by Laclede for the new mixed gas of 800 B. T. U. (per cubic foot) will not bring the St. Louis cost to anywhere near the cost in the other cities. The average reduction of 8.3 per cent will only reduce the average cost to the consumer to 16.26 cents per therm compared to costs ranging from 4.47 cents to 7.71 cents in the other cities, and 16.44 cents under the present and 12.91 cents under the proposed St. Louis County schedules. The composite St. Louis reduction will be greater than above stated if the proportion of house heating and industrial sales is increased.

"Even with the new house heating rates the cost for gas for that purpose will still be far above the cost of coal and hence the potential field for development will be limited. In Kansas City the revenue from house heating sales is 10 times the amount in St. Louis. The average cost of gas for this purpose is 5.9 cents a therm; the cost at present in St. Louis is 12.7 cents a therm and as proposed will be 8.9 cents; the cost in St. Louis County at present is 12.8 cents and as proposed will be 8.3 cents."

Figures on Consumption.

As showing the under-development of gas use in St. Louis, the investigators reported the following figures for annual consumption of gas in therms per consumer:

St. Louis	222
Cleveland	940
Columbus	1090
Cincinnati	680
Kansas City	1764
St. Louis County	260

Another comparison is on the basis of number of therms of gas the consumer obtains for $1, as follows:

"This jumps from a low of 5.6 therms per dollar in St. Louis and 6.1 therms per dollar in St. Louis County to 12.9 therms in Cincinnati, which is the next lowest city, and up to 22.4 therms in Kansas City. Apparently the willingness or reluctance with which the people spend their money for gas depends somewhat on what they receive in return for the money spent."

The aldermanic committee has indicated it intends to aid the city law department in pressing for a reduction in the rate base valuation of the Laclede company in the rehearing before the Public Service Commission ordered by the State Supreme Court.

BURGLARS CARRY AWAY SAFE

Strong Box Containing $350 Taken From Drug Store.

A patrolman who found the front door open in the Clara-St. Louis drug store at 5601 St. Louis avenue early yesterday, called its proprietor, Joseph P. Houlihan.

After an investigation Houlihan reported burglars had carted away a steel cabinet safe containing $250 in cash and $250 worth of cosmetics and drugs.

MAN KILLED, WIFE SHOT; DRY AGENTS HELD FOR MURDER

Officers Fire on Pair in Dallas, Tex., Filling Station Who Mistook Them for Robbers.

By the Associated Press.

DALLAS, Tex., April 9.—Two Federal prohibition agents were charged with murder today for killing Marion McGlothlin, 50 years old, proprietor of a crossroads gasoline station and grocery.

The agents, N. D. Heaton and L. C. Smith, declined to make a statement, saying Federal regulations silenced them.

William McCraw, State District Attorney, who made the charges, declared: "I find that an honest, law-abiding, peaceful citizen has been ruthlessly murdered."

The shooting occurred last night as the officers were arresting Lester Cox and his wife, Ruby. The Coxes had met the agents at McGlothlin's place of business by appointment after the Government men had visited Cox's home in an attempt to buy liquor.

Mrs. Cox is alleged to have displayed a pistol and to have been disarmed. Thinking a robbery was occuring, Mrs. McGlothlin seized a pistol from behind a counter and pointed it at one of the agents. He shot the weapon from her hand. The bullet tore off several of her fingers.

McGlothlin obtained a shotgun. The other agent opened fire. McGlothlin fell with three bullet wounds in his body. The shotgun was discharged in the air as he pitched to the floor. Cox escaped.

After the shooting, Mrs. Cox said, the agents led Mrs. McGlothlin outside to their car. One of them, she said, "told Mrs. McGlothlin to stop her noise or he would shoot her again. He told me to keep her quiet or he would shoot me." She further declared that one of the agents "was drunk and when he took a drink of whisky at my house it made him sick."

Mrs. Cox was released from custody.

District Attorney McCraw refused to release the agents upon their own recognizance. He said he would demand high bail.

Thousands of Spring Blossoms Fill Shaw's Garden With Beauty

White Redbud, Which, It Was Feared, Had Died, Is in Bloom—Forsythia Less Plentiful Than Usual.

Spring is the theme indoors and out this week at Shaw's Garden, while every county hillside is drifted with the snowy blossoms and drenched with the fragrance of plum trees.

Thousands of daffodils light the walks at the garden. Lawns, bluegrass or Washington bent, are velvety. The green begins to show in many trees.

Shaw's Garden this year has a reawakening of importance to botany as well as the local store of loveliness, for this year the white redbud is blooming again south of the main gate. It may be seen nowhere else in the world. A few years ago it appeared that it might never be seen again, for a lone white-flowering tree gave up the brave losing fight it had made for years against alien city atmosphere. The stock had been transplanted to more natural surroundings in the 1600-acre extension garden at Gray Summit, however, and a tree from Gray Summit, brought in last fall, is blooming now in the city garden.

Beside it stands a redbud true to its name, and, miraculously, beside that the blackened stump of the original white redbud has begun to send up fresh shoots. Superintendent Pring has fenced it round to give it every possible chance in its new fight for life.

Indoors, the Floral Display House has been converted into a spring garden of roses, marguerites, late azaleas, small-flowered cinerarias and schizanthus. In the adjoining Alcove House bloom exquisite banks of orchids.

Outdoors again, the green leaves are beginning to show among the golden flowers of the forsythia standing near the door of the Display House. Forsythia blooms but scantily this year at the garden and in most parts of the city, for the March frosts devastated the buds, but out in the country they are as gay as ever.

The shadbush began to bloom days ago along Gravois road and in the woods along Big River and the Meramec. Wild plum, too, gleams in those woods and peach-blossom has begun to show its pink.

"AL" AND "FRANK" PAT EACH OTHER ON BACK IN SPEECHES

Governor and Former Governor Meet at Launching of Catholic Charities Appeal.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 8.—It was "Al" and "Frank," with plenty of bouquets thrown, when Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt and former Gov. Alfred E. Smith met today on the same program at the launching of the Catholic Charities appeal.

Gov. Roosevelt said that no one in the past 20 years had done more in the cause of charity than "my distinguished predecessor, Gov. Smith."

"My old friend Al's great contribution," he said, "lay in what he has accomplished over this long period of years in making us social-minded, in giving us a clearer concept of the command, 'Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.'"

"I feel grateful to the Governor for his compliment," said Smith. Then he said he knew when he laid down the reins of office, they were going into good hands. Everybody applauded. Smith grew jocose. "Of course, Frank," he added, "the reasons you gave for your happiness at the adjournment of the Legislature were all right for this gathering. You and I could give other reasons, but there is no use talking about it."

MAN FOUND SHOT IN LEG SITTING IN STREET CAR BARN

Victim at First Said He Was Fired On When Leaving Union Headquarters.

A man who gave his name as Busbro Negro, a concrete worker, of 2305 Sublette avenue, was found by police yesterday afternoon sitting in a street car in the car barns at Easton and Spring avenues, his left leg fractured by a bullet.

At first he told police he was shot by one of two men who passed in an automobile as he emerged from headquarters of the Building Laborers Union, Local 162, at 3844 Easton avenue. Later police reported he said he did not recall how he was shot.

KIDNAPING OF MISSING DOCTOR IS SUSPECTED

Wealthy North Chicago Physician Answered Purported Accident Call.

By the Associated Press.

NORTH CHICAGO, Ill., April 9.—Dr. A. E. Budde, roused from bed early this morning by a call to attend the victims of a purported accident, has disappeared and his friends fear he has been kidnaped. The caretaker of the North Shore Cemetery found Dr. Budde's valise at the cemetery gate.

His wife heard the telephone ring and the doctor answer it. Upon arising she found a note left by her husband, reading: "Accident. Must go to Tenth street and Dugdale road. May go to hospital."

When the cemetery caretaker telephoned that he had found Dr. Budde's suitcase, Mrs. Budde notified the police. No accidents had been reported overnight. Dr. Budde is city physician of North Chicago and wealthy.

Dr. Budde left home in his automobile, a small Nash sedan, with a 1932 Illinois license 29-896. A police message described him as follows: Forty-eight years old, 5 feet 9 inches tall; weight 185 pounds; light gray hair and dark moustache; blue-gray eyes; complexion ruddy; wearing gray salt and pepper topcoat and a dark gray suit.

Around the cemetery gate the police could find no mark of an automobile tire, and they believe the grip must have been thrown from the car as it passed on the road. The grip dropped near the cemetery was the usual medical kit. The doctor had no extra clothes with him.

GROCER AND SON HELD UP BY THREE MEN WHO GET $100

Cash Register Rifled at 2101 Forest Avenue—Lunch Stand Robbed.

James Ellis, a grocer, of 2101 Forest avenue, was robbed of $100 about 7:15 o'clock last night by three men, two of them armed, who forced him and his son, Paul, to go into a rear room while they rifled the cash register.

About an hour later a White Castle hamburger stand at 1015 North Grand boulevard was held up by an armed man, who took $10 from Gilbert Burpo, the manager.

$949,237,795 VETERANS' FUND VOTED BY HOUSE

Debate on Cash Bonus Payment Precedes Action, Dyer Warning of Panic and Others Opposing Issuance of Money.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—A billion-dollar allowance for next year's veterans' expenses was approved today by the House just after an appeal for assurance that more than twice this sum will not be voted to cash the soldiers' bonus.

Representative Dyer (Rep.), Missouri, said: "It is our duty to say to the world and to America that we are not going to further harass finances by voting to pay the bonus at this time."

Debate on the bonus issue, consideration of which begins Monday before the Ways and Means Committee, flared up when the huge 1933 appropriation for the Veterans' Bureau was reached in the independent offices supply bill. This figure of $949,237,795, the largest single allotment of any Federal agency, was approved without protest. It represents a $169,572,912 cut under current appropriations. $51,161,732 under budget bureau estimates and includes $100,000,000 for the increased loans on the veterans' certificates voted last year.

The proposed full cash payment of the bonus was attacked and defended, in the first important debate of the issue on the floor this session. Representative Bulwinkle (Dem.), North Carolina, a war veteran, began the discussion with an analysis of how much the Government is spending on its veterans. He declined to be drawn directly into the bonus issue, but reminded veterans they owe as great a duty to the country during peace as during war.

"Is it not a fact that we have done more for our veterans than all the other countries combined?" asked Representative Snell, the Republican leader.

"England was in the war for four years," Bulwinkle replied, "yet she has paid out only one-fourth the amount in cash that we have paid here." He estimated that since 1920 the Government has spent more than $7,500,000,000 on the veterans and placed the aggregate expenditures on veterans of all wars at more than $15,000,000,000.

Dyer's remarks, saying the bonus might bring a panic, brought replies from Representative Rankin of Mississippi and Patman of Texas, Democrats and leading bonus advocates.

"To issue $2,200,000,000 in currency to pay off the bonus would do more to improve conditions than anything else," Rankin said. "If this bonus bill is passed and this money put into circulation, it will break the panic over night.

"I am not in favor of stepping off the gold standard, but whenever it becomes necessary to do it to rescue the American people from a terrible condition and we have to choose between the people and the gold standard, then I'm for the people."

MOVE BY NOTE-SIGNERS TO QUIZ RASKOB FAILS

Court Denies Plea to Examine Democratic Chairman Before Trial.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 9.—Efforts of two defendants in the suit to collect the Democratic "Tiger Room" notes to question John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, before trial were stayed today by a court order. The order also stayed examination of Orie Kelly, president of the County Trust Co., of which Raskob is a director.

The bank is suing Timothy J. Mara, sports promoter, and Patrick F. Kenny, Yonkers contractor, on notes totaling $70,000 which they signed during the 1928 presidential campaign.

The defendants say they were induced to sign the notes by Raskob, Kelly and others; that the money all went into the Democratic campaign chest; that they received none of it, and that they were assured they would never have to pay. They said the procedure was designed to cover an illegal contribution by the bank to the Smith campaign fund.

Earlier this week the bank applied for a summary judgment, but this was denied. The bank then appealed, and for this reason the stay of the examinations was granted.

DRY COMPROMISE LIKELY AT STATE G. O. P. MEETING

wet declaration in the State platform would drive many rural Republicans from their party and that they would lose control of the county offices in many counties. So they say, they will not consent to the wet plank.

It may be that when the actual work of the convention begins a compromise will be worked out. Political leaders avoid a fight whenever possible, particularly on a highly controversial issue on which there is a sharp division, and the suavity of Dr. Clements and the serious earnestness of Chairman Curtis will be directed toward bringing about a satisfactory compromise.

May Call for Resubmission.

This is likely to take the form of a recommendation for resubmission of the eighteenth amendment on the ground that after trial of prohibition for 12 years the people have the right to vote on the question of whether it shall be continued. It is not likely that any expression of view on prohibition will be made. The St. Louis group undoubtedly would prefer a plank of the kind mentioned to a complete dodging of the question, but two days before the convention neither side is willing to concede possibilty of compromise.

The total number of delegates in the convention will be 1392. A majority, or 697 votes, will be required to carry any proposition on which all delegates vote. St. Louis will have 270 delegates, or about one-fifth. It is probable that on the issue of a wet plank the St. Louis leaders could gather to their support all the 71 in St. Louis County, the 13 in Franklin, the seven in Gasconade, the four in Osage, the four in Perry, the nine in St. Charles, the two in Ste. Genevieve and the four in Warren, but that would mean a total of only 384. They would, of course, pick up many other votes scattered about over the State, but there is little prospect that they could get unanimous support from the 211 in Jackson, the 34 of Jasper, or the 34 in Buchanan. They might not be able to get even a majority in any of those counties.

Details of Program.

The Republican State Committee will meet at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning at the Jefferson to make up the temporary roll of the convention, a perfunctory proceeding because there are no contests. The convention will be convened at 11 o'clock by Chairman Curtis. The keynote speech will be delivered by Gov. Caulfield.

The only business to be transacted will be the confirmation of the election of 32 district delegates to the National Convention in Chicago June 14, and the election of nine delegates at large. Each of the 32 district delegates will have three-fourths of a vote in the National Convention, and each of the delegates at large will have a full vote. Thus the Missouri delegation will consist of 41 individuals with a total of 33 votes.

It is the expectation that among those elected delegates at large will be Gov. Caulfield, Senator Patterson, Secretary of Agriculture Hyde, Mrs. Pearl Gehrig of Salisbury, president of the Federation of Republican Women's Clubs; Mrs. John Wyeth of St. Joseph, vice chairman of the Republican State Committee, and Charles Nagel of St. Louis. Of the three remaining places, one will go to a Negro, L. Amasa Knox of Kansas City, formerly a member of the Legislature, has been discussed as the probable selection. State Chairman Curtis will be chosen a delegate if he desires, and the ninth place will go to a liberal contributor to Republican campaign funds, Theodore Gary of Macon and Kansas City, being under consideration.

Because of the limited space in the room in which the convention will be held there will be few seats for spectators. The convention will be much smaller than that of the Democrats two weeks ago.

JOSEPH W. DAVIES, ST. LOUIS STATE LEGISLATOR, RESIGNS

Fails to Give Reason; No Duties or Salary Expected Before Term Would Expire.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 9.—Joseph W. Davies, representative of the Fifth St. Louis District in the State Legislature, submitted his resignation to Gov. Caulfield today.

Davies gave no reason in his letter and asked the Governor to accept the resignation immediately. The Governor said he would do so. Davies was serving his second term. His letter said that he would not seek renomination on the Republican ticket in the August primary.

Members of the Legislature have no duties to perform and receive no compensation except when it is in session. There is little likelihood of a special session before the next General Assembly meets in January.

Davies, a real estate dealer, lives at 4718 Greer avenue. He resigned, he said last night, in expectation of being appointed to a city job.

CONTRACTOR ROBBED OF AUTO AND $123 IN ST. LOUIS COUNTY

Driven Around in Own Machine for Hour by Holdup Men.

Held up by three men at Dale and Louisville avenues yesterday, John F. Sipe, brick contractor, was forced to put on blacked spectacles and was driven around in St. Louis County in his own automobile for an hour before he was put out at Lindbergh boulevard and Ladue road. The robbers left with his automobile and $123 cash.

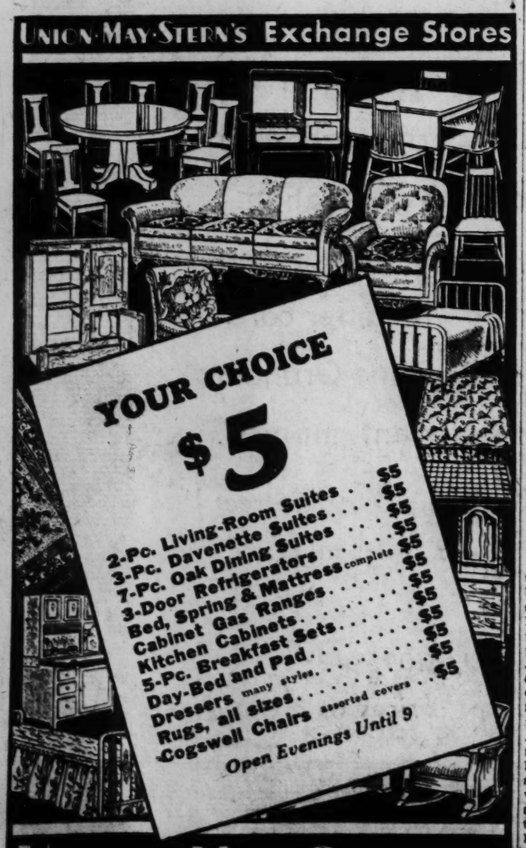

Sipe, who lives at 9611 Wallace avenue, told deputies he was crowded to the curb by a roadster in which three men rode. Two got into his car, covered him with pistols, put the spectacles on him and took charge of the machine. The roadster followed and Sipe caught a glimpse of it when he was finally put out at the roadside. He had drawn the money from a bank a few minutes before the holdup to pay employes.

SAYS HOOVER 'JUNKED' WATERWAY PROGRAM

Representative Maas Charges President With Turning Back on 1928 Campaign Pledge.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 9. — A charge that President Hoover has apparently "junked" the national inland waterway program "upon which he sold himself to the electorate of the Midwest in 1928" was made today by Representative Maas (Rep.), Minnesota, before a Senate committee. This statement followed testimony by Major-General Lytle Brown, chief of army engineers, that an immediate $500,000,000 program of river and harbor construction, as proposed in a bill by Senator Shipstead (Farmer-Labor), Minnesota, is practicable from an engineering standpoint.

Immediately after Maas made his charge, Senator Vanderberg (Rep.), Michigan, interrupted to advise him to "save our political speeches for the floor of the Senate and House."

Brown declined to express an opinion concerning the Shipstead bill provision for raising the money by a bond issue. He said, "That's the business of Congress."

Maas said "those who have endeavored to carry out this program have been hampered in every possible way by representatives of the administration and President Hoover himself has dealt a most telling blow against successful waterborne transportation on the existing waterways when he personally, at the request of railroad executives, suspended cotton rates established by the Federal barge line in an effort to aid the cotton farmers of the South."

Quotes From Hoover Addresses.

He quoted from a Hoover address in Louisville in 1929 advocating completion of "the entire Mississippi system within the next five years," and one in Minneapolis in 1926 picturing a Pittsburg-Kansas City waterway and another "reaching up the Mississippi from the Gulf" with branches to Chicago and Duluth and to the Twin Cities by way of the Upper Mississippi.

Maas said President Hoover has "turned a deaf ear" to pleas of Midwestern Representatives for his aid in securing the adoption by the last Congress of the nine-foot channel project. Asserting that at the present rate "it will be 40 years before the Mississippi system and inland waterways are completed." Maas said "no wonder the people are asking what has become of President Hoover's waterway program."

"It is an open secret," he said, "that the administration is permitting its representatives to do everything possible to hamper and retard adoption" of the Shipstead bill and its House counterpart sponsored by Representative Mansfield.

Maas advocated that, if a bond issue is found not to be the most practical method of financing the program, currency be issued.

Says Now Is Time to Do Work.

Gen. Brown said the upper Mississippi projects have "first priority" in the plans of his bureau. He testified that army engineers could readily "step-up" their activities and that to do so would not result in wastefulness.

"Contractors of the country are all short of work now," he said, "and are very eager for it. We are getting contracts now much under our estimates. Our work is being done cheaper now than I have ever known it to be done before in comparison to the estimates."

Brown gave as a "very rough estimate" the opinion that from 30 to 50 per cent of the money spent would go to labor "directly or indirectly." The present plan of the army engineers, Brown said, calls for completion in eight years of the $431,000,000 of projects which have been approved by Congress. He added this probably can not be carried out because he does not now "believe we are going to get the appropriations from the Treasury." He pointed out that $75,000,000 had been requested for next year but it was pared to $60,000,000 in making up the budget estimates.

While the Shipstead bill does not give a time limit, proponents of the measure have mentioned five years as the probable time for completion of the program. A similar measure has been introduced in the House by Representative Mansfield (Dem.), Texas.

Of the $431,000,000 of projects approved, Brown said about half have been fully adopted with authorization of the necessary expenditure. He said that if the Shipstead bill were passed the engineers would be able to carry on $100,000,000 of work in the first year of the program.

AMERICAN EMBASSY IN CHINA NOT LIKELY TO BE CLOSED

Stimson Did Not List Those He Suggested Might Be Suspended.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Secretary Stimson mentioned no specific Embassies, Legations or Consulates in his recommendation to the Senate that 12 Embassies and Legations and 14 Consulates could be closed with less injury to the foreign service than a flat 10 per cent reduction in all appropriations would cause.

Neither the Secretary nor any of his assistants ever suggested that the Legation in China should be closed, as has been reported from Tokio. No official list has been prepared by the department, which is hopeful that curtailment of appropriations will not be such as to force the closing of any foreign offices.

CAROL'S BROTHER MUST QUIT WIFE OR RENOUNCE RIGHTS

Prince Nicholas to Make Decision at Council of Ministers Called for Today.

BUCHAREST, April 9.—Prince Nicholas, who aroused the displeasure of his brother, King Carol, by marrying a commoner, arrived from Paris by airplane today and was greeted at the airport by a representative of the King. They motored immediately to the palace.

The return of the Prince was a complete surprise except in court circles, where it was disclosed that a Council of Ministers is to be held in the morning at which Nicholas will decide either to renounce his marriage to Mme. Jana Deletj or formally to relinquish all his royal rights. There was no hint today about which course he will select, and Bucharest awaited developments with tense interest.

Recently the King sent Gen. Condescu to Paris to talk with Nicholas, apparently with the object of effecting a reconciliation.

JAPANESE HOPEFUL, CHINESE DOUBTFUL OF PROPOSED TERMS

Delegates of Two Nations Submit to Their Governments Suggestions of British Ambassador.

By the Associated Press.

SHANGHAI, April 9.—Today's session of the Chinese-Japanese armistice conference was turned into a debate over definitions of the newly-drafted proposals of Sir Miles Lampson, British Ambassador to China, and the meeting was adjourned until Monday in order to give the Governments an opportunity of accepting or rejecting the suggested revisions.

The Japanese delegates accepted in principle the first of three alternatives proposed by the Ambassador and covering the question of Japanese withdrawal, but the Chinese opposed all of them.

The first alternative, as originally presented, called for a statement to be issued by the Japanese delegates expressing the hope that withdrawal would be completed within six months if not sooner, providing condtions had been improved to such an extent that evacuation was considered safe. A clarifying clause was added to this suggestion and the Japanese and Chinese then agreed to submit it to their Governments for instructions.

The Japanese were hopeful that their instructions would be favorable. The Chinese were doubtful.

PEIPING, April 9.—Three brass bands were playing on the station platform when the League of Nations Commission investigating the Chinese-Japanese conflict arrived today. Chang Hsiao-liang, Dr. Wellington Koo and other dignitaries were among the welcomers. The city's 600-year-old walls were plastered with welcoming posters in English, French, German and Italian. The visitors will stay here five or six days before going up to Manchuria.

ARGYLE REALTY CO. PETITION

Suit for a receiver for the Argyle Realty Co. was filed in Circuit Court yesterday by Ben Sparber, owner of one share of stock, who objects to the management of the corporation under the control of Nathan Alper, president.

Assets of the company consist of encumbered real estate, on some of which payments of first mortgages due are in default, it is alleged. The petition admits the corporation is solvent, but it is alleged it will not continue so if Alper remains in charge.

GROUP OF EXPERTS FINDS REGULATION OF UTILITIES FAILS

Language of Report Is So Vigorous That Some at Conference Refuse to Approve It.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 9.—Public utility regulation was pictured as having been weakened by the evasive tactics of speculative promoters in a report made public today by the Policy Committee of a round table conference of experts.

So vigorous was the language of the report that it brought repudiations from some of the conferees, who convened yesterday to discuss a "liberal" policy of public utility regulation.

Prof. William Z. Ripley of Harvard University denied any responsibility for the report because it was "too sweeping and indiscriminate in charging bad faith and corruption to operators."

Members of State and Federal regulatory bodies inserted an amendment in the report disclaiming any part in it.

The report, which was not adopted but merely "received," said in part:

"Regulation, as now generally administered, has failed to protect investors in public utility securities against the loss of billions of dollars resulting from unsound methods of valuation and financing. It has failed to secure for the small consumer rate reductions corresponding to the decline in prices and wages or the technical trend toward increased domestic use. It has failed also to safeguard the credit of the companies placed under its supervision and control.

"Effective regulation of public utilities has been progressively weakened as a result of the definite policy of evasion imposed upon the industry by promoters who control public utilities in the interest of speculative profits derived from manipulation of their securities."

The amendment disclaiming responsibility was offered by Milo R. Maltbie, chairman of the New York State Public Service Commission, and concurred in by David E. Lilienthal of the Wisconsin commission and his chief economist, E. W. Morehouse; Frank R. McNinch of the Federal Power Commission; Frederick P. Gruenberg, of the Pennsylvania commission; Gen. Mason R. Patrick and William A. Roberts of the District of Columbia Utilities Commission.

The report was written by Frank P. Walsh, chairman of the New York State Power Authority and head of the policy committee.

GEN. BUTLER WOULD HAVE SENATE VISIT PENNSYLVANIA

He Declares Members Then Would Learn What Is Wrong With United States.

By the Associated Press.

BELLEFONTE, Pa., April 9.—Major-General Smedley D. Butler, campaigning for the Republican senatorial nomination, declared here today that if elected he would invite the entire United States Senate to Pennsylvania to learn why so many thousands of its workers are jobless.

The former Marine commander is opposing Senator James J. Davis for the nomination.

"One trip through Pennsylvania," said Butler in his address, "will give the Senate a splendid working idea not only of what is wrong with this State, but what is wrong with the whole United States. They will learn that despite all the intense interest in balancing the national budget nothing has been accomplished toward balancing the budgets of a vast army of those who are looked to by the nation:l budget balancers to supply the taxes."

MISSOURIAN MADE FELLOW OF SOCIAL SCIENCE COUNCIL

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 9.—The appointment of 30 research fellows and the award of 40 grants in aid of research were announced today by the Social Science Research Council.

The new appointments bring the number of fellows to 169 and the amount distributed to $524,000 since the fellowship program was begun by the council in 1925.

Among the fellows appointed are: Edmund Berman, associate professor of economics, University of Illinois; Karl Richard Bopp, assistant professor of economics and finance, University of Missouri; Morris Edward Opler, University of Chicago.

Among those receiving grants in aid are: Graydon K. Freeman and William Jaffee, Northwestern University; Theodore C. Pease, University of Illinois.

Sues State Senator Ralph for $6600

Suit for $6691 damages was filed in Circuit Court at Clayton yesterday by William J. Roehl against State Senator Richard Ralph. Roehl, a manufacturers' agent, who lives at 408 Baker avenue, Webster Groves, alleges he employed Ralph as an attorney to defend a suit brought against him on a note, and that as a result of Ralph's neglect a default judgment was rendered against him a year ago. He is suing for the amount of the judgment.

SUIT TO OUST INDIANA MAYOR ON CHARGE OF DRUNKENNESS

Action Filed Against Anderson Executive, Who Recently Suffered Paralytic Stroke.

By the Associated Press.

ANDERSON, Ind., April 9.—A suit to impeach Mayor Jesse H. Mellett and asking his removal from office on the grounds of habitual drunkenness was filed in the Madison Circuit Court here today by six citizens. The suit asks the Court to issue an order declaring the office of Mayor vacant. The action was filed by James W. Bailey, Willard Rector, Harold Matthews, James McQuire, Charles E. Miller and Dr. Henry W. Harrison.

The Court fixed April 19 for Mayor Mellett's answer. The complaint is in 25 paragraphs, the first of which charges the Mayor is in the habit of becoming intoxicated, and the other 24 of which set out specific dates and places when he was alleged to have been intoxicated.

Mayor Mellett, who is under indictment by the Federal grand jury on a charge of conspiracy to violate the national liquor laws, is at his home seriously ill. He suffered a paralytic stroke recently.

COURT DENIES REHEARING TO SEVEN CONDEMNED MEN

Appeal to U. S. Supreme Bench May Be Taken by Alabama Assailants of Girls.

By the Associated Press.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., April 9.—The Alabama Supreme Court today overruled an application to rehear the appeals of seven young Negroes sentenced to die May 13 for attacks on two white girls near Paint Rock, Ala., a year ago.

The applications were filed March 24, the day after the Supreme Court affirmed the death sentences passed at the Negroes' trial at Scottsboro, Ala. At the same time the Court reversed the death sentence of an eighth Negro and remanded his case for trial.

In filing the applications, George Chamlee of Chattanooga, Tenn., defense attorney, announced he would seek to appeal the cases to the United States Supreme Court in event the Alabama court refused a rehearing. Only Gov. Miller can save the Negroes from the electric chair unless the appeal is taken.

TEXAS TOWNS REPORT TREMORS

CORSICANA, Tex., April 9. — Slight earth tremors shook buildings about 4:15 a. m. today at Richland, Currie, Wortham, Coolidge, Mexia, Groesbeck and Teague, Tex.

The disturbance apparently affected an area about 25 miles in diameter and centered somewhere between Wortham and Mexia, where it was most pronounced. A few brick chimneys fell, but no other damage was reported.

ARKANSAS EX-CONGRESSMAN ATTACKED BY WAR VETERAN

Assailant Suffered Hallucination That Victim Had $100,000 Pension for Him.

SEARCY, Ark., April 9.—Stephen Brundige, former Congressman and author of the Arkansas primary election law, was attacked on a street here today and seriously wounded by Frank Covington, 40, World War veteran.

A gash was cut in Brundidge's cheek and his head was badly bruised. On account of his advanced age—75—physicians regarded the wounds as serious. Covington was jailed.

When by-standers reached them, Covington had Brundidge down and was battering his head against the curbing.

Officers said Covington, who has been in a government hospital at Legion, Tex., several times but always escaped, suffered hallucinations and believed Brundidge had $100,000 pension money for him. Brundidge served in Congress from the Second Arkansas District from 1897 to 1909.

CIRCULAR LETTERS SOLICIT AID FOR BROOM SHOP FOR BLIND

$8644 Subscribed of $30,000 Necessary to Put 125 Sightless Workers Back on Jobs.

Mailing of circular letters appealing for funds with which to reopen the St. Louis Broom Shop was begun yesterday by the Missouri Commission for the Blind. Subscriptions toward the $30,000 fund necessary to put 125 blind men back to work total $8644.05.

The letter, signed by Mrs. Mary Dranga Campbell, executive director of the commission, and Miss Adaline A. Ruenzi, blind teacher, elected by the broom makers as their representative, outlines the situation which forced the closing of the shop April 1, last, and states this is the commission's first appeal for funds.

Subscriptions include $400 from Mrs. Clarence H. Howard; $300 from the Henry C. Hollman Produce Co., and $36.50 from employes of the Chase Bag Co. One of several dollar contributions was sent in from "An Unfortunate Widow."

ECUADORIAN REBELS DRIVEN FROM FORT, FLEE ON GUNBOAT

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador, April 9.—Government forces today drove navy mutineers out of the fort at Punta Piedra, but allowed the rebels to escape on a gunboat. The rebels, in possession of both ships of the Ecuadorian navy, the gunboats Tarqui and Cotopaxi, held off the Government forces in the little motorship Colon with gunfire as they fled.

With growing darkness, all the Federal troops except a garrison left at Punta Piedra returned to Guayaquil on the Colon. Rebels who were taken prisoners said their side was demoralized and the authorities said they believed the mutiny was ended. An officer said that when he left Puna the gunboats had stopped the Chilean steamer Guayas, apparently to obtain fuel for flight.

SHERIFF ARRESTED, CHARGED WITH HAVING PINT OF LIQUOR

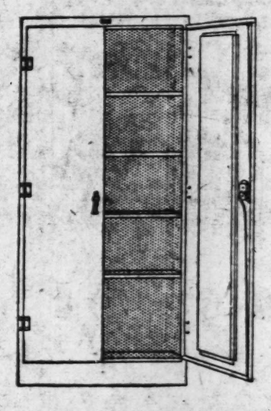

Official at Fredericktown Also Accused of Driving While Intoxicated.

FREDERICKTOWN, Mo., April 9.—Sheriff C. O. Simmons was arrested here at 1:30 a. m. today by Night Marshal Kenneth Burns and State Highway Patrolman Howard Thurnbull and locked in the county jail. The Sheriff was charged with possession of one pint of liquor, which the officers said they took from him at the time of the arrest, with driving while intoxicated and with threatening the officers with a revolver.

Sheriff Simmons was arrested by Thurnbull and State Patrolman Pearson of Sikeston at Ironton two weeks ago and charged with driving his automobile with only one license plate. This case is to be heard before a Justice of the Peace at Ironton in a few days.

PRETTY BOY FLOYD KILLS EX-SHERIFF NEAR BIXBY, OK.

Escapes From Trap Officers Laid for Him and Flees in Auto With Outlaw Companion.

By the Associated Press.

TULSA, Ok., April 9.—Tulsa officials reported a heavy concentration of officers in the vicinity of Earlsboro, Ok., tonight on the trail of Charles A. ("Pretty Boy") Floyd, long sought Oklahoma outlaw and killer.

Floyd eluded a trap set for him early today at the home of his father-in-law, Ben Hargraves, near Bixby, and in an exchange of shots with the outlaw, E. A. Kelly, former sheriff of McIntosh county was killed. Kelly was leader of the posse.

Detectives think that Floyd was accompanied in an automobile by his lieutenant, George Birdwell. They said he had been trailed to the vicinity of a brother's home at Earlsboro.

Kelly was shot in a lane near the Hargraves home when he stepped into the light thrown by an approaching automobile and commanded the driver to halt.

Two farmers who had been enlisted as possemen, said there was a burst of pistol shots from the automobile and that Kelly fired a round from his sub-machine gun then fell mortally wounded.

The automobile turned in the narrow lane, dragging down part of a wire fence, and sped away in the darkness.

The officers had information Floyd planned to visit his wife at the home of her father last night, and it was on the strength of this report that the ambush was planned.

Mrs. Floyd went to the Hargraves house last night and remained there during the day.

PARTY ASKS SOCIALIST MAYOR OF RACINE, WIS., TO RESIGN

Official Says He Withdrew From Group Because of Dictation From Milwaukee.

By the Associated Press.

RACINE, Wis., April 9.—Socialists today demanded that William Swoboda, Racine's first Socialist Mayor, resign his office.

Mayor Swoboda, perplexed by charges of the party that he is "guilty of gross misconduct unbecoming a public official," flatly refused.

"I will not resign," he said, whereupon party leaders discussed possibility of impeachment proceedings.

The demand that the Mayor relinquish office followed his separation from the Socialist party. How that separation was accomplished remained a debated point. The Mayor said he resigned. The party, through William Coleman, Milwaukee, secretary, insisted Swoboda had been expelled.

Asked whether reports of open gambling in Racine may be the basis of the charge, the Mayor said complaint on such grounds is baseless.

The Mayor last night told the City Council he decided to withdraw from the Socialist party because he was tired of dictation from Milwaukee. Various measures which he felt would be helpful to Racine he opposed because he had been instructed to do so, he asserted.

500 RETAIL FURNITURE MEN TO MEET HERE WEDNESDAY

Dealers From South and Southwest Coming to Association's Sectional Session.

A sectional meeting of the National Retail Furniture Association will be held at Hotel Statler on Wednesday. About 500 retail furniture dealers from the South and Southwest are expected. A morning session will be devoted to operating and financial problems of stores and the afternoon discussion will be on selling ideas that are proving to be business getters under present conditions.

In connection with the meeting, the Lammert Furniture Co. will entertain the visitors at a dinner party Wednesday evening at the Statler, celebrating the seventy-first anniversary of its establishment. Clarence Haverty of the Haverty Furniture Co. will be toastmaster. Speakers will include Dr. Logan Esarey, professor of history at Indiana State University; J. J. Haverty, president of the Haverty Furniture Co.; Fred Green, president of the Ypsilanti Reed Furniture Co. and former Governor of Michigan; P. E. Kroehler, president of the Kroehler Manufacturing Co., and Ernest Schultz, president of the Northfield Co. and former president of the National Furniture Manufacturers' Association.

$25,000 BOND FORFEITED IN HABEAS CORPUS CASE

Action Follows Failure of Man Wanted for Attempted Bank Robbery to Appear.

The $25,000 bond of William Livingstone, former convict accused of attempted bank robbery at Edwards, Miss., for forfeited by Circuit Judge Mulloy at Clayton yesterday when Livingstone failed to appear for a habeas corpus hearing.

The Court dismissed an application for a writ of habeas corpus, filed after Gov. Caulfield had honored a requisition for his return to Mississippi.

The hearing was to have been held Friday, but was continued for a day when Livingstone's attorney, Verne Lacy, produced a telegram purporting to be from his client in Tulsa, Ok., which said that Livingstone understood he need not appear until April 12. Judge Mulloy gave Lacy one day to produce his client.

Livingstone has been identified as a companion of James W. Green and John W. Behm in the attempted robbery last December. Behm was killed by a posse and Green has confessed. Livingstone's bond was signed by Arthur A. McLeod, 3101A North Grand boulevard, and Mrs. Zoe Hodges, 6427 Manchester avenue, who is charged in a warrant with receiving stolen property Green is said to have given her after several burglaries to which he has confessed.

GANGSTERS KILL MAN AS FARMERS LOOK ON

Chicago Slayers Stop Car, Grasp Arms of Victim, Then Open Fire.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 9.—For one of the few times in police record, there were witnesses to the end of a gangland "ride"—and they had the courage to tell about it. They said the victim, Michael Carmen, 35 years old, was shot by men who sat beside him in an automobile, holding his arms as he struggled. Darkness prevented them from obtaining a description of the killers.

The slaying took place in a lonely farming district on the far Southwest Side. More than 20 gangsters have been found shot to death in the vicinity.

Carmen's body was left crumpled in the road. The bullets had pierced his mouth, head and chest. His assailants escaped. Behind their automobile as they sped away was a second car, believed to be on guard against possible interference from the victim's friends.

Police said Carmen was an "independent" alcohol cooker and dealer, and that he evidently had dared to compete against a gang-controlled liquor syndicate.

Several farmers, who asked their names not be made public, saw the execution. They told how the car came speeding along the road, slowed down, and how the killers grasped Carmen's arms. A half-dozen pistol shots were heard, the weapons flashing fire in the semi-dusk. One witness said he believed the driver of the automobile may have fired some of the shots.

FOUR BONDS STOLEN HERE FOUND AT HARRELL, ARK.

Liberty Issue Traced to Professional Bondsman Who Is Questioned by Police.

Four $50 Liberty bonds, part of $450 in such securities stolen about the first of the year from Miss Edna Barnhill, 15 North Newstead avenue, have been found in the possession of a resident of Harrell, Ark., who acquired them after they had passed through the hands of several banks and investment firms in St. Louis and Chicago.

Tracing the transactions police learned that a porfessional bondsman had sold $450 in Liberty bonds, among them those which have turned up in Arkansas, to a St. Louis bank last Jan. 6.

The bondsman, who is interested in a downtown cleaning and dyeing estblishment, was questioned by police of the Newstead district and released. He said he had sold the bonds for a former St. Louisan now living in Chicago, and had retained $50 of the proceeds for his services.

AUTO FATALITY RATE LOWER FOR JANUARY AND FEBRUARY

15.1 for 100,000 of Population Puts St. Louis Next to Bottom City.

St. Louis had 15.1 fatalities from motor vehicle accidents per 100,000 of population in January and February of this year, according to Safety Council figures. In the same period last year the rate was 21.7.

This year, for the two-month period, St. Louis was next to the lowest rate among the 12 cities with populations exceeding 500,000. Last year it was ninth. The lowest rate this year, 14.5, was attained in Boston and the highest, 40, in Los Angeles. St. Louis has never had so good a position in this record before, the council said. The average for the 12 cities this year is 22.7 fatalities per 100,000, compared with 19.3 in the same period last year.

Up to last Friday there were 44 motor vehicle deaths here this year, compared with 50 in the same time last year.

CHILEAN NITRATE COMBINE EXPECTED TO REORGANIZE

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 9.—While official comment is lacking, Wall street is looking for an announcement of reorganization of Cosach, the Chilean nitrate combine, within a few weeks, as result of banking conferences being held here.

A financial readjustment, involving a substantial reduction in capital, has been regarded in Wall street as highly probable, in view of the sharp decline in the company's securities, although there has been no inkling as to the actual details under consideration. Rigid economies also are forecast, as part of a campaign to offer stiffer competition to synthetic nitrate producers.

RECEIVERSHIP SUIT DISMISSED

Action Against Grimm Stamp & Badge Co. Settled Out of Court.

The receivership suit of Frederick G. Schnitzer, 937 Dover place, against the Grimm Stamp & Badge Co., 1309 Carr Lane avenue, in which he is a stockholder, was dismissed in Circuit Judge Hall's Court yesterday. A stipulation set forth that the matter had been settled out of court. The suit was filed last Feb. 18, but no action was taken on it.

Claude W. McElwee, representing the company, said Schnitzer's holdings in the corporation had been purchased from him. Erwin W. Grimm, president of the company, denied a receivership was necessary and pointed out that the business until last year paid dividends of 18 per cent and more. It has had valuable contracts with various states, furnishing seals, automobile license plates and road signs.

HOW 26 CITIES MEET DECLINE IN REVENUES

Salary Cuts and Restricted Service Among Methods to Balance Budgets.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 9.—Drastic attempts by 26 leading American cities to meet declining revenues have enabled most of them to avoid tax increases, and in some cases to reduce rates, a survey by Harry H. Freeman of the Buffalo (N. Y.) Municipal Research Bureau shows.

The cities have to balance their budgets by salary cuts, elimination of automatic salary increases, restriction of public service, consolidation of departments, postponements of capital improvements, and other measures.

Los Angeles, faced with a $4,000,000 decrease in tax receipts because of a reduction in property assessments, expects not only to pay a small deficit, but to reduce next year's budget by $4,000,000.

A recent constitutional amendment has required Cleveland to reduce assessed valuations, and the city is making extensive cuts to keep income equal to outgo.

Pittsburg has cut the 1932 municipal budget 13 per cent or $3,683,000 below last year's total of $28,747,626, by sharp curtailments in operation and maintenance appropriations which have effected a reduction of $2.50 in the former general city tax rate of $25.50.

The preliminary Mayor's budget in Buffalo has cut operating appropriations $539,887 by general economies including the refunding of $4,000,000 in bonds.

Cincinnati's budget, excluding school appropriations, is $15,676,379, a cut of $670,491 from last year's.

Seattle, Wash., has cut departmental appropriations for 1932 to $8,200,000 from $9,106,000 in 1931. Indiana has passed a special act forcing all government units to keep 1932 budgets from exceeding 1931 budgets, requiring Indianapolis to make general salary and wage cuts.

Rochester cut city and school operating budget to $18,594,000, a reduction of $2,687,000. Toledo cut salaries as much as 25 per cent in the upper brackets.

Oakland, Cal., cut the budget to $6,770,000, a saving of $284,000 in the present fiscal year, and expects to continue the economies. Syracuse, N. Y., faced with a decrease of 13 per cent in tax receipts and increasing welfare expense, has largely discounted the danger of tax rate advance by extensive economies.

New York, Freeman says, has made "no major changes in policy so far as operation and maintenance items of the budget are concerned. Nevertheless, some action may be necessary because bankers have demanded drastic revisions before granting additional credit."

Chicago's "precarious financial condition," says Freeman, "points a warning to what happens through neglect and bad government." Philadelphia's budget has been "balanced technically, although inadequate provision has been made for the year's needs." Detroit is following a drastic retrenchment program in the face of a $20,000,000 impending deficit.

Baltimore has maintained a $24.50 tax rate despite declining revenues, not cutting salaries but requiring employes to contribute from their wages according to a sliding scale. Milwaukee has made a budget reduction of 5 per cent, apparently without salary cuts. Houston, Tex., has cut many salaries and made other reductions. St. Paul has made some economies, and Denver has a carefully restricted budget.

POLICE WITNESSES WHO FAILED TO APPEAR ASSAILED BY JUDGE

Chief Gerk Explains His Men Were Not Notified by Sheriff in Time.

Police witnesses summoned in five cases set for trial Friday in Court of Criminal Correction No. 1 were not present when court was convened. In continuing the hearings, all on minor offenses, Judge Butler said:

"For some time I have noticed police officers have not appeared in court as witnesses on occasion. This has resulted in any number of civilian witnesses being forced to return to court repeatedly before final disposition is made."

Chief Gerk, after an investigation yesterday, announced that the Sheriff, on whom the responsibility of summoning witnesses rests, had not notified the police witnesses until after 11 a. m. Friday, an hour later than court was convened.

NAVAJOS ASK FOR TRACTORS

Inform Reservation Officials to Substitute Them for Horses.

By the Associated Press.

GALLUP, N. M., April 9.—The Navajo Indians, long known as the "Cossacks of the Southwest," have informed reservation officials here that they would like tractors instead of horses to till their fields. Indian leaders pointed out that "steel mules" would not eat when not working, which is not the case with their calico-colored ponies.

Correction on Langenberg Company

The Langenberg Manufacturing Co. of 4525 North Euclid avenue, maker of heating apparatus, was erroneously described as a manufacturer of men's hats in an item in yesterday's Post-Dispatch telling of the denial by Federal Judge Faris of a motion by the First National Bank for the sale of assets by the receiver. It was not intended in any way to refer to the Langenberg Hat Co., 1112 Washington avenue, which makes hats and which is not involved in any receivership action.

ONLY 29 OUT OF 185 PASS STATE BAR EXAMINATIONS

Eleven Successful From St. Louis, One From University City, One From Webster Groves.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 9.—The State Board of Law Examiners today announced the names of 29 applicants for licenses to practice law who passed the examination held here Feb. 22, 23 and 24. One hundred and eighty-five took the examinations. Board members laid the heavy percentage of failures to the fact that two-thirds of the applicants were persons who had failed in previous examinations, some having taken the examinations six or seven times.

Eleven St. Louisans who passed and will be licensed are: Leo Pokres, Irwin White, Daniel M. Bailey, Cullen Coil, Charles E. Caspari Jr., George M. Cohn, Walter E. Coffman, Lazarus Lapin, Rollyn G. Smith, James Cox Wilbourn and Edgar Oliver Zimmer.

Frank B. Barhorst, University City, and Ray Lewis Walker, Webster Groves, also passed.

Others who passed are: Robert L. Holder, Charles E. Hassett, E. H. Brenk, John Richards Hunter and Douglas Lee Reeder, all of Kansas City; Jeremiah E. Van Wakeman of Kirksville; Lewis H. Carstarphen, Richard Walter Diemer, Lawrence Lee Dail, Merrill E. Montgomery and Wayne W. Owen, all of Columbia; Alexander P. Kelly Jr. of Princeton; Jay B. Dillingham of Platte City; William C. Hiller of Kahoka; Garth Landis of St. Joseph and J. W. Ramsey Jr. of Independence.

Ira H. Lohman of Jefferson City resigned today from the Board of Law Examiners. He has been secretary of the board for five years.

Irwin White will enter the law office of his two brothers, Samuel and Louis White, Plaza-Olive building. He is 23 years old. Samuel White is a Special Assistant Attorney-General in St. Louis.

Dr. Lamb Not at 4251A Easton.

Dr. Jay H. Lamb, physician, arrested Friday night on a charge of violating the Harrison anti-narcotic act, does not reside at 4251A Easton avenue, as stated in the Post-Dispatch yesterday, according to Mrs. R. Layne, who said she resided at that address with her husband, a dentist.

ACCEPTS PROSECUTOR'S DARE TO PAY VISIT TO KENTUCKY

Civil Liberties Union Attorney to Accompany Party to Investigate Coal Fields.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 9.—Responding to a challenge contained in an open letter from Walter E. Smith, Bell County (Kentucky) attorney, Arthur Garfield Hays, attorney for the American Civil Liberties Union, announced today that a delegation from the union would leave here for Kentucky on April 24.

Smith's letter dared the delegation "to come under the veiled camouflage of your pretense of constitutional rights." Hays replied: "All I have to say to Smith is that we are coming."

The delegation, which plans to investigate strike conditions in the Kentucky coal fields, is expected to include, Hays said, Amos Pinchot, Corliss Lamont, John Haynes Holmes, Roger Baldwin, Dorothy Kenyon, himself and several others.

"Smith asked about my religion and my views on marriage," said Hays. "I am going to ask him if these things constitute a test of a man's constitutional right to enter Kentucky."

Baldwin said several Southerners would be in the delegation, including Kentuckians. "It will be in no sense a Yankee expedition," he said.

WET PILGRIMAGE TO CONGRESS

Women on Wednesday to Ask for Dry Repeal.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Officers of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform today opened headquarters from which to take a women's plea for repeal of the eighteenth amendment to Congress.

Mrs. Charles H. Sabin of New York and others are preparing for the third national conference of the group, Tuesday and Wednesday, in the Mayflower Hotel. The organization announced that the pilgrimage to the Capitol, on Wednesday, "will launch the organization's political activity in the 1932 presidential campaign."

ANSWERS ROOSEVELT'S CRITICISM OF R.F.C.

George V. McLaughlin Says U. S. Credit Agency Is Aiding Small Home Owner.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 9.—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt was criticised by a prominent Democrat today for an address "stressing the difficulties of owners of small homes and farms, and asserting the funds of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation are not available for their benefit." Objection to a speech the Governor delivered Thursday was made in a telegram sent to him by George V. McLaughlin, president of the Brooklyn Trust Co. and vice chairman of the New York loan agency of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

The communication concluded with the statement that leaders "should endeavor to instill confidence in the minds of the people of the country, but I fear that your radio address may have the effect of discouraging the small home owner."

Former Banking Commissioner.

McLaughlin is a prominent figure in New York Democratic political circles, and has been State Banking Commissioner and New York City Police Commissioner. After pointing out his Democratic affiliations, he quoted the following paragraph from the Governor's address:

"Closely associated with this first objective is the problem of keeping the home-owner and the farm-owner where he is, without being dispossessed through the foreclosure of his mortgage. His relationship to the great banks of New York and Chicago is pretty remote. The $2,000,000,000 fund which President Hoover and Congress have put at the disposal of the big banks, the railroads and the corporations of the nation is not for him."

In answer to this statement McLaughlin said the Reconstruction Corporation had advanced a total of $192,346,308 and that more than $125,000,000 had gone to 858 trust companies and banks, an average of $146,000 to each. He said only 21 of these 858 were in New York State or Illinois, whereas 91 were in Iowa, "a predominantly agricultural state." He added that 30 building and loan associations had received a total of $2,430,500.

Assistance to Rural Areas.

"These figures cannot be disputed," the telegram added, "and they show clearly that practically all of this assistance has been given to small institutions remotely located from New York and Chicago, two cities referred to in your address."

He said not a single large bank in New York State had sought or received assistance from the corporation. On the contrary, he added, many of the large banks have been aiding, with their own facilities, smaller institutions.

Facts which he said were available to the Governor showed that every New York State institution catering to small home owners which applied to the corporation had received help.

FORMER INTERNATIONAL SHOE EXECUTIVE HEADS AMHERST

Stanley King Elected President of College; Once Aid to Newton D. Baker.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

AMHERST, Mass., April 9.—Stanley King of Boston was elected president of Amherst College today. The announcement was made by George A. Plimpton, president of the board of trustees.

King was graduated from Amherst in 1903, having completed the four-year course in three years. He then entered Harvard Law School, completing the three-year course in two years. He was admitted to the Massachusetts bar in 1906. From 1906 to 1917 he was with the W. H. McElwain Co. of Boston, living abroad in 1914-16. In 1917 he was in Washington as a member of the Committee of Supplies, Council of Defense. Later he became special assistant to Newton D. Baker, Secretary of War, and afterward private secretary to Mr. Baker.

He retired in 1919 and became a member of President Wilson's Industrial Conference Board and secretary of the board. In 1920 he returned to the W. H. McElwain Co., and on the sale of this company to the International Shoe Co., in 1921, he became Eastern manager of the International. He retired in 1927 and since that time has devoted himself largely to Amherst College.

BARBER FINDS MAN IN CHAIR IS HIS LONG LOST BROTHER

Two Who Separated in New Brunswick 26 Years Awo Reunited in Boston Shop.

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, April 9.—A clerical gentleman got into the chair of Hazen MacDonald, head barber at the Ritz Carlton Hotel today for a shave. With hesitation MacDonald proceeded, stopping occasionally to study his client's features. There was something familiar about them. The shave finished, MacDonald ventured the remark: "You are Walter, aren't you?" Surprised, the cleric answered, "Yes."

They were brothers who hadn't seen or heard from each other since Walter, then a youth seeking fortune, set out from their Fredericton (N. B.) home 26 years ago. After traveling to the Yukon and other parts of the world, Walter turned to the ministry 10 years ago.

NEW SOURCE OF RAYON FOUND IN WASTE FROM SUGAR CANE

Agriculture Department Experts Produce Cellulose From Bagasse by Using Nitric Acid.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Sugar cane waste has been turned into a new source of rayon by the Agriculture Department. Using low-priced nitric acid, department chemists have developed a process by which high-grade cellulose, base material for rayon, is produced from bagasse, the waste from sugar cane after the sugar has been extracted.

The discovery is regarded as important, as most rayon manufacturers depend upon wood pulp for cellulose and the American forests and wood supplies are gradually diminishing. Sugar cane mills accumulate between 250,000 and 500,000 tons of bagasse annually. Much of this material has been used in manufacturing insulating building material. Other quantities have been used as fuel in the mills.

D. F. J. Lynch and M. J. Goss made the experiments with bagasse and nitric acid. The method consists of soaking the raw material in a weak nitric acid solution for several hours at a medium temperature, then heating it for an hour and finally washing and boiling in dilute sodium hydroxide to produce a soft, bleachable pulp.

The department regards the process as now developed to a point where commercial interests can work out the practical problems of manufacture.

German Vice Admiral Dies.

By the Associated Press.

FALLINGBOSTEL, Germany, April 9.—Vice Admiral Andreas Michelsen, retired, died today at the age of 62. During the latter part of the war, the Vice Admiral was chief commander of Germany's submarine fleet. He described the undersea operations in his book, "The U Boat War, 1914 to 1918." The Kaiser awarded him the Pour le Merite Order for his services.

Goodrich Dealers See Play Depicting Tire Selling Methods

Executives From Akron Address Meeting of 400 Retailers Held in St. Louis.

the territory within a radius of 200 miles from St. Louis attended a merchandising conference held by the B. F. Goodrich Rubber Co. Friday at the Jefferson Hotel.

They were welcomed at the morning session by W. M. Stonestreet, district manager, and A. C. Kelly, division sales manager.

Philip J. Kelly, assistant general salesmanager of the Goodrich Co., Akron, O., emphasized the necessity of product development and explained the new tires and development in rubber that were shown at the meeting.

H. W. Delzell, technical engineer, also of Akron, discussed tire construction, development and comparisons. Guy Gundaker Jr., sales promotion manager, Akron, outlined Goodrich merchandising and advertising policies for 1932.

The afternoon was devoted to a three-act dramatized sales presentation, the cast of which was composed of Goodrich staff employes of Akron. The group had just returned from a coast-to-coast trip, presenting the play before several thousand salesmen, is making a similar tour appearing before dealer groups.

The play depicts the adversities met by a tire dealer, the reasons for failure to overcome obstacles, an improved plan of surmounting these shortcomings, and means of efficient and profitable merchandising.

"With product quality far above that of any previous era and commodity prices considerably lower than in recent years, the buying public now receives real value for its money when purchasing nationally known merchandise," P. J. Kelly said.

"Our new Safety Silvertown line alone has shown a 25 per cent increase in recent months. This increase, with the immediate acceptance of our colored side-wall tires and the low-pressure or supercushion for small cars, presents a pleasing outlook for the industry this year.

"It is true that industry was, and in many cases, is hard hit. Those who have cleaned house and launched new campaigns with greater vigor and aggressiveness are beginning to see light. One of the outstanding factors in business —and experience bears this statement out—is product innovation."

The Goodrich Co. has developed many new products in the last few months that were displayed at the conference here, including new Safety Silvertown tires, low-pressure tires, colored side-wall tires for large cars, new type tires for industrial trucks, air-less tires for tractors and puncture-sealing inned tubes for passenger cars and trucks, together with the many mechanical rubber innovations for automobiles.

Kelly, who also is vice president of the Association of National Advertisers, told of new trends in national advertising programs.

"Large advertisers are using more direct selling copy and less institutional copy this year. Of necessity they must use direct selling mediums and as a result daily newspapers will come in as primary advertising mediums greater than ever before," Kelly said.

Essex Does 30 M. P. H. In High Over Top of Grade of 23 Per Cent

Also Hits 35 M. P. H. Over Summit of Chain of Rocks Park Switchback Hill.

An Essex Six sedan was put through acceleration, speed and hill climbing tests Monday by newspapermen during a spring show week held by the Hudson-Frampton Motor Car Co.

The Essex was started in high gear from a stand at the bottom of the switch-back hill in Chain of Rocks Park, turned the corner at 13 miles per hour and went over the top at 35 miles per hour. This was done with driver and four passengers in the car, a feat equaled or exceeded by only two multi-cylinder cars in a higher price range among the cars that the newspapermen have timed.

In the acceleration tests, the Essex was timed as going from a standing start to 60 miles per hour in 16 4-5 seconds, and from a speed of 10 m. p. h. in high to 70 in 13 1-5 seconds. These times were the average of tests with and against the wind.

Speed exceeding 75 miles per hour was made comfortably.

Then the Essex was driven to Alton, Ill., for climbing tests on the 23 per cent grade of the Seventh street hill.

Crossing Bell stre[illegible] 35 m. p. h. in high, the Essex continued up the grade in high and was timed over the top at 30 m. p. h. This was exceptio[illegible]l performance for a car of any price.

In a spring show week parade on Wednesday, 14 cars finished in pastel shades were exhibited through Lindell, Broadway and Washington boulevard by the Hudson-Frampton Co. An outstanding car in the parade was R. C. Frampton's own blue suburban coupe with the new jumbo airwheels.

Walking for Safety Taught.

The Department of Motor Vehicles of Connecticut has undertaken the task of teaching persons of the middle-age group how to walk, in an effort to stem the increase in the number of highway accidents in which adult pedestrians are victims.

Attend Meeting of Goodrich Tire Dealers

Executives of the B. F. Goodrich Rubber Co., Akron, O., who were in St. Louis Friday to attend a meeting of 400 tire dealers from this city and surrounding territory. Standing, left to right—E. E. Gordon, manager of Goodrich-Silvertown, Inc., for Greater St. Louis; W. M. Stonestreet, district manager; J. A. Whitman, of the sales department; E. A. Seeley, personnel manager, Goodrich-Silvertown, Inc.; W. J. Boulboule, district operations manager; R. F. Snyder, publicity department; H. J. Lintner, sales analyst; L. B. Cooley, district advertising manager; A. C. Kelly, Western division sales manager; Guy Gundaker Jr., sales promotion manager. In front, left to right—N. H. Keeling, Southwestern district advertising manager, and Philip J. Kelly, assistant general sales manager.

Goodyear Tire Test Fleet to Visit City on Way Back to Akron

Has Run 1,378,956 Miles in Winter Grind Trying Out Casings in Arizona.

The Goodyear tire test fleet, which has spent the winter at Litchfield Park, Ariz., will stop in St. Louis on its return to the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. plant at Akron, O., according to A. W. Ellis, St. Louis branch manager.

This testfleet of four trucks and nine sedans has been testing tires under actual road conditions. Since its arrival in Arizona on Nov. 2, last, it has covered 1,378,956 miles and used 122,215 gallons of gasoline and 3134 gallons of oil.

The fleet will leave Litchfield Park, near Phoenix, on April 11. Rolla, Mo., will be the stopover point on April 14. From Rolla to Richmond, Ind., will oocupy the fifth day, with arrival in Akron scheduled for noon of April 16. The distance to be covered on the return trip is 2436 miles, and each day's run, except the last, will be more than 400 miles.

"The duty of the fleet is to test tires, day in and day out, year after year," Ellis said. "When a new tire is being developed, it receives innumerable tests of all sorts in the laboratory and in the factory, where engineers and scientists examine the product from every angle to determine whether it is fit to offer to the public.

"All of these tests are merely preliminary to the hardest trial of all—the acid test of the open road. When Goodyear puts a new tire on the market the company is sure what it will do, as it has always been our policy to completely test the tires ourselves rather than have the customer do it for us by selling him an untried product.

"The cars of the test fleet go out in the morning and when they return at night fall have covered an average of 400 miles each. They are then checked over and serviced, and a fresh crew of drivers repeat the performance during the night. The performance of each tire is checked daily and sent to Akron, so that officials may know whether a proposed product is coming up to expectations or whether it will be necessary to incorporate changes which will also have to withstand the road test."

As heat is the enemy of tire life, and hot road surfaces are not available in Ohio in the winter, the fleet is sent South for that period so that testing may be carried on under adverse conditions at all times.

New 5-Ton Trailer Added to the General Motors Truck Line

The steady increase in the trucking of farm products to market from 1928 to 1931 and 1932 was emphasized by E. C. Sanner, branch manager in St. Louis for the General Motors Truck Co., at a meeting the past week of dealers, at the Coronado Hotel.

In 1925, Sanner said, 90,622 hogs, or 2.6 per cent of the total, were delivered to the St. Louis market by trucks. In 1931, however, 1,165,056, or 39.2 per cent, were delivered by trucks. Whereas, in 1925, only 16,854 (1.6 per cent) were delivered to the St. Louis market by truck, in 1931 there were 189,762 (24 per cent) so delivered. Sanner cited these figures as proving to the dealers that here was market for trucks that could be further developed.

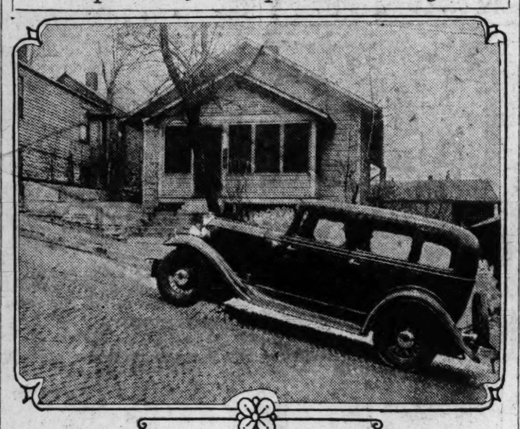

Featuring the meeting was the introduction of the new TT-218 five-ton trailer. Proof was given that, at an additional operating expense of 15 per cent, from two to three times the amount of merchandise can be hauled with a tractor.

J. J. Sullivan, district representative of the Yellow Manufacturing Acceptance Corporation, laid stress upon the necessity for proper installation of trucks, for on the revenue derived from truck operation depends, to a large measure, the prompt payment of obligations.

Motor Vehicles in Russia.

A total of 63,926 motor cars, trucks and busses, principally trucks, were in service in the Soviet Union of Russia on Jan. 1, 1932. The total compares with 33,600 automobiles in operation on the first day of January last year.

Changes Firm Name

JAMES R. MEDART

President of the S. G. Hoffman Magneto Co., Inc., which has changed its name to the Medart Auto Electric Co., Inc.

J. R. Medart Changes The Name of His Hoffman Magneto Co.

James R. Medart, president and owner of the S. G. Hoffman Magneto Co., Inc., 3134 Washington boulevard, announces that henceforth his firm will operate as the Medart Auto Electric Co., Inc., at the same address with no change in the personnel of 25 employes.

This change is coincident with the territorial increase of the firm's distributorship of American Auto-Lite products by the addition of 19 counties in Southern Illinois extending to the Indiana line. The territory served under this franchise now includes Eastern Missouri and all of Southern Illinois, covering 32 official Auto-Lite service stations under the direct sales and service supervision of the Medart concern, which began its fifth year as Auto-Lite distributor on April 1.

Starting less than seven years ago, Medart bought the business of S. G. Hoffman Magneto Co. at 3872 Washington. At that time the organization sold only five lines and had five employes. General expansion of activities by 1929 caused Medart to move to his present location and acquire the adjacent building to administer sales and service of the 26 major electrical lines of which the firm is sole distributor.

Medart has had practical experience specializing exclusively in the automotive ignition field locally since 1913—longer than any individual now operating a similar business in St. Louis.

Large Entry List for Race.

There will be more entries for the International 500-mile race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway this year than ever before in the history of the famous automobile racing classic, according to advance requests for entry blanks. It is anticipated there will be approximately, 90 mounts registered for the time trials which will decide the 40 two-seater cars for the race proper.

His Firm Adds Graham Line

R. B. MANN

Vice president of the Archer-Mann Motor Co., the local Marmon distributor, which also has been appointed a Graham dealer in St. Louis and suburbs.

Archer-Mann Co. Will Be Graham Dealer, Marmon Distributer

The Archer-Mann Motor Co., 4057 Lindell boulevard, distributer of Marmon cars, also has contracted with the Gross Motor Co., the Graham distributer, to handle Graham cars in St. Louis and suburbs.

The appointment is announced by R. J. Fry, general manager of the Gross Motor Co.

Officers of the Archer-Mann company are A. E. Archer, president, and R. B. Mann, vice president. The firm has been merchandising automobiles in St. Louis for 21 years.

It has a large display room and service department.

The Archer-Mann company contract with the Gross Motor Co. will in no way interfere with its distribution of Marmon cars, Mann said.

Lacquer Regenerator Equipment Added

The Better Products Sales Co., 2722 Locust street, sole distributer of Bepco lacquer lite regenerator, has added equipment and service facilities to take care of heavy seasonal increase in automobile car washing and lacquer regenerator treatment.

Twenty-four hour service begins this week.

Fewer Visit Canada.

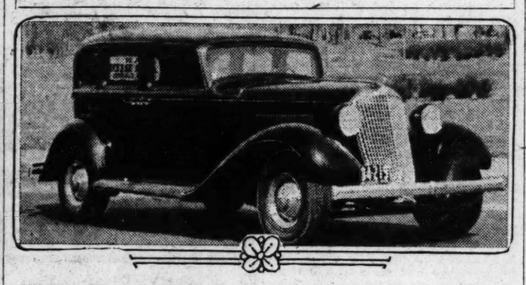

There were 499,469 fewer American cars entering Canada in 1931 than the year previous. Automobiles crossing the international border numbered 4,909,989 in 1931. Canadian machines entered the United States for touring purposes last year totaling 546,855.

Throngs Into General Motors Exhibit

Part of the crowd entering the Arena Friday night to see the General Motors Exhibit, which closed last night after a nine-day display of automobiles and other products made by the corporation. It was stated that Friday night's attendance totaled more than 30,000.

Built for Low-Pressure Tires

Graham Blue Streak Eight, fitted with the new Firestone low-pressure "Jumbo" balloon tires. The Graham car is designed to use this particular Firestone tire—the 7.50x15 which carries 22 pounds air pressure front and rear.

R. W. McCann, district manager for the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., said that advantages of this tire included improved appearance for the car, greater riding comfort and increased road safety.

According to the Gross Motor Co., the Graham distributer, the Graham engineers, anticipating the trend toward larger tires with lower air pressures, designed the new Graham eight to insure safe stability, with easy, steady steering control in cars equipped with low-pressure balloon tires.

This design, which gives an exceptionally low center of gravity and over-all height, together with extra width between springs and between the road wheels, was achieved by cradling a deep banjo type frame low between outboard mounted springs, by assembling the axle through the banjo opening of the frame instead of underneath, as with conventional design, so that better control of side sway might be exercised and by improving the steering geometry by shackling the reverse arched front springs at front ends and assembling the steering reach rod in a manner that keeps it in a more nearly horizontal plane throughout its full arc of travel.

R. J. Fry, general manager of the Gross Motor Co., and newspapermen took the Graham fitted with Firestone low pressure balloon tires out for a test run Thursday. The car was driven over very rough roads and on a number of grades in St. Louis County. The smoothness with which the car rode the bumps was surprising, as was its performance on streets slippery from rain.

Record Reception For New Plymouth Car All Over U. S.

Never before in the history of Chrysler Motors—not even excepting the first public appearance of the original Chrysler car—has such a reception been accorded a Chrysler-built car as was given the new 1932 Plymouth upon its announcement last Sunday, according to reports received by officials of Plymouth Motor Corporation.

De Soto, Dodge and Chrysler distributors and dealers from every section of the country, city, town and village, reported the most crowded showrooms in their memories of new-car announcements.

While it has been impossible to furnish an accurate check of the retail orders received by dealers over the week end for the various new Plymouth models, indications are that the figure may exceed 7500 units, it is said by Plymouth officials.

Production at the Plymouth plant is going ahead with full force and it is reported that April schedules call for more than 24,000 units.

Chevrolet Owners Urged to Get Engines Tuned Up This Week

An efficient power plant insures the kind of car performance that every motorist has a right to expect.

Frequently, the loss of gas and oil and dissipated power costs more in only a few days of driving than the expense of tuning up an engine, the Chevrolet Dealers of St. Louis Association points out.

To assure every Chevrolet owner a correctly tuned motor, the Chevrolet dealers of St. Louis are performing this vital service in a special way this week.

Grant Announces Buick-Olds-Pontiac Staff Appointments

Personnel appointments necessitated by the formation of the newly organized Buick-Olds-Pontiac Sales Co. are announced by Richard H. Grant, vice president of General Motors in charge of sales.

Grant stated that J. T. Collins, formerly general sales manager of the Olds Motor Works, would be attached to Grant's staff on special assignments, and be director of company-owned retail stores.

Other appointments are: D. P. Brother, director of the advertising section of General Motors, will also direct the advertising of the new company. J. E. Crimm Jr., long in General Motors sales and advertising activities, will be advertising manager of Buick. R. M. W. Shaw, advertising manager for Olds, continues in that capacity, as does R. H. White for Pontiac.

The sales department executives are as previously announced: Grant as vice president in charge of sales; W. A. Blees, general sales manager, and R. K. White and George H. Wallace, assistant general sales managers.

E. J. Poag, former advertising manager of Buick, becomes sales promotion manager for Buick. W. C. Herring, formerly general sales manager for General Motors of Canada, Ltd., becomes sales promotion manager for Olds, while W. R. Huber continues as sales promotion manager for Pontiac.

General Motors Exhibit Here Draws Attendance of 95,000

More Than 7,000,000 Persons Reported to Have Visited Shows in 55 Cities.

The General Motors exhibit held the past week in The Arena, which closed last night, was one of the most successful shows of this kind ever staged.

More than 95,000 persons attended the exhibit, and sales figures far exceeded earlier expectations.

Reports from the 54 other cities where General Motors exhibits were held at the same time indicate just as keen an interest and large attendances, according to Claude Courteol, assistant general chairman of the show committee.

Courteol said that these reports showed that more than 7,000,000 persons all over the country visited the shows.

Unquestionably, the exhibit of all General Motors products at one time under one roof has done much to stimulate business here, Courteol said.

It has brought to the personal attention of the thousands of show visitors the better quality and values obtainable this year at moderate cost, he declared.

More than 30,000 persons thronged The Arena on Friday night to witness the special events. Special police had to be called out to handle the crowd, which was far beyond expectations.

Studebaker, Rockne And Pierce-Arrow Sales Show Increase

"Our passenger car sales in the United States and Canada from Jan. 1 to March 20 increased 20.3 per cent over the same period last year," says A. R. Erskine, president of the Studebaker Corporation. "The new Studebakers have met with a remarkable reception. Pierce-Arrow retains its hold on the fine car field, and the Rockne Six has stepped up production to meet the demands from dealers.

"Sales of Studebaker models alone increased in January and February from 17 per cent to 600 per cent over the same months last year, in two-thirds of the cities of more than 100,000 population.

"In New York, in February, Studebaker cars registered an increase of 401 per cent over February, 1931. In San Francisco deliveries were 70 per cent in excess of last year. Sixty-three per cent more Studebakers were sold in New Orleans; 97 per cent more in Detroit; 55 per cent more in St. Louis; 63 per cent more in Buffalo; 62 per cent more in Cincinnati; 82 per cent more in Denver and 114 per cent more in Toledo."

Highway Funds Decline.

Less money will be spent in the United States this year by State and local highway departments for road and bridge construction work which has given employment to thousands of men. The amount available at this time is $1,353,000,000, as compared with $1,616,000,000 last year. This does not include funds contributed by the Federal Government.

"In 1929, I Couldn't Have Built This Car"

WALTER P. CHRYSLER TELLS HOW THE NEW AND FINER PLYMOUTH WAS MADE

The New Plymouth is in every way the car for this buyers' market—a market that demands more value for less money—a market that refuses to take obsolete and cheapened merchandise.

There's a dramatic story behind this New 1932 Plymouth we've just announced

It's a story written in sweat—the sweat of good, hard work—and plenty of it.

Two years ago, the New Plymouth could not have been built. If you had told me then that such a big, powerful, beautiful automobile could be made to sell for as low as $495, I'd have said, "Impossible."

But the depression gave us an entirely new viewpoint. It spurred us on to accomplish the seemingly impossible.

We realized that if Plymouth was going to take part in the big parade, we must think faster, work harder and build better than we'd ever thought, worked and built before.

And that's just what the Plymouth organization did.

Fortunately, we had the stuff to work with—the experience, the engineering brains, the modern production methods.

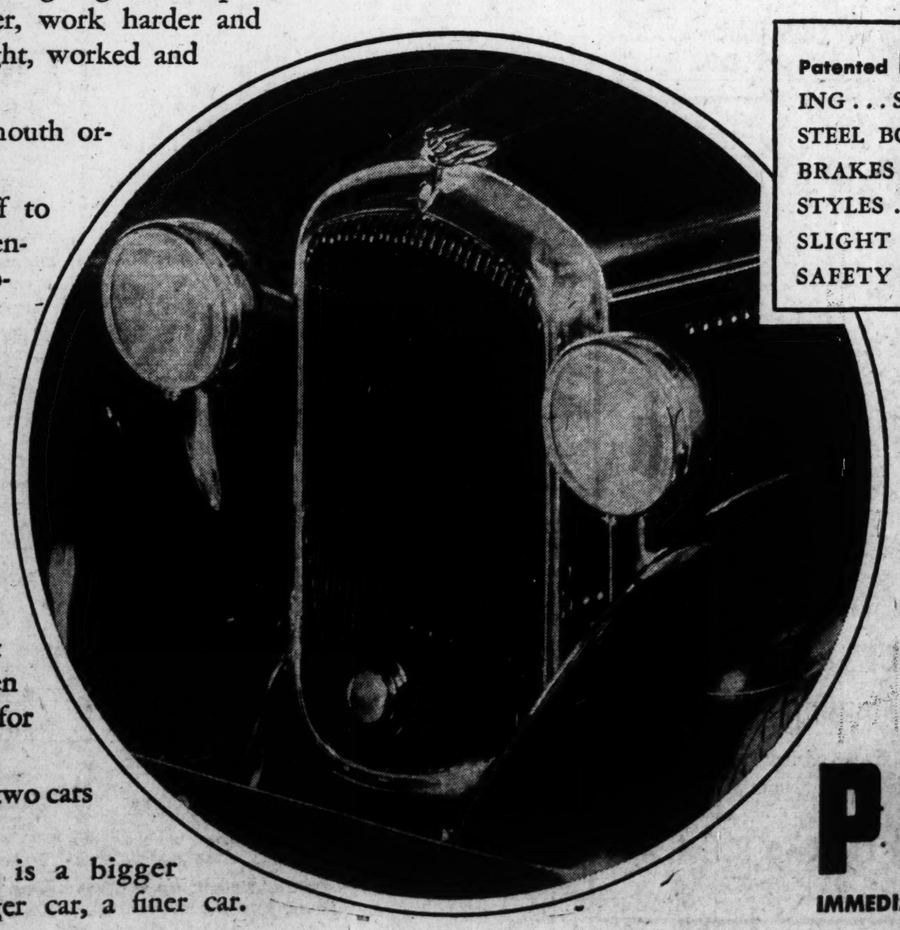

It wasn't an easy job we tackled, but now it's done, I can't help but take pride in its accomplishment.

The New Plymouth, I honestly believe, is the finest low-priced automobile that ever rolled off any assembly line, bar none.

It is as big, as powerful; and it is faster, easier handling and ten times as smart as cars that sold for twice as much in 1929.

Just compare it with the other two cars in its price class.

You'll agree the Plymouth is a bigger car a better-looking car, a longer car, a finer car.

Plymouth has everything you could want in an automobile today. Floating Power. Free Wheeling. Silent-Second, Easy-Shift Transmission. It's smooth-running. The easiest-riding car I ever drove. It's packed with quality and quantity at an unbelievable price.

Again let me urge you, go and see the New Plymouth with Floating Power. Look at all three cars in the lowest price-field and don't buy any until you do. That's the sure way to get the most for your money.

CHIEFS of Chrysler Motors' engineering staff making a test of Floating Power in the New 1932 Plymouth. This is the feature that makes the vibrationless ride possible.

IMMEDIATE DELIVERY—DESOTO, DODGE AND CHRYSLER DEALERS

$10 A MONTH ALIMONY GIVEN TO WIFE OF RETIRED PACKER

Mrs. Christie White Kaiser, who has been sued for divorce by Harry Kaiser, elderly retired meat packer, 732 North Pennsylvania avenue, University City, receives $10 a month temporary alimony and $300 for expenses of the pending suit by order of Circuit Judge Nolte at Clayton, yesterday.

Mrs. Kaiser, who is 39 years old, has filed suit for separate maintenance, alleging they were separated because religious differences were stressed by his seven daughters. Kaiser, 64, countered with a suit for divorce charging general indignities.

At the alimony hearing, Kaiser testified he had no income other than an allowance of $10 a week from his daughters. He admitted he offered his wife $500 if she would divorce him and explained he expected to borrow the money. Mrs. Kaiser testified her husband told her last year he had an income of $12,000 a year and more than $100,000 worth of property.

GENERAL AGENTS FOR PAN AMERICAN AIRWAYS

Declares Return To Normal Depends On Sales of Autos

Nothing Can Be Bought That So Helps Industry, Klingler Asserts.

America will enjoy normal conditions only when the automobile industry is brought back to normalcy again, H. J. Klingler, vice president and general sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor Co., asserts in an interview.

Citing the ramification of the industry into every part of our economic structure, Klingler says there is nothing anyone can buy which directly supplies work and wages for so many people in so many places and so many different industries and professions as buying an automobile.

The effect of a new car purchase on unemployment relief was illustrated by Klingler in the statement that a new Chevrolet six represents 71 days of gainful employment to workmen throughout the United States. That means the equivalent of three months of working time for one man on the basis of a five-day week.

Says Millions Could Buy Cars.

"It has been estimated that half of the 44,000,000 people now employed are in a position to buy new automobiles right now," Klingler said. "Why they have been putting it off isn't important. The fact remains that they can afford to buy, but haven't. Yet if only one out of seven of those able to buy would buy, the automobile industry would immediately be restored to a healthy state of activity—producing 3,000,000 cars a year, employing in direct manufacture more than 1,000,000 men, and furnishing steady work to an additional 3,000,000 men in allied industries and trades.

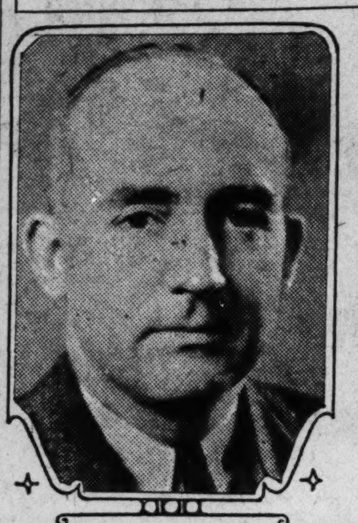

The business of building and selling automobiles is America's biggest industry. It is so big that few people even dream of the extent to which it affects every other basic industry in America.

"The automobile industry consumes over 15 per cent of all steel produced, 53 per cent of all malleable iron, over 68 per cent of all plate glass, over 18 per cent of all hardwood lumber, over 14 per cent of all cotton, 26 per cent of all lead, 30 per cent of all nickel and almost 83 per cent of all the rubber, to say nothing of paying the railroads hundreds of millions of dollars a year for carrying thousands of carloads of freight."

Motor License Laws Vary.

There is a wide variance in motor vehicle regulations throughout the United States. Only 25 states and the District of Columbia now require all operators of motor vehicles to be licensed. While the minimum age limit for drivers varies from 12 to 18 years, there is a definite trend toward fixing 16 as the age at which youngsters are first allowed on highways. Twelve states have omitted a minimum age from their motor vehicle laws. In South Carolina a boy of 12 is permitted to drive. License plates follow the car in 27 states, mostly in the South and the West.

De Vaux Executive Says Production Should Begin April 15

George Morris, assistant general salesmanager of the Continental DeVaux Co., Grand Rapids, Mich., visited the local distributor of DeVaux cars—the Burgdorf Motor Co.—yesterday. Morris is making a tour of the Middle Western territory to acquaint distributors with the latest developments in connection with the new DeVaux car.

Morris said that the factory planned to be in production April 15, which would mean, in all probability, that the new cars would be displayed in St. Louis by the Burgdorf Motor Co. on April 20.

He said that more than 70 per cent of the former distributers of DeVaux cars have signed again this year.

Morris disclosed that the Continental Motor Co. took over the DeVaux car for no other reason than to create an outlet for its Continental engines.

The new DeVaux model 80 is to come in five body styles.

MAYOR COMMENTS ON KILLING OF 14TH ST. WIDENING BILL

Makes No Criticism of Aldermen for Overriding His Veto; Neun Changed Vote.

Mayor Miller made no criticism of the Board of Aldermen yesterday in commenting on the board's action Friday in overriding his veto of the bill to repeal the Fourteenth street improvement plan. The board adopted the repealer in spite of the Mayor, thus killing the scheme.

"The Aldermen did what they thought was right; so did I," said the Mayor. "I was looking at it from the city-wide viewpoint. They apparently were thinking only of the people in the benefit district. I don't blame them. They have a right to their opinion and I have a right to mine."

The board's vote was 19 to 9, just enough to override the veto. Alderman Meisinger, who voted for the passage of the bill originally, died since or 20 votes would have been required to override the veto. President Neun, of the board, was the only member to change his vote. He joined those favoring the repeal and thus made possible the passage of the repealer.

The improvement cannot be proposed again for 10 years unless three-fifths of the property owners involved petition for it or the city pays the entire damage. The plan was to open and widen Fourteenth street, between Chouteau and Allen avenues, providing a new traffic

Drop in Prices of Farm Sending Back to the Many of the City's

NOT only a return to the country, but a in process, in the opinion of St. Louis whose business keeps them in touch wit gation.

The country is "filling up." Many youn city three, five or 15 years ago, have lost to the farm, as renters if need be, and so Where abandoned farm-houses were numer a year ago, few can be found today.

Old tenant houses, unoccupied for years, are being repaired and put in shape for new owners who have managed to salvage a few hundred dollars out of their city savings and are ready to return to make a living from the land, where a family can raise a considerable part of its own subsistence if, in these times, very little cash.

The Federal Land Bank in St. Louis has sold four times as many farms since last August as it sold in the similar period of 1930-31. Forty per cent of the purchasers were city residents. Traveling 400 miles in Illinois last week, its sales manager, J. M. Huston, saw only one vacant farmhouse. Of 16 farms it had for sale a few months ago in Calloway County, Mo., for example, it has only three left.

Steady Quest for Farms.

Missouri State Life Insurance Co., owner of thousands of acres in Southeast Missouri and Arkansas, reports a similar increase in sales. In a section where good tenants were hard to get in 1928 and 1929, for example, it has now only four 40-acre farms untenanted, with immediate prospects of renting them.

The shortage of farm labor, which once straitened agriculture, ended a year ago, when automobiles with Michigan licenses began to scatter the dust on country roads in the South and Midwest, signalizing the return from the manufacturing centers. In fact, the industrial exodus hugely increased the relief burden of many counties after the drouth—a disaster which, recalling the proverbial ill wind, stimulated one of the soundest of the recent developments in farm life.

For the return to the country is only one of the major trends pointed out by observers. Other shifts toward social and economic bedrock in the country population itself have spread generally through this territory, and are beginning to make inroads even into the tenant system of the South — a system impregnable since Civil War made tenants of the slaves.

Farmers who "bit off more than they could chew" in the fat years before 1926 are letting the big farms go and taking smaller ones they can handle. They are going after what President Wood Netherland of the Land Bank calls one-man self-contained farms. They are beginning so far as possible to raise all their own food and feed. Socially they are turning to the simple, intensely neighborly community and family life of days "before the highway came through." And there seems indication that the independent, "one-farm farmer" is beginning to forge his way into the edges of the plantation South.

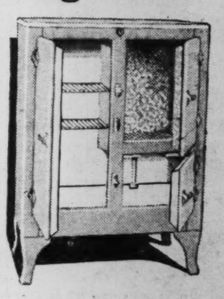

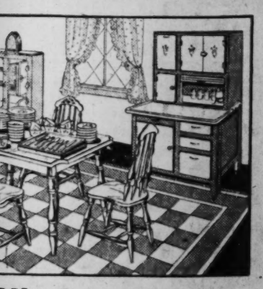

Ready for Farming Again.

Authorities agree, with the support of Federal Land Bank officials in many states, that the drift of population to the cities which recently depleted the country is checked, for the time at least. A tragic number of inquiries are made by former farmers who have dissipated their funds in the city, and have none to make a down payment, even on a market when one can get a farm of self-supporting size for the price of an automobile.

Drop in Prices of Farm Lands Sending Back to the Country Many of the City's Unemployed Growing Demand for Rural Homes and Small Acreage, Where at Least a Living, if No Great Profit, Can Be Made by the Owner.

By H. E. DOUGLASS,
Of the Post-Dispatch Staff.

NOT only a return to the country, but a return of country life is in process, in the opinion of St. Louis bankers and land dealers whose business keeps them in touch with the farm situation.

The country is "filling up." Many young men who went to the city three, five or 15 years ago, have lost their jobs and gone back to the farm, as renters if need be, and sometimes as hired hands. Where abandoned farm-houses were numerous a few years or even a year ago, few can be found today.

Old tenant houses, unoccupied for years, are being repaired and put in shape for new owners who have managed to salvage a few hundred dollars out of their city savings and are ready to return to make a living from the land, where a family can raise a considerable part of its own subsistence if, in these times, very little cash.

The Federal Land Bank in St. Louis has sold four times as many farms since last August as it sold in the similar period of 1930-31. Forty per cent of the purchasers were city residents. Traveling 400 miles in Illinois last week, its sales manager, J. M. Huston, saw only one vacant farmhouse. Of 16 farms it had for sale a few months ago in Calloway County, Mo., for example, it has only three left.

Missouri State Life Insurance Co., owner of thousands of acres in Southeast Missouri and Arkansas, reports a similar increase in sales. In a section where good tenants were hard to get in 1928 and 1929, for example, it has now only four 40-acre farms untenanted, with immediate prospects of renting them.

The shortage of farm labor, which once straitened agriculture, ended a year ago, when automobiles with Michigan licenses began to scatter the dust on country roads in the South and Midwest, signalizing the return from the manufacturing centers. In fact, the industrial exodus hugely increased the relief burden of many counties after the drouth—a disaster which, recalling the proverbial ill wind, stimulated one of the soundest of the recent developments in farm life.

For the return to the country is only one of the major trends pointed out by observers. Other shifts toward social and economic bedrock in the country population itself have spread generally through this territory, and are beginning to make inroads even into the tenant system of the South — a system impregnable since Civil War made tenants of the slaves.

Farmers who "bit off more than they could chew" in the fat years before 1926 are letting the big farms go and taking smaller ones they can handle. They are going after what President Wood Netherland of the Land Bank calls the-man self-contained farms. They are beginning so far as possible to raise all their own food and feed. Socially they are turning to the simple, intensely neighborly community and family life of days "before the highway came through." And there seems indication that the independent, "one-farm farmer" is beginning to forge his way into the edges of the plantation South.

Ready for Farming Again.

Authorities agree, with the support of Federal Land Bank officials in many states, that the drift of population to the cities which recently depleted the country is checked, for the time at least. A tragic number of inquiries are made by former farmers who have dissipated their funds in the city, and have none to make a down payment, even on a market when one can get a farm of self-supporting size for the price of an automobile.

"When I was growing up," remarked Don Taylor, who manages the Missouri State Life Insurance Co.'s farm land, "a farmer's son married a neighbor's daughter and stayed right in the neighborhood. If he was a promising boy, he became an outstanding farmer.

"But for the last eight or 10 years, the promising boys have been going off to the city, where they could make high wages immediately, too often leaving only the duller on the farm. That's ended now. Many of the boys are back on the farm, and there's a lot more who have spent all their money and can't get back. They'd all be on the farm again if they could."

Glancing down a list of new farmers one notices two street car men, a newspaper man, a widow who searched three states with a $3400 check in her handbag for down payment and bought in Montgomery County, and a Hungarian who left Chicago after 12 years with $7000 to put into "black land."

A St. Louis mail carrier who found his work dropping off and income uncertain put his savings into a down payment on a farm and has rented it out. Should his earnings fall further, he will go to the farm. Meantime the tenant keeps it in shape and supplements his income.

Most Experienced, Others Not.

A foundryman paid half the required $200 down payment on an $800 farm. A week later he lost his job. He raised the other $100 on his life insurance and went to the farm.

An executive with an income in five figures was thrust out by "retrenchment." He was beyond an age to find new work readily in town, but he and his wife had several hundred acres, purchased originally for a plaything, to provide home and income.

Most of the city purchasers have been farmers, though sometimes not for many years. Some landowners refuse to take a chance on a city buyer who never has farmed, in the belief that he cannot stand farm work. Farm organizations and county farm agents, however, stand ready to provide all the guidance needed by the intelligent and industrious, and Netherland remarked he saw no reason why the percentage of city men who made good in the country should not equal the percentage of country boys who succeeded in the city.

"Country life is much more attractive than it used to be," he added. "When we were boys on the farm—and many if not most of us in the city were there—we had no radio, no daily paper delivered at our door, and very few telephones.

"How does one spend his evenings in the city? Generally I spend mine with the papers and the radio. Well, you enjoy exactly the same sort of an evening now in the country."

Purchasers may in fact use an automobile as down payment on a farm, as shown by a glance at "Farms for Sale" advertisements. Prices are 20 per cent below 1914 levels, and Netherland does not expect them to go lower after this summer. The Federal Land Bank requires one-fourth cash and 5½ per cent interest on the remainder in a 20-year loan. Last year 41 per cent, nearly twice what it asks, was paid in cash.

Small Farms Most Desired.

The low prices simply follow the price of farm commodities, and are no indication that farms are "going begging" Netherland said. Salable property is going readily, and sales are keeping pace

How Wisconsin, Most Fortunate Of States In Its Financial Position, Plans Its Taxation

No Bonded Debt, Roads, Schools and Charities All Paid For, Most of Its Cities Entirely Solvent, and Third of Entire Revenue Raised by Income Taxes.

By M. W. CHILDS.
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

MADISON, Wis., April 9.

WISCONSIN was one of two states to seek Federal aid for the unemployed. And yet this State has been and is today in a more fortunate financial position than any other commonwealth. This apparent contradiction of fact has its explanation in the La Follette-Progressive philosophy of government that has for 40 years dominated Wisconsin's social and economic advancement.

As to taxation, that philosophy may be expressed as follows: The cost of government shall be borne by those best able to pay. It is this basic principle that has shaped the Wisconsin tax program. It was this principle that led by Gov. Philip F. La Follette to appeal to Washington for aid, holding, as he did, that the Federal Treasury could more easily reach the possessors of great wealth by means of its borrowing and taxing power than could any single state.

There is proof now that this principle of taxation pays. Wisconsin's per capita indebtedness is $54, on the basis of inclusion of all Governmental units, lower than any other state in the union. Wisconsin has no bonded debt, having paid for its roads and its colleges and charitable institutions with cash as they were built. Because the tax burden has been gradually shifted from general property to income, most large Wisconsin cities find themselves solvent, with a fair prospect of maintaining their solvency. The example of Milwaukee is well known.

First to Tax Incomes.

An account of Wisconsin's tax program during the last 20 years makes plain the reasons for Wisconsin's solvency. It is a striking instance of what the leadership of the Progressive faction has been able to achieve.

In 1908 slightly more than 90 per cent of the total tax revenue in Wisconsin was realized from general property. That year an amendment was submitted to the voters authorizing an income tax. Wisconsin was the first state to propose such a tax, although as a matter of exact historical truth Virginia has never been without a form of the income levy patterned after England's rated tax law which, for example, taxes a house on a basis of the income that it will produce and not upon a fixed valuation. This is not, to be sure, a true income tax law, of the type that has been adopted by the Federal Government and 28 of the states.

The amendment won, but the conservative stalwart faction gained office, as they occasionally do in Wisconsin, and the Legislature did not pass the income tax law authorized by the voters. This came to pass with a Progressive Legislature in 1911. Again Wisconsin had pioneered. The victory was not won without a great fight. The leading industrialists opposed the measure with all the resources at their command. There was a powerful lobby at Madison. It was said that the tax would drive all corporations from the State. That is what the opponents of Wisconsin's taxing program have been saying ever since.

This measure provided levies of one to six per cent upon individual incomes and two to six per cent upon corporation incomes. As this has worked out on a graduated scale, the average for individual incomes has been less than two per cent, while the average for corporation incomes has been from five to six per cent.

The income tax was one of the leading issues in the 1910 campaign. Stump speakers covered the whole State and talked about the new tax and the Progressive philosophy of taxation that was behind it. It was an education for the electorate. The Democrats came out in opposition to the State income tax in 1912 but they were defeated, despite the fact that the presence of the liberal, Wilson, on the national ticket drew many Progressive votes. No party has since opposed this form of taxation.

GOV. PHILIP LA FOLLETTE.

Personal Taxes Repealed.

This law of 1911 repealed the personal property tax on intangible personal property—bonds, stocks, bank accounts and so forth, a form of taxation that has been ineffective everywhere in America. A certain percentage of thoroughly honest people declare their intangible personal property and are rewarded with a stiff tax. The majority are able with very little difficulty to conceal such assets and pay no intangible property tax. Further, the law provided that the income tax could be offset up to 40 per cent by taxes paid on tangible personal property, into which fell such big classifications as merchants' and manufacturers' stocks, automobiles and farm animals. Under the terms of the law 10 per cent of the revenue derived under it was retained by the State, the county in which the tax was assessed got 20 per cent and the local taxing body the remaining 70 per cent. It was found that there were certain inadequacies in the law, particularly with regard to the offset of 40 per cent allowed for personal property. By means of this provision merchants escaped paying any income tax at all. But there were no fundamental changes until after the war.

In 1919 there arose in Wisconsin, as in virtually every state, a great clamor for a soldiers' bonus. In a majority of instances this was met by the sale of bonds—the borrowing method. Wisconsin followed the pay-as-you-go system. The Legislature voted a surtax of one per cent on incomes above $3000. This was levied on incomes for the boom year of 1918, in addition, of course, to the regular income tax. It brought in ample cash and the soldiers' bonus was written off the books as paid.

In 1920 the Legislature employed the same method to raise a soldiers' educational bonus, by means of which former service men could secure a college education. Wisconsin was the first State to give this type of bonus. This time the surtax was spread over a period of five years, a more painless procedure.

Adding to the Surtax.

The surtax was once more resorted to in the following year. For the teachers' retirement fund the tax levy was increased by one-sixth of the normal rates on incomes above $3000, which makes the rate what it is at present, approximately one to seven per cent. This last was a permanent surtax.

But the Progressives felt that there was still another essential step. They proposed to abolish the provision which allowed the taxpayer to deduct 40 per cent for the payment of personal property tax. This was put forward in 1923. It was a major issue in the campaign of 1924 and again the voters in this State heard much of taxes and debt. The Progressives, particularly the La Follettes themselves, have a knack of dramatizing such weighty issues in a way that holds a political rally in silence for an hour or an hour and a half.

The Progressives carried the day and the change in the law was made. Also the distribution of the revenue was altered so that the State got 40 per cent, the county 10 and the locality 50. And the exemptions were increased. That was the tax picture in 1931. As a result of changes over this 20-year period only 66 per cent of all taxes were now raised from general property, instead of 90 per cent of 1911. The balance, 34 per cent, was raised from the income tax and from special taxes such as the gasoline tax.

Aiding Small Property Owners.

Gov. La Follette, aware of the increasingly serious economic situation during 1931, felt the need for further relief for the small property owner. Farmers, in particular those in the northern counties, were in dire straits. Reduction of the property tax was essential, too, to reduce the possibility of bankruptcy for individual taxing units, towns and counties. An analysis of governmental expenditures showed that the general property tax had been used to pay two-thirds of the expenses for streets, bridges and highways, while the gasoline tax and automobile licenses paid by motor vehicles met only one-third of the highway expenditures. Gov. La Follette thereupon recommended that the gasoline tax be increased from 2 to 4 cents, that the personal property tax on automobiles and trucks be repealed and that the increase in revenue be used to reduce the tax on general property. The Legislature carried out these recommendations and the Governor sent a letter to each local unit of government, outlining the method by which property taxes could be reduced. This latest move cuts the burden resting on property to approximately 60 per cent plus, all of which is levied by local taxing units—the State in 1932 will collect no personal property tax.

The Governor took other measures to withstand the economic storm. He recommended a cut in the appropriation for the running of the boards, commissions and departments of state of $115,000, a cut in the normal school budget of $325,000 and a cut in the university fund of $500,000. The Legislature also authorized the Emergency Board to make further cuts, up to 20 per cent, and hearings are being held to determine how this shall be accomplished.

May Cut Government Costs.

"The situation as to further economies is just this in my opinion," Gov. La Follette has said. "The state employes are in a better position than any other group of wage earners. But, of course, they have been and still are in a position economically far inferior to those who have paid the income tax in the high brackets in this state. As long as we can obtain sufficient revenue from those sources, we shall continue to do so.

"When, however, this principal source of state income fails, we shall feel compelled to reduce the cost of government by making wage cuts. The only other recourse would be to restore the state property tax, which we have just succeeded in abolishing. I should take every means to avoid that course, feeling that the farmer and the small home owner, so many of whom suffer unemployment, are in no position to bear the tax burden.

"Of course it is true that if we were to burn down the State capitol and eradicate every officeholder, as some of our reactionary papers seem to desire, we should effect a relatively small economy. The total tax revenue in Wisconsin is $175,000,000. Of this $27,000,000 goes to the state and of this sum less than $4,000,000 is used to cover the actual cost of government, bureaus, departments, commissions. Of the balance, $7,000,000 is returned to local taxing units in the form of various aids, for rural schools, tuberculosis sanitariums, infantile paralysis aid, mothers' pensions and so on. Another $5,000,000 goes to the support of the state penal and charitable institutions. The university and normal colleges get the $8,000,000 that remains in our $27,000,000.

"The people have been trained to expect these educational and charitable facilities. And, moreover, you can't take much away from a rural school. You can take the seats out, but that's about all. So that the possible economies that we may effect are not large."

Aid for the Workless.

It was natural when the question of unemployment relief came before the special session of the Legislature this year that Wisconsin should seek to solve the finance problem by means of the income tax. Gov. La Follette sought $15,000,000. By a long battle, in which he had recourse to an aroused public opinion as a lever, he wrung from the Legisla-

Array of Momentous Issues Awaiting National Elections In Both Germany and France

Paul Painleve, Former Premier, Reports Sentiment in Favor of Cancellation of German Debts If France's Creditors Will Cancel Claims of Equal Amount.

By PAUL PAINLEVE,
Former Premier of France.

PARIS, April 9.

DECISIONS which the peoples must make during coming months are fraught with meaning for the world.

Reparations, unemployment, economic re-establishment of the Danubian countries—all these problems, mentioning only the most important, have accumulated in the short period in which will also take place certain all-decisive elections—the German and French.

That solutions, even provisional ones, have been postponed so as not to thrust them to authorities with expiring mandates was an act of wisdom, inasmuch as no decision is useful if it risks repudiation by newly-elected leaders.

Again, it is a legitimate hope that the newly-elected will be able to see further and reconcile the irreconcilable. But the delay has not diminished the difficulties. It is an illusion to expect the masses to solve problems that have paralyzed most experts, but an appeal to the peoples may reveal tendencies whereby good sense, generosity, and intuition will combat blind passion, bitterness, anguish, and profound discontent.

Of these elections, the more fateful is the German. If Adolf Hitler had won the first presidential ballot it cannot be doubted that today civil war would be raging in Germany. For long months the Nazi propaganda spent itself in furious, murderous invective against the Jews and Socialists, "enemies at home," and the French, "enemies abroad." Millions of the hopeless lent themselves to dreams of massacres, and their chief would have been unable to check them had he won.

Some say: "So much the worse for Germany; she will be the author of her own damnation."

But those arguing thus lack not only humanity, but foresight. They are incapable of imagining the consequences of such a disaster. But this danger in my belief will be removed the day this article appears. President von Hindenburg, I am convinced, will triumph by an enormous majority.

Fanning Distrust in Germany.

However, the outlook for the Prussian state elections which follow two weeks later is most disquieting. It is true that Hitler's party will be far from attaining an absolute majority. Most favorable estimates do not give the Hitlerites more than 40 per cent of the votes, and their want of success in the presidential elections will probably reduce this proportion considerably. The constitution of Weimar will be maintained and the Republic saved.

But this senseless propaganda, nevertheless, will have engendered certain deplorable consequences. Not only has it considerably increased mistrust and security, two eminent causes of the present economic depression, but even the adversaries of Hitlerism have, in order to fight it, adopted extravagant programs phrased more moderately.

In December last, during a brief stay in Berlin, I was astounded by the change which had come over German opinion. Six months earlier I had published an article showing the inevitable character of the Hoover moratorium. I foresaw that other concessions to Germany would ultimately be necessary to save the mark. Certain German newspapers, without approving all the terms of the article had reproduced it, recognizing its matter-of-fact character. Today the same opinion would be greeted with a howl of rage by readers beyond the Rhine.

Effect Upon France.

Perhaps philosophers can explain the development of these ideas and disentangle their causes. But it is easy to understand the impression that this state of mind, the tone of these polemics, together with the animosity they exhale, exercise upon French opinion and the effect they are likely to have upon France's election in May. This effect will not contribute toward finding in the electoral body persons ready to adopt a most generous attitude.

These elections are awaited with strong interest in America. It is a widely spread belief that any decision upon reparations will be postponed in the hope that the new French Chamber of Deputies will be able to reconcile differing points of view.

Is this sole problem the most important? Is it here that we will find the remedy for unemployment and economic depression? I do not propose to examine this question here. My intention is simply to diagnose prudently and impartially the possible French public opinion upon this question.

There are two opposite opinions shared in varying degrees among all parties. At the one extreme is the view professed especially by the Socialists, who consider the disturbing causes of the enormous payments made one Government by another. They demand a clean slate. This is, however, the view of a minority.

Treaties and Contracts.

The other view is based on respect for treaties. It asserts that the Young plan was elaborated by the world's best experts, and that these experts declared they had reduced the admitted debts of Germany to their lowest proportions and well within the capacity of the Reich.

It argues that the plan was presented to the French in this manner and was so accepted by the French. That an agreement of this kind could be torn up at the wish of one party to it and without the agreement of France would seem contrary to international morality.

Interpreting this point of view, it is important not to confuse respect for contracts with their intangibility. While admitting the principle that a convention can only be modified by common agreement, conventions, at least those of long duration and subject to changing events and economic variations, must be from time to time modified and adapted.

The average Frenchman wishes a pacified world in which equilibrium is restored and where peoples live and prosper in freedom and equality. Among the electors voting in May, the majority wishes France to help Germany over its present difficulties with all means at her disposal. They are willing to accord the necessary moratorium but shy at the notion of sacrifices being imposed upon them, or at the notion of restoring the financial balance of another country at the expense of their own.

Need we conclude that because Germany is at the moment to some extent insolvent it will be so indefinitely? Ever so many of my compatriots are ready to hasten the return of normal conditions and to give up any positive balance on reparations due. Imitating the offer of Lord Balfour, they are willing to accept that France should receive from Germany only so much as its own creditors require. A great many also would insist that certain precautions be taken against too abrupt a return of German prosperity and commercial expansion to the disadvantage of her competitors.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

How Europe Can Pay.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I READ with keenest interest the article, "The World Economic War Goes On," which your paper quoted from Collier's Weekly. Concerning the war debts, the article contained the following observation: "Legally, the debtors should pay. Practically, whoever can pay will pay. We happen to be able to pay."

The foregoing quotation is an example of reasoning on the part of individuals who can interpret value only in terms of dollars. It is significant that war debts owed to the United States are expressed in terms of money. Shrewd England and France did not worry much about money, which merely represents wealth; but they were careful to get control of a great deal of the real wealth of the earth—Germany's vast territorial possessions. Yet some of our national leaders, being so narrow between the eyes that they see only a gold dollar instead of the vast resources acquired by France and England, decide that American workmen are the only ones able to pay European war debts.

To men without a vision, to men money crazy, the present war debts seemingly constitute the greatest obstacle to world progress. The physical resources of the earth, and the mental resources of the people of the earth, constitute the potential wealth of the earth. Europe owes us wealth. She cannot pay us in money; but let us demand that restrictions be removed on American trade in the territories controlled by European countries.

If the leaders of the United States had vision they would demand that European war debts be interpreted in terms of commercial opportunities and thus free approximately one-fifth of the earth's people from the stupid exploitation of stagnant Europe. This could be provided for by new commercial treaties regarding European territory.

Will our leaders see this opportunity or will they continue with their futile attempt to collect money from the peasants, barbers, cooks and small shopkeepers of tradition-enslaved Europe?

Hitler's New York Office.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

IN your issue of April 5 appears a photograph of the Hitler headquarters in New York.

Of course, there can only be one reason for opening a Geschaef -Stelle (business office) in this country, and that is to conduct propaganda against the Jew.

Your great newspaper ought to investigate this "office." We do not want Hitlerism in this country.

JULIUS GRUNWALD.

Repudiates Stevens' Statement.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

MEMBERS of Congress are receiving millions of letters from ex-soldiers and others asking that the payment of the "bonus," or adjusted compensation due veterans of the World War, be paid forthwith. These members of Congress are not deceived by the recent reports in the press that "Commander Henry L. Stevens promises that the American Legion is solidly behind the President in his stand against the payment of the 'bonus'."

Commander Stevens represents only those delegates to the Detroit convention who, apparently suffering an inferiority complex in the presence of President Hoover, betrayed the very trust imposed upon them and misrepresented instead of represented the ex-service man. The rank and file of the membership of the American Legion, the men who do not belong to the Legion and the members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars resent this implication that the ex-service man would rather not have this money which has been due him for 14 years and which he needs worse now than ever before. The majority of ex-service men feel that, if the United States can afford to lend two billions for bankers' frozen assets, past-due railroad loans, etc., certainly we can afford to pay these men, who made possible the continuance of existence of these banks and railroads, what is justly due and overdue.

As a member of the American Legion, I challenge Commander Stevens to prove that "the Legion stands solidly behind President Hoover in this fight." Any intelligent poll of Legion members will prove them overwhelmingly for immediate payment.

Senator Long's Utterance.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

SENATOR HUEY LONG of Louisiana said, in a recent speech: "I'm not asking the Senate to injure the rich. I'm asking you to save their lives. If you love them as much as I do, you will make them pay surtaxes and estate taxes that will feed the hungry and clothe the naked because, if they don't, this country won't be safe for them much longer."

I wonder how many of the Senators who heard that assertion realized that Senator Long was uttering a mighty truth. I also wonder if the Senate and House have any idea how many thousands of people see their problem as Senator Long does.

Planning an Economic Council

Business depressions are inevitable. There can be no escape from recurring periods of industrial stagnation. We are forever condemned to the alternation of overproduction and tragic unemployment.

So said the bankers who appeared to testify at the hearings of Senator La Follette's bill to establish a national economic council.

But the other witnesses—manufacturers, labor leaders, engineers, economists and statisticians—who testified before the La Follette committee refused to accept this counsel of despair. While they admitted that we may not be able to slay the beast which we call the business cycle, they contended that we could at least tame it and urged that we set about doing so without delay. And so they gave a nearly unanimous indorsement to the La Follette bill.

This measure would create a council of nine members to be appointed by the President "on the basis of their acquaintance with the understanding of national economic problems." Its members would include "at least one expert in the fields of industry, finance, transportation, labor relations, agriculture and scientific management." It would be its function, according to the terms of the bill, to "keep advised with respect to general economic and business conditions in the United States," to "consider problems affecting the economic situation" and to "formulate proposals looking to" their solution. It would also "initiate the organization of councils or associations within the major branches of production, distribution and finance," thus obtaining an intimate contact with business and industry which would open the way to the mutual consideration and possible solution of economic problems. The powers of the national body, however, would be purely advisory. It would have no authority to compel business to do anything more than submit to it regular statistical reports.

The bankers who attacked the measure argued that it proposed nothing more than the creation of another statistical bureau at Washington. But the reasoning upon which the plan is based holds out a real hope that the council might become much more than that. Any project which has as its objective the eventual stabilization of industry must provide some means of restraining the over-expansion of business during boom periods. For business men, during prosperity, do not know the ultimate possibilities of the market for which they are producing and must, perforce, act in response to the immediate price situation. The consequence is that they install more new equipment than they can keep running and accumulate heavier stocks of goods than they can dispose of at the prevailing level of prices. In this way they create the situation which precipitates a business crisis. Stabilization, therefore, means not only less contraction during depression but also less wildly expansive business booms.

To the prevention of this difficulty, a national economic council could make an important contribution. It would collect comprehensive statistics on orders, stores on hand, goods in process, goods in stock, costs, prices, rates of turnover, equipment orders, construction contracts and projected expansion. The reports of individual firms would remain anonymous, but they would be consolidated, analyzed, interpreted and published with the council's recommendations as to future business development. Definite information on the prospective supply of goods could thus be compared with general statistics indicating the probable trend of demand, and business would be enabled, for the first time, to see where it was going.

Business men, consequently, would hesitate to rush headlong into the expansion of production beyond any amount which the market could possibly absorb. Investors would hesitate to purchase securities which would finance the further expansion of an industry which was already over-extended. And bankers would hesitate to extend further credit in a field which, on the face of the Government statistical reports, was already over-developed. Business stability, therefore, would be increased, not by dictation from Washington, but merely by giving business men the essential information which would enable them to plan more intelligently for the future.

The inauguration of such a plan would not require an economic revolution. It offers no legal, constitutional or political difficulties. It is moderate. It is eminently practicable. It carries no threat to legitimate business. It could be introduced at insignificant expense. It holds out a real hope of substantially reducing the violence of industrial fluctuations.

Rescuing Col. Fawcett

Col. P. H. Fawcett, British explorer, went into the Brazilian jungle in 1925 in search of ancient cities and left this farewell message: "Don't count on any more dispatches." What happened to him after that is a mystery. He may have been killed by Indians, as Commander George M. Dyott reported in 1928 after a voyage to the Amazon country. He may be held hostage by the tribesmen, as Stephan Rattin, a Swiss trapper, said last month in recounting a meeting with a white man, thought to be Fawcett, in the jungle. Or he may be living a primitive life in voluntary exile, as Telmo Araujo, Brazilian rubber hunter, has just reported he was told by the Colonel himself in a sketchy conversation five years ago in the dense forests of Matto Grosso. He was not lost, the alleged Fawcett said, and he wouldn't go home, for he "hated that life."

Of the three theories, the latter may not be the most plausible, but it is the most diverting. Col. Fawcett, an army veteran of arduous service, may be indulging in the flight from a civilization of increasing complexity that Oswald Spengler notes as a growing trend. An example of such weltschmerz is being discussed in this country: the case of a Philadelphia society woman who fled the glamour of the social season and spent the winter snowbound in Alaska. At any rate, two previous travelers have given reports confirming this theory with respect to Fawcett. A Frenchman in 1927 said he had encountered Fawcett, who had joined an Indian tribe and refused to return to civilization. Roger Courteville, Brazilian engineer, told in the same year of finding the Colonel and two white companions living as farmers near the River of Doubt, spending their leisure time fishing, shooting and enjoying the primitive life of the jungle.

A relief party is now being organized to rescue the Colonel. If it finds the elusive explorer, it may bring back nothing more than word that he doesn't wish his privacy disturbed nor does he wish to be rescued, thank you. Should that be the case, the world can only continue chasing its dollars, perfecting its machines and whizzing madly onward while Col. Fawcett basks in his tropical paradise.

The State as a Laboratory

That the state is important to the Union as a laboratory in the political and social sciences and therefore ought not to be estopped too much from experimentation, is the interesting postulate advanced by Justice Brandeis in the case of the New States Ice Co. of Oklahoma vs. Ernest A. Liebmann.

Liebmann was debarred from going into the ice business in an Oklahoma community upon the ground that to permit him to do so would result in destructive competition. The Supreme Court of the United States upheld Liebmann, but Justice Brandeis, as is so often the case, dissented. He said:

> The people of the United States are now confronted with an emergency more serious than war. Misery is widespread in a time, not of scarcity, but of overabundance. The long-continued depression has brought unprecedented unemployment, a catastrophic fall in commodity prices and a volume of economic losses which threatens our financial institutions. Some people believe that the existing conditions threaten even the stability of the capitalistic system.

Continuing his thesis, the Justice asserted that failure to distribute widely the profits of industry has been a prime cause of our present plight, pointing out that economists and business men who are seeking remedies for the disorder have at length come to realize as much. It was no new thought that the Supreme Court heard in this. Many persons have long held such a view. Last fall it was summarized by the Post-Dispatch in "The Country's Plight—What Can Be Done About It?" What was significant was that it was sounded from what is generally called the highest judicial body in the world.

As for the belief that one of the causes of the present situation has been unbridled competition, Justice Brandeis was not prepared to pass final judgment. Economic and social sciences, as he said, are largely uncharted seas. What view is absolutely sound no one knows. But this much is certain: The way out lies along the arduous trail of experiment. In Justice Brandeis' words, "There must be power in the states and nation to remold, through experimentation, our economic practices and institutions to meet changing social and economic needs."

Grant it, the jurist suggested, that we have been none too successful in our attempts at economic control. That does not satisfactorily answer in his mind the increasing doubt whether men should be allowed to increase the "producing facilities of an industry already suffering from over-capacity." The seemingly impossible thing, we are reminded, does sometimes happen. The physical sciences have gone forward by leaps and bounds because the world has encouraged their followers to experiment. The record of 100 years—the discoveries and the inventions—proves the value of the process of trial and error.

And so it is that Justice Brandeis would allow the social and economic experimenters, no less than their brothers, the physical scientists, freedom of action. As he said in summary:

> It is one of the happy incidents of the federal system that a single courageous state may, if its citizens choose, serve as a laboratory; and try novel social and economic experiments without risk to the rest of the country. This court has the power to stay such experimentation. . . . But in the exercise of this power we should ever be on guard lest we erect our prejudices into legal principles. If we would guide by the light of reason, we must let our minds be bold.

Two decades ago Louis D. Brandeis, in a prophetic book, "Other People's Money," sounded a warning, that, heeded, would have saved America much of the grief it knows today. His is a prophetic voice, the sort that any people should heed.

The Manchus Home Again

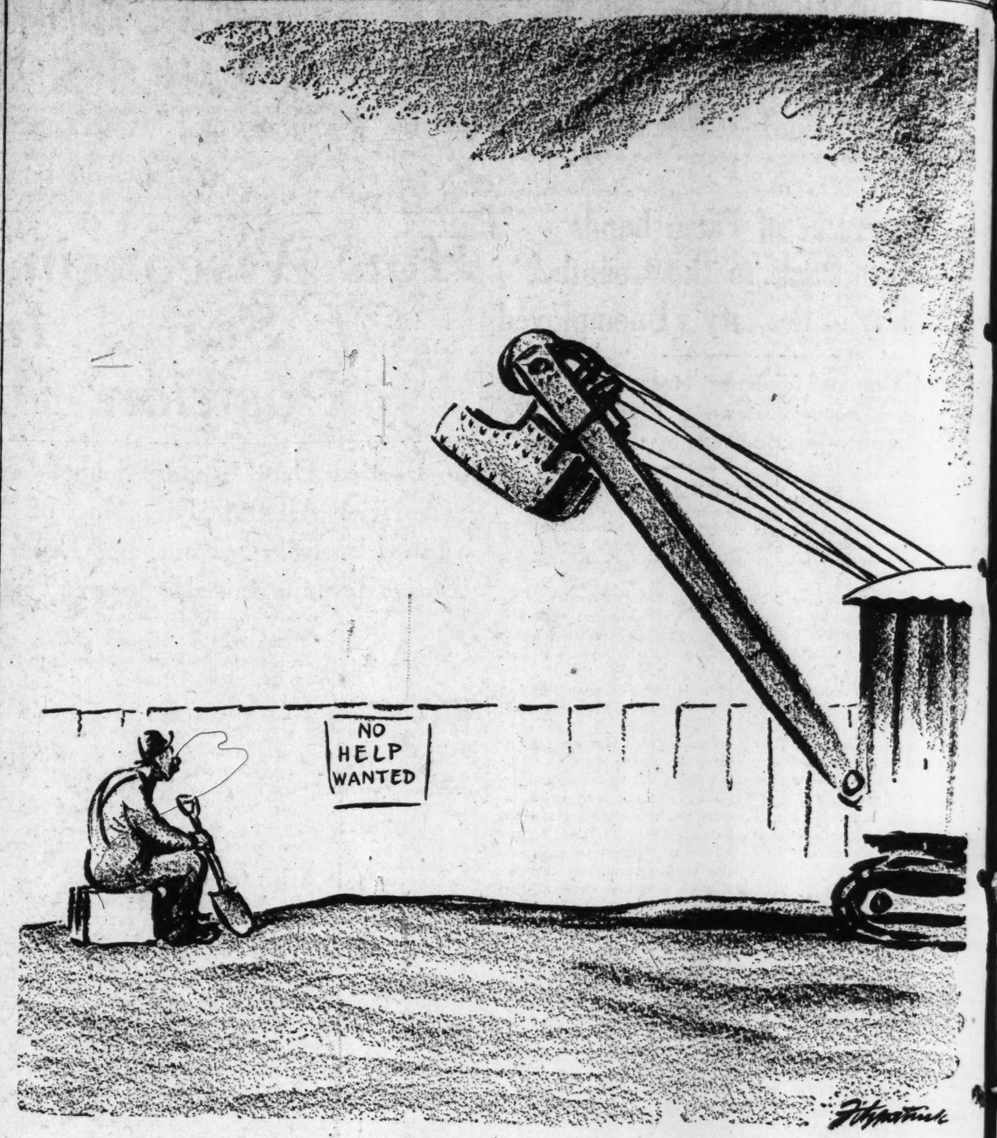

To paraphrase Shakspeare, the whirligig of time brings strange events. The last of the Manchu Emperors of China, Henry Pu-Yi, is back again in Manchuria, from which his ancestors marched to conquer China, as dictator of a new Manchurian state. The Manchu rulers, who had organized a powerful military despotism, conquered China in 1644. They ruled the Empire until 1911, nearly three centuries.

The Manchu Emperors regarded Manchuria as their home farm, so to speak, and kept it separate from China proper. They obtained their soldiers from Manchuria and prohibited immigration from China proper into Manchuria, although many Chinese drifted in. It was not until 1907 that the final ban was lifted on Chinese immigration, and from that time on the Chinese, driven by war and famine out of China proper, poured in millions into Manchuria, doubling the population in 20 years. The population is now about 30,000,000, nearly all Chinese, except about 200,000 Japanese, mainly connected with the South Manchurian Railway, and a million Koreans who fled from Korea when Japan annexed it.

The Manchu dynasty had able rulers for a century and a half, and, curiously enough, although military despots, one of the greatest achievements of the dynasty was literary. One of the Emperors, through commissions of scholars, blended the Manchu with the Chinese language, and had the ancient Chinese texts translated so that they were understandable, and crowned the work with an imperial edition of the Chinese classics which is the standard today. The dynasty, however, degenerated and became enfeebled until Pu-Yi, the boy Emperor who succeeded the tyrannical dowager Empress, was toppled off his throne by Sun Yat-sen, who, at the head of the popular Kuomintang, or Peoples' Party, proclaimed the Republic of China and began the attempt to establish it.

Now Pu-Yi is at Changchun, the new capital of Manchuria. His is a puppet government set up by the Japanese. The destiny of the new state and of the dictatorship of Pu-Yi is in the lap of the gods. A revolt against his authority already has begun. Whether Manchuria will remain separate and independent of China proper, which has had little authority there, and Pu-Yi will establish a new Manchu dynasty, has yet to be determined.

A word to the tax-exempt security: The Government will catch you if you don't watch out.

THE GREAT GAME OF STARVE-OUT.

Business in Government Loses Caste

From the New Republic.

THE revolt against the sales tax in Congress, and the substitution of higher rates on incomes and estates, is significant not merely of itself, but also because it signalizes the first successful political uprising against the banking and industrial interests which control the machines of both major parties and have been directing the activity of the National Government without interruption ever since the depression began. It is the first visible sign that at last their prestige is beginning to wane, that the doubt of their competence in economics and government which has been growing through the general population is being inchoately felt among the Representatives.

These financial interests, whose management of affairs—or failure to manage them—was characterized by so much dishonesty, blind self-seeking and lack of foresight during the boom, and did so much to bring on the depression itself, have continued during hard times to run things as they saw best. The same captains who led our industrial armies to disaster have been trusted to execute the strategic retreat and reform our forces for a new advance. And there is little sign that they have learned anything from their former folly, or are any better fitted for command now than before. It is easy to trace the operation of their complacency and self-service every step of the way since October, 1929.

The first delusion to which they were subject was that nothing of great importance had happened, and that consequently nothing much had to be done about it. All that was needed was to feel optimistic, if necessary by distorting or ignoring the figures concerning unemployment and production. Private enterprise, if left alone, would soon find the way out.

When at last it had to be acknowledged that this line was futile, their next great concern was to prevent any remedial action by government in the matter of unemployment. Sufferers from joblessness must be fed by private charity—assessed for the most part against those of small income—or not at all. Eventually it became clear that most of the unemployment relief was coming out of the treasuries of local governments and hence out of the pockets of local taxpayers and renters, but this did not disturb the financial captains. None of the cost must be assessed against those who chiefly support the Federal Government, those who, in other words, are taxed somewhat in accordance with their ability to pay, through the graduated income tax. Similar considerations stopped all efforts to provide employment and turn activity upward by a sufficiently large program of public works.

No doubt this negative attitude would have persisted, no matter how long the depression had continued and no matter how large the army of the jobless had grown, if capital itself had not run into grave danger. With the ebbing of confidence, with the ascendant doctrine of every man for himself, the rich began to hoard; bank failures increased to alarming proportions. Dividends began to be cut; bond issues began to be defaulted.

And so those who had refused to allow the Government to aid the worst sufferers from depression suddenly ran to it for their own succor. The administration and congressional leaders were lined up for a "constructive" program to bail out distressed owners of large properties. The expressed theory was, of course, that action in behalf of capital values would save not only the big boys but the millions dependent on insurance companies, on bank solvency and the like. But the interests of the general public seem never to be considered except when its advantage demands action which will obviously benefit the rich as well. So we had the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, empowered to spend up to two billion dollars in precarious loans, whereas not a cent could be spared for unemployment, and not much for needed public construction.

Other measures of bank relief, which could be utilized to expand credit but as a matter of fact are not being used to do so, such as the Glass-Steagall bill, were passed. Meanwhile, Government expenditures were being pruned as far as possible in all other directions, including such really useful activities as that of the Children's Bureau, which, because it demonstrates the distressing effect of poverty on the children of the nation, is especially disliked by those in power.

In spite of all, however, it finally was acknowledged that Federal taxes would have to be increased. A plan was evolved by the Treasury Department calling for moderate boosts in the rates on incomes, profits and estates, plus a series of excise and special consumption taxes. The Democratic leaders, intent on outbidding the Republicans for the support of the money powers, thereupon announced that the budget must at all costs be balanced, and that the administration program was not sufficient for this purpose.

They embarked on a program of pruning expenses more drastically than the official budget had done, and of adding to the Treasury proposals the regressive general sales tax, an impost chiefly on the poor. The Treasury and the leading Republicans were of course only too glad of this support for measures which they favored at heart, but had been afraid to propose. The set-up seemed perfect for another victory for concentrated property interests. Congress and the Democrats suddenly became the pets of the great economic powers.

The bi-partisan revolt against this program, led chiefly by Representative La Guardia, nominally a Republican, was both unexpected and unexpectedly strong. If it had been content with throwing out the sales tax, it might be represented merely as the result of manufacturers' lobbies who were afraid they might not be able to pass the tax on to the consumer. But this action was preceded by drastic increases in the income and estate taxes, which are anathema to property interests of all kinds.

The revolting Congressmen evidently were passionately convinced that the leadership which was attempting to direct their decisions neither knew what the situation demanded nor cared much for the general welfare. This explosion expressed the pent-up resentment of months against the fatuities of the ruling groups in the country.

Machine and Hours of Labor

From the Minneapolis Journal.

A PLANK in the platform adopted at the Republican State conference, that will appeal to thoughtful citizens, reads as follows: "The Republican party recognizes that one of the fruits of inventive genius should be reasonable hours of labor essential to the largest possible employment, and that the greater the proportion of industrial return that accrues to labor, the greater will be the happiness, the stability and the prosperity of the nation."

In a report to President Hoover last August by Dr. Charles A. Prosser, chairman of the Technological Employment Commission, appointed to make a study of the effect upon labor of the use of machinery, the statement is made that in 1899, some 4,713,000 workers in the United States turned out products valued at 11½ billion dollars; that in 1929 some 8,500,000 workers turned out products valued at 68½ billion dollars. In other words, less than twice as many workers turned out six times the value of products. If the same value of products to the worker had been turned out in 1929 as in 1899, it would require the labor of 20,000,000 more workers to have made the 1929 record of production.

There were, of course, numerous factors entering into the increased value production of workers in 1929, such as better management and higher prices for the products, but, as the commission points out, an important factor was the installation of machinery whereby the production of each individual worker was greatly increased.

The displacement of labor by machinery has precipitated a most serious social and economic problem, and one to which the nation must address itself if, as the Republican platform states, the happiness and the prosperity of the country are to be stabilized.

The platform suggests also the solution of the problem, namely that "one of the fruits of inventive genius should be reasonable hours of labor," which is another way of saying that when inventive genius brings forth machinery to do the work of men and women and to displace them as workers, society, in defense of its prosperity and happiness, must address itself to the problem of seeing that industrial advantages accruing from the use of the machine are equitably distributed.

GOLDEN AGE OF JOB-HOLDERS.

From the Monroe County (Mo.) Appeal.

IT was fine, of course, to see the House at Washington put a quietus on the proposed sales tax. It was still finer to see one body of men stage a revolt against their leaders. Never in the history of this nation has there been so little independence among the masses or among those who are elected to make their laws. In Congress and the legislatures, members elect a few of their fellows to the offices, then fall down and worship them or slavishly obey their orders. It is the same way to the end of the line.

There is a reason, of course. With the high taxes and unlimited revenues incident to the last decade, there has been more patronage than ever before. Everybody is afraid to antagonize men in official position for fear of being deprived of favors they might happen to covet. Thus, instead of officers being afraid of the people, as once was the case, the people are afraid of their officers and disposed to their bidding. It is the Golden Age for office-holders, the Diamond Age for those who control the voters, or who fool officers into believing they do.

GRIDIRON CLUB TOASTS PARTY CONVENTIONS

Presidential Booms a Feature in Skits at Annual Dinner in Washington.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—It was the annual spring dinner of the Gridiron Club and the nation's great were there; the wisecrackers hit both parties alike and not a man did they spare.

The Chicago conventions formed the keynote of song and skit, with characters and lines borrowed from the pages of Mother Goose, the Arabian Nights and Alice in Wonderland assisted by Diogenes, calamity Jane democracy, the shadow and even Gunga Din.

President Hoover, Speaker Garner and members of the Cabinet and diplomatic corps were among the guests.

After a keynote speech by Walker S. Buel of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, new club president, there was the usual off-stage crash accompanied by cries of "Down with Garner," "Soak the rich" and "You're a liar"; an inquiry from the presiding officer and the explanation:

"That, Mr. President, is the Democratic House of Representatives rehearsing for the Chicago convention."

Then the fun began with a strange parade across the stage: Mother Goose with a fantastic brood; Little Alice G. O. P., lost in the forest of prohibition; Republican National Committee experts portraying Mr. Hoover as a composite of Daniel Boone, Trader Horn and Casey Jones; Calamity Jane Democracy with her quarrelsome suitors, Rolla Franklin Rosebud (Roosevelt); Big Shot Al Smith, Long Shot Baker, One-String Ritchie, Alfalfa Bill Murray and disappearing Jack Garner.

John Digges Taxpayer.

Others in the brood were John Digges Taxpayer, the victim in the billion-dollar mystery; Secretary Stimson and his pupils in the Stimson select finishing school for career men; early arrivals at the Chicago conventions, including Senator Borah, Walter Newton and John J. Raskob.

Borah, Newton and Raskob appeared in a hotel lobby scene arriving with two delegates from the South wearing "Ouah Chicawgo pajamas" or coats of armor. Borah discovered there was no hotel reservation for him as the clerk didn't know which convention he would attend. Newton hurried to call the White House to say Borah had arrived to write the platform. The telephone spouted sparks and smoke and Newton finally obediently replied: "Yes, sir, I understand. The lake is right out in front."

Chairman Raskob also called Washington to ask Jouett Shouse how the "victory fund" drive was coming along. He found out, then canceled 19 of the 20 rooms he had reserved.

"Stop-Roosevelt" Movement.

The "stop-Roosevelt" movement was reviewed with the aid of Calamity Jane democracy, tending bar in Ye Bucket of Blood Ice Cream Shoppe of Campaign Gulch. Rollo Franklin Rosebud sipped a strawberry sundae at one end of the bar, while his wicked uncle, Big Shot Al, and his pals plotted to destroy the nomination claim romance and win Calamity Jane themselves. As Rosebud and the plotters left, Jane sorrowfully exclaimed:

"There they go! My romances get me in such trouble. They'll all dry gulch each other, on the way to the claim or claw themselves to death fighting for it—and then some big mining engineer will come in and take it."

Confused over how the disagreeing Tweedie brothers from Ohio, Fess and Brown, could both support Mr. Hoover, with one saying he was dry and the other not, little Alice G. O. P. learned:

If you were a tweedie brother from Ohio
You'd be for Hoover wet or dry.

Mother Goose, representing the public, and her motley group sang song after song. One of them went:

Little Jack Garner sat on a wall.
Little Jack Garner had a great fall.
And all of Hearst's horses and all of Hearst's men,
Couldn't put Garner together again.

Another one:

Democrats, Democrats, where have you been?
We've been to Moscow to look at Lenin.
Democrats, Democrats, what did you there?
La Guardia made us give Garner the air.

Then a chorus chimed in:

Rockabye, Hoover, on the tree top,
When the wind blows, the market will drop.
When the boom breaks, the prices will fall,
Down will come Hoover, Curtis and all.

Toward the end, President Hoover was called upon to speak. Under the gridiron rule that "reporters are never present," his words, and those of Senator Lewis of Illinois, the only other speaker, are not of record.

ture an appropriation of $8,000,000. It will be paid for by an additional tax on all incomes for the year 1931, graduated as is the regular income tax.

An admirable project for unemployment relief was radically curtailed at this special session. It was one of the few constructive unemployment measures put forward in the entire country. Gov. La Follette proposed an appropriation of $5,000,000 to be spent in a program of reforestation, employing on the project men from the unemployed lists.

The Legislature would grant only $500,000 for this purpose. The Conservation Commission has at work 800 men in the northern counties. They are building fire lines and Chairman Raskob also called Washington to ask Jouett Shouse how the "victory fund" drive was coming along. He found out, then canceled 19 of the 20 rooms he had reserved.

"Stop-Roosevelt" Movement.

The "stop-Roosevelt" movement was reviewed with the aid of Calamity Jane democracy, tending bar in Ye Bucket of Blood Ice Cream Shoppe of Campaign Gulch. Rollo Franklin Rosebud sipped a strawberry sundae at one end of the bar, while his wicked uncle, Big Shot Al, and his pals plotted to destroy the nomination claim romance and win Calamity Jane themselves. As Rosebud and the plotters left, Jane sorrowfully exclaimed:

"There they go! My romances set me in such trouble. They'll all dry gulch each other on the way to the claim or claw themselves to death fighting for it—and then some big mining engineer will come in and take it."

Confused over how the disagreeing Tweedle brothers from Ohio, Fess and Brown, could both support Mr. Hoover, with one saying he was dry and the other not, little Alice G. O. P. learned:

If you were a tweedle brother from Ohio You'd be for Hoover wet or dry.

Mother Goose, representing the public, and her motley group sang song after song. One of them went:

Little Jack Garner sat on a wall,
Little Jack Garner had a great fall.
And all of Hearst's horses and all of Hearst's men,
Couldn't put Garner together again.

Another one:

Democrats, Democrats, where have you been?
We've been to Moscow to look at Lenin.
Democrats, Democrats, what did you there?
La Guardia made us give Garner the air.

Then a chorus chimed in:

Rockabye, Hoover, on the tree top,
When the wind blows, the market will drop.
When the boom breaks, the prices will fall,
Down will come Hoover, Curtis and all.

Toward the end, President Hoover was called upon to speak. Under the gridiron rule that "reporters are never present," his words, and those of Senator Lewis of Illinois, the only other speaker, are not of record.

How Wisconsin Plans Taxation

ture an appropriation of $8,000,000. It will be paid for by an additional tax on all incomes for the year 1931, graduated as is the regular income tax.

An admirable project for unemployment relief was radically curtailed at this special session. It was one of the few constructive unemployment measures put forward in the entire country. Gov. La Follette proposed an appropriation of $5,000,000 to be spent in a program of reforestation, employing on the project men from the unemployed lists.

The Legislature would grant only $500,000 for this purpose. The Conservation Commission has at work 800 men in the northern counties. They are building fire lines and roads, in accord with the now generally accepted theory that nature will achieve the most successful reforestation if man will only work to keep out fire. By July it is expected that about 5000 men will be at work, in 10-day shifts at 25 cents an hour for eight hours a day.

There is great misery in northern Wisconsin. It was this region that was stripped so ruthlessly of timber. Settlers were persuaded to follow but in large areas it was found that the land was fit only for timber. Now those settlers are pinching out the most desperate sort of existence. The lumber barons, having reaped their profit, are no longer interested and in certain counties one-fourth of all the land has reverted to the state for non-payment of taxes. Often in his speeches Gov. La Follette refers to the tragedy of waste and corruption inherent in the destruction of the forest, once Wisconsin's greatest natural resource.

As to Corporation Taxes.

In this, a campaign year, the criticism of Wisconsin's Progressives is louder than ever before. A Chicago newspaper discovers almost daily some new industry that is about to move out of the State. It is true that Wisconsin's income tax is higher than in any other state except North Dakota. But a survey of the past five or six years has shown, it is claimed, virtually no industrial decrease. There is no corporation franchise tax in Wisconsin. So, for example, while the largest tax-paying corporation paid $1,500,000 in the boom year of 1929, it will pay no taxes at all this year. In Michigan this corporation would pay, regardless, the flat $50,000 corporation franchise. Although Illinois and Michigan newspapers are highly critical, Wisconsin officials take consolation in the fact that both states have recently sent experts here to study the Wisconsin system of taxation.

In the coming campaign taxes will again be an issue. While Gov. La Follette has made no formal announcement, it is all but certain that he will run for re-election. He will face, if re-elected, a deficit in the budget of $3,000,000 to $5,000,000. Those who have followed the progressive movement most closely are confident that there is but one way the party will propose to meet this deficit. They will levy upon those who still have unearned, tax-free incomes. Under the present law, dividends from a Wisconsin corporation are not taxable by the State as income. This exemption was included as a means of encouraging investment in Wisconsin industries. It has not, according to Gov. La Follette, served that end. So, 10 to one, the Governor and the Progressives will come out for its repeal. Once more Wisconsin will hear the story of taxation of the rich—not for the benefit of the poor—but in order that the small home owner and the farmer may not be forced to carry more of the burden of government.

Capt. J. M. Enochs, U. S. N., Dies.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., April 9.—Death of Capt. John Matt Enochs, commander of the U. S. S. Pennsylvania, in the naval hospital here Thursday was announced today. The body will be sent to Arlington National Cemetery for burial. Capt. Enochs was born in Crystal Springs, Miss., in 1878. He was graduated from the naval academy in 1901.

How Little Pomona College Contrived to Win Glee Club Cup

Eligible Often to Enter National Tourney but, Till This Year, Could Never Raise Funds to Pay Way.

The boys from Pomona College, where 80 students tried last fall for places on the glee club and 50 went out for football, departed last night on the return trip for Claremont, Cal., taking with them the silver cup emblematic of their victory in the National Intercollegiate Glee Club contest.

The cup was surrendered by New York University, which has 31,236 students, 30,455 more than Pomona's 781. Other schools which competed in the finals Friday night at Washington University, after qualifying by winning sectional tournaments, were Yale, Penn State, Rochester, Denison, Oklahoma and Washington Universities and Monmouth College.

Going as They Came.

The Pomona boys are returning the same way they came, in a chair car the railroads have furnished as a special favor at the regular day coach rates. The problem of raising $3300 to pay the expenses of the glee club on the trip was serious at Pomona.

Only the fact that the contest was held this year in St. Louis gave them an opportunity to show how good they were. For eight years Pomona has competed in preliminary stages of the glee club contest and for the last seven years Pomona has gained the championship of the Pacific-Southwest Conference and so qualified for the national contest. But a trip to New York City, where, until this year, the contest has been held, was out of the question.

Raising the Money.

Two months ago, after Pomona had won its conference championship, efforts were begun to raise funds to send the 30 members of the glee club, their director and accompanist to St. Louis. Members of the club started it by taking up a collection among themselves, the individual gifts ranging from $1 to $50. A series of concerts were given in Los Angeles, 35 miles from Claremont, and other nearby cities. The college contributed $300, tag day on the campus brought in $250, the University of Redlands Glee Club, defeated by Pomona in the conference competition, sent in $15 and donations were received from the alumni.

Three weeks ago funds were available to send 24 members to St. Louis and then the graduate manager obtained enough contributions to send the full personnel. That is, to pay their railroad fare, without Pullman accommodations, their hotel bills and incidental expenses. The students paid for their own meals. They took blankets with them and some tilted back the chair car seats and slept in that way for three nights, while others lay on the blankets on the floor.

Pomona's Indian Song.

At the tournament Pomona's school song, "Torchbearers," made a particularly favorable impression on the audience and judges. It is a school tradition that many years ago a member of the faculty wandering at night in the nearby hills, heard the Coahuila Indians singing and dancing at a festival, and appropriated their melody for the Pomona song.

The Yale club won second prize and Penn State third. Members of the Yale club, including the "Eight Sons of Eli," came to St. Louis by airplane and returned the same way to enable the Sons of Eli to sing tomorrow afternoon in their regular radio concert broadcast over a network of stations from New York.

Drop in Prices of Farm Lands Draws City Unemployed

with acquisitions. Many foreclosures, he said, are due to estate settlements, family difficulties and speculation.

In most cases farmers who sell take a smaller farm, or even become renters. They are not, in any event, moving to the city in search of prosperity.

The demand of both city and country buyers is chiefly for one-man farms, 40 to 200 acres, depending on the type of both man and farm. The average of all sold by the St. Louis Federal Land Bank last year was about 140 acres. The trend, said Netherland, is away from speculation toward development by home-owners.

Stimulated and in some cases entirely due to Red Cross provisions and tutelage following the drouth, farmers now are tending to raise as much as possible of their own provisions. This supplants an opposite tendency which has been a large factor in causing dietary diseases prevalent in some sections, and had the residents of those same sections on the verge of starvation when the drouth left them no "money crops" to sell.

At Least Self-Supporting.

Many Southern land-owners, if a tenant devoted a tiny patch of land to garden stuffs, chickens, or a family cow, called it "stealing." They felt every square foot should be put in "money crops" of which, the planter got his share. In other sections, the tendency was characterized by such practices as selling all the butterfat and eating substitutes on the farm.

They've learned their lesson now. The last phase—and the most permanently beneficial—of Red Cross drouth relief was the distribution of garden seeds and information. Nearly all that hundreds of farm families had to live on for some weeks was the product of their "Red Cross gardens." Taylor, a Southerner who admits once having subscribed to the idea that a tenant with a cow, chickens and a hankering for a garden was undesirable, said he insisted now that every tenant raise his own feed and food, and found it profitable in dollars and cents to do so.

It is precisely this possibility of making one's own living out of one's own land that draws population back to the farm. Netherland remarked. Farmers are not "prosperous"—though they are in such solid shape that he expects this to be one of the biggest "pay-off" years the bank has had—but neither are they in need of soup kitchens.

"All the farmer is short of is cash," he said. "And he doesn't need much cash if he isn't too heavily in debt. The price of meat and eggs doesn't make much difference if you consume your own production. The farmer who has his farm land paid for is in better shape now than the city man, whatever the price of farm commodities, for he knows that he can at least make a living."

Which recalls the maxim, quoted by Taylor: "If you farm for profit, you'll go broke, but if you farm to make a living, you'll make money in spite of yourself."

P. S. CO. WOULD EXTEND ONE-FARE COUNTY ZONE

Plans to Ask for Permission to Issue Free Transfers to City Lines Also.

Two plans to make suburban transportation service more attractive were announced by the Public Service Co. yesterday. Both are proposed as experiments, to be continued if the volume of riding increases sufficiently.

Elimination of the second fare zone for trolley and bus lines in St. Louis County, with two exceptions, is the outstanding plan. The company is about to apply to the State Public Service Commission for permission to issue free transfers between the county and the city lines for a trial period of 60 days.

The other proposal is for two short lines between Clayton and the University line, augmenting the present service.

For several weeks the company has been experimenting with free transfers between city lines and the Woodson road trolley and the Jefferson Barracks bus. Results have led it to believe that an extension of this arrangements ot all suburban lines would benefit the business in general by attracting more car riders, General Manager Greenland of the Public Service Co. said it would be necessary to double the number of riders using the county lines to make the plan successful. He added that the suburban traffic would have to be large enough to pay its own way.

The arrangement will affect the Kirkwood-Ferguson, Manchester, Creve Coeur, Clayton (including the new lines), Brentwood, Florissant and Woodson road trolleys. It also will affect the Lemay Ferry, Natural Bridge, St. Peter's, Midland, Jennings and Jefferson Barracks bus routes. The only places where it is proposed to retain a second fare zone are on the "dinky" running between the Magnolia and Osage Hills loops in Kirkwood and on the western end of the Creve Coeur line, beyond Crow's Nest.

A Clayton Citizens' Committee arranged for the new lines to the county seat, which will be started April 18.

One line will operate over the present Clayton route, from Skinker boulevard and the Rock Island tracks to the St. Louis County Hospital, by way of Wydown boulevard. In connection with the existing line, it will give a 10-minute service.

The other line will operate over the Kirkwood-Ferguson tracks, from Big Bend boulevard to Central avenue and Walinca drive, several blocks south of the Courthouse. In conjunction with the Kirkwood-Ferguson line, this will provide a five-minute service in rush hours and a 10-minute service the rest of the day. Both of the new lines will give transfers to the University line.

ANNIVERSARY OF LONGWORTH'S DEATH OBSERVED BY HOUSE

Early Adjournment Taken in Honor of Speaker Who Died One Year Ago.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—The House adjourned early today in memory of the late Speaker, Nicholas Longworth of Ohio, who died just a year ago.

Minority leader Snell reminded the House of the fact with this statement: "Today is the first anniversary of the death of our admired and loved late Speaker Nicholas Longworth of Ohio. Considering the devotion he enjoyed on both sides of the aisle, I think it would be very appropriate that we adjourn in affectionate memory of our now departed colleague from Ohio."

The motion to honor Longworth by adjourning was presented by Representative Woodrum (Dem.), Virginia and adopted unanimously.

CASE OF HEBER NATIONS UNDER CONSIDERATION

Decision on Fourth Trial for Liquor Conspiracy Not Yet Reached.

Post-Dispatch Bureau,
201-205 Kellogg Building.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—The Department of Justice has not yet decided whether to proceed with a fourth trial of Heber Nations, charged in St. Louis with conspiracy to violate the Volstead act.

Assistant Attorney-General G. A. Youngquist said today: "This case is still being studied in the department. It will remain on the calendar until we decide whether to go to trial with it or drop it."

When the Nations case came up before Federal Judge Davis Friday it was passed without order on motion of Assistant District Attorney Crooks. He explained that a decision on the prosecution was awaited from Washington. Nations has been convicted three times of the charge, based on an alleged protection arrangement for the manufacture and sale of beer here in 1924. The United States Circuit Court of Appeals overturned each conviction on the ground of errors in procedure. At the time of the alleged violation Nations was State Labor Commissioner. His brother Gus was Federal liquor enforcement officer in charge of the St. Louis district.

JAMES J. BARRETT TO RUN FOR LIEUTENANT GOVERNORSHIP

James J. Barrett, 4941 Neosho street, head of the Barrett Secret Service Bureau, yesterday announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Lieutenant-Governor. He formerly was in the milling business in De Soto, and is now vice president and treasurer of the Chippewa Amusement Co., which operates the Chippewa, Knickerbocker and Acma Theaters.

Barrett will have headquarters in the Calumet Building at Seventh and Chestnut streets, and will have temporary headquarters in Hotel Jefferson during the Republican State convention. He is 54 years old and has been active in Republican politics in St. Louis for many years.

NEW YORK, April 9.—Gloom held unchallenged sway over the securities market this week.

Furthermore, this sovereign's faithful subjects, the bears, provided the only effective buying power, which at times gave the share market respite from the stubborn pressure of discouraged liquidation.

But it was not until the final session of the week, when the unexpected announcement of the start of the Senate investigation of the Stock Exchange caused a flurry of short covering at the opening that the market was able to close higher.

This interrupted a steady succession of declines which had reduced the general level of share prices to a new low for the past decade, and had brought corporate bonds down close to the low level reached in the heavy bank selling of last year.

Despite rumors of considerable cautious bear selling, most brokers felt that the real liquidation was pouring steadily into the market, and pointed to sharp declines in preferred stocks and bonds as evidence of it.

The only tangible reasons advanced for the continued selling were the old ones—flat business, taxation uncertainty, and the generally foggy outlook—but the market had evidently reached a state of such low morale that both good and bad securities were again being liquidated blindly, as investors were apparently willing to believe almost any sort of rumor.

Several quarters welcomed the prospect of the Senate investigation, in the hope that it would bring out the real facts of the situation and tend to quelch vague and harmful rumors. Fresh bear selling of the dollar in Paris, coincident with appearance of a fallacious report of an American bank suspension in a Parisian publication, was particularly irritating to Wall street.

Wall street leaders again pointed out that the fundamental improvement of the past few months, particularly in the banking situation, had been almost completely lost sight of. The fact that there has been virtually no seasonal improvement in business this spring, while disappointing, is not far out of line with the more conservative forecasts made at the start of the year, when leading banking quarters were inclined to regard next autumn as the more likely period in which to look for definite signs of a turn in the business cycle.

Index Off 6.3 Points Net for Week.

The price index of 90 representative stocks dropped from the 56.4 closing level of the previous week to a low of 48.9 on Friday, then recovered 1.2 on Saturday to a closing level of 50.1, making a net loss of 6.3 points, indicating a shrinkage in the market value of shares listed on the stock exchange of more than $1,000,000,000. The price index of 60 corporate bonds was under steady pressure, even losing ground in the final session of the week, and closing at 67.6, off 3.4 from a week previously. The only notable demand in this market was for U. S. Government issues.

Shorts covered briskly at the opening today. But it was soon apparent that only the more timid traders had bought, for within a quarter of an hour demand began to subside and prices tapered off. They steadied after about half the early gains of 1 to 5 points had been lost, closing slightly above the lows of that setback for an average advance of a little more than a point. Sales totaled 1,145,723 shares.

Technical Considerations Govern.

Technical considerations plainly governed the session. With eight successive declines behind it, brokers had felt that the market was entitled to a rebound since seldom does a vigorous reaction go much longer than that without a so-called correction. What the market might have done without benefit of the Washington news was problematical; but brokerage houses discredited the capital's rumor that a huge "bear raid" had been planned for this morning's session. Nevertheless, the sudden announcement of next week's inquiry was admittedly a surprise and if it was designed to check the market's fall it served that purpose.

American Telephone shot up 3⅞ on a transfer of 5000 shares; at the close it had lost 2 points of the rise. U. S. Steel rallied 2⅜ and closed 1⅜ higher. American Can's advance of 3 was reduced by a third. Westinghouse, Allied Chemical, Consolidated Gas, North American, National Biscuit, New York Central and numerous others back-tracked a point or so from their tops. Union Pacific, after making a new low, fully recovered. Standard Oil of California was heavy. Du Pont had a late reaction and General Motors was none too vigorous at any time.

With the market's attention so closely taken up with its own affairs little time was given other news. U. S. Steel's back-log dropped 73,216 tons in March to a record low since publication of the monthly figures began early in the century. A loss had been taken as a matter of course, but the decrease may have been a little smaller than anticipated. The last gain was made in March of last year.

Steel Mill Operations.

Youngstown steel operations will start next week at 26 per cent of capacity, half a dozen points higher. Bank closings this week numbered 14, against 11 in the previous week, which again emphasized the marked improvement that has taken place since only a few months ago. There was little or no significance in the bill rate reduction, which meant that dealers were making another effort to attract holdings of banks in a market where demand far exceeds supply.

The bullish winter wheat report, indicating the smallest crop since 1925, came as a surprise, for the indicated decrease exceeded some private estimates. There is a large carry-over to be reckoned with, but Wall street agreed that an improvement in wheat's position might well have important results.

FOREIGN MARKETS AT A GLANCE

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, April 9.—Prices on the Bourse were steady, some stocks advancing. The favorable tone was attributed to negotiations at Geneva which are expected to result in an easing of the European financial and political situation.

LONDON, April 9.—The stock market was quiet today, pending a clearer outlook. International offerings were reactionary, and foreign bonds were weaker in spots, closing irregular.

BERLIN, April 9.—Prices on the Boerse were up two to three points today on the prospects for President von Hindenburg's victory in tomorrow's presidential election.

It was announced the Reichsbank's gold coverage had risen nine-tenths of 1 per cent to 25 per cent.

New York Cottonseed Oil.

NEW YORK, April 9.—Cottonseed oil closed dull. Prime summer yellow, 3.50; prime crude, 2.50@2.62½. Closing bid: May, 3.58; July, 3.74; September, 3.87; October, 3.94; November, 4.03. Sales, two contracts.

CLEARINGS, MONEY AND SILVER

The St. Louis Clearing House Association reported clearings for April 9, $9,400,000; corresponding day last year, $14,300,000; this year, $940,100,000; corresponding period a year ago, $1,370,900,000. Report of debits for April 8 were: Debits to individual accounts, $15,700,000; total to date, $1,550,700,000; debits to bank and bankers' accounts, $8,000,000; total to date, $719,300,000; combined debits to individual and bank and bankers' accounts, $23,700,000; total to date, $2,270,000,000.

UNFILLED U. S. STEEL ORDERS DECREASED 73,216 TONS

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 9.—Unfilled orders of the United States Steel Corporation decreased 73,216 tons in March to a total of 2,472,413 tons, a record low since the corporation has been reporting monthly figures. In February there was a decline of 102,521 tons.

Few attempts to estimate the shrinkage have been made, although some forecasters believed the backlog would fall to around 2,400,000 tons. Steel operations were disappointing last month, for the industry failed to experience a seasonal gain.

In March, 1921, the Steel Corporation's unfilled tonnage rose 30,136 tons to 3,995,330, but since that month there has been an uninterrupted decline in the monthly figures.

LIQUID POSITION OF 468 CONCERNS IN 1931 AND 1921

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 9.—Notwithstanding the overcast industrial skies, the liquid position of 468 corporations at the end of 1931, as reported by Ernst & Ernst, accountants, was more than twice as strong as at the close of the depression year of 1921. The comparable summaries of all 468 companies was given as follows:

Ratio of current assets (less inventories) to current liabilities, at the end of 1931, was 3.82 to 1, compared with 1.87 to 1 at the close of 1921.

Inventories represented 52 per cent of net working capital at the end of 1931, as against 68 per cent at the close of 1921.

Current assets of 1931 were $7,794,649,594, compared with $6,684,728,175 in 1921, an increase of $1,109,921,409.

Current liabilities for 1931 were $1,141,318,445, against $1,814,873,903 in 1921, a decrease of $673,555,458.

Inventories totaled $3,291,536,709 in 1921, compared with $3,433,641,468 in 1931, an increase of $142,104,669.

Cash and securities totaled $1,521,976,419 in 1921 and $2,622,111,114 at the end of 1931, an increase of $1,100,134,695.

Dividend payments, at the same time were relatively larger in 1931 than in the previous depression year. The average monthly payments (exclusive of railways) for 1931 were estimated at $226,000,000, an increase of 9.09 per cent over $207,175,000 average payments for 1929, whereas the monthly average for 1921 totaled $45,200,000, a decrease of 9.85 per cent from the $50,140,000 monthly average for 1920.

The ratio of current assets (less inventories) to current liabilities at the end of 1920 was 1.34 to 1; at the close of 1921, 1.87 to 1; at the close of 1929, 2.69 to 1, and at the close of 1931, 3.82 to 1.

GOVERNMENT ISSUES PULL UP MARKET VALUES OF BONDS

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 9.—In spite of the somewhat severe declines in the prices of corporate bonds in the past several weeks, the New York Stock Exchange reports that during March the 1951 listed issues actually showed a gain in market value of $447,299,670.

The increased market values, however, are explained largely by the upturn in United States and foreign Government loans. On March 1, the value of U. S. Federal issues totaled $13,912,050,864, compared with a valuation on April 1 of $14,899,967,031, a gain for this group during the month of $987,916,167.

On the other hand, the market value of utility bonds decreased from $3,093,553,660 to $3,083,617,461 during the month; the industrials from $2,218,023,659 to $2,059,630,474, and the railroads from $7,148,363,446 to $6,661,549,203.

Foreign Government loans increased from $10,669,862,850 to $11,632,644,292. Bonds of foreign companies declined from $1,358,519,227 to $1,298,548,124.

The average price of all bonds, per $100 par value, increased from $75.31 to $76.12. Listed bonds aggregate $52,276,599,021 par value.

BANKERS ACCEPTANCES RATES ARE REDUCED

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 9.—Another reduction of ⅛ of one per cent in the bid and asked rates on bankers acceptances was announced today by leading dealers.

This like the previous lowering of the rates is believed designed to bring them in line with open market money rates and to bring out a larger supply of the bills.

CORPORATION STATEMENTS

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 9.—Lower profits for 1931 are discussed in the annual report of the Standard Oil Co. of California, the first of the Standard "big four" to announce earnings for the past year. The company's statement reports net profit for 1931 of $14,559,593, after an inventory write-down of $7,300,000 and other charges, equal to $1.11 on the average number of capital shares outstanding during the year. This is comparable with net profits of $37,675,301, or $2.93 a share, in 1930.

The Wright Aeronautical Corporation reports for the year ended Dec. 31, 1931, net profit of $196,620 after depreciation and other charges, this compares with a net loss of $2,198,424 in 1930.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 9.—Firmness of the French franc was the chief development in the foreign exchange market today.

After holding around the previous close, franc cables firmed to 3.95 cents in the late trading, a new high for 1932 and a net gain of 1-16. Gold exports to France for the day amounted to $501,900.

Sterling also improved, rising 1¼ cents net to a closing cable rate of $3.79⅜. Belgian, Dutch and Swiss rates were about steady. The Italian lira and the reichsmark eased with Swedish kroner and Japanese yen.

WEEK'S METAL MARKET

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 9.—Copper eased under slight pressure from custom smelters to sell forward positions with metal available at the previous record low price of 5⅝c delivered in the Connecticut Valley, but buyers remained aloof, apparently awaiting tangible signs of improvement in general business conditions. Similar reductions in export quotations stimulated moderate foreign buying. Large producers were out of the market.

Tin weakened to new lows for the movement in sympathy with declines in London, attributed partly to the breakdown of the Danubian conference. Domestic buying was further restricted, with buyers cautious partly because of weakness of the stock market.

Lead held steady with a fair demand for late April and May requirements reflecting seasonal improvement for paint and battery purposes. Some producers reported sales equal to daily output. Recent declines led the curtailment by smaller interests and selling pressure is limited.

Although demand for zinc was restricted, sellers held firm at unchanged prices owing to steadiness of the ore market and an improved statistical position following increased curtailment.

Quotations for antimony were nominally lower owing to efforts of holders to sell, but consumers remained out of the market.

New York Coffee.

NEW YORK, April 9.—Coffee was quiet but steady today on a little Brazilian buying which was supplied by European and trade selling.

No. 7 contracts opened 4 lower to 2 higher and closed 4 lower to 1 higher. Sales, 3000. Santos opened unchanged to 3 higher and closed at the same levels. Sales, 4000. Closing quotations: No. 7 contracts—May, 6.24c; July, 6.22c; Sept., 6.19c; Dec., 6.14c; March, 6.13c. Santos—May, 8.36c; July, 8.01c; Sept., 8.62c; Dec., 8.63c; March, 8.61c.

Spot coffee steady; Rio 7s, 7¼@7⅜c; Santos 4s, 9½@9⅝c; cost and freight offerings included Bourbon 3s and 5s at 9.20c.

No Brazilian quotations were received.

MILL FEED FUTURES MARKET

ST. LOUIS MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, April 9.—Today's mill feed futures closing prices were higher. The market followed the rise in grain and was also influenced by the firm position of cash feed. The demand did not follow the rising prices closely, but a fair volume of business was done in the abbreviated week-end session. Sales totaled 1100 tons. Closing price changes for local deliveries were: Bran, 45@85c higher; gray shorts, 35@50c higher; for Chicago deliveries, bran 65@90c higher; standard middlings, 40@75c higher.

SUBSTANTIAL ADVANCE IN NEW YORK COTTON

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 9.—A sharp advance in cotton today was followed by partial reactions under realizing and some local selling, but after easing off from 6.20c to 6.06c for May, the market firmed up again on a renewal of trade buying and covering promoted by the firmness of grain and relatively steady Liverpool cables.

May closed at 6.13c, with the general market closing steady at net advances of 12 to 15 points. Spot steady; middling, 6.20c.

The opening was very steady at an advance of 15 to 18 points in response to unexpectedly higher Liverpool cables which were followed by buying here through houses with Far Eastern and continental connections.

The early demand also resulted in part from the opening advance in the stock market and the strength of grain.

Following a reaction which carried active months off to within 3 to 7 points of Friday's closing quotations the market firmed up again, and closing quotations were within 3 or 4 points of the best levels of the day on most of the active positions.

Liverpool cables said that early liquidation and some selling on the improvement in sterling had been absorbed with prices later advancing on covering combined with Bombay and Japanese buying.

Houses with Japanese and Bombay connections were credited with buying in the local market during the early trading, but this demand tapered off later in the morning.

Reports as to sentiment in Manchester and that mills using Egyptian cotton in Lancashire had decided to curtail their production 20 per cent commencing next Monday, appeared to have little effect on the local market. Amount of cotton on shipboard awaiting clearance at the end of the week was estimated at 141,000 bales, against 93,000 last year.

WHEAT PRICE UP SHARPLY AFTER CROP FORECAST

ST. LOUIS MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, April 9.—The reduction of 42 per cent in prospective winter wheat production as compared with 1931 harvest, or a current outlook for 458,000,000 bushels, as forecast overnight by the Government, was followed by a 3-cent upward range on the local board. The close was 2c to 2⅜c net higher. Liverpool was up before American market opened. Overnight offerings to Europe were reported taken.

Some drizzles were reported in Southwest. Corn closed ¼c to ⅝c higher.

Winnipeg wheat closed 1⅛@1⅝c net higher.

The Liverpool wheat market closed ⅝ to ¾d higher.

May wheat opened at 54, July wheat 56¼. May corn 32¼ and July corn 34⅝.

Local wheat receipts which were 89,000 bushels, compared with 91,000 a week ago and 49,000 a year ago, included 39 cars local and 23 through. Corn receipts which were 21,000 bu., compared with 47,600 a week ago and 78,400 a year ago, included 15 cars local. Oats receipts which were 8800 bu., compared with 6600 a week ago and 94,600 a year ago, included four cars local. Hay receipts were five cars local and six through.

In the cash grain market Saturday, soft wheat was ¼@½c higher. Elevators were the chief purchasers. Offerings cleared closely. Sales of No. 1 red on the basis of the Chicago May figure and No. 2, ½@1¼c below. There was no hard wheat on sale. No. 2 was nominally 2c higher. Corn was steady to 1c higher. Practically all the dry grain was taken by local mills, and there was improved demand for higher moisture corn from local elevators. Trading basis advanced, with No. 2 yellow selling 1c below the Chicago May price and No. 3 yellow 2@2½c below. Oats were about steady. Offerings were very light and trading was quiet, the only sale reported being a car of poor No. 2 white.

WHEAT HAS 3 1-2 CENT UPWARD RANGE ON CROP FORECAST

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 9.—Wheat today whirled upward 3½c a bushel, with corn following fast.

An official announcement that the United States winter wheat crop this season had been reduced 319,000,000 bushels, as against the 1931 harvest, was followed by a buying stampede. Further enlargement of the crop loss estimate appeared probable, inasmuch as adverse drought conditions have prevailed since the data was gathered on which the Government report depended.

Owing to selling to realize profits on the rise, top quotations were not fully maintained, and wheat closed nervous 2¼@2⅝c above yesterday's finish; corn, 1⅛@1⅜c up; oats, ⅛@⅝c advanced and provisions unchanged to a rise of 5c.

Contributing to the late setbacks from the day's maximum gains were suggestions that the possible Government basis of calculating had been changed, but before the market closed an authoritative denial was received that there was any alteration from either last year or the two years previous. One feature of the Government report which attracted special notice was that in the five surplus producing hard winter wheat states, the 1932 expected yield was more than cut in half, totaling only 207,000,000 bushels, against 444,000,000 at harvest last year.

Anticipating the soaring of wheat prices here were sharp upturns in quotations at Liverpool, and significance was also attached to foreign buying of Chicago wheat future deliveries. Statements were likewise current that all overnight offerings of wheat for export to Europe had been taken. Despite word of drizzles in some places Southwest, no important drought relief was shown, and throughout the day the market continued chiefly a general purchasing affair, with individual operations almost lost sight of.

Corn and oats borrowed strength from wheat, but met rather free selling on the hard spots. An interesting development was that Chicago cash corn prices were shown to be now not far above a parity with Argentine prices.

Provisions sympathized with upward swing of grains.

It had generally been expected that the Government crop estimate would point to decided curtailment of wheat production figures, but there were few if any traders who looked for a slash of 42,000,000 bushels as compared with the latest unofficial forecasts. Taken especially in connection with lateness of spring wheat seeding the Government report was regarded as bullish.

BUSINESS NOTES

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 9.—Selection of three high fashion colors for women's shoes was announced today by Margaret Hayden Rorke, managing director of the Textile Color Card Association. The colors are cinder brown, porto, a rich red, and sun rust, for wear with town and country clothes.

Rubber, spot, smoked, ribbed, 2 15-16.

New York Sugar.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 9.—Raw sugar was unchanged today with the undertone steady.

Spots quoted at 2.60c. No sales were concluded today, but all remaining supplies on offer at the 2.60c level were absorbed late yesterday, including 8400 bags of St. Croix for prompt shipment and 45,000 bags of Philippines.

Futures were firmer on increased covering and Wall street buying with final prices showing net gains of 2 to 3 points. The market opened unchanged to 3 points higher influenced by reports of a steadier tone in the spot market, where all offerings at last paid prices were said to have been absorbed.

Following the call prices eased off a few points under liquidation and selling by houses with Cuban connections. The offerings were well absorbed, however and the market rallied again in the late trading with final prices at the best of the session.

Approximate sales 16,700 tons: May closed .63, July .70, September .77, December .83, January .85 and March .90.

Refined sugar was unchanged at 3.90c for fine granulated, with demand moderate and confined to nearby requirements.

EXCHANGE SEATS HIT NEW LOW

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 9.—Arrangements were made today for sale of a New York Stock Exchange membership at $80,000. This was $1000 under the previous transaction and a new low since 1924.

Meets Oil Price Increase.

By the Associated Press.

TULSA, Ok., April 9.—Offices of the Gypsy-Gulf Oil companies announced this afternoon they would post a 15-cent price advance for crude oil, meeting the Standard of Indiana increase, effective at 7 a. m., Monday, April 11. The top price will be $1 per barrel.

WHEAT PRICE UP SHARPLY AFTER CROP FORECAST

ST. LOUIS MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, April 9.—The reduction of 42 per cent in prospective winter wheat production as compared with 1931 harvest, or a current outlook for 458,000,000 bushels, as forecast overnight by the Government, was followed by a 3-cent upward range on the local board. The close was 2c to 2⅜c net higher. Liverpool was up before American market opened. Overnight offerings to Europe were reported taken.

Some drizzles were reported in Southwest. Corn closed ¼c to ⅞c higher.

Winnipeg wheat closed 1⅝@1¾c net higher.

The Liverpool wheat market closed ⅝ to ¾d higher.

May wheat opened at 54, July wheat 56¼, May corn 32¼ and July corn 34¾.

Local wheat receipts which were 89,600 bushels, compared with 91,000 a week ago and 49,000 a year ago, included 39 cars local and 25 through. Corn receipts which were 21,000 bu., compared with 47,600 a week ago and 78,400 a year ago, included 15 cars local. Oats receipts which were 8800 bu., compared with 6600 a week ago and 94,000 a year ago, included four cars local. Hay receipts were five cars local and six through.

In the cash grain market Saturday, soft wheat was ¼@½c higher. Elevators were the chief purchasers. Offerings cleared closely. Sales of No. 1 were on the basis of the Chicago May figure and No. 2, ½@1¼c below. There was no hard wheat on sale. No. 2 was nominally 2c higher. Corn was steady to 1c higher. Practically all the dry grain was taken by local mills, and there was improved demand for higher moisture corn from local elevators. Trading basis advanced, with No. 2 yellow selling 1c below the Chicago May price and No. 3 yellow 2@2½c below. Oats were about steady. Offerings weer very light and trading was quiet, the only sale reported being a car of poor No. 2 white.

WHEAT HAS 31-2 CENT UPWARD RANGE ON CROP FORECAST

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, April 9.—Wheat today whirled upward 3½c a bushel, with corn following fast.

An official announcement that the United States winter wheat crop this reason had been reduced 319,000,000 bushels, as against the 1931 harvest, was followed by a buying stampede. Further enlargement of the crop loss estimate appeared probable, inasmuch as adverse drought conditions have prevailed since the data was gathered on which the Government report depended.

Owing to selling to realize profits on the rise, top quotations were not fully maintained, and wheat closed nervous 2¼@2⅜c above yesterday's finish; corn, 1⅛@1⅝c up; oats, ¼@⅝c advanced, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 5c.

Contributing to the late setbacks from the day's maximum gains were suggestions that the possible Government basis of calculating had been changed, but before the market closed an authoritative denial was received that there was any alteration from either last year or the two years previous. One feature of the Government report which attracted special notice was that in the five surplus producing hard winter wheat states, the 1932 expected yield was more than cut in half, totaling only 207,000,000 bushels, against 444,000,000 at harvest last year.

Anticipating the soaring of wheat prices here were sharp upturns in quotations at Liverpool, and significance was also attached to foreign buying of Chicago wheat future deliveries. Statements were likewise current that all overnight offerings of wheat for export to Europe had been taken. Despite word of drizzles in some places Southwest, no important drought relief was shown, and throughout the day the market continued chiefly a general purchasing affair, with individual operations almost lost sight of.

Corn and oats borrowed strength from wheat, but met rather free selling on the hard spots. An interesting development was that Chicago cash corn prices were shown to be now not far above a parity with Argentine prices.

Provisions sympathized with upward swing of grains.

It had generally been expected that the Government crop estimate would point to decided curtailment of wheat production figures, but there were few if any traders who looked for a slash of 42,000,000 bushels as compared with the latest unofficial forecasts. Taken especially in connection with lateness of spring wheat seeding the Government report was regarded as bullish.

BUSINESS NOTES

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 9.—Selection of three high fashion colors for women's shoes was announced today by Margaret Hayden Rorke, managing director of the Textile Color Card Association. The colors are cinder brown, porto, a rich red, and sun rust, for wear with town and country clothes.

NEW YORK RUBBER MARKET

NEW YORK, April 9.—Rubber futures opened steady; May, 2.98; July, 3.02; September, 3.14; December, 3.29.

Rubber futures closed quiet; May, 2.99; July, 3.04-05; October, 3.19; December, 3.29-31.

Rubber, spot, smoked, ribbed, 2 15-16.

New York Sugar.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 9.—Raw sugar was unchanged today with the undertone steady.

Spots quoted at 2.60c. No sales were concluded today, but all remaining supplies on offer at the 2.60c level were absorbed late yesterday, including 8400 bags of St. Croix for prompt shipment and 45,900 bags of Philippines.

Futures were firmer on increased covering and Wall street buying with final prices showing net gains of 2 to 3 points. The market opened unchanged to 3 points higher influenced by reports of a steadier tone in the spot market, when all offerings at the last paid prices were said to have been absorbed.

Following the call prices eased off a few points under liquidation and selling by houses with Cuban connections. The offerings were well absorbed, however and the market rallied again in the late trading with final prices at the best of the session.

Approximate sales 16,700 tons; May closed .63, July .70, September .77, December .83, January .85 and March .90.

Refined sugar was unchanged at 3.90c for fine granulated, with demand moderate and confined to nearby requirements.

GOVERNMENT BONDS CONTINUE STRONG

Number of Corporate Issues Show Rallying Tendencies at Times.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 9.—With demand for United States Government loans continuing strong, the bond market today exhibited a somewhat better tone, with a number of corporate issues showing rallying tendencies at times.

Although the pressure lessened somewhat in the brief session, with the utilities displaying the greatest improvement, the average for 60 corporate bonds made another new low for 1932. It was the eighth consecutive day of declining averages.

Most of the Federal issues again advanced to new highs for 1932 and, despite considerable profit-taking, the majority of Liberties and Treasuries managed to close at the upper levels.

American & Foreign Power 5s, recently heavily sold, aided the utilities by snapping back sharply for a gain of 5½ points. American Telephone liens also firmed, as did those of Consolidated Gas, Detroit Edison, International Telephone, Kansas Gas, Postal Telegraph and Western Union.

A number of railroad bonds rallied quite impressively at one time, but were unable to hold all of their gains and the list closed in about the same position as yesterday. Recoveries were recorded by some liens of Baltimore & Ohio, Canadian Northern, Canadian Pacific, Chicago & Northwestern, Rock Island, Denver & Rio Grande, Illinois Central, Missouri Pacific, New York Central, Pennsylvania, Frisco, Nickel Plate, St. Louis Southwestern and Southern Pacific. Missouri Pacific third 4s, on the first sale this year, dropped 42½ points.

The industrials were inclined to softness. Losses were shown by Fisk Rubber 8s, International Match 5s, National Dairy 5¼s, Paramount Publix 5½s, Shell Pipe Line 5s and a number of others.

A rally in German Government loans featured the foreign section, reflecting optimism over the Reich election run-off tomorrow. Outside of weakness in the Argentines and a number of other South Americans, and strength in Belgian loans, this group moved in a narrow range.

IRREGULAR APPEARANCE TO SESSION ON CURB

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 9.—Sharply defined cross currents appeared in the curb market today, giving the price structure an unusually irregular appearance in trading which reached a total of 220,000 shares, the largest for a Saturday since Feb. 13.

Buying was predicated on two major influences, market observers reported, the foremost being a scare thrown into the short interest by announcement that the Senate would begin its investigation of stock market activities next week. The other was belief in the minds of some traders that Friday's fairly heavy selling had marked a "selling climax" which normally should be followed by a rally.

Electric Bond & Share rallied 1⅛ points to close at 12⅛. The 5 per cent preferred stock ran up 2¼ points to 30⅜. Consolidated Gas of Baltimore gained over 4 points, closing at 56.

Liquidation continued in fairly large volume, however, and not all of the utilities shared in the advance. Commonwealth Edison reacted fractionally. American Gas & Electric preferred reacted 7 points and United Gas preferred declined 1 point.

The Standard Oil issues of Indiana, Kentucky and Ohio were up fractionally.

Silk was steadier and silk goods quiet. Rayon price guarantees are being given to some to stimulate future buying. Wool goods for fall are being sampled freely. Linens are firm and quiet.

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

DRAMA-MUSIC-MOVIES

PAGE 6B — ST. LOUIS, SUNDAY MORNING, APRIL 10, 1932.

Show Season in Review

Year in Two Local Legitimate Houses Has Been a Poor One Although the Few Worth While Offerings Attracted Large Crowds—"Crazy Quilt" at the Shubert Tonight Which Also Promises Katherine Cornell Next Month in "The Barretts of Wimpole Street."

THE American Theater rang down its curtain on the current season last night with the final performance of "Mourning Becomes Electra"; the Shubert begins a week of the girl and music show, "Crazy Quilt," with Fanny Brice, Ted Healy and Phil Baker heading the cast tonight and then will retire, more or less gracefully, until May 16 when, for the present at least, Katherine Cornell is scheduled to appear in "The Barretts of Wimpole Street." Then the drama year, a far from extensive one, will be over.

It has been, on the whole, a bad season, from a business point of view for the two legit theaters. Also Mary Hart, after two years of success at the Orpheum with her stock company, fell up against the general hard times and was forced to close after presenting some nine shows in 18 weeks. The American Theater, which did not open until Oct. 25, had 14 dramatic and musical shows, a motion picture, two days of Chevalier, the movie star in person, and two performances of Ted Shawn and his dancers. There were several dark weeks sandwiched in between these attractions.

The Shubert was even worse off although it opened earlier, getting started on Sept. 27 with the musical, "Three Little Girls" and playing "High Hat" and Ethel Barrymore in a row. Then followed a month of nothing at all until "House Beautiful" arrived. After that the Grand Avenue show house was dark for nearly three months not reopening until Feb. 14 when Al Jolson came along in "Wonder Bar." Closing up again for another three or four weeks the Shubert next had one of the best plays of the year, "Grand Hotel" which was followed, after a short lapse, by the Negro revue, "Rhapsody in Black" which gives way, tonight, to "Crazy Quilt."

Not a propitious year by any means with the two houses of amusement presenting, combined, not enough entertainment to make a single complete season for one theater—an argument which is being used to bring about a combination next fall which will see the cutting out of one show place altogether.

THAT the cash customers would turn out, even in these times of stress, for the better entertainments was clearly demonstrated for most of the good shows did exceedingly well. Coming one on top of the other the Vanities and the Follies took in together, some $70,000 at the American. Walter Hampden, with his "Cyrano" practically sold out for four performances at the same house, which also had an enormous week with "The Green Pastures" and a fine crowd for "Mourning Becomes Electra" during the week just ended. "Salt Water," "Private Lives"—an excellent comedy—The Stratford Players, a second company in "Elizabeth the Queen," "Tomorrow and Tomorrow"—another good one—and "Three's a Crowd" did not do so well at the American, where Maude Adams and Otis Skinner did a fair business in their six performances of "The Merchant of Venice."

The promised season of the Shubert controlled Drama League of St. Louis collapsed almost completely at the Shubert Theater with none of the plays promised last summer ever getting here.

Among the non-professionals The Little Theater had its best year playing to the limit of its small capacity with five plays offered during the year, which ends with the production of the prize-winning satire, "My Country 'Tis of Thee," now on at the Artists' Guild on Union boulevard.

ONE of the sensational successes—measured purely from a box-office standard—has been the remusical "Crazy Quilt," which comes into the Shubert tonight. Playing a greater part of the time in the one-night stands, it has headed the list, financially, of road-show attractions. In Memphis, for instance, it gathered in more than $11,000 in a single evening. A circus form of advertising and a well circulated tip that it was barely within the law in the matter of stage "dirt" probably had a great deal to do with its success.

Billy Rose, the impresario of "Crazy Quilt" and also the husband of Fanny Brice, one of the show's stars, has been a successful song writer for years, with such hits as "Barney Google," "There's a Rainbow 'Round My Shoulder," "Cheerful Little Earful," "Overnight," "Would Ya Like to Take a Walk" and "I Met a Million-Dollar Baby in a 5 and 10 Cent Store," to his credit. The last four numbers are sung in the present offering.

For this version of "Crazy Quilt," Rose has amalgamated portions of his last season's Broadway revues, "Sweet and Low," and "Crazy Quilt," adding features of recent fabrication. Of the latter, his conception of the divertissements with which the Moorish satraps of torrid Andalusia beguiled their leisure hours, called "El Bolero," is said to be one of the foremost.

ACCORDING to present plans, as told above, Katharine Cornell will appear in Rudolf Besier's "The Barretts of Wimpole Street" at the Shubert next month. Miss Cornell recently ended a year's engagement in this play in New York, a run she broke while the theater was crowded at every performance, so that she might present the play in the chief cities of the country.

"The Barretts of Wimpole Street" tells the romance of Robert Browning and Elizabeth Barrett, one of the great love stories of history.

The Week's New Films

—:— By NIE —:—

ERNEST LUBITSCH, who made a magnificent picture out of "Broken Lullaby," which was at the Ambassador last week, has come right back with another fine one in "One Hour With You" at the same theater. As far apart as two films could possibly be—"Broken Lullaby" was a somber sermon, while "One Hour With You" is a light and frothy boudoir thing with a musical comedy story—Lubitsch again demonstrates that he is in a class by himself as a director. True, he had a lot of help with his latest effort. Maurice Chevalier is the star of the company and in the cast are Jeanette MacDonald, Genevieve Tobin, Roland Young and Charlie Ruggles. No director could go very far wrong with such a cast. Tack on to this combination some very pretty music by Oscar Straus and a sparkling story by Lothar Schmidt and when you have drawn a line under it and added it all up the sum total is a delightful and entertaining picture. Chevalier this time is a Parisian physician who is very much in love with his wife, but can't help being as popular with his women patients as he is with the movie customers. This popularity gets him into several entanglements in the play but, in the end, he sings his way back into the good graces of his wife and everything ends happily as all good musical comedies should. A distinct novelty, a real Lubitsch touch, is the manner in which the action is halted several times while Chevalier steps out of the play and explains from the screen, in his pleasing manner, what is going to happen next.

The Curse of Gold.

SOME day some studio is going to give Elissa Landi a real motion picture story and then this charming young woman will be the whole wheat toast of the cinemas. In "Devil's Lottery," at the Fox this week, Miss Landi has a play which promises to be interesting a half dozen or more times, but which peters out to nothing at all with one or two angles to the plot just dropping out of sight. You see Elissa was a lady with a past who won the Calcutta sweepstakes on the English Derby, which brought her in a cool million dollars just at the moment when she needed it almost as badly as she needed a good reputation. Lord Litchfield, owner of the Derby winner, and who is by way of being a student of human emotions, invites Elissa and six or seven other big money winners down to his castle for a week-end. He wants to find out how sudden wealth affects them and he does. Bickerings, broken engagements and even a murder or two are the result of too much money, but the author never follows up his plots far enough and the piece ends without it being made very clear whether Miss Landi is going to get, in addition to her coin, the man she really loves.

Radio Romance.

BILL HAINES, long the Smart-Alec of countless annoying film stories, shakes off his old stuff and plays, most excellently, a straight dramatic part in "Are You Listening?" down at Loew's. The story is a sort of back stage meller of the radio broadcasting racket, which shows how romance lurks among the crooners. For the fade-out Bill is seen being dragged away to serve three years in prison for a murder which he only committed accidently while pretty Madge Evans stands by looking as though she would wait for him to come back and sing the Prisoner's Song over Station Something or Other.

Tripe and Terror Opera.

FROM back stage in the radio room one can see what makes the wheels go round in a newspaper office by taking in "X Marks the Spot" at the Missouri. Maybe there are newspapers like the one pictured here but even if there are not the story is exciting and interesting every now and then. There is a murder in this picture, too, the screens running decidedly to that sort of thing this week. The Missouri's other film is a Mexican opus called "Broken Wing," with Lupe Velez eloping with an American aviator who just happened to fall into her arms when his plane dived over her home town.

Behind the Screens.

AND you can keep on learning about things on the inside from "The Cohens and the Kelleys in Hollywood," at the St. Louis, a comedy which gets through its way merrily without a single killing. George Sidney and Charlie Murray, who have taken the Cohens and Kelleys all over the world from time to time, have their best story in this Hollywood affair and the picture is amusing from start to finish.

Building Up Russia.

A PHOTOGRAPHIC record of the vital changes which are taking place in the Soviet Union today is presented in the Russian film, "The Five-Year Plan," the third presentation of the new World Theater. Synchronized with sound and with an explanatory lecture in English, "The Five-Year Plan" is a comprehensive film version of Russia's movement from 1928 up to now. Every phase in the new development in electrification, fuel, metallurgy and machine construction, chemical industry, light industry and agriculture and its reconstruction is pretty thoroughly revealed in a manner highly interesting to those who care to know about the Russian movement. The picture is divided into seven distinct episodes which include the frontiers of U. S. S. R., the administrative, planning and economic centers of the Soviet Union; the present work under the five-year-plan; the basis of the industrial and agricultural reconstruction and the building program of the new country. The picture was produced in Russia by the Soviet Government.

W. U.'s Musi-Comedy, "Look Who's Here," Set for April 21

THE doors of the American Theater, which closed last night on that theater's regular season, will reopen Thursday, April 21, for a three-night engagement of the Washington University Quadrangle Club's seventh annual musical comedy, "Look Who's Here," by Ted Williams and Carleton S. Hadley, alumni authors of several previous Quadrangle successes. Williams, a resident of Kansas City, will come to St. Louis to conduct the orchestra.

This year's production is unique in that it serves also as the 1932 alumni play, replacing the usual spring production given on the campus, and will also play a prominent part in the celebration by alumni, faculty and students of the university of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the founding of the school on April 23, 1857.

Leading roles in "Look Who's Here" have been assigned to Miss Jean Bronenkamp, star of previous Quadrangle offerings, and William Bryan, both of St. Louis, and Joe Ledbetter of Little Rock, Ark., president of the club. Others in the cast include Louise la Rue, Jimmy Parker, Georgea Flynn, Louise Osterberg, Bernard Ofner, Marvin Mueller, William Ogden, Arthur Moore, Richard Knight and Sylvester Kesner. Lalla Baumann is premiere danseuse.

Included in the chorus roster is Miss Helen Evans, recently crowned Engineers' Queen, as well as many members of the university Glee Club.

British Group Night In Dramatic League

Scotland, Ireland and England, comprising the British group, are represented in the fourth evening of the Theater of Nations to be presented at Soldan High School auditorium next Thursday night. The Theater of Nations, under the auspices of the Dramatic League of St. Louis, has devoted previous evenings to Spanish, Russian and German drama in the original languages.

A. Kednov in "The Five Year Plan," World Theater.

GARRICK—Burlesque.

Kessler Concert by The Musicians' Guild

A concert devoted exclusively to the compositions of John Kessler, St. Louis composer-pianist, will be given this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at the College Club under the auspices of the Musicians' Guild of St. Louis.

Scipione Guidi, concertmaster of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra, will play a sonata for violin and piano with Mr. Kessler, Mrs. J. J. Kessler, contralto, will sing a group of songs, and Mr. Kessler will play a piano sonata.

Maurice Chevalier in "One Hour With You," Ambassador.

Three Foreign Films Are on View Here

In addition to the all-Russian talking picture, "The Five Year Plan," which runs all week at the New World Theater, two other foreign films are on view today. "Under the Roofs of Paris" (Sous les Toits de Paris), said to be among the 10 best foreign pictures of the year, will be shown by the Film Guild of the Y. M. H. A. this evening at 8:30. The picture has less than 2000 words of French dialogue—the average talkie has over 200,900 words—and may be understood by those to whom French is a "dead" language.

And "Nur am Rhein" (Only on the Rhine), a film operetta, will be given, starting today, in the German Film Theater, 2345 Lafayette avenue. It is one of the greatest German talking pictures and was shown with success in New York City.

Singer and 'Cellist In a Joint Concert

The closing event of The Principia concert and lecture course for 1931-32 brings together Richard Bonelli, American baritone, and Gregor Piatigorsky, Russian 'cellist, who will appear in a joint recital at Howard Hall, The Principia, next Friday evening.

Richard Bonelli is a popular baritone of the Chicago Civic Opera company. Piatigorsky, who began his concert work at the age of 9, made his first American tour three years ago.

Dancing Team Is Engaged for the Municipal Opera

Eleven of the Twelve Plays for the Coming Summer in Forest Park Have Been Selected.

WHILE no announcements have been made regarding the principals for the Municipal Opera this summer word came from New York yesterday that Carl Randall and Virginia Watson, one of the better known dance teams of the stage, would appear with the shows in Forest Park.

Selection of operas for the fourteenth annual season of Municipal Opera at the open air theater in Forest Park was virtually completed yesterday when officials closed contracts for 11 of the 12 pieces to be produced this summer and began negotiations for the twelfth.

Of the 11 pieces definitely selected, five will have their first St. Louis showing at the Municipal Theater this summer. One of the five will be produced for the first time anywhere in the world. Two of the remaining six operas have visited St. Louis at the downtown theaters, but have never been presented in Forest Park. The other four were chosen from the successes of previous Municipal Opera seasons.

The opera season will open on Monday night, June 6, and each production will run for seven nights. The list of operas, as announced by the association yesterday, although the order of presentation has not been decided, follows:

"The Land of Smiles." Music by Franz Lehar. New to St. Louis.

"The Rose of Stamboul." Music by Leo Fall and Sigmund Romberg. New to St. Louis.

"The Last Waltz." Music by Oscar Straus. New to St. Louis.

"Katja." Music by Jean Gilbert. New to St. Louis.

"Cyrano de Bergerac." Music by Samuel Pokrass. New to St. Louis.

"The Riviera Girl." Music by Emmerich Kalman. New to the Municipal Theater.

"The Blue Paradise." Music by Sigmund Romberg and Edmund Eysler. New to the Municipal Theater.

"The New Moon." Music by Sigmund Romberg. Presented at the Municipal Theater in 1930.

"The Desert Song." Music by Sigmund Romberg. Presented at the Municipal Theater in 1930.

"Sari." Music by Emmerich Kalman. Last presented at the Municipal Theater in 1927.

"Blossom Time." Music adapted by Sigmund Romberg. Presented at the Municipal Theater in 1920.

Little Theater Prize Play Open to Public

"My Country 'Tis of Thee," the $500 prize-winning play in the national contest sponsored by the Little Theater of St. Louis and presented as this season's final production by that organization, will begin a six-day public engagement beginning at 8:30 p. m. Monday.

The play, a political satire in three acts, was written by Howard Koch of New York and was chosen for first place from entries from all parts of the United States. Included in the cast are Mathilde Leimkuehler, Mary Margaret Conway, Dr. Frank Morse, Warren Drescher, Elliot Bergfield, Leonard Vasser, Barclay Hudson, Fred Simonsen, Isaac Watkins, Louis Westheimer, Luigi Vagnino, George Wendling, Harold Elbert, Downey Harris, Archer O'Reilly Jr., Tom Pegram, Julian Friesk and William Wahlert.

The play opened Thursday evening to a special subscription audience, and was produced under the direction of Neal Caldwell, associate director of the Little Theater.

German Comedy Tonight.

"Der Kuehne Schwimmer" (The Courageous Swimmer), a farce comedy by Franz Arnold and Ernst Bach, will be given tonight by the German Theater Stock Company in the German House auditorium, 2345 Lafayette avenue. Tonight's performance is the benefit for the comedian, Paul Gehring, of the stock company.

Out In the Big Cash Belt

Jackie Cooper and His $7500 a Week Pay for Appearing "In the Flesh" with the Cinema Stage Shows—Another Youngster, Dickie Moore, Who Doesn't Know, Yet, What It's All About—George Arliss, An American Star Who Remains An Englishman.

TO what lengths the picture palaces are going in an effort to attract the customers is well exemplified by the case of Jackie Cooper who comes to the Ambassador Theater next Friday for the start of a personal appearance tour which will take him to most of the large cities and bring him in, in a dozen weeks, more money than the President of these United States receives for a year of—take it from one Herbert Hoover—strenuous employment.

Young Cooper who, at 10 years of age is about to be elevated to motion picture stardom and the spot once occupied by that other child marvel, Jackie Coogan, is to be paid the highest salary ever given a performer for a "single" turn in the film houses with the exception of Al Jolson who drew down $10,000. Little Cooper will be paid, according to all reports, $7500 a week which is a lot of money even if he doesn't get it. The answer to why he is worth that sum—if he is—will be found in the number of people who will put their money on the line to see the child actor in the flesh.

But the most casual of all motion picture celebrities of Hollywood is undoubtedly Dickie Moore, who is also being made a star but is not much impressed by the fact.

DICKIE is five years old, and the negotiations whereby his name is to be glorified in electric lights have been conducted by Warner Bros. with his mother, who is so completely his business manager that Dickie, it is safe to say, knows practically nothing of the financial details of his screen career. Upon the completion of each picture he is presented by his mother with a shining new dime. This arrangement has been found quite satisfactory up to the present time.

The new star has been in pictures since the early age of 11 months, when he played in John Barrymore's supporting cast in "The Beloved Rogue." A little while later, when he must have been about two, he made a brief appearance in Richard Barthelmess's picture, "Son of the Gods." His role was that of the hero (otherwise Barthelmess) as a little boy.

Various other minor assignments led up to "The Star Witness," "Chic" Sale's sensational picture which was released last summer, in which Dickie for the first time played a role requiring considerable memorizing of lines. As he has not yet mastered the art of reading, this presented some difficulty, but Dickey's excellent memory solved the problem. The lines were read to him several times, and when he learns a thing he holds on to it tenaciously. The same method was followed in teaching him his part in "The Expert," another "Chic" Sale picture which is about to be released with Dickie as one of the prominently featured players.

Most recently the five-year-old thespian has been supporting Barbara Stanwyck in "So Big," which has just finished production on the coast. This will be his last non-stellar role. Any day now the first Dickie Moore starring vehicle will be put into action. Its title, recently announced is "From Rags to Riches."

And Dickie is already counting on that dime.

NOT all of the big money of the films goes to the children by any means. A great deal has been printed about the salaries of the movie stars yet there is one favorite of the American audiences—and he is not an American—who has been piling up a fortune for years without very much having been printed about it. George Arliss, whose career as an actor both on the stage and the screen has been so largely American, "remains an Englishman," nevertheless, like the much-quoted Sir Joseph Porter, K. C. B. of "Pinafore."

He first came to America in 1901; not until 23 years later did he appear again on the London boards, in "The Green Goddess." His screen appearances have been exclusively American, and he has played American characters in his last three pictures, "The Millionaire," "Alexander Hamilton," and the newest one, "The Man Who Played God."

Nevertheless he is still an Englishman, and he recently told a London newspaper why.

"In spite of my admiration for American people and manners," said Mr. Arliss, "I suppose I remain English just because I can't help it. My own natural English tastes may be nurtured, perhaps, by the frequent visits I make to my own country. My wife and I live in England. Our home is near London. We only 'go on a visit' to America every autumn. Years ago when we first went to America it was to pay a visit. We have been paying visits ever since.

"We are not really permanent residents in Hollywood. We do not even have our own house there."

AND then, as an instance of his conservatism, Mr. Arliss admitted that he is not an indiscriminate enthusiast over modern inventions and contraptions. "One thing I look forward to on my visits to England," he said, "is my house at St. Margaret's Bay, without a telephone. I will not have one installed. You can call this wisdom or sheer pigheaded determination, whichever you like. But it is the only place I know where I cannot be disturbed. On the Atlantic I used to be safe once, but now they have put telephones in the cabins and you are liable to be rung up on the wireless telephone any minute from either continent."

With all his love of peace and quiet, however, nobody is a stronger believer than George Arliss in the superiority of American methods of making motion pictures. It is well known in England that, when approached on the subject of making a picture over there, he has always said that he would consider doing so when the British studios were equipped to turn out pictures that would measure up to the best American standard. By "equipment," he has explained, he means technical apparatus, directors, actors, everything.

St. Louis U. Club in New English Comedy

St. Louis University Playhouse Club's spring play will be M. E. M. Young's English comedy drama, "The Higher Court," to be given in the University auditorium Monday and Tuesday, April 25 and 26. The presentation will be the American premiere of this play.

The cast has been chosen from among the club members, several of whom took part in the university former productions of this year, Sardou's "A Scrap of Paper" and Booth Tarkington's "Clarence." William Jenkins, who recently won the University's annual oratorical contest medal, has the leading man's role, and Miss Frances Strupper will take the leading feminine role.

Milton McGover is directing the play and the music on this occasion will be furnished by the University orchestra and glee club under the direction of Prof. Walter von Kalinowski.

Harriet Cates Wed in Panama To Army Major

Descendant of Pierre Laclede Becomes the Bride of Francis Page Hardaway.

MRS. JOHN MULLANPHY CATES, 4535 Maryland avenue, announced the marriage of her youngest daughter, Miss Harriet Lane Cates, to Maj. Francis Page Hardaway, U. S. A., commanding officer at Fort Randolph in the Panama Canal Zone. The news was contained in a cablegram received by the bride's mother.

The ceremony took place Friday in the private quarters of Father Pierre Levesque, chaplain of France Field, the air station near Fort Randolph, who officiated. There were no attendants. The bride wore an all-white silk sports costume with a coat to match, and white slippers. Her white straw hat was upturned at the back to disclose clusters of white flowers. She carried an arm bouquet of white orchids.

The only guests at the ceremony were Mrs. W. A. Hardaway, mother of the bridegroom, who has been living at Fort Randolph since he was detailed there two years ago, and his 14-year-old son, Jack.

Maj. and Mrs. Hardaway will take a short honeymoon trip through the Isthmus of Panama and its vicinity before returning to Fort Randolph, where they will be stationed for another year. Mrs. Hardaway Sr., will return to St. Louis for a short time before opening her summer home in Michigan.

The bride is a direct descendant of Pierre Laclede, founder of St. Louis, and John Mullanphy, well-known St. Louis philanthropist. She is a niece of Mrs. Samuel W. Fordyce, 35 Vandeventer place, who accompanied her to New Orleans, where she sailed for Panama, and of Mrs. George McLaughlin of Chicago. Mrs. Hardaway is a graduate of the Sacred Heart Convent at Maryville, and has traveled abroad. She is a member of the Junior League.

Maj. Hardaway is a graduate of the United States Military Academy at West Point.

Benefit Dinner-Dance For Institute for Deaf

ONE of the most unusual and elaborate parties of the week will be the dinner dance to be given Friday night in the Gold Room of Hotel Jefferson for the benefit of the Central Institute for the Deaf. Under the chairmanship of Mrs. Stanley Clarke, plans are being made for a series of musical novelties and entertainment free from the usual expense attached to charity functions. The procedure originating in continental night clubs will be used, with a cabaret, formal ushers, attractive cigarette girls passing between the tables, and gigolos and gigolettes hovering conveniently near for those who wish to dance with them. James H. Platt will be master of ceremonies, and the orchestra music will be augmented by talent from a local theater, including several chorus numbers.

Richard Dana has organized a group of ushers for the occasion, including James M. Franciscus Jr., Joseph Harris, Herbert Jones, Austin Leland, McMillan Lewis, Finley McElroy, Richard Morey Jr. and Frederick Swarts.

Sub-debutantes are being invited to serve as cigarette girls, with Miss Henriette Pirrung and Miss Betty Flournoy in charge. The dancing gigolos and gigolettes are being drawn from the ranks of the debutante group and their escorts and are under the direction of Miss Mary Coit Day. The list, while still incomplete, includes to date Miss Elise White, Miss Joan Pangman, Miss Helen Hemingway, Thomas Bond Jr., Francis Seward, Oscar Rexford and Carter Burns.

For those who do not care to dance, bridge and backgammon will be played in the Crystal Room, under the supervision of Mrs. William R. Orthwein.

Mrs. John Rule, Mrs. Harold M. Bixby, Mrs. Arthur W. Proetz, Mrs. Walter de W. Bradley, Mrs. Morgan Coit Day, Mrs. John Allen Love, Mrs. Knox Taussig and Mrs. Gorden S. Veeder are members of Mrs. Clarke's committee in charge of the party.

The Central Institute for the Deaf is a nonsectarian institution established for the purpose of training the deaf. Three hundred children now are under instruction there, 80 per cent of whom are being taught under a whole or part scholarship plan supported by the maintenance fund.

Tea Honoring Mr. and Mrs. Stark.

Mr. and Mrs. William Thornburg Ravenscroft, 625 Skinker road, will give an informal tea this afternoon from 5 to 6 o'clock in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd P. Stark of Louisiana, Mo. Mrs. Stark was formerly Miss Katherine Perkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert T. Perkins, 6365 Ellenwood avenue.

Miss Gordon in Recital.

Miss Edith Gordon will give a piano recital at the Wednesday Club auditorium Monday evening, April 18. She will play the Sonata Appassionata by Beethoven and two other groups of numbers by Chopin and Debussy.

Miss Mulvane, E. P. Maffitt Wed in East

Ceremony at St. Bartholomew's Church, New York — Honeymoon Will Be Spent in Bermuda.

CLUSTERS of Easter lilies were combined with quantities of dogwood in the floral decorations for the wedding yesterday afternoon in St. Bartholomew's Church in New York of Miss Katherine Mulvane, daughter of Mrs. John David Mulvane, 610 Park avenue, and Edward Pierce Maffitt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Skinker Maffitt, 4520 West Pine boulevard. At the entrance to the chancel there were two tall standards of the lilies, with candelabra at each side, and bunches of the blossoms marked each pew.

The ceremony was performed by the rector, the Rev. Dr. Robert Norwood, and afterwards there was a reception in the Italian Garden and Louis XV ballroom of the Ambassador Hotel, which had been decorated with yellow snapdragon and a variety of other spring blossoms. Later there was music for dancing.

The bride's gown was a Callot model of ivory satin, made on simple lines with a batteau neck, molded bodice and long flowing satin sleeves that fitted closely to the elbows. The skirt flared into a long train. The tulle veil was arranged simply over her hair and she wore a short face veil. Instead of the conventional bouquet, she carried a white satin prayer book with a spray of white orchids as the marker.

Dr. Oswald Robert Jones, brother-in-law of the bride, gave her in marriage, and Mrs. Jones, her sister, served as matron of honor. Mrs. Jones wore a costume of heavy crepe in a pale turquoise shade. With the gown she wore a jacket having sleeves puffed at the elbows and a hat in a corresponding shade of straw turned up at the back. Her flowers were autumn roses with coral tints predominating. The bridesmaids, Miss Mildred Hockstader, Mrs. Damon de Blois Wack and Miss Mary Elizabeth Wyeth, were in gowns of a lighter weight crepe in the same turquoise shade but different models, and hats to match, and they carried coral colored sweetpeas, snapdragon and African daisies.

Thomas Skinker Maffitt Jr. was his brother's best man, and the ushers included Damon de Blois Wack, Frank Wright, George H. Darrell, Andre Maximov, Derrick January of Rockville, Md., formerly of St. Louis, and Kenyon Boocock.

Mr. and Mrs. Maffitt will spend their honeymoon in Bermuda, and on their return will go to Washington where he will report for duty at the State Department.

The bride attended the Spence School in New York and studied in Florence, Italy, and in Paris. Mr. Maffitt, who is a member of an old and prominent St. Louis family, is a gradutae of Yale, class of 1923, and the Foreign Service School in Washington. He also studied in Vevey, Switzerland. Since completing his studies in the diplomatic school he has served as Vice Consul at Athens, Greece.

The St. Louis guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Maffitt Sr., and Mrs. Julia Maffitt Walsh and her sister, Miss Emilie Maffitt.

What St. Louisans in Paris Are Doing

PARIS, March 28.

MRS. PIERRE CHOUTEAU SCOTT of the Square Alboni left Paris last Friday for Venice where she will remain until the arrival of her daughter, Mrs. J. Norman Walker of Calcutta, India. Mrs. Walker is coming to Paris with her mother to remain for several months. Her husband will join her here and this summer they are going to America.

Mrs. Vion Papin of St. Louis now is in Paris for an indefinite stay. She is visiting her daughter, Miss Vion Papin, who has a studio on the Rue Oudinot. Miss Papin has been studying in Paris since last June and hopes to have her mother with her for several months while she completes her art studies.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Ray Carter of St. Louis have returned home after a visit to Paris. They came here from England, where they visited their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Eaton Monins.

Mrs. Henry Mixner, a former St. Louisan, and her daughter, Miss Alice Mixner, are again in Paris after an extended visit in St. Louis and Florida. Mrs. Mixner is taking an apartment here and will make Paris her future home.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Crawford of Pittsburg have just come to Paris from Cannes and are stopping at the Plaza-Athenee. Mrs. Crawford formerly was Miss Annie Laurie Warmack of St. Louis.

"In spite of my admiration for American people and manners," said Mr. Arliss, "I suppose I remain
English just because I can't help
it. My own natural English tastes may be nurtured, perhaps, by the frequent visits I make to my own country. My wife and I live in England. Our home is near London.
We only 'go on a visit' to America every autumn. Years ago when we first went to America it was to pay a visit. We have been paying visits ever since.
"We are not really permanent residents in Hollywood. We do not even have our own house there."

AND then, as an instance of his conservatism, Mr. Arliss admitted that he is not an indiscriminate enthusiast over modern inventions and contraptions. "One thing I look forward to on my visits to England," he said, "is my house at St. Margaret's Bay, without a telephone. I will not have one installed. You can call this wisdom or sheer pigheaded determination, whichever you like. But it is the only place I know where I cannot be disturbed. On the Atlantic I used to be safe once, but now they have put telephones in the cabins and you are liable to be rung up on the wireless telephone any minute from either continent."
With all his love of peace and quiet, however, nobody is a stronger believer than George Arliss in the superiority of American methods of making motion pictures. It is well known in England that, when approached on the subject of making a picture over there, he has always said that he would consider doing so when the British studios were equipped to turn out pictures that would measure up to the best American standard. By "equipment," he has explained, he means technical apparatus, directors, actors, everything.

Miss Gordon in Recital.
Miss Edith Gordon will give a piano recital at the Wednesday Club auditorium Monday evening, April 18. She will play the Sonata Appassionata by Beethoven and two other groups of numbers by Chopin and Debussy.

WEDDINGS AND ENGAGEMENTS

ANNOUNCEMENT is made of the engagement of Miss Lyndelle Louise Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lewis, 7371 Amherst avenue, University City, and Darell M. Peck, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Peck, 7562 Cornell avenue.

If he's all "PLAYED OUT" when PLAYTIME comes—

It's ASTHENIA*

HE used to be the one who always wanted to "go places and do things" ...kept urging you to hurry through dinner so you could be off together to the movies, a show or a dance.

With what zestful anticipation you used to look forward to your delightful evenings together . . . to those enchanting hours of recreation that brought the long day's separation to an end.

But how he has changed! Now—how you dread the tedium of drab evenings!

Strange as it may seem, you yourself have been partially at fault—without realizing it.

You've let him grow old—feeling, no doubt, that you were powerless to prevent it.

But you're not! You can restore his former vigor . . . his eager vitality . . . his spirit . . . his enthusiasm . . . his pep! Do it naturally, too . . . in 10 days' time . . . and with no more than a minute a day of his cooperation.

Would it surprise you to know that he . . . like thousands of other busy men . . . is a victim of *Asthenia? That his present apathy is caused by faulty elimination?

"But how is that possible?" you ask. "He's as regular as can be!"

Unfortunately, it is easily possible—if his daily elimination is not complete.

Poisons accumulate gradually—bred by millions of micro-organisms in the digestive tract. Little by little these poisons seep into the blood stream. Then comes that half-alive feeling—the condition known to science as *Asthenia.

That's what's robbing him of his former zest and depriving you of those cherished joys and pleasures.

Would you like to know how to restore his former vigor . . . make him eager once more to participate in the pleasures which used to mean so much to both of you?

Get him to take Pluto Water before breakfast every morning for ten mornings. Don't let him miss a morning for ten days straight! You'll be amazed how this gentle, simple treatment will restore his old-time vim. He'll begin to feel as if he were "walking on air."

After that—have him take Pluto Water every Sunday morning regularly and he'll be rid of this insidious blight.

Incidentally, you might try the treatment yourself. You'll find it just what you need to tone up your system.

Pluto Water comes in two sizes—20c and 45c—at all drug counters; on trains, steamships; and at hotels.

A Gentle Laxative
Pluto Water, taken as directed below, is a gentle, effective laxative—non-irritating—non-habit-forming.
Recommended by physicians everywhere.
Start now to cleanse your system of Asthenia—½ glass of Pluto Water in ½ glass of hot water—each morning for ten days. Then take Pluto Water every Sunday morning.

PLUTO WATER
America's Laxative Mineral Water

ENDS *ASTHENIA—the want or loss of strength...debility...diminution of the vital forces—often due to intestinal micro-organisms. Pluto Water corrects this condition in almost every instance. If after taking Pluto Water for ten days your condition is not entirely corrected, see your physician immediately.

Pluto Water is bottled and sealed at FRENCH LICK SPRINGS HOTEL French Lick, Indiana
Society's Greatest Health Resort
People coming here from all over the world to enjoy the health-restoring properties of Pluto Water have built it into an internationally famous institution.

Take PLUTO WATER and see a new world in 10 days

FRESHLY DUG PLANTS
DO YOU REALIZE that Westover's prices have been reduced from 25% to 50% below last year's prices? You can buy plants taken right out of our ground at practically the same prices, considering quality and size, as those charged for plants that you do not know where or under what conditions they were grown and which might have been out of the ground for some time. Any experienced gardener will testify that plants taken right out of the ground will give far better results than plants that have been out of the ground for some time. Before you invest in plants, why not drive out to the Westover Nursery Co. and inspect their large assortment of trees, shrubs, fruit trees and perennials which are now being offered at greatly reduced prices.
This mark is your protection of receiving acclimated plants.
Our nurseries are inspected at regular intervals by the Missouri State Board of Agriculture.

STRAIGHTENING A TANGLED ROMANCE . . by ALBERT DORNE

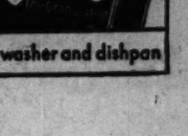

Don't let "B.O." (Body Odor) wreck your fondest hopes

ROMANCE—business or social success—may be seriously endangered by this unforgivable fault..."B.O." (body odor). Don't take chances. Lifebuoy's rich, creamy lather purifies and deodorizes pores—ends all "B.O." danger. Helps safeguard health by removing germs from hands. Its pleasant, extra-clean scent, that vanishes as you rinse, tells you you're cleaner, safer!

Clear, radiant skin

No need for costly "special" shampoos or "complexion" soaps! Use Lifebuoy. Its purifying lather keeps the skin fresh and radiant—helps keep scalp healthy and cleaner. Adopt Lifebuoy today.

NOW FACES WASHDAY WITH A SMILE — by C.A. Voight

Speed up all cleaning with these lively suds!

WHAT a blessing Rinso's thick, creamy suds are to the busy housewife! In her washing machine they do a quick, thorough job of loosening dirt—safely. No wonder the makers of 40 famous washers recommend these richer suds!

In her tub (if she has no washer) Rinso soaks out dirt—saves scrubbing and boiling—gets clothes whiter than ever. Cup for cup, Rinso gives twice as much suds as lightweight, puffed-up soaps—even in hardest water. Great for dishes and all cleaning. Get the BIG package.

Washington Tree Planting Friday

THE Eighth District of the Missouri Federation of Women's Clubs will sponsor a George Washington bicentennial tree planting Friday afternoon in Forest Park. Representatives of more than 30 federated clubs will meet in Art Museum gallery 16, at 2 o'clock. Mrs. Frank J. Keiser, president of the Eighth District, will preside and will introduce Dr. A. S. Baillie who will give the invocation. The Bel Canto Choral Club will sing several numbers. Dr Arnold H. Lowe will give an address.

The trees will be planted on Federation drive, Art Hill. The president of each club sponsoring a tree will turn the first spadeful of earth. All trees will have permanent markers. The Eighth District will plant two trees, one for the district the other in honor of Mrs. Philip North Moore. The newly planted trees will be accepted for the city by Park Commissioner. Fred W. Pape.

Clubs and their presidents sponsoring trees are: Alpha Delphian Chapter, Mrs. E. H. Sager; Amacitia Club, Mrs. W. W. Bradley; Bay View Reading Club, Mrs. Ernest Evans; Book Club, Miss Nellie A. FUNERAL SERVICES HELD FOR JOHN H. DOUGLASS

Attorney Died of Tuberculosis Friday—Draft Board Chairman During War.

Funeral services for John H. Douglass, an attorney and wartime chairman of the local draft board, were held yesterday at the residence, 16 Vandeventer place.

Mr. Douglass, who was 59 years old, died at St. Anthony Hospital Friday of tuberculosis which arose following a gunshot wound suffered accidentally on a hunting trip 18 years ago. He was a graduate of Yale University and Washington University Law School.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Bessee Finney Douglass; a son, John H. Douglass Jr.; a daughter, Miss Elizabeth Finney Douglass; a brother, Archibald Douglass of Los Angeles, and a sister, Mrs. Richard T. Shelton.

SCHOOL 'PLAY DAY' EXERCISES

Program Will Be Given at Stadium May 20.

Pupils of 75 public elementary schools will participate in "Play Day" exercises May 20 at the Public Schools Stadium. The program was arranged by A. E. Kindervater, supervisor of physical training, to demonstrate the type of physical education provided in the schools throughout the year.

Songs, folk dances and games, in which pupils from the second grade up are trained, will be presented by students of each grade. Strenuous competitions are avoided, and the play day exercises are regarded as a friendly test of strength, physical ability and play spirit.

ANNUAL RED CROSS MEETING

Convention to Open Tomorrow at Washington.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Delegates to the annual convention of the American Red Cross, which will convene in Washington Monday, will be guests of Mrs. Herbert Hoover Wednesday afternoon at a reception at the White House.

More than 1000 delegates are expected to attend from all over the nation.

The unusual activity of Red Cross chapters in drouth and unemployment relief, in wheat distribution, tornado relief in the Southeastern states and in behalf of war veterans, during the last 12 months, will be subjects considered by the convention. Several hundred boys and girls of high school and junior high school age will hold their own American Junior Red Cross convention sessions at the same time.

ACTIVITIES OF BOY SCOUTS

TENTH SCOUT CIRCUS TO OPEN ON FRIDAY

Incidents in Washington's Life to Be Depicted at the Arena.

The high point of the year for St. Louis Boy Scout troops will be reached next Friday evening, when the tenth annual Boy Scout Circus gets under way for a two-night performance at The Arena. More than 8000 scouts, 1500 cubs or junior scouts, 300 leaders, and several hundred of the newly-organized St. Louis Sea Scouts will take part.

The circus this year will have as its theme the life of George Washington. The theme will be developed in a series of pageants, arranged with the assistance of the St. Louis Washington Bicentennial Commission.

A prologue, five acts, and an entire act will make up the circus program. Act I, "Washington as a Youth," will include, besides the pageant, rope spinning, whip cracking, a dramatization of the Scout Laws, an act by Negro scouts, and scout games. More than 700 boys will take part in the games.

Act II, "Washington Feels the Call of the Sea," will mark the first public appearance of the St. Louis Sea Scouts, who will build two complete 45-foot land training ships on The Arena floor. They will also go through with the regular sea scout drill and inspection and tie knots of various kinds.

Act III, "Washington as a Pathfinder" will be accompanied by demonstrations of camping, signaling, first aid, use of the neckerchief, and types of fires. Fifteen kinds of camps will be built, and 28 types of fires, in addition to numerous demonstrations of building fire by friction and by flint and steel.

The entire act will revive two features of the circuses of years ago—"Out of the Ark" scene and a fancy drill on bicycles. In the "Ark" act will appear Noah and his animals, the latter represented by boys. Act IV will be given over to model aircraft demonstrations. "Washington as a Pioneer," Washington will appear to barter with the Indians at the close of a ceremonial dance by the savages. Sixty totem poles from five to 10 feet in height, built by scout troops, will be shown in this act.

Final rehearsals are in progress this week. All circus officials will hold a final meeting Wednesday noon.

NATURE STUDY COURSE FOR LEADERS OF SCOUT TROOPS

First Class to Be Held Wednesday—More Members Are Needed.

A training course in nature study will be started by the St. Louis Boy Scout Council at Michael School next Wednesday evening, for leaders of council troops and troop committeemen. The minimum number of members required to conduct a class has not as yet registered for the course, however, so it may be discontinued after the first meeting if a sufficient number of new members is not enrolled that night.

If the class is continued, the members will vote whether to cover all nature subjects generally, or whether to concentrate on one phase. Reservations for this course are still being received at local scout headquarters, 505 Chemical Building.

A training hike scheduled for this week-end as the concluding meeting of the spring elementary scout leadership training course has been postponed until the week-end of April 23 and 24. All members of this class wishing to qualify for a training certificate must attend either this hike or the Scoutmasters' Camp at Irondale over Decoration day. Members of previous elementary courses who did not attend their corresponding hike may make reservations for this, to qualify for their certificates.

The fourth meeting of the training course in Sea Scout leadership will be held Tuesday evening. F. C. McClure will take up the sewing of canvas, and the class members will start making their seabags. Fred Goldtrap, a member of the Sea Scout Committee, will discuss the sea scout uniform and insignia, while Griswold will talk on anchors and their uses.

Troop Notes

West District.

New patrols were formed and officers elected by Troop 70, Adass B'Nai Ysrael, last week. The new patrols, with their leaders and assistants are: Flaming Arrow, Gilbert Jaffe, patrol leader, Herman Beitch, assistant; Snake, Nathan Kanter, patrol leader, Melvin Kogan, assistant; Lone Wolf, Jack Simbert, patrol leader, Lucien Horwit, assistant. Scout Marvin Yawitz was elected Senior Patrol Leader, and Scout Morris Beitch scribe.

Scout Robert Ridley won a Star Scout badge at a troop court of honor held by Troop 93, Church of the Redeemer, March 28. He also received a merit badge. Scout Edward Hill received five merit badges, Scout John Kneist five, Scout Jack Tower four, Scout Hardy Moore three, Scout Robert Hill three, Scout Joel Parrot two, and Scouts Francis Walls, Fred Radley, and Jack Ferguson one each.

Scouts Joe Murphy and Jack Pickerel were elected junior assistant scoutmasters of Troop 135, University Methodist Church, at the meeting last week. Scouts Gaylord Lyon, Elliot Reed, Austin Mueller and Louis Budke were elected patrol leaders.

North District.

Field Commissioners of the North District will hold a dinner at Northwestern Hotel at 6:15 o'clock Tuesday evening to discuss final plans for the Scout Circus.

Ten scouts and one committeeman attended the meeting of Troop 3 of Grace Church last week. The meeting was opened by Scout John Colonna.

All but three scouts of Troop 55 of Cote Brilliante Presbyterian Church were present on an all-day hike last Sunday.

Scouts of Troop 106 of Second United Presbyterian Church gave a program at the House of Detention yesterday. The entire troop, including committeemen, worked all day a week ago yesterday repairing damage done to the troop camp by a fire. The scoutmaster and assistant scoutmaster attended the Central District annual banquet, with Miss Opal Stokes and Miss Ruth Stiger, leaders of Girl Scout Troop 14, as guests.

Troop 147 of Northwest Christian Church held a troop court of honor a week ago Tuesday evening. First-class badges were presented to Ira Ketcham, Virgil Wishmeyer and William Steele; second class to Richard Voos Jr. and Raymond Steele. Several musical numbers were played by the scouts and talks were given by Richard Voos Sr. W. G. Johnston, H. C. Noe and Raymond Voorhis.

The Pioneer patrol was presented with an award for winning an inter-patrol contest at a parents' night held by Troop 103 of Elmbank Church last week. The presentation was made by Field Executive Max Nusser. Each patrol gave a playlet and demonstrated some scout craft at the meeting, the Pioneers choosing beadwork, the Navajos camping and the Flying Eagles knots.

Mineral Area Council.

Thirteen scouts, Scoutmaster Holkamp, and Assistant Scoutmaster Miller were present at the regular meeting of Troop 43, Gray Summit, at the Scout Lodge on the Missouri Botanical Gardens grounds a week ago Friday night. Scout Ted Freise passed map-making, 14-mile hike and signaling tests to become a first class scout.

Central District.

Troop 62 of the Church of the Holy Communion, reregistered last week with Walter E. Kalinowski as scoutmaster.

A new scoutmaster, F. H. Hecker, has been commissioned in the Central District, as leader of Troop 91 of Compton Hill Congregational Church. Scoutmaster Hecker reregistered the troop last week, as his first official act. The Troop Committee consists of Committeemen Abernathy, Castleman and the Rev. S. H. Buell.

Twenty scouts of Troop 189 of Shaw Avenue Methodist Church went on a hike to Rotary Lodge at Eureka, Mo., last week-end. Tests in fire-building, cooking and tracking were passed, and a nature hike was made into the adjoining woods. Scouts Robert Martin, Carl Claypool, Kenneth Jost and Steve Finnew dramatized the scout oath as the opening ceremony of the Central District banquet at Hotel Saum last Tuesday evening. On Friday evening the troop conducted an investiture ceremony for a new troop recently organized at Adams School, seven boys being received by Scoutmaster Fawcett.

Belleville Area.

Troop Committeeman Blair gave a talk on merit badges at the meeting of Belleville 2, Bunsen School, March 28, and urged the scouts to begin working for badges. Scoutmaster Gramlich discussed plans for the troop's re-registration.

Scout John Raab succeeded in kindling fire by flint and steel in nine seconds during a practice of this activity at the last meeting of Belleville 6, Humboldt School. Assistant Scoutmaster Leroy Schaufler gave a talk on archery, a subject in which the troop is displaying rapid progress, and also exhibited some arrows. The troop sang songs, and was entertained by "The Harmonizing Trio" of Scouts Fred Stock, George Schildroth and John Raab.

A soccer game was played at the meeting of Belleville 7 at Washington School March 31.

Belleville 8, Bunsen School, is planning to reorganize into four patrols, instead of the two in existence. A birdhouse contest is being conducted by the troop.

An evening hike to Skeleton Hill was held by Belleville 9, Union School.

Practice for the Belleville Field Meet was held by Belleville 10, Henry Raab School, in place of the regular meeting a week ago Thursday.

Signaling was practiced for the Belleville Field Meet by the scouts of Belleville 12, St. Paul's Hall, at the troop meeting March 31. Several tests were passed and games were played. Assistant Scoutmaster Harry Stolberg was in charge of the meeting.

Troop Reporter Wilson Baltz was elected scout secretary of Troop 31, Millstadt, at the troop meeting held at First National Bank, Millstadt, March 30. The troop received its new charter. Scoutmaster G. F. Baltz spoke on "Life's Virtues."

Troop 34, Mascoutah, held its last meeting at the new troop camp, which has been named "Indian Mound Camp" from the Indian graves and relics which have been found in the vicinity.

EXPLOSION IN ELECTRIC CONDUIT

An explosion in an electric conduit at Eighth and Market streets at 12:20 a. m. yesterday blew a manhole cover into the air, and shattered 23 windows in surrounding buildings.

Engineers of the Union Electric Light and Power Co. are investigating to determine the cause of the blast. Explosions occur occasionally in conduits in the city, due to an accumulation of gas, which is ignited when a cable begins to burn due to crossed wires.

JUDGES FAIL TO ACT ON PAY CUT PROPOSAL

Agree to 10 Pct. Reduction for Jury Canvass—Name Economy Committee.

Circuit Judges in general session yesterday, took no action on the request of the city that they accept a voluntary 5 per cent reduction in salary.

After a discussion in executive session, the Judges appointed a committee to determine if any economies could be made in the expenses of the courts and agreed to a reduction of 10 per cent, or about $2450, in the annual appropriation for the jury canvass.

In the effort to make the budget for the new fiscal year fit the income anticipated, city officials are trying to reduce it to about $14,200,000, or about $2,250,000 below that of last year. As part of this endeavor a 5 per cent reduction in the salaries of all city officials and employes has been proposed. For most of the employes this can be done by ordinance. The election officials are being asked to take the same reduction voluntarily.

Circuit Judges here receive $8000 a year, of which $6000 comes from the city and $2000 from the State. The amount for each consists of $5500 paid as a Judge and $2500 paid as a member of the Board of Jury Supervisors. There is a feeling among the Judges that their pay should not be reduced, on the ground that it is established by State law. There are 18 Circuit Judges here.

The Judges, sitting as the board of supervisors, approved the decrease in the jury canvass appropriation. A result of this may be the dismissal of some of the canvassers, who prepare lists of eligible jurors. The suggestion was made that the canvass might even be dispensed with this year.

The committee to investigate the various activities directed by the courts, such as those of the Circuit Clerk's office, consists of Judge Hamilton, chairman, and Judges Hogan, Ryan, Killoren and Calhoun.

Judge Rutledge, whose proposal for a centralized system of assigning jurors was rejected by his colleagues some time ago, renewed the suggestion yesterday. He declared it would save money for the city by reducing the number of jurors summoned. The session took no action on this proposal. This plan is to summon all civil jurors before one Judge, who would assign them to the various divisions as needed.

Circuit Clerk Schmoll told the session that thousands of dollars might be saved by reforming the rule on security for court costs, particularly in the numerous receivership and injunction actions that are disposed of quickly. There is a court rule authorizing the clerk to file a motion for security of costs on the first day of the term for which an action has been filed. However, many proceedings are disposed of during the current term and the litigants escape taxation for costs. Clerical work and process serving represent the bulk of the costs not reimbursed. Receipts of such costs go as fees to the Circuit Clerk and Sheriff, but the excess of fees over the authorized salaries of those officials accrues to the city treasury.

Sheriff Strodtman has said he would accept a 5 per cent cut in pay if his deputies, who are paid by the city, are required to accept it also. Clerk Schmoll has not committed himself. The Sheriff's salary is $10,000 a year and the Clerk's $7500.

WOMAN GETS 6 MONTHS FOR POSSESSION OF NARCOTICS

Mrs. Grace Noonan Attempted to Smuggle Drugs to Prisoner.

Mrs. Grace Noonan, 45 years old, was sentenced to six months in jail by Federal Judge Davis yesterday on her plea of guilty of illegal possession of narcotics.

Mrs. Noonan was arrested last Nov. 8, when she attempted to smuggle drugs in tobacco cans to "Mexican Jim" Ritchie, who was serving a term in jail at Warrenton, Mo., for a narcotic violation.

A similar charge against Miss Alma Roach, companion of Mrs. Noonan, was dismissed.

Ritchie was also charged in the case, and was fined $1 yesterday. Mrs. Noonan will serve her sentence at Warrenton.

HUMANE SOCIETY TO OBSERVE 'BE KIND TO ANIMALS WEEK'

Churches, Schools and Various Organizations Asked to Take Part.

The Humane Society of Missouri is preparing to observe "Be Kind to Animals Week," which begins next Sunday. Gerald B. O'Reilly, president of the society, has asked the co-operation of churches, schools and organizations in soliciting kindly consideration of animals throughout the year.

Pastors of several churches have consented to devote a portion of their sermons to the subject, and broadcasting stations have agreed to call attention to the observance.

Humane Societies nationally will honor the memory of Minnie Maddern Fiske Monday, April 18. Mrs. Fiske, a star of the theater, was active in behalf of unfortunate children and dumb animals.

SUMMARY OF WEEK IN CRIMINAL COURTS

Two Robbers Convicted and Sent to Prison—One Man Acquitted of Holdup.

Two of three cases tried in the criminal divisions of Circuit Court last week resulted in convictions.

Charles Wilson, 36-year-old ex-convict, charged with attempted robbery, received a 12-year penitentiary term as a participant in the attempted holdup of the drug store of Charles H. Zimmerman, 1464 Chambers street, on Oct. 6, last. Zimmerman shot and killed Charles C. McCabe, who had given the command. Then, turning his revolver upon Wilson, who had entered the store with McCabe, Zimmerman held him for the police.

A jury also convicted Chester Ford of Zeigler, Ill., of carrying a concealed weapon. He was fined $100 and costs.

A jury acquitted John E. Murphy, 2811 Madison street, of a charge of robbery growing out of the holdup of a beer flat at 3001A Park avenue, Oct. 31.

James Murphy, a brother of the defendant, was convicted of the offense in March, getting a 10-year sentence. A third man was acquitted recently.

Five other men received prison sentences on their pleas of guilty of robbery. Lionel D. McGill and Walter C. Stone Jr. were sentenced to five years for holding up Thos. J. Boland, lawyer, of the Forest Park Hotel.

Robert White, James Harris and Price C. Ervin, Negroes, got five years for the holdup of Herman Mack, druggist, 1939 Franklin avenue, Sept. 18. White's sentence was commuted to the Boonville Reformatory because he is a first offender.

Others who entered pleas of guilty and their punishments were: Roy Jackson, feloniously leaving the scene of an accident, one year; Henry Wilson, Bert Johnson and William Pierce, petit larceny, six months; Paul Pounds, driving motor vehicle when intoxicated, 90 days; George Hilf, attempt to obtain money by false pretense, $50 and costs; Welbie Hancock, larceny of motor vehicle, one year; Edward Wilson, petit larceny, 90 days; John Auston, bigamy, six months; Nathaniel Pulpers, larceny of motor vehicle, four months; Dewey Baker, making false affidavit, six months; Joe Cavasino, Charles Rau, Edward Bochert and William A. Kohlschrieber, permitting gambling device on premises, $250 and costs, stay of execution for 60 days; and Paul Grimes, common assault, six months.

4 Saved, 25 Missing, in Shipwreck.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, April 9.—Four men off the French steamer Rouzic, wrecked in the Bay of Biscay, were picked up today by the British steamer Deerpool, Lloyd's was informed today. Eight boats with 25 men were missing. The Deerpool radioed that the Rouzic, bound from St. Malo to St. Pierre, foundered in a storm.

SHAARE EMETH FILES CLAIM AGAINST NATHAN FRANK ESTATE

Congregation Named for $50,000 Bequest Wishes to Protect Self, Lawyer Says.

The seventh claim against the Nathan Frank estate was filed yesterday in Probate Court. It is a $50,000 claim brought by Congregation Shaare Emeth simply to protect itself, explained Attorney B. Frey, in case another should succeed in breaking the will.

The former Congressman, according to the petition, promised to give the congregation $50,000 for a Nathan Frank memorial chapel in the new Temple at Delmar boulevard and Trinity avenue, which will as probated included the bequest.

REINHOLDT STOCK FIRM RETURNS TO FORMER QUARTERS

Brokerage House Which Took Over O. J. Anderson & Co., Acquires Lease in the Security Building.

FAVORABLE SIGN FOR THIS DISTRICT

Federal Intermediate Credit Bank Has Considered Taking Offices at Broadway and Pine.

By Berry Moore

Reinhold & Gardner, New York Stock Exchange house removed yesterday to its former quarters on the ground floor of the Security Building at the southwest corner of Fourth and Locust streets. Negotiations were concluded early last week for the lease, originally held by the concern, and expiring in August, 1934, but having a five-year renewal clause. The concern also has taken a lease of a suite on the fifth floor of the Security Building for the investment department.

Reinhoidt & Gardner acquired the Stock Exchange business of O. J. Anderson & Co. following the death of Oliver J. Anderson and removed to the latter's quarters at 718 Locust street. O. J. Anderson & Co. assumed the lease of the quarters in the Security Building, which it has reassigned to Reinhoidt & Gardner.

The concern, composed of Julius Reinhoidt Jr., Fred W. Gardner and Russell W. Gardner Jr., will be open for business in the Security Building tomorrow morning. It is a member of the New York, Chicago and St. Louis Stock Exchanges and the New York Curb Exchange (associate).

Letter to Customers.

In a letter to customers, Reinhoidt & Gardner say:

"We left our former quarters on the ground floor of the Security Building, 400 Locust street, with considerable reluctance because of its location and facilities. The move necessitated by our acquisition of the Stock Exchange business of O. J. Anderson & Co., which transaction obligated us to move into and take over their former quarters.

"Shortly after moving, the Franklin-American Trust Co. merged with the First National Bank, resulting in a change of ownership of our present quarters from the former to the latter, and unavoidable complications arose in regard to the long-term lease that O. J. Anderson & Co. were to deliver to us as a part of our taking over their business. In order for the new owner of the property, the First National Bank, to handle it to advantage, it may necessitate extensive remodeling. After three months of intensive effort on the part of the bank and ourselves, and O. J. Anderson & Co., to straighten the matter out, it has been jointly agreed that the best interest of all would be served by our moving back to our former quarters, which, in many respects, we consider (having occupied both places) more desirable."

The return to this section of one of the leading financial concerns is regarded as auguring well for this part of the city, which has been affected adversely by the westward movement, which apparently has a pent itself, as a result of the depression.

Other Negotiations.

The Federal Intermediate Credit Bank was negotiating several weeks ago with the Mercantile-Commerce Bank & Trust Co. for the entire ground floor and basement of the Federal-Commerce Trust Building, at the northeast corner of Broadway and Pine, for new quarters. Negotiations now, however, are said to be in abeyance, pending improved business conditions. It was stated that after inspection of various buildings regarded as available for the Intermediate Credit Bank the Broadway and Pine street quarters were regarded as the best. The Intermediate Credit Bank now has quarters at 315 Pine street.

$150,000 Deal Made.

A three-way deal involving $150,000 has been announced by the Franciscus Realty Co. A six-family apartment building at 6314 Northmoor avenue, in DeMun Park, was acquired by Miss Adeline Haines, and a two-family duplex at 5106 Washington avenue by Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Nelson, client of the Holly Hills Realty Co. An undisclosed client of the Franciscus Realty Co. also acquired a residence at 7722 Country Club court, Clayton district. The house was constructed by the Remmert Construction Co., which developed this section.

The return to this section of one of the leading financial concerns is regarded as auguring well for this part of the city, which has been affected adversely by the westward movement, which apparently has spent itself, as a result of the depression.

Other Negotiations.

The Federal Intermediate Credit Bank was negotiating several weeks ago with the Mercantile-Commerce Bank & Trust Co. for the entire ground floor and basement of the Federal-Commerce Trust Building, at the northeast corner of Broadway and Pine, for new quarters. Negotiations now, however, are said to be in abeyance, pending improved business conditions. It was stated that after inspection of various buildings regarded as available for the Intermediate Credit Bank the Broadway and Pine street quarters were regarded as the best. The Intermediate Credit Bank now has quarters at 315 Pine street.

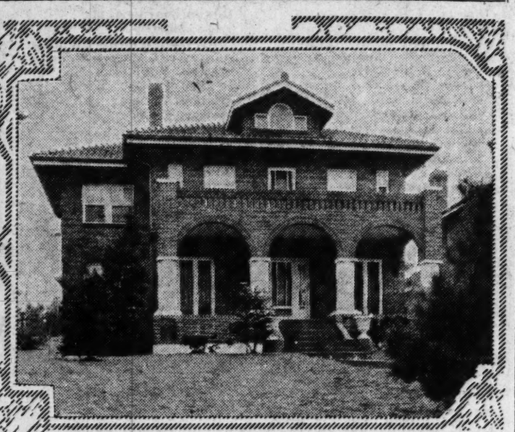

$150,000 Deal Made.

A three-way deal involving $150,000 has been announced by the Franciscus Realty Co. A six-family apartment building at 6314 Northmoor avenue, in DeMun Park, was acquired by Miss Adeline Haines, and a two-family duplex at 5106 Washington avenue by Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Nelson, client of the Holly Hills Realty Co. An undisclosed client of the Franciscus Realty Co. also acquired a residence at 7732 Country Club court, Clayton district. The house was constructed by the Remmert Construction Co., which developed this section.

REPORT ON INSURANCE REAL ESTATE LOANS

Prudential Announces $27,244,111 for First Three Months of 1932.

Franciscus Realty Co., loan correspondent for the Prudential Insurance Co. of America, has received the following information from the home office:

Disbursement of $27,244,111.55 in mortgage loans is reported during the first three months of 1932. There were 4855 individual loans and of these 3146 were on dwellings and 150 on apartment houses. Living accommodations for 4626 families were thus provided. The loans on dwellings totaled $16,421,537.57 and accommodated 3525 families, while those on apartments involved $2,513,000 and accommodated 1101 families. The rest of the loans were secured by mercantile property, public institutions and farms.

While the amount of mortgage loans disbursed by the Prudential for the first quarter of 1932 was a decrease in comparison with the amount disbursed during the corresponding period last year, the discrepancy was caused by the trend of economic conditions.

TERMS REACHED FOR LEASING FLOOR OF CUPPLES BUILDING

Mace Brokerage Co. Takes Long Hold on Third Level—Represents Nationally Known Food Manufacturers.

The Mace Brokerage Co., of which Hugh H. Mace is president, concluded negotiations yesterday for a long lease of the entire third floor of the Cupples Office Building, through Isaac A. Hedges, agent for the Cupples Station property.

The Mace Brokerage Co. represents such nationally known food manufacturers as the Chas. B. Knox Gelatine Co., Welsh Grape Co., Staley Sales Corporation, Comet Rice Co. and others. Part of this floor is taken in conjunction with the Mace Brokerage Co. by the La Cross Refining Co., represented by Al. Wallenbrock. This is one of the largest manufacturers of malt products in the United States. Storage and distribution of the entire products of both of these concerns will be made from warehouses in Cupples Station.

The Corley-Gunn Printing Co. has taken a long lease of one-half of the fifth floor of the Willys-Overland Building at the southwest corner of Twenty-third and Locust streets, through the Isaac T. Cook Co. The concern now has quarters in the building at 2206-08 Pine street. The concern, organized in 1929, with Frank W. Corley president and general manager, Martin H. Baumgartner, vice president, and Peter R. Gunn, secretary and treasurer, specializes in printing of railroad tariffs. It will take possession as soon as alterations are completed.

In Paul Brown Building.

The Universal Business Service has acquired a lease of the entire wing on the fourth floor of the Paul Brown Building, Ninth and Olive streets. The Universal Business Service was established three years ago with the idea of providing office service with various types of office arrangements, including furnished and unfurnished private offices and desk space with telephones, secretarial and other complete office service for national organizations or local business men who do not require their own privately maintained offices. It is under the management of Evelyn J. Gardner.

A long-term lease has been acquired by Donnelly Automobile Co. of the premises at 2217 and 2219 Locust street, consisting of a two-story modern fireproof building held as part of the Missouri Botanical Garden trust. The concern, now at 2201 Pine, will take possession of its new location May 1. The company specializes in painting, upholstering and reconstruction of automobiles. Herbert Buchman and W. Dewey Buchman, brothers, proprietors of the firm, have been associated with it for more than 10 years. Andrean Leasing Co. represented the lessee and I. T. Cook & Co. acted for the lessor.

National Tank & Equipment Co., located at 2741 Washington boulevard, has leased a store at 2638 Olive street, which will be occupied with the completion of alterations. The lessor was Maxine Realty Co., represented by Frank Yawitz Real Estate Co. Another lease made by Yawitz was that of a store at 2324 Olive to the Zanol Products Co., Cincinnati, O.

TWO BOYS PLAYING IN YARD DROWNED

Granite City Lads Fall Into Open Cesspool—Bodies Recovered.

Two small boys were drowned yesterday when they fell into an open cesspool at the home of Fred McDonald, 3022 Myrtle avenue, Granite City. They were McDonald's son, Harold, 3 years old, and George, 4-year-old son of Clarence Berry, 3030 Myrtle avenue.

Playing in the yard with several other children of the same age, no one saw them fall, but one of the group noticed a hat floating on the surface of the pool and told her father.

The bodies were recovered with clothes poles to which hooks were attached. Inhalators were used, and hope for the life of the McDonald boy was not abandoned for more than an hour.

Knocked Unconscious by Intruder.

Ivan Skobel, proprietor of a bathhouse at 3945 Olive street, was knocked unconscious Friday night by a man who entered the bathhouse and demanded $2. Skobel, who is 70 years old, refused the request. He was treated at City Hospital for head injuries. The assailant fled.

DRY VIOLATOR GETS TWO YEARS; PAROLED

Illness of Meramec Boathouse Proprietor Causes Leniency of the Court.

Robert P. Mueller, proprietor of a boathouse and barbecue stand on the Meramec River, near Fenton, was sentenced to two years in prison by Federal Judge Faris yesterday on a plea of guilty as a third offender in the illegal sale of liquor.

Mueller, who is 52 years old, is suffering from tuberculosis of the bones. Because of his physical condition he was paroled by the Court for three years with the warning that any violation of the parole will result in his immediate transfer to prison.

Other violators sentenced by Judge Faris after pleas of guilty were:

Hugh C. Crouch, proprietor of a saloon at 6088 Maple avenue, three months in jail.

James G. Monro, bartender for Crouch, two months.

Tony Parrisi, bartender in a saloon at 313 Carr street, three months.

Albert Howard, Holstein, Mo., $350.

Arthur J. Maybach, Fourth and Lombard streets, 80 days in jail.

JACOB J. BUSCH FUNERAL HELD; CIVIL WAR VETERAN

Funeral services for Jacob J. Busch, 90-year-old Civil War veteran, were held yesterday from the residence of a daughter, Mrs. Carrie Beiert, in Webster Groves. Burial was in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Mr. Busch died Wednesday of the infirmities of age. As a young man he chopped wood for U. S. Grant, afterwards President, hauling the wood to town by ox team. He served with the Union Army and was a member of the guard at Lincoln's funeral. Another daughter, Mrs. Josephine Zuroweste, and three sons, George, Philip and John Busch, also survive.

NEW REFRIGERATOR PLANT OPENED

Superior Company Leases Property at Main and Sidney Streets.

One of the most recent additions to the industrial district of South St. Louis is the Superior Refrigerator Co., Inc., which has taken a long lease on a group of connecting buildings at Main and Sidney. The property has a frontage of 240 feet on Sidney street and 150 feet on Main street. A switch with a five-car capacity parallels the covered shipping and receiving platform fronting on the Main street side, connecting with the Missouri Pacific Railroad. The plant includes a dry kiln with a capacity of 200,000 feet per month.

St. Louis was selected because of its central location and ample transportation facilities.

The Superior Refrigeration Co., Inc., are designers of complete line of refrigerators for markets, grocers, florists, hotels and institutional requirements.

The company just made several complete installations of counter display refrigerators and market coolers in St. Louis.

Gustav J. Gruendler has charge of production assisted by Louis J. Gruendler. Gustav J. Gruendler Jr., is in charge of sales and Herman Gruendler is chief engineer. Jack Barth, L. Pfleger and Phil Sommerfeldt, long identified with modern refrigerator equipment, are also associated with the company as refrigerator sales engineers. The company at present has a force of 25 employes.

A. F. Versen, managing director of the Business Men's Association of South St. Louis, reports that inquiries for other available locations are being made and the conclusion of one deal involving transfer of a tract on the Oak Hill branch of the Missouri Pacific is imminent.

REALTY MEN TAKE PART IN CLEAN-UP CAMPAIGN

Owners Urged to Improve Appearance of Property on Washington, Locust and Olive From 12th to Grand.

Recommendations for reconditioning and improving the appearance of all property on Washington, Locust and Olive streets, between Twelfth boulevard and Grand avenue, have been drafted by the Clean-up and Better Appearance Committee of the Real Estate Exchange as part of the city-wide clean-up, paint-up, plant-up, fix-up campaign to be conducted April 18 to 30 by the Chamber of Commerce and the Board of Education.

The committee, of which Arthur C. Hoehn, vice president of The Henry R. Weisels Company, is chairman, has made a thorough canvass of all property along the three streets and its recommendations were based on the studies made by the members of the committee during the course of the survey. Letters calling attention to the clean-up movement and outlining the committee's recommendations as to how the property can be improved are being sent by the Exchange to the agents of the property, together with a suggestion that they write their clients urging them to place the recommendations into effect.

Similar studies, Hoehn stated, are being made in other parts of the city by members of the committee, who subsequently plan to revisit the various properties to ascertain if the recommendations have been adopted.

"We believe that the owners of property stand to gain more from the clean-up movement than perhaps any other one group," Hoehn stated. "Not only will the appearance of the property be greatly enhanced, but its valuation will be greatly increased. For this reason we are doing everything possible to encourage both real estate men and owners of property to participate in this worth-while civic effort by improving the appearance of their property."

HOME INSPECTION SERVICE BY GRUNER LUMBER FIRM

A home inspection service is being offered by the Philip Gruner & Bros. Lumber Co., 4006 North Broadway. The Gruner plan sets forth that regular inspections, about six months apart, will show small defects in the house before they become serious.

The plan not only will create jobs for carpenters now out of work, but will furnish them at a labor price far below the level of a few years ago. Materials, too, are at rock bottom prices. Repair and remodeling can be done cheaper than in many years, the company points out.

CARDS OF THANKS

We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks to all who so kindly assisted, and for the words of sympathy and beautiful floral offerings extended at the death of our beloved mother, Mrs. Cecelia Obermueller.
HER CHILDREN. (c)

IN MEMORIAM

BREDENKOETTER—In loving memory of Annie Bredenkoetter, who died April 12, 1929.
We often sit and think of her,
When we are all alone,
For memory is the only friend
That grief can call its own;
Like ivy on the withered oak,
When all other things decay,
Our love for her will still keep
Green and never fade away.
HUSBAND AND CHILDREN.

BURNS—In memory of Annabelle Burns, who passed away April 13, 1931:
God knows how much we miss her,
Never shall her memory fade;
Loving thoughts shall ever wander
To the spot where she is laid.
Sadly missed by husband and children.
WM. E. BURNS AND FAMILY.

DALTON—In fond memory of my dear daughter, Anna Teresa Dalton, who departed this life one year ago April 15, 1931:
There is someone who misses you sadly,
And finds the time long since you went.
There is someone whose heart is breaking for you,
But tries to be brave and content.
MOTHER, SISTER AND BROTHERS.

HUELSBUSCH—In memory of Edward P. Huelsbusch, who departed this life April 7, 1927:
His memory is as dear today
As in the hour he passed away.
Sadly missed by wife and all who loved him. (c)

HUMPHREY—Dedicated to the memory of our beloved mother, Mrs. Anna Humphrey, who departed this life one year ago, April 3, 1931
When a mother breathes her last farewell,
The stroke means more than tongue can tell.
The world seems quite another place,
Without the smile of mother's face.
What is home without a mother?
All things this world may send.
But when we lost our darling mother,
We lost our dearest friend.
Loving and kind in all her ways,
Upright and just to the end of her days,
Sincere and true in her heart and mind,
Beautiful memories mother left behind.
FRANK AND FRED HUMPHREY AND ALL WHO LOVED HER. (c)

JACKSON—In memoriam of Catherine Jackson, who died April 13, 1931:
Sunshine passes, shadows fall,
Love's remembrance outlasts all;
And though the years be many or few,
They are filled with remembrances of you.
FATHER AND SONS.

McKNIGHT—In memory of Joseph M. McKnight, died April 9, 1931:
In fondest memory from those who loved him. (c)

LEIGHTON—In loving memory of my beloved husband and our dear father, Charles B. Leighton, who departed this life April 8, 1920.
Gone but not forgotten.
Sadly missed by
WIFE, CHILDREN, and all who loved him.

McLAUGHLIN—Marceline.
Time speeds on; one year has passed
Since death its gloom, its shadow cast,
Within our home, where all seemed bright,
And took from us a shining light.
We miss that light and ever will;
Her vacant place there is none to fill;
Down here we mourn, but not in vain,
For up in heaven we will meet again.
Sadly missed by
MOTHER, SISTER AND BROTHER. (c)

MOORE—In memory of our beloved son and brother, Ralph A. Moore, who passed away suddenly five years ago, April 9, 1927. Sadly missed by MOTHER, DAD AND BROTHER. (c)

MUGELE—In loving memory of Fred M. Mugele, who passed away April 11, 1931:
Surrounded by friends, I am lonesome,
In the midst of my joys I am blue;
With a smile on my face I've a heartache,
Longing, dear husband, for you.
Sadly missed by
WIFE AND DAUGHTER.

NEUMANN—In loving memory of Alvina Neumann, who departed this life April 8, 1931:
Peacefully sleeping resting at last,
The world's weary trouble and trials are past.
In silence she suffered, in patience she bore,
Till God called her home to suffer no more.
Sadly missed by
SISTERS, HUSBAND AND CHILDREN.

SEITZ—In loving memory of my darling wife, Fannie Seitz, who departed this life April 11, 1931.
What would we give her hand to clasp,
Her patient face to see,
To hear her voice, to see her smile
As in the days that used to be.
But some sweet day we'll meet again,
Beyond the toil and strife,
And clasp each other's hand once more
In heaven, that happy life.
OFFICER CHARLES SEITZ. (c)

THOMAS—In loving memory of Anna Thomas, who departed this life one year ago on April 8, 1931.
A faithful mother, so kind and true,
You are not forgotten in our mind,
And for us you did your best.
God grant you eternal rest.
Sadly missed by HUSBAND, SONS, DAUGHTER, DAUGHTER-IN-LAW, and all who loved her.

TIMMERBERG—
Sunshine passes, shadows fall;
Love remembered outlasts all.
And though the years be many or few
They are filled with remembrance, dear, of you.
HUSBAND.

VEINFURT-ROSTRON—In loving memory of my dear wife and mother, Ethel Grace Veinfurt, who departed this life April 13, 1931, and mother of Georgene Lillian Veinfurt, who died April 5, 1931:
She said good-by to no one;
Sad and sorrowful was the call.
Our dear wife and mother loved by all.
The shock was great, the pain severe,
She did not know that death was near;
Her loving heart had ceased to beat,
And before we knew she was gone.
Sadly missed by
HUSBAND, DAUGHTER AND RELATIVES

WALKER—In memory of Capt. R. Guy Walker, who died April 14, 1931.
FRIEND, EMILY FAHRENHOLZ.

WARNER—In loving memory of our dear brother, John J. Warner, who departed April 11, 1931.
We are sad within our memory, lonely are our hearts today,
For the one we loved so dearly has forever been called away.
No eye may see us weep, but many silent tears are shed
When others are asleep.
Sadly missed by
SISTERS AND BROTHERS. (c)

WASER—In loving remembrance of my dear husband, John Waser Sr., who departed this life one year ago, April 11, 1931:
Sunshines pass, shadows fall,
But love and remembrance outlast all.
Sadly missed by wife and children.
MRS. THERESA WASER.

WHAT IS YOUR FUTURE? ARE YOU GETTING AHEAD? ARE YOU ON THE ROAD TO INDEPENDENCE IN YOUR TRADE OR PROFESSION? CAN YOU EXPECT TO MAKE FROM $40 TO $100 A WEEK IN 1932? IF NOT, INVESTIGATE THIS OFFER OF FREE INSTRUCTION AND IMMEDIATE EMPLOYMENT. WE HAVE NOTHING TO SELL YOU.

We will take on additional men who wish to learn to do this work and who can get along with earnings of $35 to $40 week while studying and practicing. We will train such men free. We will furnish full equipment with no deposit required. There is no expense. No previous experience in any kind of selling is necessary. If you are capable of understanding and following instruction, if you are one who likes to practice to learn skill and judgment in what he does, and if you are willing to work for success, then we will give you a chance. We cannot guarantee that you will be a star, but we do guarantee you a trial with sincere earnings, practical instruction and guidance.

We have a wonderful invention that renders a very unusual service. Our men are thoroughly trained as to how to conduct our business. Those we believe, in a personal interview, can qualify will be given the opportunity of seeing our invention, meeting our men, investigating their earnings, our company and our entire business methods.

It is not unusual that men in this organization make $25 to $50 for one day's work.

This is a straightforward offer of sincere intent to worthy men who are in need of good, substantial positions. Please do not apply for these positions unless you feel you can meet the requirements, and the requirements are that you be of neat appearance, between the ages of 25 and 40 and of good character and reputation and willing to work.

Applicants will be personally interviewed Monday, 9 to 12, 1 to 4. Apply Branch General Office, 562 Paul Brown Bldg., 9th and Olive sts.

Yes Sir! We Are Good Losers!
No use kidding ourselves; we take our loss and forget, our business is loaning money, not selling, used cars; we are not trying to make a profit; we will even take less than the balance due; no one can beat a finance company for bargains because you get the other man's equity free; just take up delinquent notes and the car is yours.

RULE TO SPEED UP BASKETBALL PUT IN EFFECT

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 9.—A new "Center Line" rule to eliminate "stalling" was adopted at the meeting here today of the Joint Basketball Committee.
The committee, in a general effort to speed up the action of the game, also voted to curb the so-called "blocking pivot;" cleared up the definition of blocking in general by terming it anything in which "personal contact" occurs, and definitely ruled that "face guarding" is a foul.
The new "center line" rule, recommended unanimously by the National Basketball Coaches' Association, virtually legislates action into the game.
Under it, members of the committee said, games will be impossible in which the defensive team clusters under its basket while the opponents dawdle with the ball at the other end of the court.
J. F. Bohler of Portland, Ore., was named to the officials committee and F. A. Rowe of Cleveland and Dr. Walter E. Meanwell of the University of Wisconsin were appointed to the Questionnaire Committee.
The Joint Committee will meet again in New York next April 8, 9 and 10.

Note—Towee, quick to get going and displaying good speed in the footing, gained a safe lead when approaching the home stretch and held Portam safe. Late Date was unable to menace Towee in the late stages. Late Date was hard ridden the entire trip and was best of the others. Air Pilot lacked early speed and could never reach a forward position. Snoboul slow to get going, was kept on the inside and closed gamely. Mexico tired after a half mile. Proteus weakened. Jolly Pilot could not threaten the leaders unde stout urging. Phantom Legion had speed at spots.

By the Associated Press.

BOWIE, Md., April 9.—Towee, Mrs. Charles Minot Amory's three-year-old hope for the Kentucky Derby and Preakness next month, won his second consecutive race here today in taking the $5000 Rowe Memorial Handicap, six furlong dash.

The brown colt, son of Harpenden and Blue Grass Belle, took the lead at the start and was never headed, winning by three lengths from Portam, C. J. Eisenhardt's neglected entry, in 1:13 over the sloppy track and in a driving rain.

Late date, coupled in the betting with Jolly Pilot as the Audley Farm entry, took third money, although the entry had ruled the favorite in the betting. Air Pilot was pinched back at the start and could finish no better than fourth, with Jolly Pilot ending eighth in the 11-horse field.

Late Date followed Towee closely at the start, and forced the pace for most of the way, but tired at the close and Portam came on in the last sixteenth to finish fast and take the second money.

Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson presented the Rowe trophy to Towee's trainer, J. H. Stotler, which went along with the first money of $3480. The race and trophy were established in memory of the late James Rowe, one of the greatest of trainers, who died in 1929, and this year the name of his son, James Rowe Jr., who died last fall, was added.

Vice President Curtis was in the crowd of 15,000 which watched the races despite the driving rain.

Towee paid his backers $9.90 to win, $5.70 to place and $3.90 to show in the $2 mutuels. Portam returned $28.40 to place and $13.40 to show, while Late Date paid $3.40 for the show position.

RULE TO SPEED UP BASKETBALL PUT IN EFFECT

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 9.—A new "Center Line" rule to eliminate "stalling" was adopted at the meeting here today of the Joint Basketball Committee.

The committee, in a general effort to speed up the action of the game, also voted to curb the so-called "blocking pivot;" cleared up the definition of blocking in general by terming it anything in which "personal contact" occurs, and definitely ruled that "face guarding" is a foul.

The new "center line" rule, recommended unanimously by the National Basketball Coaches' Association, virtually legislates action into the game.

Under it, members of the committee said, games will be impossible in which the defensive team clusters under its basket while the opponents dawdle with the ball at the other end of the court.

J. F. Bohler of Portland, Ore., was named to the officials committee and F. A. Rowe of Cleveland and Dr. Walter E. Meanwell of the University of Wisconsin were appointed to the Questionnaire Committee.

The Joint Committee will meet again in New York next April 8, 9 and 10.

Carpentier is even more ridiculous in his comeback talk than Jess Willard. Carpentier fought his first fight in the year 1907. It requires only common sense to know that after 25 years, there would be no chance of a fighting comeback for Georges—or a financial one, through mere exhibitions.

Popular, Tho' Often Whipped.

GEORGES was no Dempsey, although he fought him 11 years ago. That was the climax of perhaps the strangest of all ring stories. During his career—which began at the age of 13—Carpentier fought and won the championship of France in every standard weight division, including heavyweight.

Also, so history shows, he was STOPPED at least once in every division, in which he had gained the crown. He suffered defeats, but he grew in pugilistic stature, owing to a fine right hand punch, a pleasing personality, spectacular management, aided at the peak by his fame as a war-flyer.

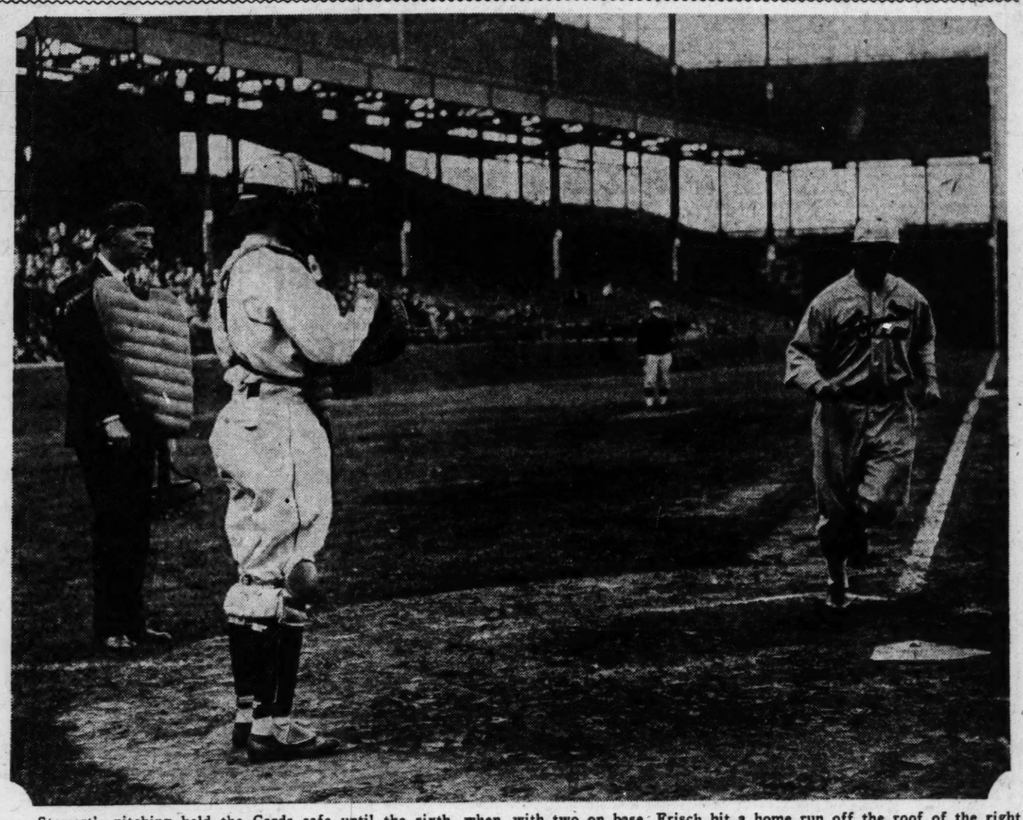

In his prime good Americans bowled over Georges in all classes—Dixie Kid, Papke, Klaus, Tunney, Battling Siki——

And now, a quarter of a century after he began fighting, Georges wants to grab off another fortune.

The world has treated Carpentier nicely. He earned one fortune and lost it when the war wiped out most of his property.

FITZSIMMONS HOLDS TIGERS; GIANTS WIN, 7-2

By the Associated Press.

DETROIT, April 9.—Bunching six of their eight hits in the sixth and seventh innings, the New York Giants defeated the Detroit Tigers, 7 to 2, today. The victory was the Giants' sixth triumph over the Tigers in eight exhibition games. Fred Fitzsimmons went the route for the Giants, scattering the Tigers' seven hits thinly over the nine innings.

Bill Terry sent the Giants into the lead in the sixth, when he hit a home run, scoring three runs.

Eastman Breaks World Record for 880-Yard Run; Timed by A.A.U. in 1:51.3

By the Associated Press.

PALO ALTO, Calif., April 9.—Four thousand fans cheered big Ben Eastman, Stanford's greatest track star, on to a new world's record in the 880-yard run, here today.

On the same track where two weeks ago he shattered the 16-year-old quarter-mile mark, Eastman doubled the distance and ran two perfectly timed laps to finish in 1:51.3. This is three-tenths of a second faster than the accepted record made in 1926 by Dr. Otto Peltzer of Germany.

Enormous strides carried him over the ground in almost effortless fashion. He held the pole position and was off to a perfect start. At 220 yards he was clocked in 24 seconds. The timers caught him at 53 3-10 seconds for the quarter. At 660 yards he was unofficially timed at 1:18.3. The American record at this distance is 1:20.4, made by Homer Baker.

Four timers, representatives of the Amateur Athletic Union, agreed on his record-breaking run today. The usual precautions were taken and a wind gauge on the field indicated a breeze of 2.7 miles per hour during the first quarter and one of 2.1 for the second quarter.

Nine started in the race out after the first 50 yards the bespectacled youth might just as well have been running alone. He drew away from the opposition steadily and broke the tape a full 40 yards ahead of the second place man.

Eastman's record shattering run was the result of a perfectly executed plan. In practice runs up to 660 yards he had been easing up too much on the third 220 yards. He watched his pace carefully today and as a result had some 33 seconds in which to run the last furlong.

Two weeks ago Eastman circled the old Stanford oval in 46.4 seconds to better by one full second the mark Ted Meredith set in 1916.

PHILS DEFEAT MACKS, 3-2, FOR FOUR OUT OF FIVE

PHILADELPHIA, April 9. — Pitcher Jimmy Deshong of the Athletics walked George Davis of the Phillies in the ninth inning with the bases loaded and the score tied, and gave the Phils the final game of the series today, 3 to 2.

The Athletics won only one game out of the series of five.

With two out in the Phils' half of the ninth, Al Todd singled and Deshong passed Pinch-hitters Taitt and Mallon. Deshong failed to get a single strike across to Davis and there was nothing for Todd to do but stroll home with the winning run.

REPORT M. U. WILL DROP HENRY AS FOOTBALL COACH

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

COLUMBIA, Mo., April 9. — Gwinn Henry, head football coach at University of Missouri since 1923, will be out before next September, it was learned tonight from unimpeachable sources.

An official announcement of Coach Henry's severance from the State university is expected early next week.

The decision that Coach Henry shall leave Missouri has not been made officially, it is understood, but the information tonight was that it was only a matter of a couple of days before it would be made.

Due to illness, Coach Henry was away from his team for the last few games of the 1931 season, a bad one for the Tigers, but has recovered from the attack of sciatica which put him on the shelf last November. He has been directing spring practice.

Reports indicated that the M. U. official decision to let Henry go was due in part to the understanding that the coach still was ill. Rumors went on to say that the university might suggest to Henry that he accept part pay and take a leave of absence.

Coach Henry's nine-year record at Missouri U. has been a good one with the 1931 season as the only principal black mark to mar it. In nine years he has been here Henry's elevens have played 75 games with but 26 losses. Against conference schools Henry-coached teams have lost but 15 times in 44 encounters. Against non-conference opponents, his record has been equally good, with but 10 losses in 32 starts.

Three times Coach Henry's teams have carried off conference titles—in 1924, 1925 and 1927. The schedules facing the Tiger coach since his arrival here in 1923 have been anything but easy. Aside from Missouri Valley and Big Six opponents, Missouri non-conference foes each year have included such high caliber elevens as Chicago, Southern California, Tulane, Southern Methodist, West Virginia, Northwestern and Texas.

Last season was a disastrous one for Coach Henry—the worst in his career. The Missourians succeeded in winning but two games in 10 starts and dropped six battles by more than a two-touchdown margin. Coach Henry, though, even his severest critics concede was a

FRISCH HITS HOME RUN WITH TWO ON; COLLINS ALSO MAKES FOUR-BAGGER; 8000 AT GAME

By J. Roy Stockton.

Frank Frisch, the National League's most valuable player last year and the spark plug of the great Cardinal baseball club, hit a home run yesterday afternoon that gave the World Champions a victory over the Browns of Bill Killefer in the first game of the annual abbreviated spring series. The teams were battling on even terms, without any score when Frisch hit his four-bagger with two men on base in the sixth inning, and the Redbirds held the lead through the rest of the game, winning 5 to 2.

Home runs gave Gabby Street's warriors four of their five tallies and it was this extra base attacks that enabled the National Leaguers to win, despite the fact that the Browns outbatted and outfielded them. James "Ripper" Collins, playing left field in the absence of the holdout, Chick Hafey, hit the other four-bagger of the day.

Mound Duel for Five Innings.

Until Frisch hit his homer, a drive that bounced off the roof of the right-field pavilion to Grand boulevard, the Browns showed a better attack and threatened several times. However, Flint Rhem, pitching confidently and with poise, despite several bad breaks, worked his way out of trouble each time. In one inning the Browns had men on second and third with nobody out, and in another the first batter reached third, but Rhem put on a little extra steam each time and Rhem left the game after five innings with the Browns still scoreless.

Cards Make Four Double Plays.

A smooth working double play combination also helped to make the day one of victory for the Cardinals, Gabby Street's infield turning four of the twin killings to squelch threatening Brownie rallies.

Tex Carleton, the brilliant right-handed recruit from Houston, shared the pitching duties with Rhem for the Cardinals, while Killefer used three hurlers—Stewart, Blaeholder and Cooney.

Two were out in the sixth inning when the Cardinals put on their big storm. Sparky Adams singled to center to start the attack, but nobody looked for trouble, as Stewart previously had held the Cardinals to one hit in five innings. However, Ray Blades slammed a singled to left and Frisch then poled his home run to right. Frisch was in fine batting form and it took two good catches to prevent him from having a perfect day at the plate. Goslin took a hit away from him in the first inning and Schulte raced back for his line drive in the fourth. In the eighth inning Frank singled to right for his second hit.

With Blaeholder pitching in the seventh Collins hit his homer, a drive that cleared the pavilion roof, to put the Cardinals four runs to the good.

First Earned Run Off Carleton.

One of the two runs off Carleton was earned and it was the first earned run off his delivery this spring. Oscar Melillo greeted him in the seventh with a single to right and after Bettencourt struck out, Levey dropped a single in front of Watkins. Jenkins, batting for Blaeholder, struck out, but Fred Schulte was hit by a pitched ball, filling the bases and when Burns beat out a tap in front of the plate, Melillo scored.

The Browns got their second run in the eighth. Kress led off with a long high fly to center and Martin, after making the catch, dropped the ball as he was about to throw it. Changing that rule about momentarily holding a ball has confused umpires. They think that if a ball player drops a ball the next afternoon he merely held it momentarily and that doesn't

Billiken Football Player Recovering From Injury After Blood Transfusion

Spirit in St. Louis University's spring football drills redoubled yesterday when it was learned from St. John's Hospital that the condition of Frank Imbor, first-year lineman from East Chicago, Ind., had improved. Manual (Fat) Rapp, husky Billiken backfielder, submitted to a blood transfusion Friday when Imbor's condition became grave.

An infection, resulting from a blistered heel, caused general blood poisoning last Wednesday. The freshman's condition became serious on Friday, and last sacraments were administered. When a blood transfusion was found necessary, practically the entire Billiken football squad offered to become donors.

According to Head Coach Charles (Chile) Walsh, who has been at Imbor's bedside several times a day, it was thought that a second transfusion would be necessary until Imbor's condition took a turn for the better, yesterday morning. Dr. John M. Dean, who is attending Imbor, said the player is slowly showing improvement.

"Washington" Wins, 6-0.

Another hardfought intersquad battle marked the close of the week's spring drills for the Billikens yesterday, the "Washington" eleven routing the "Illinois" team, 6 to 0, in a regulation game.

Whereas "Kansas" and "Missouri" divisions of the Billiken spring grid army fought to a scoreless tie last Wednesday in the opening game of the round robin tourney, yesterday's contest at Walsh Stadium produced a lone touchdown. It was scored by Burris Schumacher, veteran Billiken back fielder, who scooted through the entire "Illinois" team for 10 yards and a touchdown.

Although most of the Illini combination was varsity material from last season, the "Washington" outfit, a mixed group of freshmen and varsity candidates, held an upper hand during most of the game. The victorious lineup was composed of Casey and Taylor, ends; Captain O'Brien and Kersens, tackles; Matavino and Beck, guards; McDonough, center; Muldrow, quarter; Savage and Schumacher, halves, and Donahue, full.

In the "Washington" roster were McGowan and Spehr, ends; Axtell and H. Beckrath, tackles; Chiaviello and Montgomery, guards; Martin, center; Bassett, quarter; La Presta and McCoole, halves, and Keleske, full.

New Rules Explained.

Coach Walsh and his assistant, Joe Maxwell, are educating the Billiken gridders in the new rule

1932 BASEBALL OUTLOOK: CARDS TO REPEAT, MACKS TO HAVE FIGHT

WORLD CHAMPIONS REINFORCED TO STAVE OFF THE CHALLENGES OF GIANTS, CUBS AND DODGERS

By J. Roy Stockton.

National League baseball men are hoping for a close pennant race. Even Branch Rickey and Sam Breadon, eager though they are for the Cardinals to win their third straight flag and their fifth in seven years, hopefully talk of the Giants as sure to challenge the Redbirds' supremacy. With the wish plainly fathering the thought they predict that the improved Dodgers, the strengthened Reds and the rebuilt Cubs will help to make it one of the most bitterly-fought championship races in years.

But the more you analyze the situation and the teams that will compete, the more difficult it is to visualize any of the other National League machines giving the Cardinals any serious trouble.

Last year the men of Gabby Street finished 13 games ahead of the Giants and 17 ahead of the Cubs. For a time before the stretch drive the New York team did spurt and by winning while the Cardinals were losing and idle, the St. Louis lead was reduced to about five games. But the Redbirds soon regained their stride and it wasn't much of a race after Sept. 1.

Since the world series, in which the Cardinals won baseball's highest honors, the team has parted with Burleigh Grimes, a great pitcher; Jake Flowers and Andy High, utility infielders. Chick Hafey, the league's champion batter of last season, has been giving Heine Meine a race for the honor of being champion holdout of 1932 and is certain to be lost for the early games. But even the loss of Hafey would not be fatal to the Cardinals' chances of capturing another championship.

To offset the loss of Grimes, Flowers, High and perhaps Hafey the Cardinals have added Tex Carleton, a splendid young pitching prospect; Horace "Henry" Ford, a steady, experienced infielder; Eddie Delker, a strong young infield reserve, and will retain either Dizzy Dean or Ray Starr, depending on which young right-handed pitcher shows more skill before June 15.

Carleton a Bright Prospect.

Carleton should go a long way toward taking care of the games that Grimes won for the Cardinals. He looks like the best young pitcher of the year. In fact, he was ripe for a big league trial a couple of seasons ago, but the Cardinals didn't need pitchers and the minor farms did, so Tex was held for duty on the farms. Then Paul Derringer, Sylvester Johnson and Flint Rhem will be able to absorb the Grimes work that Carleton may find too much for him. Great as Grimes was for the Cardinals, it is true that at this time it does not seem likely that he will be missed.

Ford will take care of shortstop or second base in case of injury to Gelbert or Frisch and Delker will be understndy to Sparky Adams. Ford won't hit as much as Jake Flowers did, but he is a better defensive man. Delker will lack Andy High's steadiness and the pinch hitting of High may be missed, but the change was considered necessary. Delker must be kept now or sent away from the Cardinal organization for good and he is such a bright prospect that the club officials couldn't think of parting with him.

Major Leagues Have Three New Pilots for 1932

THREE major league teams will be playing under new managers when the championship season begins April 12.

Max Carey is in charge of the Brooklyn Dodgers; George Gibson is piloting the Pittsburg Pirates, and Lew Fonseca is at the reins with the Chicago White Sox.

Giants' Chance Depends on Critz's Arm; Two Recruits Must Make Good for Cubs

John McGraw's Giants will have to do the serious challenging if the Cardinals are to have any serious competition. Much depends on two members of the New York club. If Hughie Critz's arm is sound it will mean much to McGraw's defense. If Critz can't play second base Freddie Lindstrom will be moved to the infield and Leonard Koenecke, the outfield recruit from Indianapolis, will be McGraw's regular right fielder.

Members of the Cardinals are inclined to hope that Critz can play. Ball clubs don't fear defensive strength as much as they do base hits and they believe that Lindstrom and Koenecke will carry more punch than Lindstrom and Critz.

It is difficult to see how there can be more than two clubs in the National League fight for the pennant. Rogers Hornsby is rebuilding his Chicago Cub machine. He has a potentially strong pitching staff, with the fighting Grimes added, but you need more than pitching. Stanley Hack must come through for Rogers at third base and Billy Herman at second base. Otherwise, Rogers will have to try to play again. The Cubs seem to have lost much of their old power and they are rated third in the league by many experts, chiefly because of the weakness of the opposition.

Prospects are for a better second division fight than the National League has had for years. Brooklyn, under the shrewd direction of Max Carey, should play more consistently than in past seasons, and if Max gets good pitching the Dodgers may be the other first division club.

Pittsburg has disappointed so frequently that the experts have grown wary. But the Pirates ought to be higher in the race. With the Waner boys, Pie Traynor and a good-looking pitching staff they were regarded by many last spring as the 'dark horse' of the race. It does seem that the club's speed, punch and defense warrants a better showing for the Buccaneers.

Cincinnati won't be a door mat for the other clubs this season. Dan Howley has made some profitable trades and there will be no breathing spells for the contenders when they meet the Reds. Last year going to Cincinnati was sure to break a losing streak for any ball club. But with Babe Herman, Taylor Dopthit, Walter Roettger, Gink Hendrick, Mickey Heath, George Grantham, Wallie Gilbert and Ernest Lombardi, the Reds will have a new punch and Howley may see his club take a couple of jumps away from the cellar.

Shotton Needs Pitching.

Bert Shotton is optimistic this spring, but he will have to show better pitching if the Phillies are to do any serious climbing. However, the Phils look better than the Braves. Bill McKechnie found last year that he had a four-months' ball club in a race that lasted five and a half months and he decided to experiment and rebuild. While he is doing that he may have to dally in Mr. Heydler's cellar for a time.

Of course, there is one thing that is against the Cardinals, and that is the law of averages. Some of the experts are picking the Redbirds to tumble merely because they have been up at the top so long. They suggest that it is about time for the St. Louis pitching staff to crack. And they point out that it wouldn't take long for the club to land in the second division if Derringer, Hallahan, Haines, Johnson and Rhem happened to have bad years together.

That's all very true. And following the same sort of reasoning, the Cardinals wouldn't have a chance to land in the first division if they lost three games out of every series. But they won't do that. The pitching staff is in good condition. There has been no dry-rot. The club management has never stood pat. Improvements have been made every year, new blood added for every campaign. The Cardinals are not slipping. They should be good for many more pennant years. Sam Breadon and Branch Rickey have bulided well.

Promising Newcomers From the Minor Leagues

Athletics Face Improved Foes, Harridge Says

By Will Harridge,
President, the American League.

CHICAGO, April 9.—The American League should have the tightest race this year since 1926, when the Yankees beat out the Cleveland Indians by two games.

Tradition points to a new champion as no team has been able to win the American League flag four straight years, a goal which Connie Mack has set for his strengthened Philadelphia Athletics. However, you can be assured that the A's will be a hard team to beat, tradition or no tradition.

Connie Mack, who I feel sure is sincere in saying that the A's have two or three clubs to worry about this year, has strengthened his reserves considerably.

The Yankees, picked as the most dangerous team in the race, have improved both pitching and defense, while Washington has added power to its attack. Cleveland, weak in fielding and pitching in 1931, appears to have strengthened both these departments.

St. Louis will start with virtually the same team that finished last season, but the management is confident of finishing as high or higher than a year ago.

The Chicago White Sox and Boston Red Sox have shown more improvement, possibly, than any other teams in the league with the exception of New York. Despite a rather unsatisfactory training trip, Detroit has made great efforts to strengthen its team and looks stronger.

We should have a good season and a good race and, I hope, the next world's champion.

Heydler Sees Close Race for National Lague

By John A. Heydler,
President National League.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 9.—Whatever else may be temporarily out of gear in our national life, I feel safe in saying there is no slowing up in baseball interest. Reports which come in to me from all over the country indicate more boys are already out on the lots playing the game than ever before, and that the off-season trades have stimulated an enormous amount of interest in the coming season.

Heydler Gives Reasons.

To me there are several reasons why the National League's fifty-seventh season promises unusual interest, among them:

The restoration to sound limb of great players like Lindstrom, Wright, Critz and Haines, as well as the newcomer Heath.

The come-backs of Hack Wilson, Waite Hoyt and Art Shires.

The shifting of many well-known players to other "home" towns.

The addition of a number of promising youngsters, who have made impressive showing in training games.

The test of leadership qualities of two new managers, Max Carey and George Gibson, both stars in their playing days.

The keen interest in what "Pepper" Martin will do over the 154-game route, and in the question of how long "Rabbit" Maranville will keep up his sterling play.

These are all uncertain factors, but they may have a lot to do with the final standing of our clubs in this year's pennant race.

Rear Guard Improved.

The rear guard of last year—Cincinnati, Philadelphia, Boston and Pittsburg—are unquestionably improved clubs. Brooklyn, with a practically new lineup, has promise. The powerful and well-managed New York and Chicago clubs will be in the fight; so that our new World Champion Cardinals, with all their reserve strength, will be facing more determined and sustained competition.

23 Minor League Graduates Expected To Make Debuts With Clubs in Majors

Detroit, Brooklyn, Cincinnati and Braves Will Show Greatest Number of Changes Opening Day.

By Herman Wecke.

There is a possibility that 23 athletes, who labored in the minor leagues last season, will be in the opening day lineups of the major league teams, when the annual pennant campaign gets under way this week. In addition, 11 players, who were traded during the off-season have apparently won places with their new clubs.

In the American League's probable batting orders, 13 rookies are given a chance to play in the first day's games, while in the National, 10 newcomers are possibilities. Only two athletes from other teams will show with new clubs in the American, while nine changed during the season.

Both of the St. Louis clubs will start the campaign with veteran battle fronts. With "Chick" Hafey still out of the fold, Jimmy "Ripper" Collins, a fist sacker, is down to open the season in left field. The Browns will show no important changes.

Mack May Use Two Rookies.

There is a possibility that Connie Mack will start the year with two rookies—Roettger and Coleman—in the opener against the Yankees. These men have fine chances to play since Foxx and Miller, the regulars, are on the ailing list. Against Connie Mack's 1931 pennant winners, the Yanks will pit a club, which includes two of the highly-touted newcomers of the year. They are Crosetti, at shortstop and Saltzgaver, second baseman. Much is expected of these two athletes.

When the Browns open at Chicago, the White Sox will have three and possibly four new faces. Anderson will be in center; Hayes at second; Carey Selph, one-time Cardinal at third, while Campbell may replace Manager Fonseca in left.

Detroit probably will show the greatest number of changes. Buckey Harris will open with Rogell at short; Richardson at third, Walker or Lawrence in center field, while Rhiel will be at second, if Gehringer's arm continues to give him trouble. With the Senators, Reynolds, former White Sox, will be the only new face; the Indians will show Montague and the Red Sox, a recruit, Dashiell, at second.

Reds Show Most Changes.

In the National League, Brooklyn, Cincinnati and Boston will show the greatest number of changes. With the Dodgers, Stripp, Hack Wilson and Cucinello will break in as regulars. Dan Howley will show at least five new faces and, possibly six, when his club opens at home against the Cubs. The certainties are Gilbert, Herman, Grantham, Roettger and Lombardi, while the possibility is Morrissey replacing Durocher at shortstop. Morrissey last season was in the American Association.

With the Braves there will be three new men, Shires, Akers and Knothe on the infield, with Fred Leach, former Giant, making his debut in the outfield.

Pittsburg's club, which opens against the Cardinals, may show two newcomers, Piet at second and Vaughan at shortstop. Leonard Koenecke, a $75,000 beauty, has won a berth in the outfield with John McGraw, while Rogers Hornsby will open with two highly touted rookies, Stanley Hack and Billy Herman, in the Bruin infield. George Davis, an outfielder, is the only newcomer with the Phillies.

YANKEES PICKED TO PUT END TO "PARADING" IN AMERICAN LEAGUE

By James M. Gould.

For three successive seasons, the American League has offered its followers a parade rather than a race. And, at the head of this parade, appropriately enough, have been the White Elephants of Connie Mack. Now with a new season scheduled to open Tuesday, there is reason to believe that 1932 will present a stretch run for the flag rather than the usual procession and that the now familiar pachyderms may not be in the van when the campaign is completed.

To explain the use of the term "parade" in connection with American League activities, it is only necessary to point out that the Athletics, three-straight winners won in 1929 by a margin of 18 games; in 1930, by eight games and last year by 13½ games.

The New York Yankees were runners-up in 1929 and 1931 and it is these Yankees who have been chosen to "take the right of line" in the league this season. Washington, second in 1930, is conceded a chance to dispute the going with the Yanks and the Athletics and, with a share of breaks, the other five clubs can make things more interesting and the race closer than for some seasons.

Yanks Have Men to Spare.

A contending club in New York is considered an American League "necessity" and everything possible has been done to make the 1932 team one. There is a wealth of reserve material. Incidentally, because of this, other clubs, including the Browns, may get some good material, for the Yanks will be compelled by the 23-player limit to cut down before June 15. For instance, Manager Joe McCarthy can use two infields and two outfields with a fixture in each. In spring games, he has used Gehrig at first, Saltzgaver at second, Crossetti at short and Lary at third and then in others, has had Lazzeri at second, Doc Farrell at short and Joe Sewell at third. In the outfield, figuring Ruth as a fixture, McCarthy has Byrd, Combs, Hoag, Selkirk and Chapman.

But, the big Yankee question has to do with the pitching. There's no doubt of the run-making power of the club, but Ruffing, Pennock, Johnson, Pipgras and Gomez, the probable starting squad, will have to show more than they did in the 1931 fight. If this pitching even approximates in ability the offense of the club, a new league champion is not at all improbable.

Grove, Earnshaw and Walberg.

But to count the Athletics out before the season even has started, is little short of sublimely ridiculous. Certainly, the Philadelphia club has not lost any strength. The team that won two world championships in three years is, as to personnel, intact.

However, doubt has crept into the minds of Connie's followers that Grove, Earnshaw and Walberg—his real pitchers—can again sweep through the ranks of contenders as they have in recent years. With Oscar Roettger at first, Mack can play Foxx at third, which may help to make up for the batting weakness of Bishop and Williams. The outfield will be the same with Haas and Bing Miller supporting the great Al Simmons. If Cochrane continues in his present wobbly physical condition, Mack's team is further handicapped. Certainly, though, the Athletics will be "in there."

The Washington Senators are wonderful on the defense though their pitching possibly may have been weakened by the trading of Sam Jones and Hadley. The Senators fell away badly toward the close of the 1931 season and were beaten out by the Yanks in the race for second place. The general opinion seems to be that Washington hasn't the punch to batter through to a flag.

Killefer Expects to Climb.

On the other hand, Cleveland has, or seems to have, conditions prevailing the reverse of those at Washington. The Indians have an undoubted punch. For 1931 the Indians hit .296 as a team and fell short just one point of equaling the leading Yankees. In this regard the Athletics were third in standing and the Senators fourth. Cleveland, as a rule, gets away to a good start but fades during the heat of the summer and the campaign. This Cleveland club is one that can finish as high as second and, just as easily, can drop out of the first division. They finished fourth last year.

Old Doctor Consensus appears to think that the Browns again will lead the second division. Manager Bill Killefer, however, disagrees with this diagnosis and sees higher things in prospect, especially because of the expected improvement in the general play of Jack Burns, Jimmy Levy and Larry Bettencourt. Also Killefer is counting on Bob Cooney and Americo Polli for plenty of pitching help. His principal worry, right now, is the selection of a third baseman and the proper placing of the once-recalcitrant Red Kress. Stewart, Gary, Blaeholder and Coffman appear to be Bill's best pitching bets.

The Browns, rated in pre-season selections as better than Detroit, Chicago and Boston, play their first 23 games against Western

TIGERS SCORE IN NINTH TO TRIM KIRKSVILLE

By the Associated Press.

COLUMBIA, Mo., April 9.—A bad ninth inning by John Carter, freshman hurler of the Northeast Missouri Teachers, this afternoon gave Coach Jack Crangle's University of Missouri nine a 3-to-2 victory over the Teachers in the opening Tiger game of 1932. Carter's error in the ninth let in the tying run and, with the bases full, he walked Fruit, Tiger backstop, for the decisive score.

KANSAS CITY HITS MALONE HARD AND TRIMS CUBS, 7 TO 4

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 9.—Kansas City belted Pat Malone for four hits and five runs in the eighth inning today to defeat the Cubs, 7 to 4, in the second game of their exhibition series.

The Blues pushed over a score and then loaded the bases with one out in the fatal eighth after which a single by Collins, an error by Hack and a double by Dawson yielded four more runs to clinch the game. Bill Jurges substituted for the injured Woody English at shortstop and went hitless, striking out twice.

ENGLISH OF CUBS HAS FRACTURED FINGER; OUT AT LEAST 2 WEEKS

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 9.—Cub hopes for a fast start in the National League pennant chase sank today when it was revealed that Woody English, star shortstop, would be out of the game for two weeks or a month with a broken finger.

English suffered an injury to the index finger on his right hand a week ago but thought it was only a bruise. It grew painful yesterday and Manager Rogers Hornsby sent English to a Kansas City surgeon where an X-ray was taken, revealing a clean fracture.

Although English was confident he would be back in the game within two weeks, Manager Hornsby was more pessimistic, figuring it would take at least a month for the finger to heal sufficiently for him to play.

Bill Jurges, an excellent fielder but a weak hitter, will take English's place at shortstop.

ILLINOIS DEFEATS BRADLEY TECH. 14-5

Davis will report to the Tigers immediately and probably will play in the opening game against Cleveland here Tuesday. Davis batted .314 last season.

WES FERRELL TO HURL IN TODAY'S GAME

CINCINNATI, April 9. — Wes Ferrell, Cleveland pitching ace, will open the American League season against Detroit Tuesday with a longer period in inactivities behind him than he likes. Ferrell was slated to pitch against the Cincinnati Reds today but the game was rained out and he will now go to the mound without another game under his belt. The Reds and Indians are to play tomorrow.

ROOSEVEL

M'KINLEY LOSES TO SOLDAN, 11-3; DARKNESS STOPS GAME IN SEVENTH

By Harold Tuthill.

The prospect that Roosevelt would repeat as City High School League baseball champion grew brighter as the Rough Riders climbed into undisputed possession of first place by defeating Cleveland, 9 to 1, in the first game of the doubleheader at the Public Schools Stadium yesterday afternoon. Soldan pushed McKinley down into the cellar by taking the second game, 11 to 3, in six and one-half innings. Darkness caused a shortening of the contest.

About 700 fans saw the second doubleheader of the season.

There are several good reasons why Roosevelt should be jubilant, since Leroy Suchanek, who was not even considered as the first string pitcher, kept Cleveland to one hit and no runs in six innings. Then when his mates had obtained a comfortable margin behind which to work, Suchanek eased up to permit six hits and one run in the final three innings. So well did the Roosevelt hurler have the game under control that in the eighth, and again in the ninth with two on and two out, he fanned the last batter.

Cleveland, which was reputed to be composed of sluggers, did not score until the seventh, when three singles produced the lone run. Two more safeties were made in the eighth and another in the ninth, but Suchanek struck out Winklemeyer to end the game, for his ninth strike-out victim of the afternoon.

Ray Perdue, who started on the mound for Cleveland, was wild, and got poor support. Perdue managed to extricate himself without being scored upon after walking three in the first inning, but in the second Suchanek and Don Root tripled over Lorin Stockbarger's head and the Rough Riders scored their first run.

Before Perdue left the game after five innings, Roosevelt added three more. Herb Franke lasted for only part of the sixth as two walks, a passed ball and a wild pitch, gave Roosevelt another run. Muchler, the third hurler, was found for five hits and four runs during his regime.

On the other hand, Suchanek was given perfect support, the only error being made by the pitcher himself who threw wild to first on Winklemeyer's grounder in the opening frame.

For five and one-half innings the game between Soldan and McKinley was bitterly contested. Soldan scored eight runs in its half of the sixth to break a 3 to 3 tie. The sun had gone down when McKinley took its turn at bat in the seventh and the game was called on account of darkness.

Waterloo Was Only a Foot Behind the "Fastest Human" in This Race

The long-awaited trial of-strength between Bob Kiesel, University of California's young sprint star, and Frank Wykoff, present "Fastest Human," took place at the California-Southern California meet, opening the new Edwards Stadium at University of California. And, although the new track precluded fast time, the youngster proved his worth by finishing less than a foot behind Wykoff in the 100-yard dash. Photo shows finish of the event, with Kiesel and Wykoff, respectively, second and third from the left.

BARRY SIGNED FOR A FIGHT ON COLISEUM CARD

Dave Barry, featherweight boxer, now making his home in St. Louis, has been signed for a six-round contest on the boxing program to be held at the Coliseum, Monday, April 18, Kid Bandy, matchmaker for the Fred W. Stockham Post, announced last night. His opponent has not been named.

Johnny Kaiser has entirely recovered from his recent illness and is working hard for his return bout with Joe Ghnouly, which is to be the main event of the card, supported by a 10-rounder between Jackie Horner, the welterweight golfer, and Duke Trammell of Texas.

In addition to the contest in which Barry will appear, there will be three other six-round events, one of them featuring Joey Parks, former A. A. U. lightweight champion, who decided to turn professional following his failure to advance toward a place on the Olympic team in the tournament held here recently.

Prices for the show will range from 55 cents to $3.30.

W. U. Varsity Beats Alumni, 6-4

With a great many substitutions the order of the day, the Washington University baseball team defeated a nine composed of alumni players, 6—4, in the Bears' opening game of the season yesterday afternoon at Liggett Field. The contest was more of a practice for Coach Don White's players, who will begin the regular schedule tomorrow afternoon against Concordia.

It was a tight ball game up to the last of the sixth inning, as both teams played nearly errorless ball and each scored but one run. The Alumni were the first to count in the second inning, after sending the Bears down in short order. Bob Edgar crossed the plate from third when Denny shot a high fly to left field.

Art Haeussermann scored Washington's first run in the third inning, counting easily when Jack Schaperkotter lifted a long double to right field. The Bears scored the rest of their runs in the sixth and seventh innings, and then in the ninth, the alumni loaded the bases twice but scored only two runs when Washington pulled a double play.

Irish Are Missing Among Boxing Champions; Negroes Lead With Three Titles

By W. J. McGoogan.

"Where are all the Dempseys, McAuliffes, McGoverns, Sullivans and the rest of the Irish who dominated the fight game in years gone by?" queried an old fight fan as he looked over the list of champions recognized by the National Boxing Association recently.

The lineup of title holders today shows that boxers of Irish extraction or at least with Irish names have almost faded from the picture. Three Negroes, two Italians, a Jew, a Frenchman and a boxer of Ukranian descent hold the seven championships recognized by the N. B. A., while in the one division where no title holder exists a German-American is ranked at the top.

Gorilla Jones, middleweight; Kid Chocolate, junior lightweight, and Panama Al Brown, bantamweight, are the Negroes who hold boxing championships. George Nichols, light heavyweight, and Tony Canzoneri, lightweight, are the Italians, while Max Schmeling, German, is king of the heavyweights.

Johnny Jadick, Ukranian, rules the 140-pound junior welterweight class, and John Finkelstein (Jackie Fields) is the welterweight champion. Victor Perez, flyweight title holder, is a Frenchman, while Freddie Miller, of German descent, is rated No. 1 among the featherweights, in which there is no champion at present.

Quite a different array from the list of 30 years ago, when Terry McGovern ruled the bantamweights, Frank Erne the lightweights, Tommy Ryan the middleweights and Jim Jeffries the heavyweights.

And all through the years following up to the war the ring had plenty of Irish names, including the Gibbons boys, Mike O'Dowd, Johnny Kilbane and numerous others, to say nothing of Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney.

But now, not only is there not one Irish name among the champions, but very few real Irish are among the contenders. The Jack Sharkey in the heavyweight division is really John Coccoskey, a Lithuanian-American. Aside from Mickey Walker, Tuffy Griffiths, John O'Brien, Jimmy McLarnin and Andy Callahan, there are few contenders of Irish extraction.

Now the ears of the boxing world have to struggle with names like Eligio Sardinias, which was fortunately changed to Kid Chocolate, and Alphonse Theo Brown (Al Brown).

Boxing Champions

HEAVYWEIGHT — Max Schmeling, German.
LIGHT HEAVYWEIGHT — George Nichols, Italian-American.
MIDDLEWEIGHT — William "Gorilla" Jones, Negro.
WELTERWEIGHT — Jackie Fields (John Finkelstein) Jewish-American.
JUNIOR WELTERWEIGHT —John Jadick, Ukranian.
LIGHTWEIGHT — Tony Canzoneri, Italian.
JUNIOR LIGHTWEIGHT — Kid Chocolate (Eligio Sardinias) Cuban Negro.
FEATHERWEIGHT — Vacant—Freddie Miller ranks No. 1, German-American.
BANTAMWEIGHT— Panama Al Brown (Alphonse Theo. Brown), Negro.
FLYWEIGHT—Victor Perez, French.

count so they insisted that Martin had not made a fair catch. Kress reached third on the error and scored on Ferrell's single to center.

The Cardinals added their fifth run in the eight inning with Cooney pitching on singles by Adams, Watkins and Frisch.

City Series Notes.

BILL HALLAHAN or Sylvester Johnson will start for the Cardinals this afternoon in the second game of the series. Hallahan injured one of his legs at Hoxie, pitching from a baked-clay mound, and if he is not fit, Johnson will get the assignment. Paul Derringer will be Gabby Street's relief pitcher. Dick Coffman will start for the Browns. The game will start at 2:30.

The Cardinals will be the home team this afternoon, wearing their white uniforms and using the third base dugout. Mike Donohue will be the umpire behind the plate with Red Ormsby on the bases.

Ray Pepper, the outfielder from Rochester, reported yesterday and batted for Rhem in the sixth and sent a pop-fly to Levey.

The opening game attracted a capacity bleacher crowd. The attendance was announced at 8000, which was 3000 under the Saturday attendance last year.

Pepper Martin was caught off first base in the second inning and the Brownie supporters cheered when he was run down.

Stewart bounced a single between third and short to open the third inning and reached third on Schulte's double down the left field line. Burns grounded to Bottomley, the runners holding their bases and after an intentional pass to Goslin, Kress hit into a double play.

A new usher service took care of the customers, the ushers wearing maroon colored uniforms, as at the Municipal Opera.

Hot dogs by Blake Harper.

Cardinals began observance of the new National League rule against talking to spectators, and persons who wanted to shake hands with the athletes were informed they'd have to wait till the boys were out of uniform. It's a good rule and will save the clubs many baseballs.

Beaumont Scores 29 Runs Against Western Military

TAKING advantage of 12 errors and 13 bases on balls issued by three pitchers, Beaumont High swamped Western Military Academy, 29 to 2, at Alton, yesterday, in the opening baseball game of the season for the Cadets.

Dolphus held the Cadets to six hits, while his teammates gave him fine support in the field.

Mueller led the Beaumont attack with a homer, double and single.

Schenberg, the first Cadet batter to face Dolphus, hit the second pitch for a home run and this was the only run scored by the Cadets until the sixth inning.

Score by innings:

OLYMPIC BIKE TRIALS TO BE HELD HERE, MAY 1

Nineteen entries have already been filed for the district trials of the American Olympic unpaced bicycle road race to be held in St. Louis on a course to be announced later. Entries close tonight.

Included in the list of entries are Chester Nelsen and Carl Schutte, members of former Olympic teams. Seven of the entrants either hold championships or have held championships recently.

An interesting fact in connection with the trials is that St. Louis has never failed to have a representative on an Olympic team since bicycle racing was included in the Olympic games in 1912.

A perusal of the records show show that Schutte and "Peg" Martin, both of St. Louis, had the honor of being on the first Olympic bike team in 1912; in 1920, when the Olympics were continued after the war, "Red" Freeman, famous bike star, wore the American shield, in 1924 John Boulicault, youthful crack cyclist, upheld St. Louis' honor and in 1928 Chester Nelsen won a berth on the team.

The actual Olympic race will be run on a 62½-mile course, as compared with the former distance of 108 miles. It will start on top of a hill 900 feet high and three miles long. The course will be a concrete road leading into Pasadena, Cal. In former years the course was a tortuous one, with the almost double distance, nerve-racking hill-climbing, bouncing over cobblestone roads through picturesque villages of Europe and riding selected gears.

This year all that will be changed with the selection of the California course and granting of optional use of gears.

Although riders must make their own repairs in the Olympic races, assistance will be given in the tryouts to assure the fastest riders being sent to the sectional trials in Chicago, June 5. Winners of the sectional tryouts will compete in the finals July 3, probably on the Olympic course in California.

DENNIS FLYNN WINS COLLEGE BOXING TITLE

By the Associated Press.

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., April 9.—Three champions of the Eastern Intercollegiate Boxing Association, one Eastern Conference titleholder, three Southerners and a husky New England youngster, tonight won the first eight boxing championships ever awarded by the National Collegiate Association.

Some of the fiercest fighting ever staged in any amateur ring thrilled a crowd of almost 6000 in the big Penn State Gymnasium as the tournament, designed to pick the collegiate squad that will compete in the Olympic tryouts in San Francisco, July 20, 21 and 23 ended a two days' stand in a blaze of knockdowns and knockouts.

Two of the new champions, Peter d'Allesandro, of Temple, and Al. Lewis, of Penn State, won their title by knockouts, d'Allesandro knocking over Fred Snell of New Hampshire State in the 112-pound final in two rounds, while Lewis clubbed down Ed. Prisk, of Washington State, in less than one round.

Two other finals scheduled for tonight crowned champions by default in both the heavyweight and 126-pound classes, cutting the final program to six bouts. Doyless Hill, Tulane heavyweight and twice Southern Conference champion, won his title without drawing on a glove when his last opponent, Joe Remus, of Army, broke a thumb, this afternoon in winning his semifinal. Al. Wertheimer, Eastern intercollegiate champion from Syracuse, won the 126-pound title by default from Mike Tardugno, of Columbus University, Washington, D. C.

In addition to Hill, the Southern champions are Robert Goldstein, of Virginia, who captured the 135-pound title by decision from Bob Taylor of Washington State, and Dennis Flynn, formerly of St. Louis, brilliant boxer from Loyola of New Orleans, who outpointed Joe Moran of Syracuse.

The final summaries:

112-POUND CLASS—Peter d'Allesandro, Temple, knocked out Fred Snell, New Hampshire, 1:20 of second round.
118-POUND CLASS—David A. Stoop, Penn State, defeated Edward A. Marmel, Columbus, three-round decision.
126-POUND CLASS—Albert B. Wertheimer, Syracuse, won from Michael Tardugno, Columbus, forfeit.
135-POUND CLASS—Robert A. Goldstein, Virginia, defeated Robert Taylor, Washington State, three-round decision.
147-POUND CLASS—Alfred E. Lewis, Penn State, knocked out Edwin Prisk, Washington State, 2:22 of first round.
160-POUND CLASS—Dennis Flynn, Loyola, New Orleans, defeated Joseph Moran, Syracuse, three-round decision.
175-POUND CLASS—Theofiel Wageman, New Hampshire, defeated Sam Zemurray, Tulane, three-round decision.
HEAVYWEIGHT CLASS—Doyless Hill, Tulane, won from Joseph A. Remus, Army, default.

COLLEGE BOXERS IN OLYMPIC TRYOUTS PICKED

By the Associated Press.

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., April 9.—The National Collegiate Athletic Association Olympic Committee announced tonight a sqad of 34 college boxers, from which list about 20 will be chosen to represent the association in the Olympic tryouts at San Francisco, July 20, 21 and 23.

Because of the expense of transporting a full squad, consisting of the four semifinalists in each of the eight classes of the first annual tournament that closed here tonight, the new arrangement was made, Dr. Francis Grant, secretary of the association, announced.

Those added to the list, who did not reach the semifinals, are R. V. Breese of Kansas State, 126 pounds; Bob Eldred, Washington State, 160 pounds; and Dick Woolbert, Penn State heavyweight, who replaces Fenton Gentry of Virginia.

The college Olympic squad was named as follows:

112-POUND CLASS—Peter d'Allesandro, Temple; Fred Snell, New Hampshire State; John Miller, Penn State; Fred Vitulla, Duquesne.
118-POUND CLASS—Dave Stoop, Penn State; Peter Puglia, West Virginia; John H. Houchens, Loyola, Baltimore; Edward A. Macmel, Columbus University, Washington, D. C.
126-POUND CLASS—Albert Wertheimer, Syracuse; John Cleveland, Army; John B. Minardi, Florida; Mike Targudno, Columbia University; R. V. Breese, Kansas State.
135-POUND CLASS—Robert Goldstein, Virginia; Paul Ferrero, Penn State; Robert Taylor, Washington State; James Hagen, Army.
147-POUND CLASS—Al Lewis, Penn State; Nicholas Del Genio, Yale; Elmer E. Freyer, Georgia Tech; Edwin Prisk, Washington State.
160-POUND CLASS—Joe Moran, Syracuse; Daniel Pyne, Catholic University; Dennis Flynn, Loyola of New Orleans; Bob Eldred, Washington State; Norman Updegrove, Penn State.
175-POUND CLASS—Theofiel Wageman, New Hampshire State; Sam Zemurray, Tulane; Fenton Gentry, Virginia; Cevil Hawkins, West Virginia.
HEAVYWEIGHTS—Doyless Hill, Tulane; Ludwig Pincura, Western Maryland; Joe Remus, Army; Dick Woolbert, Penn State.

KANSAS TRACK TEAM DEFEATS HASKELL

LAWRENCE, Kan., April 9.—Glenn Cunningham, University of Kansas distance runner, set a new school record of 1 minute 54.5 seconds for the 880-yard run today as the Jayhawkers defeated the Haskell Indians in a dual track meet, 105 to 26.

The former half-mile record was 1 minute 57 seconds, set by Lowell Hinshaw in 1928. Cunningham also won the mile run.

Skippergosh, Haskell, won the 100-yard dash and the 440-yard run.

Kansas swept all places in the shot put, discus throw and broad jump and won the mile relay.

WILDCAT CAPTAIN ENGAGED.

CHICAGO, April 9.—The engagement of Dorothy Florence Ames of suburban Lagrange to Dallas Marvil, Captain of the 1931 Northwestern University football team, was announced yesterday. The wedding will take place in June. The betrothal culminated in a campus romance. Marvil's home is in Laurel, Del.

The thought has just occurred to us that the man who scouted the Waner brothers for Pittsburg must have been out looking for poison ivory.

In this connection it has been said that "Little Poison" is becoming more virulent than "Big Poison." And wouldn't that give a pitcher the barber's itch?

Asked what he considered the weakness of his team if any, Connie Mack said he guessed it was the pitching. A pretty strong weakness we calls it. But then Connie was only guessing.

Bill Cissell, who cost Comiskey $123,000 in cash and players in 1927, has never batted better than .280 for the White Sox. Another example of the uncertainties of baseball.

Not that Bill was a bust but he was bought on a bull market at an inflated value. It often happens both in baseball and business.

As a matter of record most of the truly great major league stars made the grade under their own power so to speak, cases in point being Eddie Collins, Frankie Frisch, Ty Cobb, Rogers Hornsby and a host of others. You never can judge the quality of the goods by the price tag.

See by the papers where the experts are still diagnosing the case of "Pepper" Martin with dark forebodings. Personally we don't see how any ball player could get all of the baseball out of his system in one series.

True the chances are all against his batting .500 for the season and stealing so many bases that the only way to stop him will be to have him pinched for grand larceny, but we still think that Pepper will have no trouble in making a full hand with the Cards this summer.

CALIFORNIA U. CREWS DEFEAT WASHINGTON IN TWO OF THREE RACES

SEATTLE, Wash., April 9.—California varsity rowers defeated Washington by 10 lengths over a three-mile course here today in the twenty-ninth annual regatta between the two schools. The winner's official time was 16:49. Washington was clocked in 18 minutes flat.

The varsity victory gave California two of three races on the day's program.

The California junior varsity crossed the finish line three lengths ahead of the husky Javees, while the University of Washington freshmen were about three lengths better than the Bear yearlings.

changes as they probably will be interpreted next season.

In a visit with Maj. John L. Griffith, commissioner for the Western Conference, who was in the city Friday on business, the Billiken mentor learned that considerable reservation will be exercised in enforcing the new rules next season.

"The rolling block and flying tackle legislation will not be recognized next season, in the opinion of Maj. Griffith," Coach Walsh said. He further learned from the conference executive that the Middle West universities and colleges probably will interpret the new rules along similar lines, which will mean that the Big Ten, Missouri Valley and Big Six conferences will respect the new legislation in a manner they determine agreeable.

Maj. Griffith was a guest of Coach Walsh during his stay in St. Louis. He returned to Chicago yesterday morning.

DISTRICT GOLF STARS PLAY IN 3 EXHIBITION MATCHES TODAY

Week's Golf Schedule

Today—At Meadowbrook Club—Ralph Guldahl-Chick Irwin vs. Bryan Winter-Jack Burns; John Manion-Sid Le Gear vs. Francis Schwartz-Sid Salomon; Walter Kossman-Don Lambert vs. Jim Fogarty-Elliott Whitbread.
Tomorrow—Professional-amateur tournament at Creve Coeur Golf Club.
Friday—St. Louis District handicap tournament at St. Louis Country Club.

By W. J. McGoogan.

Three golf events are on the calendar for golfers of the St. Louis district this week. It will really be the start of the 1932 competitive season, although, due to the open weather during the winter there was plenty of golf played.

Today three exhibition matches between outstanding professionals and amateurs of the district will be held at Meadow Brook Golf Club, Creve Coeur car line and Marion road.

Ralph Guldahl, St. Louis Country Club golf professional, who teamed with Benny Richter of Triple A last Sunday to defeat Clarke Morse and Bill Schwartz, with Chick Irwin as his partner will oppose Bryan Winter, State and district amateur champion, and Jack Burns, Creve Coeur professional. John Manion and Sid Le Gear of Sunset oppose Francis Schwartz, Meadow Brook, and Sid Salomon, Westwood, while Walter Kossmann, St. Clair and Don Lambert, Country Club, meet Jim Fogarty, Osage, and Elliott Whitbread, Meadow Brook.

This program is the second of weekly exhibitions sponsored by the professionals' association and will be followed by more next Sunday. Ben Richter, president of the P. G. A., is trying to arrange mixed matches between the best men and best women golfers in the district for this event. No admission is charged for spectators.

Pro-Amateur Tourney.

Tomorrow the professionals will hold the first professional-amateur event of the season at Creve Coeur Golf Club on the Olive Street road. It will be a best ball match with professionals and amateurs teamed together on a handicap basis. Entry fee for the pro-amateur has been reduced from $5 to $3 this year.

On Friday, the first of seven monthly handicap tournaments under the auspices of the St. Louis District Golf Association, will be played at the St. Louis Country Club. All amateurs and professionals of the district are eligible. The entry fee will be $2 and a registration fee of $1 for the season is charged.

There have been some changes made in the rules for awarding prizes this season with more emphasis being put upon the two-man teams rather than the individuals.

It is upon the showing made in these handicap tournaments, as well as other medal tournament of the district, that the makeup of the St. Louis team to oppose Chicago in the fall is determined. This year the St. Louis-Chicago match is scheduled to be played in Chicago.

The spring tournament of the Triple A Club will open on Saturday, April 23, when the qualifying round is scheduled to be held. One week will be permitted for qualifying with a week devoted to each round of match play.

YANKS PICKED TO PUT END TO 'PARADING' IN AMERICAN LEAGUE

clubs and open their first Eastern invasion at Boston. Killefer is certain that an even break is the worst possible record his team can make in these games as compared to the eight victories and 15 defeats they suffered right off the bat in 1931.

Lack of punch is the Browns' chief defect. They have the pitching and the fielding defense necessary for a first-divisioner.

Sixth, Seventh and Eighth.

Placing Boston, Chicago and Detroit is nothing more than a guessing contest. Reports from training camps of these three clubs have brought no tales of phenomenal rookies. Chicago made several trades during the winter, especially with Washington and Boston, and have, in Jones, Hadley and Milt Gaston, three well-seasoned pitchers. The White Sox, too, lack a powerful wallop, but, if Ted Lyons and Al Thomas "come back" to their form of a few seasons ago, Chicago may be a tough team to make runs against.

The Boston Red Sox under the leadership of Shano Collins, amazed everyone, including, perhaps, themselves, by finishing sixth in 1931 and by missing the top of the second flight by only one percentage point. There is hardly strength enough on this club to make a gain in the standing and quite a bit of possibility that they will sag some.

Detroit has lost none of its question-mark properties. Bucky Harris is a smart manager and one who can be depended upon to get the most from his material, but until a month of the season has passed, it will be difficult even to approximate the Tigers' final position.

CINCINNATI TEAM LEADS IN WOMEN'S INTERNATIONAL BOWLING

LEADERS SCORE 2589, ONE POINT ABOVE TOTAL OF OMAHA QUINTET

Cincinnati and Omaha sent teams to St. Louis that made a great fight for the early leadership in the Women's International Bowling Congress here last night at the Rogers' Recreation alleys.

Bowling in the 7 o'clock group, the Cressler five of Cincinnati scored a total of 2589, with games of 833, 940 and 816, to give them a slim one-pin margin over the Red Ball team of Omaha, which scored 2588 with games of 843, 909 and 836.

Omaha produced another early leader in the Ak-Sar-Ben five, which with a score of 2577 took temporary third place among the early finishers. One point behind the Ak-Sar-Ben team was the May and Malone squad of Chicago.

The 10 leaders:

				Total
Cressler, Cincinnati	833	940	816—	2589

Albertis Lead In Interstate Women's Bowling

The Alberti Jewelers team of Chicago, last year's women's National bowling champions and defending titleholders in the Women's Interstate Bowling tournament, took the lead when the annual tournament opened here last night at the Wellston alleys by rolling a score of 2473.

This was far under their mark of 2861 which they bowled in winning the same event last year.

Anderson's Slow and Careful five of St. Louis bowled into second place with a score of 2441. Other leaders, in order, were: Bly-Moss, 2452; Wellston Bottlers, 2355; Fendlers, 2205; Hubbell Jewelers, 2043.

Minor events of the tournament will be bowled this afternoon and tonight.

ST. LOUIS TENPIN ACES WON FOUR TITLES IN MISSOURI STATE MEET

While St. Louis won the championship in each event of the Missouri State tournament which ended at the Wellston Recreation recently, the official prize list released yesterday shows that out-state and Illinois bowlers won their shares. Kansas City was well represented, the Super Shell finishing second to the champion Alexander & Sons team in the five-man, while the runners-up in both the singles and doubles were represented in the delegation of 23 teams which Kansas City sent to the tourney.

E. Shepherd and W. O'Donnell finished second in the doubles and Joe Hanis gained the same position in the individual event. The latter tenpinner suffered the worst break of the tournament, losing the championship medal on the final squad. Joe Hanis' brother placed third with 700.

Joe Weiss and Roy Nelson of the Wooster Lamberts won the doubles title, while C. Tonkovich won the singles and all events titles. The low score to cash in the doubles was 1175, while 598 was low in the singles. R. Durham with 1929 was low in the all events.

ST. LOUIS TEAM ROLLS 2694 IN NATIONAL ELKS TOURNAMENT

TOLEDO, O., April 9.—The first contingent of St. Louis bowlers rolled their main events in the National Elks Bowling Association tournament here today. Morrall No. 9 team bowled 2694, the highest St. Louis mark which is good for tenth place. The team started out with 870 in its first game, then made 916 in the second and 908 in the final.

Judge Butler's No. 9 rolled 2660, and the Creegan No. 9 team 2256.

The St. Louis scores follow:

REPORT MISSOURI U. WILL DROP HENRY AS FOOTBALL COACH

seriously ill man the entire season—so ill that he had to enter the university hospital for protracted treatment after the Drake game on Nov. 7 and had to turn the management of the squad over to his two assistants.

Before coming to Missouri U. from 1918 to 1923, he was director of athletics and coach of all sports at the College of Emporia. During that five years his football teams won three Kansas conference titles and lost but three games.

Burning Blaze, Derby Hope, Won Six of 13 Races as Two-Year-Old

Second Leading Money Winner of 1931, Topped Only by Top Flight, Captured Three Big Stakes.

By Harry McKanna.

Burning Blaze, three-year-old chestnut colt from the Shandon Farm Stable owned by R. J. Nash and P. A. Nash, brothers, of Chicago, probably will carry a big share of Middle Western money if he goes to the post in the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs, May 7.

The son of Big Blaze-Mexican Tea, which was the leading money winner of Middle Western horses last year, with $83,625, and the second largest money winner among the juveniles, being topped only by Top Flight, Cornelius V. Whitney's crack filly, already is in training for the Kentucky classic, at the Downs. He arrived there March 23 after spending the winter at the Shandon Stud near Lexington. He is being trained for the Derby by J. J. Greeley, one of the West's leading trainers.

BURNING BLAZE

Owner—Shandon Farm Stable. Trainer—J. J. Greely.

1931 RECORD.	Starts.	1st	2nd	3rd	Won.

STAKES WON.

Post and Paddock Stakes at Arlington Park, Eastern Shore Handicap at Havre de Grace, Richard Johnson Stakes at Laurel.

Won Six of 13 Starts.

Burning Blaze started 13 times as a two-year-old and scored six victories, ran second twice and third once. He was unplaced four times.

The Nash brothers' colt was not campaigned in New York and therefore did not compete against Top Flight in the Hopeful at Saratoga, or in the Belmont Futurity. He also did not run against Top Flight in the Pimlico Futurity, also won by Top Flight, and which helped to increase the Whitney's filly earnings to $219,000, a new mark for two-year-olds and an all-time record for fillies and mares.

Burning Blaze captured three rich stakes as a two-year-old, the Post and Paddock Stakes at six furlongs at Arlington Park, Chicago, on Aug. 1, which netted him $39,400; the Eastern Shore Handicap at Havre de Grace, Sept. 26, which also was at six furlongs, and worth $25,650 to the winner, and the Richard Johnson Stakes at Laurel, Oct. 10, valued at $13,225.

In winning the Post and Paddock the Eastern Shore Handicap and the Richard Johnson Stakes, Burning Blaze defeated Tick On, owned by Mrs. L. G. Kaufman, and the second choice in the Derby future books.

The Nash colt won the Post and Paddock, his first big stake, in 1:11 4-5, on a fast track, scoring by a head over Morfair, a Derby eligible. The Three D's Farm Liberty Limited was third, Osculator fourth, Tick On fifth and Polonaise sixth. Burning Blaze started from the fourteenth post position, broke tenth, was second by four lengths in the stretch and finished a head in front of Morfair. The winner carried 114 pounds.

Burning Blaze won the Eastern Shore Handicap at Havre on a sloppy track, running the six furlongs in 1:12 4-5. He carried 120 pounds, was off seventh, was third at the half mile, second by a length entering the stretch and won by a nose over Hygro, his biggest rival among Middle Western horses. Hygro is not entered in the Derby. Hygro carried 125 pounds. Tick On was seventh, being beaten by nearly 10 lengths after a bad start.

In the Richard Jones Stake at Laurel Oct. 10, Burning Blaze again defeated Hygro and Tick On. The winner carried 130 pounds and won by a length and a half over Tick On, which had an impost of 127. The track was fast and the winner's time was 1:12 4-5. Tick On finished a head in front of Pairbypair. A length and a half back of Pairbypair was Hygro, which was a head in front of Burgoo King, one of Col. E. R. Bradley's Derby entries.

Was Third in Spalding Lowe.

Burning Blaze ran third to Osculator in the Spalding Lowe Memorial Handicap at Laurel, Oct. 31. Tick On lost the race by a nose to Osculator, but beat Burning Blaze by two and one-half lengths for the place.

On Sept. 7 in the Joliet Handicap at Lincoln Fields, Chicago, Burning Blaze was beaten by a length by Hygro, the winner. Show money went to Liberty Limited.

This is the first of a series of articles on Kentucky Derby eligibles which will appear regularly in the Post-Dispatch.

WRAY'S COLUMN

After the war he earned an even greater sum by fighting—and kept most of that. In addition, there is his movie career——

And here, perhaps, we may find the cullud pusson in the woodpile. Georges' name may need a few more headlines on the front page than it has been getting, of late.

Mr. Breadon's Jewels.

If consistency is a jewel, Owner Sam Breadon has a string of them. In six years his Kohinoors have won four pennants, two world titles, finished second by a blond hair on one occasion and fourth the other time—but a pretty good fourth at that.

Just to add a new one to the rosary, it may be mentioned that the 1932 outlook is not so dark. The Cards are favored at 3 to 2 to win the National League race and that's being shown a lot of financial respect by the bookies. A record of five titles in seven years would round out Breadon's Cardinals almost on a par with the truly great teams of history.

However, you almost have to recall the Browns when you talk of big baseball achievements, although you will have to go back a long, long trail to find that cluster of four successive victories to 1885-6-7-8.

Because that was achieved when the Browns were in the American Association, it sometimes is not included as real major league history, although the association walloped their National League world title rivals on one occasion and tied them on another.

Only one National League club ever won four successive pennants—the Giants turning the trick in 1921-2-3-4. The American League, despite its wonderful teams of the past and present, has no four successive pennant winning team in its annals.

Connie CAN (possibly) turn the trick this year.

The Biggest Derby Plunge.

With the Derby now only a month distant, the bettors are warming up to the job of knocking over a 40 to 1 shot. The real hot number today is Liberty Limited, backed from 60 to 1 down to 8 to 1. That was the quotation against him yesterday after a group of Johnny Schorr's friends had sent in some checks on this colt of Waggoner's. Perhaps they hope to see this son of Sir Gallahad III pull a sensation to equal that of his half brother, Gallant Fox.

Most unlikely. Furthermore, plunges in future books seldom go over. Most of them and like the one which sent the famous Tannery's price down from about 75 to 1 to 4 to 1. Try to find Tannery's name among the Derby winners.

Four candidates are getting the bulk of the play, today—Burning Blaze and Liberty Limited at 8 to 1, Tick On at 7 to 1 and Top Flight at the short price of 4 to 1, is favorite. Being unbeaten in seven races, she ought to be.

Evidently the feed box broadcasters have had their ears to the ground and heard the trample of the "right" hoofs. But chatter of today and the finish of Derby day likely will see many discrepancies.

Just Another Guess.

Max Schmeling and his heavyweight title is with us once more. We will now read and hear plenty as to what Jack Sharkey is going to do about it next June 16.

If we let Jack's past answer for him he will do nothing about it.

Like Willie Stribling, Sharkey has put in most of his career arousing hopes in early fights and wrecking them in subsequent ones. He is too inconsistent to support. No class without consistency, applies to horses and men.

It seems strange. Sharkey CAN fight. He gave Schmeling a beating in the very bout in which Max won the crown. He does things that undo all the advantages that he has painfully built up.

He isn't a bad fellow and his habits of boasting and giving the foe a dirty look are just stock in trade. Underneath the wicked glance of Sharkey you can always see the twinkle.

Perhaps time will have provided him with a balance wheel that will help him over some of his complexes. Or he may be lucky. Our view is that he will HAVE to be the last, if he is to finish first.

Very Flashy.

Milwaukee will see an interesting fight Monday when Frankie Battaglia, one of the easiest men to look upon known to the profession, and Dave Shade, one of the oldest and toughest of ring nuts to crack, meet at the Auditorium.

This is another one of those May and December affairs—and history has many times told us what December ordinarily gets. But Shade has been beating Father Time and a lot of opponents. In fact, in the middleweight division, he is still Number One Boy. Just who owns the title is one of those things like "How Old Is Ann?" or the lamentable mystery as to who busted Billy Patterson on the beezer?

These old boys deserve a lot of credit. They must fill in with quick thinking, craft and tricks the disadvantages that years work. And the performance of one of these clever old boys in handling the hot young bloods who want to storm over them by sheer force is a treat, in this day when the rapier still of battle has given way to the bludgeon.

50 Teams Will Play in Public School League

Fifty public schools have entered teams for participation in the annual public school baseball league, according to an announcement made yesterday by A. E. Kindervater, supervisor of physical training. According to Kindervater, these teams will be organized into eight groups. The winning team in each group will later meet in order to determine the league champions.

As in former years, all games, except the final series, will be played in the public parks. Professional umpires and police protection will be provided, as heretofore.

Kindervater, supervisor of physical training in the public schools, who has been in charge of the league since 1915, will again officiate this year.

The Post-Dispatch trophy will be presented to the team winning the title.

ITALIAN TENNIS ACES WIN OVER SPANIARDS

By the Associated Press.

NAPLES, Italy, April 9.—Prospective members of the Italian and Spanish Davis Cup teams engaged in practice today, with the Italian team winning all four matches played.

ST. LOUIS NATIONALS LEAD STEIN TOURNEY

The St. Louis National Bank team rolled into first place last night in the Stein Junior Handicap tournament bowled on the Washington Alleys, scoring 2951. The team scored 2765 scratch and with handicap of 62 pins per game gave them the high score on the opening squad. H. Koehne with 601 led his team, closely followed by J. Krausert with 594.

The Charley Bars of the St. Louis Dairy League were second with a total of 2740 which included 378 pins handicap while the Wabash Pirates landed third position with 2735, their handicap being 120 pins.

The tournament will have squads bowling at 2, 4, 7 and 9 P. M. today, including several strong teams from Springfield, Ill.

CALIFORNIA U. SPRINTER RUNS CENTURY IN 9.5

By the Associated Press.

BERKELEY, Cal., April 9.—Bob Kiesel, University of California sprinter, was clocked at 9.5 seconds for the 100-yard dash in a meet here today between California track athletes and stars of Southern California junior colleges.

This time equals the recognized world record, although Frank Wykoff of the University of Southern California, has a bid in for a new mark of 9.4 seconds.

BOXING AND WRESTLING SHOW TONIGHT AT NATIONAL GYMNASIUM

Several boxing and wrestling matches are to be held at the National Gymnasium, Sixth and Pine streets, tonight, with boxers in training there and others who are scheduled to appear in bouts here in the near future taking part.

An admission charge of 25 cents will be made for each spectator.

KID CHOCOLATE MEETS DAVEY ABAD TODAY

HAVANA, April 9.—Kid Chocolate, slender Cuban Negro, who holds the world's junior lightweight championship, will risk his slightly synthgetic crown against Dave Abad of Panama, in a 15-round bout at the Polar Stadium tomorrow.

Both boxers tapered off their training today and are ready for the official weighing in tomorrow morning. Advance sales forecast a good crowd and several special trains were scheduled to bring fight fans from the interior.

Page Again Fails.

OTTO STEIN JR. LEADS FREITAG 620 PINS IN 40-GAME MATCH

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, April 9.—Otto Stein Jr., crack St. Louis bowler, increased his lead over Wally Freitag of Chicago to 620 pins tonight at the Hardin Recreation alleys in the third block of their 40-game home and home match. The final block will be rolled here tomorrow night.

Freitag had the high game tonight with 246, but Stein had two 245 games.

MAPLEWOOD RELAY ENTRIES CLOSE TONIGHT

Entries for the third annual Maplewood relays, to be held Friday and Saturday at the Maplewood High School Stadium, will close at midnight tonight with 75 schools expected to participate in the event.

The meet this year was thrown open to out-of-town high schools and teams from throughout Missouri, Illinois and Iowa have sent notice that they will be among the entries.

All city high schools and the majority of county schools are certain to enter one or more teams to defend track and field honors of this district against the invaders from other states.

County Teams Strong.

The county is especially strong this year. University City has a formidable field team in the discus, javelin, shotput, pole vault and high jump, while Maplewood boasts two crack relay teams and Jimmy Owen, national interscholastic 100-yard dash champion, for the sprints.

Schools that have indicated sending teams include Springfield, Rolla, Jefferson City, St. Joseph, Hannibal and other Missouri schools in the southeastern section.

Entries are also expected from the eight schools in the Southwestern Illinois Conference, the schools from "Little Egypt," and one team is coming from Chicago and another from Joliet, Ill.

Two tentative entries have been received from Iowa and more invitations sent into that State have yet to be heard from.

Artie Eilers of Washington University will officiate as head judge of the finish.

Large Crowd Expected.

George Bresnahan of Iowa University will be referee, while Gwinn Henry, Missouri University, will be the starter. C. D. Werner, Illinois, will be clerk of the course.

Arrangements are being made to accommodate 10,000 persons who are expected to attend. More than 5000 attended last year when only city and county teams met, but with the zest of visiting competition, school officials are planning for a record crowd.

The program of events follows:

Track Events—100-yard dash; 2-mile relay; 880-yard relay; 140-yard low hurdles; 220-yard dash; Junior medley relay; 440-yard relay; Senior medley relay; 1-mile relay.

Field Events—Pole vault; high jump; discus; broad jump; javelin; shotput.

East Side High Schools to Open Tennis Campaign

The Southwestern Illinois Conference tennis campaign will start tomorrow afternoon when the eight schools swing into action in singles and doubles matches. Tennis is a major sport in the conference. The schools entered this year are East St. Louis, Granite City, Belleville, Alton, Woodriver, Madison, Collinsville and Edwardsville.

East St. Louis and Belleville are rated as the strongest teams.

The East St. Louis team will have either Jack Baughman and William Kanus in the singles. In the doubles, the Maddux brothers, Bob and Harvey, or Lester Tapp and Tom Shanklin will draw the opening assignment.

Belleville will have a veteran doubles team of Berg and Art Schmisseuer back this season. They are favored to win the doubles championship of the conference. Braun and Reuel are fighting it out for the singles assignment. Collinsville will have four of last season's letter-men back with its squad.

The girls of the schools composing the conference have also decided to play this year, and at each of the conference matches girl teams of the opposing clubs will meet.

The opening schedule is as follows: Belleville at Collinsville; Edwardsville at Woodriver; Granite City at East St. Louis; Alton at Madison.

DOWNTOWN

WASHINGTON U. A POOR SECOND; OKLAHOMA BOY IS HIGH SCORER

The Downtown Y. M. C. A. swimming team won the Western A. A. U. title in the championship meet last night at the Wilson Memorial Pool, Washington University, with 41 points, easily outscoring its nearest rival, the Washington varsity squad, which made 28 points. The North Side Y. M. C. A. was third with 23.

This was said to be the first Western A. A. U. swimming meet in more than 10 years and as the records made in former meets are now obsolete, those made last night will probably be considered district records.

J. C. Ridge, one of the Oklahoma Aggie boys who came to St. Louis via the "hitch-hike" route, was the star of the meet with 10 points. His mark in the 100-yard free style was one of the best turned in. He splashed the distance in 56.2 seconds. He also gained another first in the 50-yard free style, the time being 24.8. This was a fairly good time but in the preliminary heats Friday night he finished the same race in 24.6.

Other good times were recorded in the 220-yard free style, the 200-yard breast stroke, and the 200-yard relay. Probably the best of these was in the 220, in which Charley Roth of the Downtown "Y" finished far in front in 2:26.6. Another very good mark was in the 150-yard backstroke, Bob Langenkamp completing the distance in 1:50.2.

One of the closest races of the evening was in the 50-yard breast stroke for women, in which Miss Gallagher of the Y. W. C. A. barely beat out Miss Gering of the same club in 43.4.

"Whitey" Wolfe, former Washington star swimmer, unattached in this meet, won the fancy diving contest with 116.5 points, with Al Hoppin of Washington a close second with 114.24 points.

Goslin and His "Convict" Bat

GOOSE GOSLIN, the Brownies' slugging left fielder, who didn't do much slugging in the South this spring, probably will thank Willis Johnson the club secretary, for getting him out of his slump. The Goose used a "camouflage" bat, with white and black stripes suggested to the manufacturer by Johnson, and he opened the Sportsman's Park season by getting two good singles in three official times at bat. The stripes on the bat, running lengthwise, were not as fantastic as Johnson had hoped, but he now plans to have fancier ones made for other Browns, with cross rings and blocks and all sorts of futuristic designs.

Hockey Tour Planned.

OTTAWA, Ont., April 9.—Plans for an exhibition tour of the Toronto Maple Leafs an all-star National Hockey League team to the West Coast are being considered. Original plans are reported to have called for games at Winnipeg, Vancouver, Hollywood and Los Angeles, but reports are that the schedule will have to be changed. The Boston Bruins made a similar trip two years ago with considerable success.

Here And There On The Air

By J. L. Spencer

THE first of eight exchange programs arranged by the CBS chain and the British Broadcasting Corporation is set for 5 o'clock Thursday. Dr. Lewis Perry, principal of Phillips Exeter Academy, Exeter, N. H., will speak on "The Eternal Schoolboy." He will picture for British listeners the life of students in such preparatory schools as that he heads. Two weeks later the program will come from London.

ROBERT H. BETTS, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Betts of University City, is a member of the cast of singers for the first American performances of Schoenberg's opera, "Gurerlieder." The premiere of the opera in this country was broadcast Friday from Philadelphia with Paul Althouse and Jeanette Vreeland in the leading roles and Leopold Stokowski conducting the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra. Betts was scheduled to sing the role of Klaus Marr in the Philadelphia performance and again in a Metropolitan Opera performance on April 20.

Betts, who is well known to KMOX listeners, won a Juillard Foundation scholarship three years ago, and studied singing in New York, then spent a season in Berlin for coaching in operatic roles. He sang leading tenor roles with the Little Theater Opera Co. in New York and the Chautauqua New York Opera Co., and has been re-engaged for July and August by the latter organization. He has sung as soloist in the Central Presbyterian Church, New York, and in CBS and NBC chain broadcasts. The past week he was soloist with the Newark Symphony Orchestra.

This season's final broadcast from the Metropolitan Opera House is set for next Saturday, April 16, at 2 o'clock. It will bring part of "Tannhauser" with Elisabeth Rethberg, Lauritz Melchior and Lawrence Tibbett in leading roles. Stations in the WEAF chain will carry the broadcast.

The theater of the air, a KSD feature Friday nights for three years, is off the air temporarily. . . . Alice Joy and Van Loan's orchestra will go off KSD at the end of this month. . . . The Raising Junior sketches will be discontinued on the WJZ chain after April 21, but will return in the fall. . . . The Sunday night drama and music review on KWK is scheduled for its last broadcast this season on April 17, but will be resumed later.

* * *

Paul Specht's orchestra will play over the CBS chain at 12:30 a. m. Mondays. . . . The Coon-Sanders orchestra is scheduled on the CBS net at 11:30 Tuesday nights, beginning this week. . . . Kay Donna, a ballad singer from WTAM, Cleveland, will have her own WEAF chain program at 9:30 Monday nights. . . . Detective and mystery stories will be dramatized at 9 o'clock Monday nights over the WJZ chain, starting tomorrow. Stevenson's "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" will be presented first.

* * *

At 9:30 tomorrow morning, KSD will carry addresses by John Barton Payne, chairman of the Central Committee of the American Red Cross, and James L. Feiser, vice chairman in charge of domestic operations.

Ambassador Kathuji Debuchi of Japan will speak during a cherry blossom time broadcast from Washington, D. C., at 3 o'clock tomorrow over WEAF chain stations. There will be music by the Navy Band.

THREE PAINTINGS BY VALENTINE VOGEL

THE paintings reproduced on this page are selected from a "one-man" exhibition by Miss Valentine Vogel, now being held at the Noonan-Kocian Galleries, Tenth and Locust streets. Miss Vogel's work, inclining strongly toward the modernistic and particularly distinguished for its rich color, has attracted much attention in exhibitions here and elsewhere. The artist, who is one of the younger St. Louis painters, has been exhibiting since she was 16 years old, and has won numerous prizes.

She has studied at the Washington University School of Fine Arts, and in Minneapolis, New York, Boston, Provincetown, Rome and Paris. She lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Val Vogel, at 5179 Cabanne avenue.

CHICAGO.

IN THE clenched hand of the murdered man keen-eyed detectives discovered three hairs. They appeared to be brown hairs from the man's head, like those found on the murderer's ax. This was the obvious police conclusion.

After all—such a slight bit of evidence. If, indeed, it could be considered evidence. Why should anyone be concerned with such minute details? But it happened that these three hairs were preserved and were taken, along with other and far more tangible bits of evidence, to the Scientific Crime Detection Laboratory of Northwestern University here. Now it seems probable that the weight of those three hairs will help to turn the scales and send a murderer to the gallows.

Because the case has not yet come to trial all the facts and the names cannot at this time be disclosed. But the drama written in a single one of those hairs is none the less extraordinary by reason of its present anonymity.

E. Carleton Hood of the Crime Detection Laboratory specializes in deciphering strange tales from infinitesimally small objects. In technical language he is a photo-micrographist. He can take a picture of the speck of lint at the point of a needle and make it as large and as clearly detailed as a cabinet photograph of Aunt Martha and Uncle Augustus and all the cousins from Albany. For nearly a year he has been studying hair by means of photo-micrography. He has discovered a great many surprising things about hair. All of which made him just the person to read the strange story contained in the three hairs found in the clenched hand of John Smith, found murdered with an ax on South Kedzie avenue.

First of all the microscope made it obvious that the three hairs were not from the head of the murdered man. They were a darker brown. This was only the first of many reasons why it could be established beyond doubt that these hairs were from another head—perhaps the head of the murderer.

Hood began to take a series of microscopic photographs of the hairs from various angles. Looking down upon the rounded surface with light flooding up from beneath. A sidewise view. An end view and many others. All these photographs, it should be understood, enlarged the hair from a thousand to fifteen hundred times.

Deposited on the hairs, the photographs showed, were small flakes of carbon, indicating certain occupations. A microscopic examination of this carbon led to the conjecture that the man had been a garage mechanic. According to Hood many occupations leave a deposit of one sort or another on the hair which even frequent shampooing does not entirely remove. Further, the microscopic photographs showed, the hairs were bloodstained.

THIS indicated to the police that the murderer himself might have been injured. And there was tangible evidence to confirm this in the state of the room which police found in wild disorder.

A close-up view of the end of one of these hairs showed that the man had had his hair cut within three or four days before the discovery of the crime. Hood's amazing photo-micrographs could establish that fact with complete accuracy. Hair which has recently been cut has sharply defined square ends. As time elapses those ends become rounded and a crater forms in the center of the end of the hair. By comparison with previous examples Hood was able to tell almost to the day how recent the cutting had been. Further study of the photo-micrographs made it plain that the man had suffered from a rather rare scalp disease.

The search had been narrowed down to these proportions: A garage mechanic who suffered from a rare scalp disease that induced baldness and had within three days of the crime had his hair cut.

But Hood's study of his microscopic photographs of the three hairs was to limit the search much more closely than this.

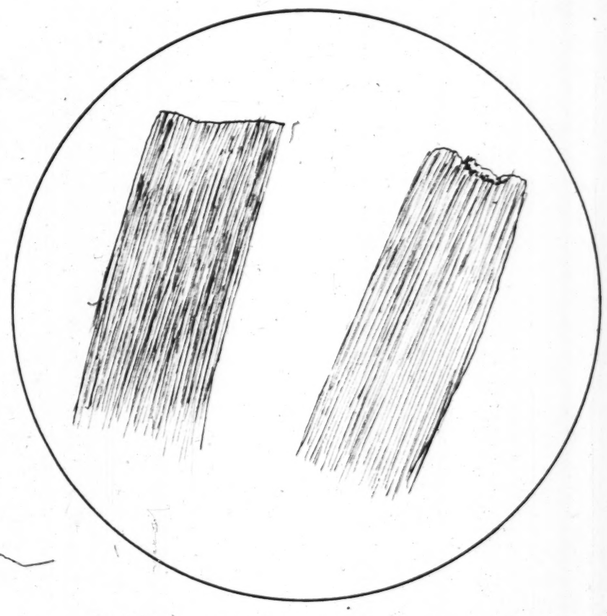

He announced finally that the man was 23 years old. The police had been investigating a half dozen suspects. There was one whose age and whose hair fitted all these details. The investigation immediately concentrated upon this man and the police were soon able to confirm the testimony of the hair with other and more commonplace evidence. A hair was taken from his head and Hood subjected it to analysis by photo-micrograph. It was seen to compare exactly with those found in the hand of the murdered man. When the trial takes place Hood's enlarged photographs will play an important part in the State's case.

Although this method of crime detection is reminiscent of Sherlock Holmes and Arsene Lupin, Hood insists that it is essentially simple. It is only necessary, he insists, that one have the equipment and the skill with which to take photo-micrographs. These are photographs taken through the lens of a powerful microscope. The photograph of one cross section of a single hair, taken in this way, is eight and a half by eleven inches. Hood's photo-micrographs are regarded as the most successful ever made. He has developed the technique to a very high degree. If, as in the old medieval dispute, angels were small enough to dance on the point of a needle, Hood's photographs would discover them. His most remarkable achievement, to date, of course, is his ability to establish the age of a person to the year by a single hair. This, too, is extremely simple, he insists. In fact it is so simple, according to Hood, that he cannot understand why other scientists did not long since discover it.

When he first began the study of hair, he noticed the existence of rings that showed up in his photographs as dark bands occurring all up and down the hair at apparently aimless intervals. One day when he was testing some new equipment, he happened to count these rings. He did this because he wanted to record every factor that might have a bearing on the value of the equipment. Later with the same equipment he examined another hair from the same head and found the number of rings to correspond exactly to the previous count. It was a clew and he set to work at once.

After many weeks he was convinced in his own mind that these rings recorded human growth as accurately as the rings in a tree trunk record the tree's age. The other day he made a public announcement of his discovery.

He explains it in this way. A hair grows a while and then stops a while. Each stop or rest produces a discoloration at the point where the hair pushes through the scalp. This discoloration becomes a permanent dark ring. Growth is not steady and therefore the rings are not found at exactly even intervals. But it is true that a young man's hair grows rapidly. Age makes it grow more slowly.

End of hair as it looked 2 days after being cut. And, on right, as it looked 2 weeks after cutting.

HOOD can say positively that if there are six rings to a tenth of a millimeter, the subject is 20 years old. And if there are 12 rings to the tenth of a millimeter, the subject is 40 and so on.

"I thought at first," he says, "that if I could determine the age within 10 years I should be satisfied. Next I narrowed it down to five years. And then finally to the year itself. It is very obvious and very simple."

The rings are not, of course, like those of a tree which grow one within the other. These occur like the stripes on a barber's pole, up and down the whole length of the hair.

The single hair is almost as important in the matter of identification as the finger print, in the opinion of Hood. But unlike finger prints, the hairs from each individual head do not each have their own unique inner pattern. So far as has been found to date, no two human beings have ever had the same pattern of ridged whorls on their finger-tips. The same thing cannot be said with regard to hair. The pattern found within the hair of humans and the various animals differs radically, so that it is possible to tell at a glance whether it is the hair of a goat or a horse or a man or a cat that is under the microscope. And incidentally there is consolation for the anti-evolutionists of Tennessee in the fact that the hair of the apes and baboons bears no faint resemblance to the hair of man. But as for determining whether a certain hair is from the head of John Smith or William Brown, by means of the inner pattern of the hair, that is an impossibility.

The identification can be made almost 100 per cent positive by more subtle means, as was seen in the case of the Chicago ax murder—how the hair is cut, whether a heavy hat has crushed the ends, whether there is a deposit on the hair and so on.

Hood's system of hair identification has proved effective in at least one other murder case. A Hindu was slain. This time in the victim's hand there was a single black hair. After routine tests Hood instructed police to search for a Filipino, 32 years old, a dishwasher, who often went bareheaded and who had a scalp disease unknown except in the tropics. The criminal was found soon after.

Judging from the result of his year's research, Hood estimates that he will spend perhaps the greater part of his life accumulating data on hair, which, he is convinced, will be invaluable in crime detection. He has carried the work to such a point already that for many of his photo-micrographs he slices the hair to one-third its thickness before he puts it under the high powered photographic lens.

This is one of the functions of Northwestern's Scientific Crime Detection Laboratory—to build up great stores of data that will be available to the police of America.

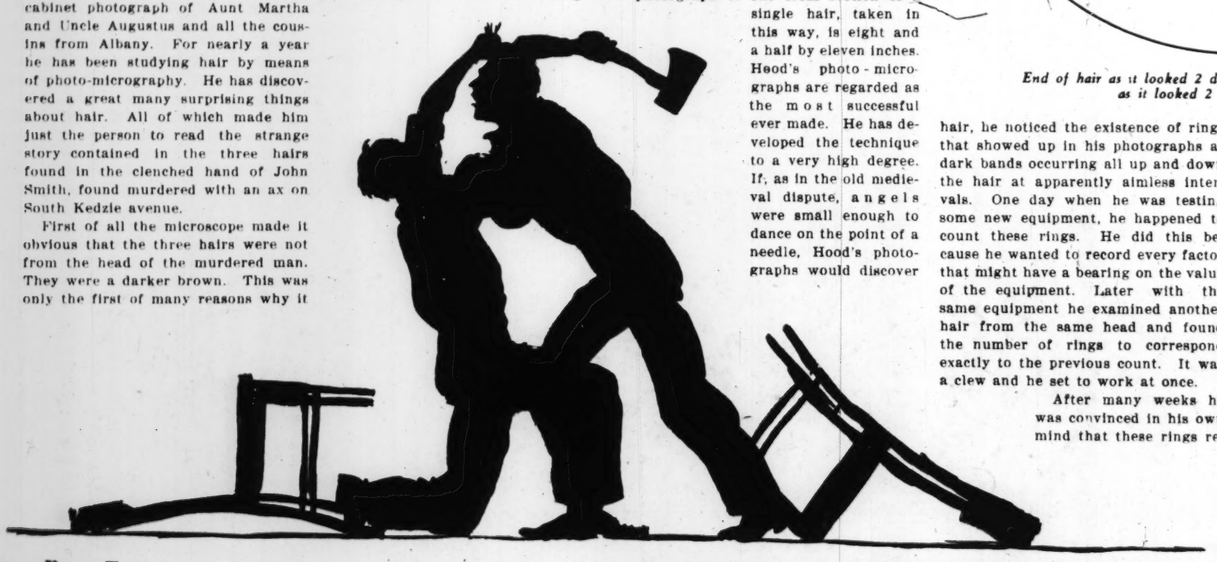

The laboratory was founded in 1930, following the St. Valentine's Day gang massacre. As told in a story in the Post-Dispatch Sunday Magazine at that time, it grew out of the disgust of a wealthy Chicagoan with the lack of scientific investigation employed by the police in crime detection.

THIS wealthy Chicagoan, Bert Masse, president of the Palmolive-Peet Company, served on the grand jury that investigated the St. Valentine's massacre, and came close to the subject of crime investigation at that time. A gift to establish the laboratory followed.

Another function of the laboratory is to educate policemen and detectives. Beginning on May 2 the laboratory will offer for the second time in its existence a month's course dealing with scientific methods of crime detection. The tuition is $50. A similar course last year was attended by municipal and private detectives, police chiefs, district attorneys and many others concerned with law enforcement. During the coming course Hood will give special laboratory instruction in bullet and shell photography.

Hood himself is one of the first graduates of the school. He developed an amateur interest in crime detection in his rural home in North Carolina. He read everything on the subject that he could get his hands on and finally saved enough money to come to Chicago and take the course at the crime detection laboratory. As an amateur he had already shown marked skill in the field of photo-micrography. He stayed on to study further and was finally appointed a research assistant on the staff. The full results of his studies are soon to be made public.

But he will continue to decipher the astonishing legends that are contained in hair. He is just at the beginning, he says, recalling that on the human body alone there are eleven different types of hair. Day after day in the laboratory near the lake front here he bends over his cameras and his microscopes. While to the casual observer his work has little or no connection with Chicago's hoodlums and racketeers, he is nevertheless an important fighter on the crime front.

THE famous Tallulah Bankhead found her way to the front pages via the London stage and Hollywood's movie studios. Her sister, Eugenia, less gifted histrionically, keeps her name in print by getting married.

When she decided, not long ago, to marry Michael Morton Hoyt again, she once more demonstrated that wedding bells are a good recipe for keeping a girl in the public eye—provided they ring often enough.

When her marriage to Hoyt takes place it will be her seventh marriage—and the fourth time that Hoyt has been her matrimonial partner. Even Peggy Joyce, whose name is synonymous with many marriages, can't tie this record.

Tallulah and Eugenia Bankhead are the daughters of Congressman William B. Bankhead of Alabama. They knew plenty of Southern boys, and plenty of other boys, too, while they were growing up. Tallulah turned them all down for her career; and she is still single, although she has been seen often of late in the company of Joel McCrea, one of Hollywood's better looking leading men.

Not Eugenia, though. She made up her mind about marriage when she was 17. Morton Hoyt was 19 at the time. He and Eugenia were fairly sure that they couldn't live without each other, so they got married.

Young Hoyt had enough family background to win anyone's approval. He is a great-grandson of Morton McMichael, one-time Mayor of Philadelphia. One grandfather was a Governor of Pennsylvania. His father, the late Henry M. Hoyt, was Solicitor-General during the Taft administration. Then, too, Hoyt is the brother of Nancy Hoyt, the novelist, and Elinor Wylie, poet and novelist, who died a few years ago.

Since both Hoyt and Eugenia were under age, the marriage was annulled at once. The couple waited until 1920. Then the ceremony was repeated. The marriage lasted for eight years.

Towards the end of the period they started to bore each other. A divorce was the natural step, they decided.

Eugenia wanted to go to London to visit Tallulah, who was on the English stage. Since Hoyt had no definite plans, he went to Reno and got a divorce on grounds of cruelty and extravagance, adding, also, that his wife didn't love him any longer. The divorce was granted early in 1928.

When Eugenia received the word that she was free she obtained a small part in an English production and decided to have a career.

But she didn't. She got married again. For the third time and to the same man. She decided that he needed her.

Hoyt had gone to Paris after the divorce. Miss Bankhead heard that he was having a wild time. One story explained that he had branded himself with a red-hot poker at a party. Another dramatized the manner in which he had chopped up a whisk-broom and eaten it with cream and sugar, exactly as though it were a breakfast food, when the other guests at a breakfast party had dined on ham and eggs.

Eugenia advised him to find a nice girl who would marry him. She was relieved when he sailed back to America. But on board the ship he jumped overboard, in a fog, because Miss Elsie Ekengren, a 17-year-old Washington debutante, told him to jump. She was merely making a friendly dare. But Hoyt took it and made the dive.

The girl gave the cry, "Man Overboard!" The captain rang for engines full speed astern. When Hoyt was picked up he was barely conscious.

Eugenia sailed back to America and met Hoyt in New York. They talked things over. After all, they were still very good friends, and they were willing to take a third chance on each other. So just 11 months after their divorce, they remarried.

Hoyt had become fond of Reno during the weeks that he was living there while waiting for the divorce. He told his wife that he was sure she would like it, too. The couple moved to the sagebrush divorce capital. They bought a $12,000 house.

Hoyt was happy. Mrs. Hoyt wasn't. Incompatibility, they said again. They received their second divorce in December, 1929.

The next time Eugenia Bankhead Hoyt tried marriage she chose a new man. His name was Wilfred Lawson Butt. He had been a football star at Nevada University.

A few days after the Hoyts obtained their second divorce Eugenia married the gridiron star. He had been married before, too. His divorce was very recent.

The newlyweds sailed away to Honolulu on a honeymoon that was supposed to be an enchanted sort of affair. It wasn't. Three weeks after it started, Eugenia Bankhead Hoyt Butt was informed that her husband's divorce decree wouldn't be final for a little while. That upset everything. She left him and sailed home.

As soon as she landed she set about having her marriage annulled. Mrs. Audra Butt, the first wife of the collegian, explained that she hadn't known that her husband wanted to marry another girl when she agreed to the divorce. She had thought that he wanted to go back to college and play football.

Eugenia Bankhead received an annulment of this marriage near the end of June of 1930.

She wasn't afraid to try again. Howard Lee, a Dallas aviator and former polo player, was her next husband. The marriage took place early in July, 1930, in Reno.

This marriage got off to a bad start. Lee became ill a few minutes after the ceremony was performed. The wedding festivities stopped, the guests were sent home, and the bridegroom was put to bed.

Somehow, Mrs. Lee had received the impression that her new husband was very influential in aeronautics. After she married him she learned that she had been misinformed. He wasn't especially important, it seems. Just likeable.

Less than two months later, near the end of August, in 1930, this marriage was annulled. Misrepresentation served as the grounds.

Five times now the daughter of the Southern Congressman had agreed to take someone as her lawful and wedded companion through life. The first marriage had been annulled against her will, because she was too young. The other four legal separations had her approval.

She tried again. The following June she received her sixth wedding ring. It was Edward Ennis White, a New York business man, who slipped it on her finger.

THE couple established a home in Los Angeles and everything seemed lovely.

Then the trouble began. Police records revealed that White, under the name of Graham Devine, had been arrested on four forgery counts. Police took him to jail, since he couldn't raise the $1000 bond. He said that it was all a mistake, but they wouldn't listen.

Among the alleged bogus checks was the one with which he paid the Justice of the Peace when he married Miss Bankhead. That was too much for her sense of humor and she prepared to seek her freedom again.

Once more she sought an annulment of marriage. She sailed to Paris in September, 1931, to obtain a divorce.

Then, free again, Eugenia turned to Morton Hoyt. After all, they have always been friends. Incompatibility is all that was ever the matter. One time they made a go of marriage for nearly eight years. They were a little older now. Perhaps. . . .

Hoyt has never married anyone but Eugenia. He noticed that her romances didn't last very well.

She lived with Butt for only three weeks. Her marriage to Lee crashed in less than two months and her romance with White was of short duration.

It was clear that she got along best with Hoys.

So Morton Hoyt and Eugenia Bankhead, who decided that they couldn't live without each other when they were in their 'teens, have come back to the same decision now that they are in their thirties.

Eugenia Bankhead's three marriage ceremonies with Morton Hoyt were all performed before she married her other husbands.

She hasn't gone back to him intermittently.

And now that she has discarded the others and turned to Hoyt again, it may be a sign that she knows what she wants at last.

Eugenia and Hoyt have always been good friends. When their first divorce was granted Hoyt went to Reno and asked for it just because it would have inconvenienced Eugenia to go and ask for it herself.

The husbands of Eugenia Hoyt—Numbers 1, 2 and 3 are Morton Hoyt, number 4 is W. Lawson Butt, number 5 is Howard Lee, and number 6 is Edward White. Then—Morton Hoyt.

A Giant Python From the Philippine Jungles

A Month After Being Captured, 67 of Its Eggs Hatched Out and the Whole Family Is Now in the Tokio Zoo.

The giant python with a Filipino girl.

Another view of the 35-foot mother python.

By WALTER ROBB

A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch Sunday Magazine

MANILA.

FROM a Philippine jungle has come a python which has been pronounced the largest ever taken alive. It is 35 feet long, and, when captured, measured four feet around the thickest part of its body, and weighed as much as a pony.

Usually when a human being meets a snake that big he either leaves it alone or tries to kill it as speedily as possible. But the Japanese farmers who found this serpent in the wilderness of Davao, in the southern part of the Philippines, caught it at a disadvantage: it was dormant, and so unable to make much resistance. Even so, it required nine of the Japanese to make the capture. They hastily cut canes from brakes nearby and soon had the snake securely caged.

A few days later the python's sluggishness was explained—and the farmers found they had captured not one snake, but 68. For the captive deposited 67 eggs, each weighing more than two pounds, and coiled herself around them until they should hatch. In a month, out of the eggs came 67 baby pythons, eager for a meal of mice, birds or other small creatures.

Mitsui Bussan Kaisha, a Japanese trading company, bought the mother python and her offspring from the farmers and recently sent the snakes to the zoo in the Imperial Gardens at Tokio as a gift to the Emperor and the people of Japan.

Unless pythons value liberty more than life, the capture of their mother was a break for the 67 youngsters. For if they had been born in the jungle, with their own way to make, most of them wouldn't have lived long. It doesn't take an actuary to figure this out. It is obvious that creatures which come into the world in such numbers as 67 in one batch would speedily overrun the country if something didn't happen to them early in life.

One of the principal—and final—things that happen to many young pythons is meeting a wild boar. This savage jungle dweller plays an important part in keeping the snake population down to a reasonable size.

The wild boar and the python of the Philippine jungle are mortal enemies. Both forage at night, and when they meet there's usually a desperate fight, providing both are well grown. A baby python, or even one eight or ten feet long, is a snap for a hungry, adult boar; he can kill and eat a snake like that in very short order. But a large python and a boar put on a fierce battle, with the victory going sometimes to the mighty, squeezing coils, and sometimes to the slashing tusks and hoofs.

THE fighters leave a great deal of damaged scenery to mark the scene of their struggle. Bushes and tall grass are laid low, and sometimes a tree is uprooted—unable to resist the pull exerted when the snake, with its neck wrapped around the tree, gets its tail around its maddened foe. As much as half an acre of jungle may be virtually cleared in one of these combats. Settlers making fields in the jungle tell of going out occasionally in the morning to find that most of their day's work has been done for them during the night; all they have to do is fire the patch cleared by the nocturnal fighters.

When a python is boar hunting its favorite device is to wrap its neck around a branch of a banyan tree, overhanging a game trail, and let its tail hang down just clear of the ground. The banyan tree offers good cover and its branches are strong. Furthermore, it has air roots, and the snake's dangling body is easily mistaken for a part of the tree. If a boar comes along the trail and brushes against the python's tail, the serpent may be able to get a coil or two around the animal and put on a fatal squeeze before it has a chance to resist. Or if the surprise attack doesn't succeed, the snake can pull its body up out of reach.

NATURE seems to preserve a pretty even balance between these two enemies in the Philippine jungle. Also, it manages to keep the python from exterminating the other beasts on which it preys, such as the deer and the wild water buffalo; yearling buffaloes are not too large for a big python to swallow.

When hunting deer, the python lies in wait beside a trail or water hole; it is coiled, ready to spring. A deer comes along, pauses a moment on the trail to look about, or bends over the water hole to drink. This is the snake's chance. With lightning speed and tremendous force, it dashes its bony head against the deer's body, knocking the animal down. Before the victim can recover sufficiently from the shock to regain its feet and run, the snake has its coils around it, and soon crushes out its life.

The python crushes his prey to a pulp before starting to eat it. Swallowing the meal is a slow, continuous process and must be kept up until the job is finished. The snake's teeth, of which there are six rows, point gulletward, so he cannot let his victim go, even if he would, once he has started eating. If a section of the meal is too big to pass through his jaws in their normal position, he unhinges his jaws and proceeds.

After a full meal the python seeks cover for a sleep of several weeks, or perhaps months. During this time he is too sluggish to make much resistance if attacked. But he is usually well concealed during these long naps, and his colors help protect him from observation. The Philippine pythons vary in color from yellow-brown to deep tan, with irregular black splotches, and such colors are inconspicuous in their native jungles.

Hunters say the python will not intentionally attack a man unless it is cornered or wounded or surprised in killing its prey. But sometimes it kills human beings unwittingly. When it is hanging down from a banyan tree at night and feels some living thing touch its tail, it seizes the thing if it can and squeezes until the captive is thoroughly dead before it investigates. If the victim proves to be a man, it was just an unfortunate mistake.

Natives of the Philippines, the peasants particularly, dread the banyan tree as the haunt of an evil spirit, the tigbalan, which is supposed to assume grotesque forms and snatch up lone travelers at night. For believers in the tigbalan, the thing to do when one must pass a banyan tree is to call out first, speak politely to the spirit that dwells in it, and ask his permission to pass.

There can be little doubt that the tigbalan is really the lurking python. When the fearful peasant, belated on a jungle path, speaks to the evil ghost, it is the python that hears. Recognizing a human voice, and having no disposition to pick a quarrel with its owner, the snake raises its body into the tree.

BUT the wayfarer who neglects to take this precaution may blunder against the dangling tail and die very quickly in the python's coils.

But man has no compunction about killing the python. Of nearly 90 different peoples in the Philippines, only one does not kill this serpent when opportunity arises. This group is the Tagacaolis, remnants of an ancient tribe of the Davao gulf region. They don't kill snakes of any kind. Instead, when they get their hands on a snake, they pick it up, blow on its head, mumble over it and let it go, the proceeding being a manifestation of the Tagacaolis' ancient friendship for serpents—a friendship based on the utilitarian principle of live and let live.

When, as occasionally happens, one of the great pythons is provoked to attack a man, it rushes at the enemy with disconcerting speed. It carries its battering-ram head at a height to strike its foe in the midriff. If the man has a gun, he would better use it as the snake speeds toward him. The chances are he will have time for only one shot. If the shot fails, a good sharp knife, perhaps a bolo, is needed. The knife should be held high, for the python will try to pin its adversary's arms to his body with its coils. The knife should be wielded with the object of severing the snake's spine. If that is done, the coils relax and the man can step clear. It is a good idea then to make sure the job is done by putting a bullet in the monster's head.

The pagan people of the Philippines eat python meat and relish it, and even a few of the Christian natives who live on the border of the wilderness don't disdain this food. If the snake to be eaten is a long one, its body is cut into sections, which are spitted on bamboo poles and roasted over a campfire. The meat is tender and white, and those who eat it say it tastes like chicken. The gall is preserved because it is supposed to have certain curative properties—to be an antidote for the poison of the cobra, for one thing.

Numerous pythons more than 30 feet long have been taken in the Philippines, but most of them were killed in the struggle. Some of the natives use lassoes to capture the snake. They toss a noose around its neck or tail and snub the rope quickly around a pole or tree, then do the same with the other extremity, and thus hold the snake stretched out so it is powerless to coil or strike. A forked bamboo is sometimes used to pin down the head or tail while the lasso is tossed and secured. The job requires strength and skill, and is distinctly hazardous.

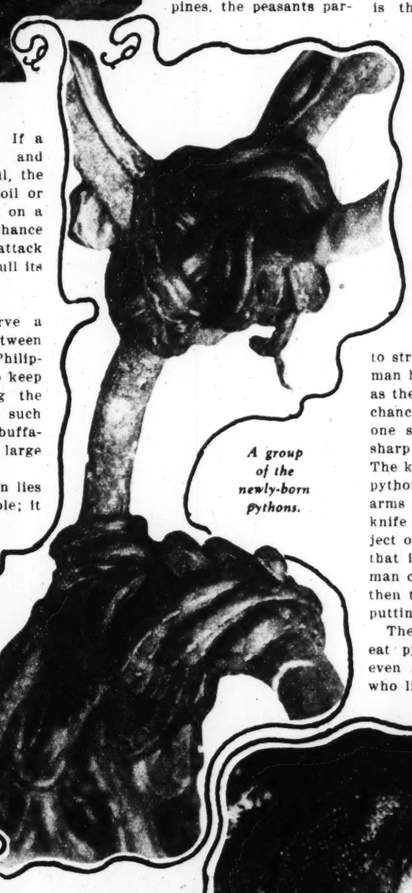

All that has been said thus far about these great snakes refers especially to the rock python. Incidentally, pythons are not to be confused with boa constrictors, although they are related and both are non-venomous. There are no boas in the Philippines.

BUT there is another kind of python in the Philippines which might almost be called a domestic creature. It is smaller than the rock python, and one of its favorite haunts is the attic of a dwelling house, where it can feed upon bats, mice and rats. In church belfries also it makes its home, because of the generous supply of bats and sparrows. When such a python takes up its abode in a house most of the peasants consider it good luck for the owner. Even Americans, though no lovers of snakes, seldom drive away such harmless boarders which live on rodents and serve as attic scavengers.

A python dwelt for years above the ceiling of our house in a village on the plains of Central Luzon, and we were glad to have him there. We never clapped eyes on him, but we could hear him nightly, lunging for his supper, and muffled squeaks told how he was succeeding. Neighbors said to let him alone, he was good luck to us. Certainly we enjoyed our life in that village, and made friends among the Malays there.

An American acquaintance in an adjacent province also had a python in the attic of his house. This python became friendly and would peep its head down when called. And when the man made an excursion to the attic, by candle-light, to tinker with the electric wiring, the pet python nuzzled about so closely that the man had to cuff him away.

When the wiring had been mended and the man looked about him in the attic, the python was gone. He had glided down a bougainvillea vine overhanging a corner of the house, and swam across the river to the tall grass in the bottom lands there. And he remained there, too, refusing to answer to his name, and never returning to the man's house to keep the bats and rats out of it. The Malays say the python cursed that house, the man would never have good luck in it again. The man has certainly had bad luck since, but the superstition loses some of its force in these depressed times; his neighbors have had bad luck too.

concerning the first man who held the title of "President of the United

John Hanson—"First President" of the United States

An Historian Digs Up Documentary Evidence to Prove That This Maryland Patriot, Elected by Congress, Served as the Republic's Head for a Year After Yorktown.

By GUY FORSHEY
Of the Post-Dispatch Sunday Magazine Staff

IT WAS November 28, 1781. Just a month before, Lord Cornwallis had surrendered at Yorktown and now the war for American Independence was over. Philadelphia on this day had turned out to honor George Washington, the national hero. Bells rang and crowds, almost riotous in their enthusiasm, surged through the streets and carried him along with them to Independence Hall. There something happened—something that for 150 years has failed to get into the history books. George Washington called on the President! George Washington called on the first President of this country and with a graceful speech, formally accepted his new title of "Commander of the Armies of the United States."

"Mr. President," he said, "I feel very sensibly the favorable declaration of Congress expressed by Your Excellency. This fresh proof of their approbation cannot fail of making a deep impression upon me and my study shall be to deserve a continuation of it."

The history books have said nothing about a President that preceded Washington, but official documents bear out the fact that there was such a President. His name was John Hanson and he was elected by Congress under the Articles of Confederation in November, 1781, and served until ill health brought about his retirement a year later. It is true that he had not the powers which Presidents have had since Washington. It is true that he was not elected in the manner in which later Presidents have been elected. And it is also true that he was not elected and did not serve under the present Constitution. But he was elected nevertheless. His title was "President of the United States in Congress Assembled" and he was regarded as the head of the new Government. He was the nation's chief executive. Here is the note of announcement which Charles Thomson, secretary of Congress, sent out to the Governors of the various States and to General Washington on November 5, 1781, a few hours after Hanson's election.

"I have the honor to inform you," it read, "that this day pursuant to the Articles of Confederation, the United States in Congress Assembled proceeded to the choice of a President and have elected for the ensuing year his Excellency, John Hanson."

These and other interesting data concerning the first man who held the title of "President of the United States" are now brought to light through a volume, "John Hanson—Our First President," by the late historian, Seymour Weymss Smith. The book, which is from the presses of Brewer, Warren & Putnam, New York, is published posthumously, the author having died on Jan. 4. Some years ago, it seems, when Mr. Smith was writing a series of articles on forgotten facts of American history he came upon documents bearing on the little known fact that there was such an officer as "President of the United States" before Washington. He determined to devote a volume to the subject and, after considerable research, prepared the book. The delay in publication was due to the author's wish to bring out the volume in 1932, which not only marks the two hundredth anniversary of Washington's birth, but also the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of John Hanson's term in office.

This work by Smith is John Hanson's first biography. No standard histories mention him and the average citizen never heard of him.

"The only references to John Hanson in the card indices of the New York Public Library," writes Hal F. Lee in a preface to Smith's book, "mention two articles published in the Financial Digest, of which Seymour Weymss Smith was owner and publisher, written by himself in 1925 and 1928. The New York Times devoted four columns to the second of these articles, and the Encyclopedia Britannica took cognizance of Hanson for the first time in 1929, having failed to mention his name in former editions.

"THE last edition records Hanson served in the Maryland House of Delegates for 24 years (1757-81); that he was on many important committees during the Revolutionary War and served as a representative of Maryland in the Continental Congress, 1781-83. It also grants he was elected 'President of the United States in Congress Assembled' and that he is 'sometimes referred to as the first President of the United States.' . . . To George Washington seven pages of the Encyclopedia are justly devoted—to John Hanson but fourteen brief lines."

About the only public monument to John Hanson in existence, Smith writes, is a bronze figure in Statuary Hall in the National Capitol. Figures of George Washington and Robert E. Lee represent the State of Virginia as the two greatest men it has produced in all its history, and the figures of John Hanson and Charles Carroll represent the two greatest men produced by Maryland. The Hanson figure is of a man attired in a frock coat, a triangular hat, knee breeches and all the conventional garb of a gentleman of those days. He carries in his hand a heavy walking stick and stands directly across the hall from George Washington. Smith considers it fitting that the two figures should face each other in Statuary Hall inasmuch as the men Washington and Hanson were bound by closer ties than those of dignity and high position. In life they were neighbors, he relates, for Washington lived just across the Potomac River from Maryland, and the Washingtons and the Hansons were intimate friends of many years' standing. In Washington's records of visitors to Mount Vernon, the name of Hanson occurs frequently.

Smith traces the Hanson family all the way back to one John de Rastnick of Halifax, England, who assumed the name of Hanson (diminutive of Henry's son) in the early part of the fourteenth century. The John Hanson of American history was born at Mulberry Grove, Charles County, Maryland, on April 3, 1715, the son of John Hanson, a planter. There were four sons and three daughters in the planter's family. The eldest, Robert, represented Charles County in the Maryland Legislature in seven sessions from 1719 to 1740. He was the grandfather of Colonel Robert Hanson Harrison, military secretary to Washington during the Revolutionary War and a candidate for vice president when Washington was elected President and was later one of Washington's appointees to a justiceship of the Supreme Court.

Samuel Hanson, another brother of John, represented Charles County in the Legislature in the sessions of 1716 and 1728.

Of John Hanson's early life, the biographer concedes, not much is known, but a family tradition has it that he was educated in Europe and it is known for certain that he, like his two elder brothers, had a turn at the Maryland Legislature, serving in the years, 1757-58, 1765-66 and 1768; that he moved from Charles County to Frederick County in 1773, and that he was a force in Colonial politics long before the Revolution.

HANSON married Jane Contee, descendant of a French Huguenot family of Rochelle, and was the father of three sons, Alexander, Peter and Samuel, all of whom played an active part in the Revolution as did their father.

"John Hanson's talents as a military organizer, his tireless energy in supporting Washington's army with men, arms and ammunition and his other war activities were of incalculable value to the Continental cause," writes Smith. "He threw himself into the struggle with a great zeal. Although then a man in his sixties—at the time he was elected President John Hanson was 66 years old—he soon became the dominant factor in Maryland's wartime activities.

"Only a few weeks after Bunker Hill, when the crisis had come to a head, John Hanson rose in the Provincial Convention in July, 1775, and declared that he and his followers would 'repel by force' and pledged himself to support the 'present opposition.' By this time Hanson had arranged for the manufacture of gunpowder, arms and army equipment and every resident of the county had been enrolled as a prospective soldier in the event war broke out.

"During these preparations the news came of the battle of Bunker Hill and the Hanson adherents, who had openly espoused the cause of Massachusetts since the passage of the Boston Post Bill, at once arranged to send aid to their co-patriots at Boston.

"At a meeting of the Committee of Correspondence held in the Court House at Frederick on June 21, 1775, a letter which John Hanson had received from the Maryland delegates in Congress was read by him. Congress asked Maryland in this communication to send armed help to Boston and John Hanson personally organized two companies of trained riflemen. In the middle of July they marched away from Frederick. They arrived at the Colonial headquarters near Boston August 9, in 22 days, without the loss of a man. * * * The riflemen were received with great joy."

At a meeting of the citizens of Frederick, held at the court house on June 20, 1774, John Hanson presided, the author relates. There, he and his son, Alexander, and Phillip Thomas were appointed delegates to the "General Congress at Annapolis." They were also selected as members of the Committee of Observation to receive and answer all letters and in any emergency to call a general meeting.

When this committee was organized John Hanson was chosen chairman and he served in that role until the organization was absorbed by the state government. As chairman, we are told, he sent 200 pounds sterling for the relief of the poor of Boston which was kindly acknowledged by Samuel Adams of that city.

Hanson bobs up frequently in this manner in accounts of Maryland's pre-revolutionary activities. Throughout the period of the war, too, he is found on this committee or that, organizing, directing, exhorting. On January 20, 1776, it is recorded, Hanson was appointed by the Maryland Council of Safety to serve on a committee to collect silver and gold from the inhabitants of Frederick County for the benefit of the Continental cause. Later he is found on a commission authorized to interview the Maryland troops in the field with a view to persuading as many as possible to re-enlist for duration of the war. He is seen also as a leading figure in early sessions of the Maryland Assembly and as head of the Maryland delegation in Congress at Philadelphia during the latter part of the war.

It was John Hanson's leadership in the historic land fight—the "war within a war"—that brought him into national prominence and resulted in his election as President. Hanson, as head of the Maryland delegation, held out for the principle that all undeveloped lands belonged to the nation and demanded that the various states cede to the Government forever all the land they claimed outside their own geographical borders. The fight began in 1777 when the Articles of Confederation were drawn up to cement the 13 independent states into one nation.

"On October 15, 1777," writes Smith, "one month before the Articles were sent to the State Legislatures for ratification, the State of Maryland introduced the following motion into Congress:

"'That the United States in Congress Assembled shall have the sole right and power to ascertain and fix the western boundary of such states as claimed to the Mississippi, or South Sea, and lay out the land beyond the boundary, so ascertained, into separate and independent states, from time to time, as the numbers and circumstances of the people may require.'

"Maryland not only had the honor of introducing this resolution, but of the 13 states it was the only one that voted for it; for the idea contained in it was an entirely new one.

"As a matter of simple fact, John Hanson and his associates in Maryland were quite alone in their dream of national expansion. The other states had never thought beyond the conception of 13 states with western boundaries. Even as the King of England wanted distant colonies, so the larger American States wanted their distant colonies, too—colonies which could be ruled by a Governor and taxed for the benefit of the owner state.

"Maryland's resolution was like a bombshell to them; and when they had recovered from the shock of it, they set to work quickly. Only a few days after October 15, Virginia, Connecticut, New York and Massachusetts succeeded in jamming a motion through Congress which added a clause to the Articles of Confederation, providing that no state should be deprived of territory for the benefit of the United States.

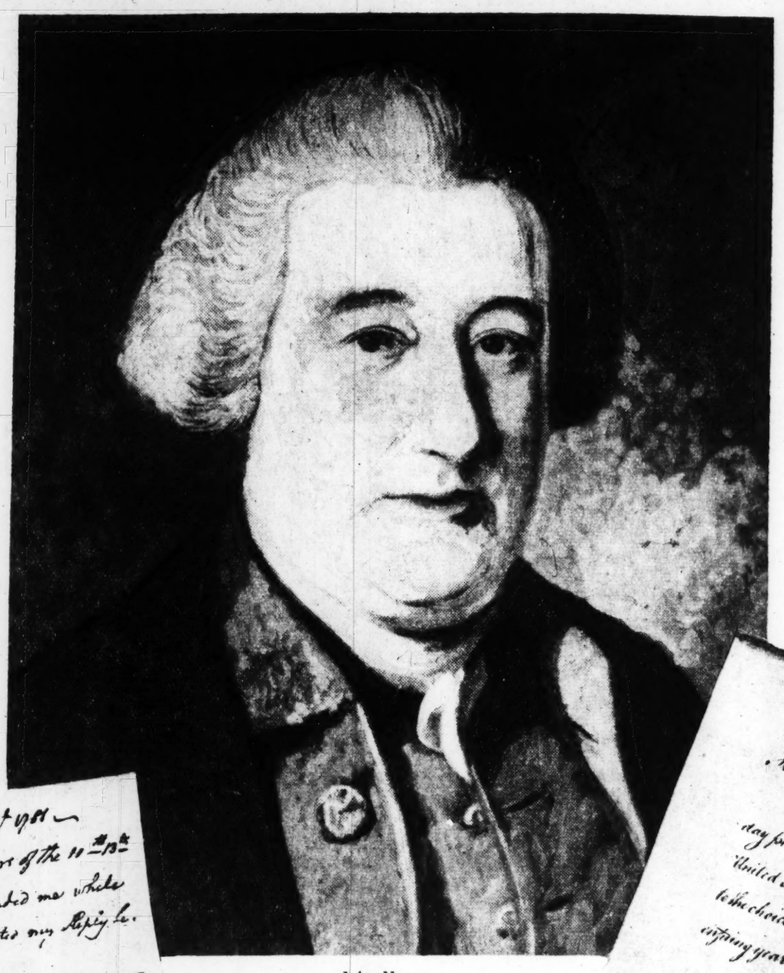

THERE was little opposition. Rhode Island, New Jersey and Delaware, small states, made it known that they desired a share of revenue arising from these western lands. But they signed the Articles of Confederation.

"By February 22, 1779, twelve states had signed. Only Maryland was left to fight the battle alone."

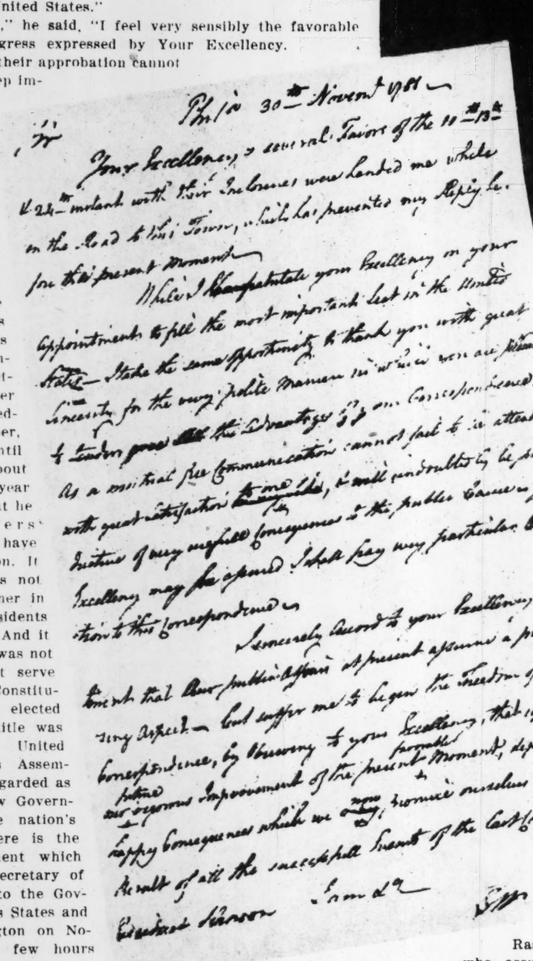

But Maryland fought the battle and won it. Maryland was a key state. It divided the North and the South and was the center of population. It took advantage of its position and refused to sign. John Hanson sat with folded arms at Annapolis and while the other states fumed and implored Maryland to recede from its position, he calmly gave the rest of the country to understand that the nation could be organized only when the other states signed over to the Government the land to which they had such shadowy claims.

As it turned out, Hanson's political strategy worked. One by one the states recanted and by March, 1781, they were all in line. Then Maryland signed the Articles of Confederation. In a letter, dated March 21, 1781, George Washington congratulated Congress upon completion of the Confederation of the United States and described Maryland's act as "an event long wished for, which I hope will have the happiest effects upon the politics of this country, and which will be of essential service to our cause in Europe."

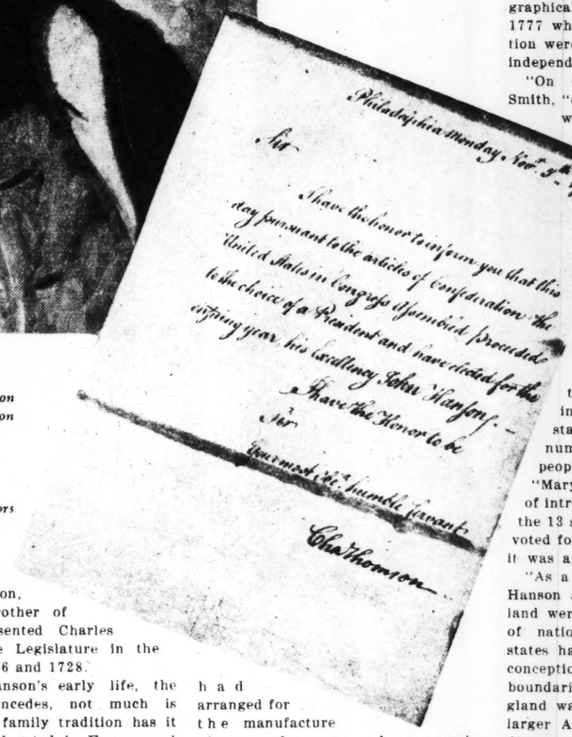

The first session of Congress elected under the provisions of the Articles of Confederation opened at Independence Hall in Philadelphia on November 5, 1781—the first Monday in November. And the election of John Hanson of Maryland as President was the first act of Congress of the United States on the first day of its existence. His administration however, was but one year in duration. In November, 1782, he retired from office because of failing health, and his death followed a year later—November 22, 1783.

Courier of Cripple Creek

By MARGARET CRAVEN

THE man let his eyes wander from the pile of antlers under the eaves of the old adobe ranch house past the bullet-riddled hitching post across a dozen miles of sage and mesa. They were keen, appraising eyes, and they missed nothing; not even the groundhog sitting on his tail beneath a pinion tree, or the tall girl in boots and whipcord, waiting nervously for him to speak.

"We'll sell this to some big company," said James confidentially. "That hill over there will make a marvelous golf course."

She looked at the hill, too, but all she could see was the pile of rock that marked the spot where Big Jim Henry lay sleeping in the sun.

James was putting a price tag on the mesa that lay before them, high and level. "It's a perfect flying field," he told her.

She saw a lot of fat millionaires, on bran muffin diets, climbing out of sleek, shiny planes, down there where the best cattle in the State had once worn the old brand of Flying M.

"Surely, after waiting all this time, we can stick it out a little longer," he said gently. "Especially if we can turn this place into $50,000."

It was true and so sensible! Four years ago, when they had become engaged, she had been tied hand and foot to a pack of hopelessly large debts and an invalid mother. Now he was an established banker, and she was almost free. Fifty thousand dollars would be enough to clear everything and send her out of this country with her head up.

Dale looked at this curious person who climbed trees to escape bulls.

How sweet of him to come from New York to help her on the last lap of the battle! How kind of him to offer to go to Denver and scurry up a buyer!

"Of course," she agreed simply. "I see it. Let's start."

Dale had to use the chile line to take James to the station. A chile line is a small truck, used to carry frijoles to the herders in the sheep camps.

James wheeled it out of the corral, while she went into the house and gave some orders.

She took the guest list from her desk and scanned it carefully. "Rosita," she directed the Indian girl, "better put Mrs. Wellington Converse in number five."

Rosita nodded, and James brought the chile line up before the front door.

"That's all, I guess," said Dale. "I'll take Mr. Trulow to the station and then I'll drop over to the village and pick up the mail, three sheep and a new courier. The agency is sending over Slim Jenkins from Powderhorn."

When they came to the Mexican village, with its old pink adobes, James drove through like a big wind.

"Stop at the cross-roads," Dale said, "and we'll pick up Indian Ben to come along and help me with the sheep."

On the other side of the village, on what used to be her father's ranch, was a flagrant new sign in bright blue with orange letters: "Good Eats Auto Camp—Garage and Amusements."

"Did you ever see anything more ghastly than that?" the girl sputtered.

"It's hideous, all right, but it's a good business, I suppose," said James practically.

At the cross-roads Indian Ben was out nailing a sign to his fence: "Beware Bear Traps." There wasn't a bear within a hundred miles, but Dale didn't have to ask the purpose of that sign. The auto campers were already stealing his vegetables.

She admired Ben. She could see that today he was somewhat low in his mind. He climbed up beside her and James, and when Dale asked him how was business, he said sadly: "My wife she go to this new dude ranch every night to dance. She come out in dyed chicken feathers and make a lot of noise, and the white people throw coins at her."

The mention of the new ranch scared Dale. It was set up to rival hers. But when the chile line rattled by the new hostelry, her fear died as quickly as it had come. Such a glittering group of bright pink stuccoed bungalows! A couple of couriers in orange pants, plush shirts, purple silk handkerchiefs and brand new sombreros were hanging around the corrals.

At the narrow gauge railroad, she left James and she and Ben went on to the village. Ben helped with the sheep and she did her errands. The stage had come in early, and Mr. Jenkins had evidently tired of waiting and found a pick-up.

When she reached home, the guests had come. A fluffy blonde was already perched on the corral fence, watching the cattle in the meadow, and below in the south meadow was a dark spot up a tree, while below, shaking his head furiously, a bull tried out his temper. The season had begun!

MR. JENKINS hadn't come, so Dale took a cow pony from the corral and started off on the first rescue of the season. She slid the cross bar, and the pony opened the gate and chased the bull back to his harem. This done, he loped back to the cottonwood with her, where the dark spot was untangling himself.

Dale sat her horse and just looked at him; a mild looking, youngish man, in a straw hat, which was a rare phenomenon in this country. "You can read?" she asked. "Signs in this country aren't to keep guests from stealing wild flowers."

"But I'm not a guest," he explained. "I got off the stage and took this for a short cut."

She stared at him. She couldn't believe it. This was the rare piece of atmosphere ordered C. O. D. from Powderhorn. A bit of the Old West for which her guests were willing to pay $2 more a day and horses extra! The new courier of Cripple Creek!

"I told them not to send a greenhorn," she wailed. "How dared you come?"

"I'm sorry," he protested. "I hadn't any idea I'd disturb you like this. I'll go. I'll go immediately."

"Oh, no, you won't. I paid your fare clear down here. You'll stay until I can find something better. Take off that hat."

He took it off. She looked at him carefully. He was tanned, thank heaven. She looked at the tallness and the slimness. At least he wasn't pudgy or fat in the middle.

"Come here," she ordered. "Are your eyes so bad that you can't see that?"

They looked down the mesa, where the Good Eats Auto Camp glared across the horizon, and the new dude ranch proclaimed its pink and stuccoed birth.

"Even a blind man could see that," he admitted. "What's the matter with that sign? That's a good sign. What's the matter with that dude outfit. It's new. I'll bet it has bathtubs and instantaneous hot water.

"That's just it," she explained quickly. "People don't come to this country for that. I've seen these new, cheap places come, and I've seen them go. That's why my place has kept on while they fail; because I've hung on to the real things."

"Gee," he said. "No wonder you got a blow when you saw my straw hat."

"You'll look better in a sombrero," she told him calmly. "I'm going to turn you into a real courier if it kills me. You grew up with horses. You've rolled your blankets on the plains. You've had the sky for your roof and you've had a rock for your pillow."

He took this as a joke. "I can't sleep on anything but goose feathers."

"You spent your youth roping your father's cattle. You remember that, don't you?"

"Give me time. My memory isn't what it ought to be."

"YOU'RE going to do," she said triumphantly. "I can see it. Of course, you're dumb all right, but you'll learn. I'll start you out taking the dudes for trips. You can make yourself entertaining, and stoop and give the fat lady a drink out of the brim of your hat. Do you know how to ride a horse?" she asked.

"Yes, but I can't get a fat lady a drink without getting off. My bones are too old."

"Can you fish? Can you bait a hook for a helpless female?"

"Now look here," he began.

"Jenkins," she interrupted him, "you're too literate. You've never been to school. You drawl."

He gave up.

"Yes, ma'am," he drawled. "I reckon I do."

Silently they walked back to the ranch house, Dale leading her pony. When they were almost there the girl said: "I need you desperately. It means so much to me. You will try."

"Yes," he promised, "I'll try." She took him into the bunkhouse and handed him over to Pedro, with terse instructions for some other clothes.

Dale gave Jenkins three days to become acclimated. Mrs. Converse asked who he was, and a romantic young lady from New Jersey perched herself on the corral fence, determined to stay there until he should notice her.

On the fourth day James wired that he was coming in on the noon train, and Dale prepared to meet him, which necessitated leaving Mr. Jenkins in charge of the guests.

"Jenkins," Dale informed him, "I am driving to Questa today to meet my fiance. I am leaving the guests in your charge. You will have all your meals with them. I want you to pay special attention to Mrs. Converse. When you know her as I do you will find her a woman of charm, though slightly fussy. In fact, Jenkins, she is a pest, but she is taking our most expensive accommodations. You must make her like you."

"All right," he agreed patiently.

She took him in and introduced him around, and deserted him.

James came at last. He had put the place on sale and reported that a Mr. Shelling, representing a large company that operated a string of resort hotels, was coming out to look it over.

She packed James into the chile line and they started home.

They arrived to find Mrs. Converse in rapt attention to Mr. Jenkins.

"Who the devil is that?" asked James.

"Just the courier."

"I wish you wouldn't have these rough characters around the place," he complained.

"He isn't as rough as he looks," she told him. But she wasn't sure. She could tell that Mrs. Converse had gone clear under. It made Dale furious. She couldn't have her guests falling in love with her courier.

In the evening, when the guests were finally worn out and in bed, she and James took a walk in the moonlight.

It was nice. It would have been perfect, if emanating from the bunkhouse had not sailed Mr. Jenkins' voice in a very mournful ditty. There were many verses and each verse ended with the same line, "I'm a roamin' cowboy, roamin' home."

"I wish that fellow would roam clear out of town," declared James, with disgust. "Isn't there any way of shutting him up?"

"Yes," said Dale, "I think there is."

Tomorrow she would send Jenkins off in charge of a four-day fishing trip.

All through James' superior declarations of his love she could hear Jenkins' voice wailing through one sad verse after another.

It was very nice that next day, when he left, a bunch of giggling, thrilled dudes trailing behind him.

She and James had three perfect days, and then again they rattled over the cattle guards to the station. This time the good-bys were longer, but when it was over and he was on his train for New York, she took a big grip on herself and practiced a little salesmanship for Mr. Shelling.

He arrived the next morning, a suave, smooth, small man, who permitted himself to be shown the place as if it were an insult.

He took a good look at the hillside and admitted that one could put a golf course there. "But you'd have to cart that mound away," he announced. "Nobody wants to drive off a grave."

Dale locked herself in her own office after that, so that she couldn't brain him or order him from the place.

In the evening the cavalcade returned from the fishing trip. The guests were all very positive in their praise of Slim Jenkins.

When he dragged himself into her office, she was also a bit sorry.

"Well," said Dale, "I'm glad you're back. I need you terribly. Mr. Shelling is here to look over the place, and he's an obnoxious little beast if I ever saw one. Tomorrow I want you to take a horse and ramble around the place with him. And, whatever you do, don't tell him there's no water on the west end, and don't show him the Good Eats Auto Camp. And keep him away from that new dude outfit. He may not have enough sense to see how tawdry it is."

"Let me get this straight. You want me to talk him into buying this place?"

"Exactly. Not for nothing, of course. If the sale goes over, I'll pay you $1000."

"Is it so important to you?" he asked.

"IT MEANS everything to me." She stood up quickly and went to the window. "My father's name was as good as gold once. I must clear it before I can go to James. You see, it isn't as if the money were owed to a bank. It came from these people who live here—his friends."

"I'll take him on," he promised.

Jenkins and his customer did not appear for luncheon. At 7 Jenkins knocked at the door to her office. He was smiling triumphantly.

"Well?" she said.

"It was a hard job, but I did it," he explained. "I told him the west end had no water. I showed him the auto camp. I compared this place unfavorably with the new dude outfit. The more I knocked it, the more determined he was to buy it."

"Oh, Jenkins, did he?"

"Certainly he didn't. You couldn't turn this place over to that little weasel. I took him to the station and dumped him. I told him you'd changed your mind and weren't selling."

"You're fired," she said slowly.

"If I'm fired, you'll need a new courier," he said mildly.

"I'll never need another courier. I'm through with them. Please go."

"I was just trying to tell you that there was an old cowhand here this morning looking for a job. He's from Powderhorn and he said he would have been here sooner, only he got drunk in Saguache, and the Sheriff put him in the lock-up."

"Who are you?" she demanded fiercely.

"Well," he admitted, "I hate to own up to it. It's not a thing I'm especially proud of, but if you must know, my name's Neil Roberts, and I'm the man who owns the majority of stock in the Good Eats Auto Camp and the pink stuccoed ranch."

"You came here to spy on me, to see how I ran my outfit. You little worm," she flung at him.

"I ACQUIRED my ownership on a deal," he explained. "I got off the stage and was taking a short cut across your land to see my own property when you rescued me. You didn't give me a chance to explain anything. You let me think you were in desperate need of my services. You even insulted me."

"We're even," she declared. "Whatever I did to you isn't as bad as what you've done to me. You've taken away my chance for happiness."

"Only because I thought I could give you a better offer. I want to buy this place. I'll give you $50,000 for it."

"I won't," she sputtered. "You'll turn it into another auto camp."

"All right," he agreed. "Of course, if you won't see it"——

"Wait a minute," she begged. "I will."

She wired James that she had sold the place and would come to him as soon as the deal was finished.

When it was all done, and the papers were signed, and Neil Roberts had taken over the place officially, Dale journeyed into the village and paid up the debts. She decided to go to San Francisco first, buy herself some clothes, and take a boat through the canal, which would give her a rest before she met James.

The entire countryside turned out to tell her good-by. Mr. Roberts waited until she was in the chile line, and then he mosied out slowly and grinned. "Good-by," he said. "Remember, I retain you in a consulting capacity."

She tried to be quite cool, but her rancor had died. After all, he had made possible her release.

In San Francisco she wired James when she would arrive, and he wired back that he had to attend a bank convention in Chicago and could she come

Two W... George Presn... a Murder ...

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch Sunday Magazine

BAKERSVILLE, North Carolina. STANDING trial for his life is not the only difficulty that confronts George Presnell, who, at the age of 59, was brought back here recently to answer a 29-year-old charge of murder. For if that difficulty is overcome — if he wins acquittal at his trial this month — there will still be the problem of what to do about his wives, the two women who have been devoted to him for more than a quarter of a century and who are now his staunch suporters.

One of the women is Mrs. Susie Presnell, living five miles north of Bakersville. She was Presnell's wife when he fled from North Carolina after the killing for which he is to be tried, and she is still his wife; she has been waiting for 29 years for him to come back to her. The other woman is Mrs. George Miller, whose home is near Columbia, Missouri. Presnell married her at Oskaloosa, Iowa, a few years after his flight and after he thought his first wife had died; he was then known as George Miller and married her under this name. They have lived together amply for 25 years—until Presnell's arrest last February. During these years Presnell achieved a reputation as a substantial, law-abiding citizen. Neither wife knew of the other until his arrest.

Now the question arises: If Presnell is freed, to which woman will he return? To the wife of his youth, to whom he is still legally married, or to the wife who, ignorant of her illegal status, has been his companion and helpmate for a quarter of a century?

Presnell is charged with the killing of Lewis Buchanan, a fellow workman at a sawmill on the head of Bean's Creek near Ewart, in Mitchel county, North Carolina, in 1903...

a week later. It was foolish, but she was disappointed. She killed time, and spent more money at it than she could afford. It was a nice thought that as James' bride she would no longer need to worry about penny-stretching.

On the third day there arrived a telegram. Sweet James! She could always count on him to do the wise and thoughtful thing. She tore it open and read: "Mrs. Converse practically sat on a rattlesnake and of course it bit her Stop I don't blame it Stop What do you advise Neil."

She wired back: "Use your own methods."

This should have held Mr. Roberts. It didn't. He just got her up at 3 o'clock the following morning with another wire: "The man from Los Angeles has locked a skunk in the storeroom. Stop Advise immediately Neil."

She wired back: "Go to Europe and stay five months."

ALL the way to New York he bombarded her with telegrams. He wanted to know this and he wanted to know that. It kept her very busy thinking smart answers, and proved very expensive.

James met her. He kissed her tenderly. He loaded her into a large car, and took her to a hotel where he had reserved a suite of rooms for her.

"Thank God you're away from that country," said James. "I worried myself sick over you. Who is this Roberts man?"

She told him and he even forgave that.

"He'll probably run the old place into the ground," he laughed. "I hope his check was good."

"It was," Dale told him. "I went right down and paid dad's debts with it."

"But, Dale," James protested, "you didn't have to do that. The statute of limitations had run out on those debts long ago. No court in the country could hold you."

"I know it. I wanted to clear them. It was the way I felt about it."

"It's my fault," he said bitterly. "I should have known better than to let a woman handle all that money. I could have doubled it for you. Well, it's over."

"Yes," said Dale slowly.

Two Wives Await George Presnell, Charged With a Murder of 29 Years Ago

Now a Respected Missourian, He Stands Trial for Avenging an Insult to the Wife He Believed Long Dead.

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch Sunday Magazine

BAKERSVILLE, North Carolina.

STANDING trial for his life is not the only difficulty that confronts George Presnell, who, at the age of 59, was brought back here recently to answer a 29-year-old charge of murder. For if that difficulty is overcome — if he wins acquittal at his trial this month— there will still be the problem of what to do about his wives, the two women who have been devoted to him for more than a quarter of a century and who are now his staunch suporters.

One of the women is Mrs. Susie Presnell, living five miles north of Bakersville. She was Presnell's wife when he fled from North Carolina after the killing for which he is to be tried, and she is still his wife; she has been waiting for 29 years for him to come back to her. The other woman is Mrs. George Miller, whose home is near Columbia, Missouri. Presnell married her at Oskaloosa, Iowa, a few years after his flight and after he thought his first wife had died; he was then known as George Miller and married her under this name. They have lived together happily for 25 years—until Presnell's arrest last February. During these years Presnell achieved a reputation as a substantial, law-abiding citizen. Neither wife knew of the other until his arrest.

Now the question arises: If Presnell is freed, to which woman will he return? To the wife of his youth, to whom he is still legally married, or to the wife who, ignorant of her illegal status, has been his companion and helpmate for a quarter of a century?

Presnell is charged with the killing of Lewis Buchanan, a fellow workman at a sawmill on the head of Bean's Creek near Ewart, in Mitchel county, North Carolina, in 1903. The trouble arose over an insulting remark which Buchanan is alleged to have made to Presnell's young wife, and ended in the death of Buchanan who was slashed on the leg with a hawk bill knife in the hands of Presnell.

There were only two eye witnesses to the slaying, Mann Garland, now dead, and Obediah Butler, still a resident of Mitchell County. Neither of the two men, it is stated, tried to intercept the slayer following the act.

Buchanan died from the loss of blood, within thirty minutes after being cut, an artery having been severed. There were no roads and no automobiles in that remote section of North Carolina in those days, and by the time news of the crime could reach officers at Bakersville, and they could arrive upon the scene and start an investigation, Presnell had disappeared as completely as if the earth had swallowed him. Although a wide search was made, no trace of the fugitive could be found.

George Presnell.

THE Presnell home, established three years before, was broken up, and the slender young wife with brown curly hair and deep blue eyes went to live with relatives. She was stunned by the blow. Although yet in her teens, and pretty, she refused to mingle with girls and boys of her own age, but lived much to herself, nursing her sorrow in secret. She had been happy and loved truly, and George Presnell's place in her heart could never be filled by another. In vain she hoped and looked for letters that never came. Months passed into years; no word came from the one who had left her without warning on that eventful day back in 1903.

In the early years of the twentieth century residents of the town of Oskaloosa, Iowa one day noted the arrival of a young man. Of splendid physique and friendly mien, he found no difficulty in making a place for himself as a citizen of the little town. He sought work and found it, he was honest in his dealings, his associates were above reproach. He gave his name as George Miller.

Success seemed to smile upon the stranger, and he looked happy to the casual observer. His more intimate friends believed he had left a sweetheart behind. At times he appeared moody after receiving mail, and sometimes declared his intentions of going back home. Then one day a letter came from Presnell's father saying that an epidemic of measles had invaded the home community and indicating that his wife had died.

At the end of three years, Presnell married a young woman whom he had met since coming to the Iowa town. They set up housekeeping and life ran along smoothly. He was regarded as a man of substance, and served on the school board and as a road overseer. After awhile a daughter, then a son, were adopted by them.

Fifteen years passed, and the couple and their adopted children moved from Iowa to the vicinity of Columbia, Missouri, where the man known as George Miller began operation of a coal mine and became an influential citizen. The children attended the local schools, receiving high school educations, after which the boy got a job and went to work. The girl was sent by her foster parents to Iowa State College at Ames, where she graduated.

Time passed, and letters were exchanged between Presnell and his relatives in North Carolina. They tried to persuade him to return and face the charge against him. An attorney at Bakersville also was said to have written him on this subject. A brother visited him last summer.

Finally some of Presnell's letters to relatives were intercepted by autrohities, and one day officers called at the house near Columbia, where lived the man who called himself George Miller, and asked him if he wasn't really George Presnell who had cut a man and fled from North Carolina in 1903.

Presnell admitted his identity and the fight with Buchanan. He said Buchanan insulted his wife, and when he remonstrated, Buchanan kicked him in the face, knocking out two teeth. He declared he had been thinking seriously of late of returning to North Carolina to face the music, and probably would have gone back on his own initiative by fall. He made no opposition to extradition. So a telegram was sent to J. Malone Gouge, High Sheriff of Mitchell County, North Carolina, advising him to come to Missouri and take charge of his prisoner.

Again a home was broken up. Presnell had not revealed his past to his second wife. But again the love and loyalty of a good woman withstood the shock. She had lived happily with him for twenty-five year, and she would not desert him now. So with a brave heart she said good-by when he left for North Carolina.

"George, you have always been good to me," she said, "you have been a good husband, and I am going to stick to you. And if you go to prison I will be waiting for you when you come out."

George Presnell, coming back to the land of his birth to account for a deed committed in an unguarded moment of passion in his youth was not handcuffed. He came as a companion of Sheriff Gouge and Ex-Sheriff Reid Berry, making the long trip by motor.

Quite different was the home coming from the going away. Many of the cities through which he passed today were straggling, small towns twenty-nine years ago. Poor roads had been replaced by hard-surfaced highways, and the buggy and wagon had been superseded by the motor car. The distance back home was as nothing compared with his long and wearisome journey on foot across the state more than a quarter of a century earlier.

He arrived at the seat of Mitchell County on the night of February 25, and took up his abode behind prison bars.

Early on the morning of the 26, a woman of mature years hurriedly left the home of her sister on Little Rock Creek and made her way to Bakersville. Her brown curly hair was but faintly streaked with gray, and her deep blue eyes held a light of glad expectancy. Susie Presnell would soon be face to face with the only man she had ever loved. The report that she had died was untrue.

With glad cries husband and wife were reunited in a close embrace. The long intervening years appeared as but a frightful dream to the woman who declared all was forgiven, and that she would stand by her husband when he went to trial.

WHAT will George Presnell do if he is acquitted? The law annuls the marriage of George Presnell to his second wife because of the assumed name under which he married her. Under the law his marriage to Susie Presnell is as binding today as it was the day she became his bride. If he loved Susie Presnell in the beginning, is his heart not stirred with the ardent love and faithfulness displayed by her through the long years of waiting? Will he not feel that he must make up in a measure the unhappiness he has brought to her?

Or, has twenty-five years of close companionship and happiness with his second wife formed a bond of love that is stronger than the law of his country? If so, will he not return to her and wed her again, this time under the name of George Presnell?

Both women love George Presnell.

It becomes his problem to decide to which he will return if freed by the North Carolina court.

a week later. It was foolish, but she was disappointed. She killed time and spent more money at it than she could afford. It was a joke she thought that as James' bride she would no longer need to worry about penny-stretching.

On the third day there arrived a telegram. Sweet James! She could always count on him to do the wise and thoughtful thing. She tore it open and read: "Mrs. Converse practically sat on a rattlesnake and of course it bit her Stop I don't blame it Stop What do you advise Neil."

She told him and he even forgave that.

"He'll probably run the old place into the ground," he chuckled. "I hope his check was good."

"It's my fault," he said bitterly. "I should have known better than to let a woman handle all that money. I could have doubled it for you. Well, it's over."

"Yes," said Dale slowly. "You should have talked it over with me," he told her. "A banker can't let sentiment interfere with business. Anyway, it couldn't have taken it all."

"There wasn't much left," she admitted in a queer, small voice. "I bought some clothes and took this trip." She wondered what James would say if she told him that she had spent $32 extra on telegrams.

"If you had only consulted me," said James.

It made her furious to think he was so conceited that he imagined it would have made any difference. He didn't even get the point.

"We aren't going to let this interfere with our happiness," he declared. "We'll be married just as we planned."

"Oh, no we won't." Even Dale was surprised at her own voice.

WHEN he was gone, her calmness went with him. She locked the door and sat alone in her superior suite and sniffed, and felt extremely sorry for herself.

The telephone rang. James craved another audience. She let it ring. The doorbell rang. She let that ring, too. Another telegram slid under the door. She let it slide. Finally she picked it up and opened it. It was longer than the others: "Very ill with jumping pains Stop Delirious and call your name constantly Stop Atmosphere low and so am I Stop Indian maids have cut their hair like Greta Garbo and applied chicken grease Stop The new courier has a Harvard accent and wears knickers Stop Do you really love that big stuffed shirt Stop What do you advise Neil."

Once to have heard James called a stuffed shirt would have pained her, but now she scarcely noticed it. Was the Good Eats proprietor really ill? Was Mrs. Converse hovering over him with a cup custard in one hand and a bunch of wild flowers in the other? Or was he sending this wire because he was bright enough to guess how James would consider the reparations problem?

"He's probably ruining the place," she moaned. "I owe it to my ancestors to stop him."

She wrote James a short note, estimably to the point, and took her last money to pay the hotel bill and buy a ticket home.

Pedro met her in the chile line. They rattled along. When they came to Indian Ben's she noticed the sign was gone from his fence.

The sign was gone from the auto camp, too. The ugly little cabins had disappeared, and a few small calves were tagging along behind their mammas. The old brand of the Flying M was going to be back on the range.

THE dude ranch still stood, but if the couriers weren't genuine they were a superior imitation.

Neil was in Dale's old office. He look abominably healthy.

"So you're the new courier," he greeted her. "Can you cook bacon, or can't you? Can you take a fish off a hook?"

She hadn't expected this.

"You've had the sky for your roof and a rock for your pillow. You remember that, don't you?" demanded Mr. Roberts.

"Yes, ma'am," she drawled.

"You can act as guide. You can stoop and give the fat lady a drink from the brim of your hat."

"Without getting off?" she asked. "I cannot. My bones are too brittle, my heart is cracked."

"I'll mend it. I'm a grand little heart mender. You can't possibly be as good as you look, but I suppose you'll do."

"For atmosphere?" she wanted to know.

Mr. Roberts replied slowly. "No, for life."

WALNUT SIDE CHAIR

The Twenty-Eighth of a Series of Art Objects Being Given a Special Showing at the St. Louis Art Museum.

THIS English chair is the twenty-eighth exhibit in a series of masterpieces which are being prominently displayed at the City Art Museum by Director Meyric Rogers. Each week one of the museum's rarest treasures is placed in the alcove to the left of the entrance. Each masterpiece will be reproduced in the Sunday Magazine of the Post-Dispatch, with an account by museum authorities of its history. The complete series will serve as an excellent guide to the most precious possessions of the city's museum. The story of the chair follows:

Although the chair has been used by man apparently since time immemorial, it has been mainly as a special seat of honor and ceremony. This fact is borne out by the name itself and its derivative connection with the French "chaire," meaning pulpit, and its use in connection with the office of "chairman" and the "chair" of a college professorship. In Europe practically through the seventeenth century chairs were reserved for the use of the heads of the household, whose lesser members and servants had to be content with benches and stools. The advent of the chair as an ordinary seat corresponded with the "corruption of manners" and the "luxury" introduced from abroad and so much deplored by the conservative of Elizabethan days. It was not, however, until the middle of the seventeenth century that these new habits, with their democratic implications, became widespread. By this time among the relatively well-to-do the chair had replaced the stool around the dining table and a cushion seat gave a further degree of comfort to the rather uncompromising rigidity of plain wood.

BY 1700, following an ever-increasing ease of living, chairs began to pay some attention to the subtler contours of the human figure. The curved line, with its suggestion of grace, began to replace the earlier rectangularity, the structural problems involved inviting the developments of a special chair maker to take care of them.

The walnut side chair shown this week is a particularly good example of the best type of design in use about 1715. It marks the culmination of the Queen Anne style formed largely by the influence of the Dutch and French Huguenot refugee craftsmen on the native wood worker. At this time walnut had replaced oak and was about to be succeeded by mahogany in popular esteem. Veneering or the application of a thin coating of rare or finely grained wood to a structural carcass built of another species temporarily reduced carving to a minimum. Attention was concentrated on producing distinction by fineness of line and proportion and by the use of surface qualities inherent in the wood itself. It is just in these things that the present chair is so admirable. Note the rhythmic play of the lines which make up the legs, seat and back, the exquisite proportion of each part to the whole, and the quality of vitality given by these careful adjustments. The burl walnut veneer affords just the right degree of surface color and richness to support the design of the back, beautifully modeled to fit the human contour. It is by careful attention to these factors that furniture is raised from craftsmanship to art.

The broad single curved splat of the high back, the cabriole legs, club feet and the shell motives on the knees are all style marks of the Queen Anne period. The seat, now covered in old Genoese velvet, was probably originally covered in needlepoint. Chairs of this type were generally made in sets of a dozen, often with two armchairs to correspond. This bears the mark of number two of a set long since dispersed.

TOY TALKIES by Walter Quermann

THE RESCUE OF FRANKIE FROG

This is a game that can be played by any child. All that is needed are scissors, paste and some cardboard. The directions for playing "Toy Talkies" are given at the bottom of the game.

THE PLAYERS

FRANKIE FROG—He doesn't like to stay at home.
MOTHER FROG AND BABY TAD—Frankie's mother and baby brother.
BILL FROG—Frankie's uncle.
JOE PELICAN—He likes to eat young frogs.
TED TURTLE—Frankie's little playmate.

THE PLAY BEGINS

(Mother Frog, carrying baby Tad, is on the stage.)
MOTHER FROG—I wonder where Frankie is? He was here just a moment ago. (Calls) FRANKIE-E-E. (Frankie is heard to answer "What do you want, mother?")
MOTHER FROG—I want you to come here. (Frankie is heard to say, "All right, mother," and a moment later Frankie Frog enters.)
MOTHER FROG—You naughty boy. Didn't I tell you not to go away?
FRANKIE FROG—I was playing with Ted Turtle on that old log.
MOTHER FROG—A little frog should always be near his pond, so if danger comes he can jump in and hide under the rocks on the bottom.
FRANKIE FROG—I get so tired of this old pond. (Bill Frog enters.)
BILL FROG—Good morning, folks.
MOTHER FROG—Good morning.
FRANKIE FROG—Good morning, Uncle Bill.
BILL FROG—You had better be careful, Frankie. I just saw Joe Pelican as I came along. You know he likes to eat young frogs.
FRANKIE FROG—Oh, gee! I always have to watch for Joe Pelican. (Ted Turtle enters.)
TED TURTLE—Aren't you going to play any more, Frankie?
MRS. FROG—Frankie can play with you, but he must stay near the pond. Now Frankie, remember what your Uncle Bill said about Joe Pelican. (She leaves stage followed by Bill Frog.)
TED TURTLE—We left our playthings on the log.
FRANKIE FROG—Gee, I wish we had them. I'll go and get them.
TED TURTLE—You'd better stay here. I can get them.
FRANKIE FROG—(Leaving.) No I can go faster than you. I'll hurry up and it won't take me a minute.
TED TURTLE—He should have let me go. Joe Pelican doesn't eat turtles on account of our hard shells. (All is still for a moment. Then Frankie is heard to yell, "Help! Help!" Then there is silence.)
TED TURTLE—Gosh, that sounded like Frankie. (Mother Frog and Bill Frog rush on the stage.)
MOTHER FROG—Who called for help? Where is Frankie? (Calls.) FRANKIE-E-E-E. (Joe Pelican enters.)
MOTHER FROG—Did you see my little boy, Mr. Pelican?
JOE PELICAN—H-m-m-m.
MOTHER FROG—Please tell me! I'm so worried!
JOE PELICAN—(Leaves stage.) H-m-m.
BILL FROG—I'll bet he has Frankie in the pouch under his bill. He was afraid to open his mouth for fear Frankie would hop out.
TED TURTLE—(Leaving stage.) I'll make him open his mouth. (A moment later Joe Pelican is heard to yell "OUCH" and Ted Turtle is heard to shout, "Hurry, Frankie" and a moment later Frankie Frog and Ted Turtle enter.)
MOTHER FROG—Didn't I tell you not to leave the pond, you naughty boy.
FRANKIE FROG—I just went back after our toys. But I'll never leave the pond again. I don't know what I would have done if Ted hadn't bitten Joe Pelican in the leg and made him say "ouch." And when he said "ouch," I hopped out.

Next week: The Enchanted Lake.

DIRECTIONS: Cut out back-drop and pin it on a wall near the floor. Next, take two books and stand them at each end and about 5 inches in front of back-drop. Then take characters, cut them out, and paste them on thin cardboard, folding flap at bottom so they will lean back a little. Attach a piece of thread about 15 inches long. Place the characters back of the book on the right-hand side of the stage and draw them on the stage with thread as they are needed. The operator may talk for the characters, changing his or her voice as different characters go on the stage, or each character's part may be spoken by a different child. A flashlight can be used as a spotlight.

MARIE DRESSLER

A different movie star will make his or her appearance in this space every week. Accompanying will be three costumes this particular player wore in various roles she has played on the screen. Cut out the player and paste on cardboard. Then cut out the costumes.

Now dress the star in her proper outfits, being careful to assemble each costume correctly.

This week's star is Marie Dressler. The three sets of costumes shown here were worn by her in these roles in the following movies:

Min in "Min and Bill"; Marie in "Politics," and Emma in "Emma."

Next week: William Powell.

THE TOWN TURNS OUT FOR A BULLFIGHT—Communities in Spain too small to own a regular arena are nevertheless not to be deprived of their national sport. The public square is often made to serve, as seen in the photograph reproduced above. The young men have armed themselves with darts, swords, sticks and stones to torment their victim. Such contests are not without serious results, however, and more than one Spanish youth has been gored.

WHERE THE "BILLINGSGATE" COMES FROM—Speaking of traffic jams, it would be hard to find more of a tangle than those which take place daily at the famous fish market in London. It is this confusion, doubtless, which gave to the world that robust if inelegant form of abuse known as "Billingsgate."

If Your Child Won't Eat Vegetables

—Here's How To Make Him Hungry For Them

By creating the sensation of hunger, by furnishing added nourishment —Ovaltine often increases a child's weight a pound a week or more.

A Swiss Discovery Actually Creates "Vegetable-Hunger." Makes Children Eat Such Foods as Spinach, Lettuce, Carrots Without Coaxing—Increases Their Liking for Milk. And Adds Nourishment and Digestibility to Every Bite They Take!

Accept Sample Package . . . Learn How This Swiss Creation Solves The Problem of The "Poor Eater"

HERE is an amazing, natural way to make "poor eaters" hungry. Not just "tempt" the appetite but actually create the sensation of hunger.

A way to make a child relish any normal, healthful food; even such vegetables as spinach, carrots and lettuce—and to double the amount of milk he'll willingly drink each day.

It is a remarkable discovery from Switzerland, leader in child-welfare research. It is called Ovaltine. You simply give it mixed with milk, either hot or cold. And children love its taste.

How It Makes "Fussy Eaters" Hungry

Ovaltine is created by a special, vacuum process which makes it utterly different from any other food-drink in the world.

First—besides being extremely nourishing and easy to digest—it is particularly rich in the appetite-producing Vitamin B.

Second—and much more important—Ovaltine contains a high proportion of a remarkable food property called "diastase." This substance has the power to digest the starch content of other foods in the stomach. Ovaltine will actually digest 4 to 5 times its own weight of starch in other foods a child eats. No other general health food in the world has this power.

This means that Ovaltine not only aids a child's digestion, but speeds up the processes and empties the stomach sooner. This makes a child hungry. For hunger is a sensation caused by the walls of an empty stomach drawing together.

Quicker Digestion

This speeding up of the digestive processes is tremendously important. For specialists will tell you that the child with slow digestion is the one who eats poorly—who shuns vegetables—who objects to drinking milk.

But once digestive processes are accelerated by the diastatic action of Ovaltine, a definite change takes place. You see the result immediately. The old objection to everyday foods gradually disappears. And even a "vegetable-hunger" is built up day by day.

Milk, too, is taken twice as readily when it is mixed with Ovaltine. And Ovaltine has a delicious taste that the fussiest child is unable to resist.

See For Yourself

Today Ovaltine is used in thousands of hospitals and sanitariums. During the World War, it was used as a standard ration for rebuilding nerve-shattered, shell-shocked soldiers.

For this delicious food-drink digests almost without effort. Thus it is a tremendous aid to weak stomachs. And is digested and assimilated quickly when nothing else "agrees."

Already this extraordinary scientific creation has received the approval of more than 20,000 doctors. Not only does it make "fussy" children eat, but (when given regularly) it curbs nervousness to a marked degree. And usually puts weight on a child at the rate of a pound a week or more!

For the sake of your child, we urge you to try Ovaltine. Results will surprise you. Notice the immediate difference in appetite—in the way he acts at meals. Note, too, the increase in weight, in nerve poise and in strength.

Give Ovaltine at breakfast always. At meals, and between meals. Simply mix it with milk—either hot or cold—directions are on the can.

You can get Ovaltine at any drug or grocery store. Or, if you like, send the coupon for a sample package.

EVERY LINCOLN IS BUILT TO A SINGLE HIGH STANDARD OF EXCELLENCE

THE LINCOLN V-8...7-PASSENGER SEDAN

YEARS AGO the Lincoln tradition was established—to make as fine an automobile as it is possible to produce. That ideal has never for a moment been lost sight of. It is stronger today than ever before.

The Lincoln V-8 measures up to the high standards that have always governed the Lincoln. Like the V-12, it is built of the best materials by the most skilled labor. Advanced engineering, precision manufacture, careful testing of operations, characterize both cars equally. The Lincoln V-8 is long and low in appearance, with sweeping air-flow lines. Unusual riding comfort, smooth abundant power, secure ease of driving—with new free-wheeling, synchronized gear shifting, remarkably soft but sure braking—such are only a few features of this Lincoln, a motor car of balanced excellence designed for your complete satisfaction.

CHRIS CRUSTY

By Bill Conselman and Charlie Plumb

IN-TRO-DUCING CHRIS CRUSTY--- IN THE BLACK CORNER-- WEIGHT, ONE HUNDRED THIRTY ONE!

Boo! Boo!

I DO WISH WINTHROP WINCH COULD BE HERE TO SEE CHRIS FIGHT! HE'S ALWAYS SCOFFING AT THE POOR BOY!

INTRODUCING THE MASKED MARVEL--IN THE WHITE CORNER--: WEIGHT ONE HUNDRED FORTY!

Boo Boo

R-ZZZZT

HAHA, PETE! THAT GUY WOULD WEIGH MORE THAN THAT IF HE WAS PUMPED UP WITH HELIUM!

IT'LL BE JUST LIKE TOSSING THAT CRUSTY KID TO THE WOLVES, JOE!

WE GOTTA WIN THIS FIGHT, DOKES! CHRIS IS DEPENDING ON YOU! TO FIX EVERYTHING!

DON'T WORRY, JERRY, I'LL HAVE THE MASKED MARVEL SO GROGGY THAT CRUSTY CAN KNOCK HIM OVER WITH A SLEDGE HAMMER!

ELLA CINDERS

This comic appears every day in the daily Post-Dispatch

By Bill Conselman and Charlie Plumb

WHAT'S THE MATTER, FREDDIE? YOU LOOK AS IF YOU'D LOST YOUR LAST FRIEND! WHAT'S THE IDEA?

THAT'S JUST WHAT WORRIES ME, ELLA--- WHAT'S THE IDEA!

I'VE GOT TO HAND IN A CARTOON BY NOON TODAY AND-I HAVEN'T A SOLITARY THOUGHT FOR ONE! BESIDES, I HAVE A GOLF ENGAGEMENT WITH HARRY VAN DE KAMP AT ONE!

WOULD YOU LIKE ME TO SUGGEST SOMETHING?

YES, BUT IT WILL HAVE TO BE SIMPLE--- I HAVE ONLY TWO HOURS TO DO IT!

HOW ABOUT HAVING A BUCKING HORSE CATCH ITS HOOF IN A STIRRUP AND THE RIDER SAY: "IF YOU'RE GONNA GET ON, I'M GONNA GET OFF!

TERRIBLE--- IT'S TOO OLD! BESIDES, I CAN'T DRAW STIRRUPS!

I HEARD A FUNNY ONE, FREDDIE--- IT WAS ABOUT A BOND SALESMAN OUT OF WORK WHO GOT A JOB IN A CIRCUS--- HE WORE A BABOON SKIN AND THEY PUT HIM IN A CAGE!

HIS IMITATION OF A BABOON WAS GREAT UNTIL ONE DAY, WHILE PEOPLE WERE STARING AT HIM, HE LOOKED AROUND AND SAW A LION IN THE CAGE WITH HIM!

THE SHOCK WAS TOO MUCH, AND HE FORGOT HE WAS SUPPOSED TO BE A BABOON. HE YELLED "HELP! SAVE ME!" THEN THE LION WALKED UP AND WHISPERED IN HIS EAR: "KEEP STILL, YOU SAP--- I'M ONLY A BOND SALESMAN, TOO!"

AWFULLY FUNNY, ELLA-- BUT AWFULLY OLD!

HOW ABOUT THOSE BOY SHOOTING DICE OVER THERE? DRAW A PICTURE OF THEM AND PUT A CAPTION UNDER IT LIKE THIS: WORKING THEIR FINGERS TO THE BONES!

I WOULDN'T HAVE TIME TO DRAW THAT MANY BOYS--- IT'S ELEVEN THIRTY NOW! THE IDEA'S GOOD THOUGH!

I THINK YOU WANT AN IDEA THAT WILL DRAW ITSELF--- WELL, I HAVE ONE!

YOU HAIL A TAXI, TAKE ME TO YOUR OFFICE AND EVEN I WILL DRAW IT FOR YOU! AND I CAN'T DRAW A STRAIGHT LINE WITH A RULER!

OKAY, ELLA! HEY, TAXI!

APR 10-1932

SIMPLE--- BUT WHAT IS IT?

IT'S A PICTURE OF A BLACK FACED COMEDIAN BEING APPLAUDED BY A COUPLE OF BLACKHANDS IN A TUNNEL DURING A TOTAL ECLIPSE!

JIMMY AND JANE IN FAR-OFF JAVA

SOME INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT JAVA

Java is one of the most important islands of the Malay Archipelago. It is ruled by the Colonial Government of the Dutch East Indies, but also has two sultans. One of these, the Sultan of Soho, lives in a palace housing 15,000 people and receives a salary of more than a million dollars a year. Java is 660 miles long, has an extensive system of railroads and modern paved highways, supports a population of about 50,000,000. Thirteen of its many volcanoes are still active, all sorts of wild animals stalk through its jungle forests, and from its fertile plantations there comes to your pantry shelf, one of the world's finest food products. Now look at the map; then go on a tour with Jimmy and Jane through this far-off island of magic wonders!

AN ADVERTISEMENT OF THE GENERAL FOODS CORPORATION

Jimmy and Jane are on a trip around the world. They have traveled about 15,000 miles since leaving New York City, coming by way of the Panama Canal and San Francisco, then across the Pacific. And now, south of the Equator, they are going to make a trip through one of the most interesting islands on the globe—colorful, romantic Java, the far-famed Garden of the East!

Jimmy and Jane learn that there are three hundred thousand natives living in Batavia, forty thousand Chinese, and thirty thousand whites. Most of the natives live in huts of plaited bamboo, roofed with grass. Other interesting sights are the picturesque old canals, the beautiful orchid gardens, and the executive mansion of the Governor General, which is five times as large as the White House in Washington!

Not far from Batavia, Jimmy and Jane meet with a strange experience in the tropical forest. Suddenly, on one side of the track, appear a band of black monkeys, and on the other side, a band of gray ones. Uncle Dick says he has heard that these monkeys never cross the track; that each tribe always stays on its own side! (See page 91 in a book of travel by H. M. Tomlinson entitled "Tide Marks.")

Leaving the railroad the next day, Jimmy and Jane come to a large plantation where they find water buffalo pulling a plow. This is the first of many similar plantations which extend for miles and miles. Nearby are some natives cutting the stalk of a plant into pieces about 6 inches long. Other natives are planting the pieces. Uncle Dick says that in from 12 to 18 months these pieces become full-grown cassava plants.

Jimmy and Jane find out that only the roots of the cassava plants are used for food. The smaller roots look like sweet potatoes, but some of them grow so big that they weigh over 30 pounds apiece. After being dug up, the cassava roots are piled up on two-wheeled ox carts and taken to a tropical factory which Jimmy and Jane are now going to visit. Let's go on with them and see what else happens.

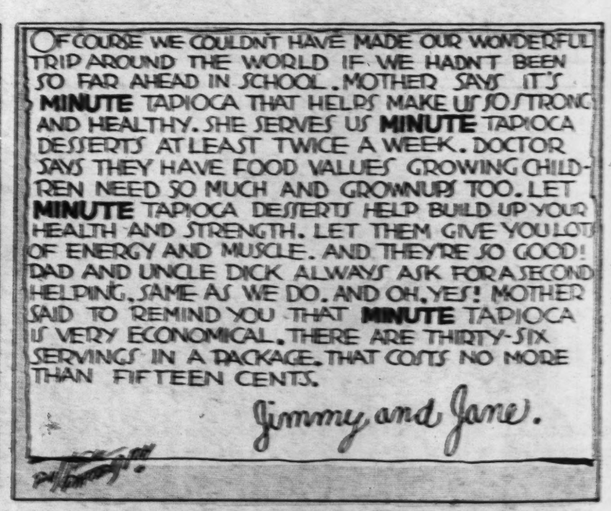

When the cassava roots reach the tropical factory, they are dropped into a revolving washer, then carried by elevator to a "grater" into which water is constantly flowing. The ground root then passes into a sieve which removes all the fiber. After further refining and a complete drying, the product is packed in bags in the form of a fine flour you can easily guess the name of. Yes, that's right! It's tapioca flour.

Jimmy and Jane are now in Soerabaja, the second largest city in Java. From this busy port they are going to follow the route of a steamer carrying a load of tapioca flour through the Red Sea and the Suez Canal to Port Said and out by Gibraltar into the broad Atlantic, then on to Boston. Or maybe New York. But, anyway, that's not the final destination of the tapioca flour. It is then shipped by rail to—now, where do you suppose?

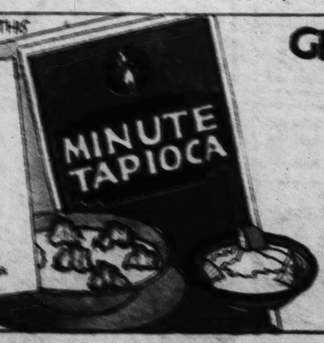

Uncle Dick promises that after they get back to America, he will take Jimmy and Jane through the modern American factory where Minute Tapioca is made, the one and only Minute Tapioca. This factory is located at Orange, Massachusetts, on the Mohawk Trail, and its real beginning dates back years ago to the time when a Boston landlady befriended a sick sailor. "But that," says Uncle Dick, "is another story."

"EAT MINUTE TAPIOCA DESSERTS AT LEAST TWICE A WEEK," SAYS— JAVA CASSAVA, THE WISE OLD OWL.
